SUMMER CONFERENCE PROGRAM ALTERED

The lecture on "The Computer in Action," scheduled as part of the Summer Conference for 1:30 and 3:15 this (Tuesday) afternoon, July 9, will be replaced with a lecture on "What's Ahead in Computers and Data Processing." The new speaker will be Dr. J. R. Miller, manager of the New Program Development for the Advanced System Development Division of the IBM laboratory in San Jose.

Because Jackie Robinson is confined to his home in New York as a result of sudden illness, the Reverend James H. Hargett, western director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, will replace him as speaker at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon, July 10, in the Little Theater.

The Rev. Mr. Hargett, a graduate of Yale Divinity School, will speak on the subject of "Individual Rights and Aborted Pluralism." He has been very active in civil rights activities, having been in the march from Selma to Montgomery, having been present at the demonstration at which Martin Luther King, Jr., gave his famous "I Have a Dream" speech, and having attended the final demonstration at Resurrection City.

The Wednesday conference program will open with a presentation of four special topics at 8:30 and again at 10:15. Judge Richard Harris, San Luis Obispo, will speak on "The Supreme Court and Your Daily Life" in Tenaya Residence Hall. Ted Barber of the Business Administration faculty will have as his subject "Mobocracy: Riots in the Streets" in the Tenaya Residence Hall recreation room. "Who Speaks for the Consumer" will be discussed by Walter Rice of the Business Administration faculty in Fremont Residence Hall lounge. Dr. Donald Hensel, associate dean, academic planning, will speak on "The New Left and the New Right" in Fremont Residence Hall recreation room.

Following the luncheon at noon, Bernard C. Hogan, senior vice president, Wells-Fargo Bank, San Francisco, will speak in the Staff Dining Room on "A Check-less and Cash-less Society."

Twenty-three works by as many artists are included in the exhibit.

Painting techniques in the show vary in medium from oil to acrylic and collage, and in application from smooth to heavy brush strokes, knife painting and splatter from thin to heavily built up impasto.
CAL POLY LIBRARY RECEIVES FEDERAL GRANTS

Two federal grants for a total of $23,170 have been received to assist in the development of the college library. Notification of the awarding of the grants has just been received by President Robert E. Kennedy from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D.C.

Dean Clyde P. Fisher explained that all of the funds are to be used for the acquisition of higher educational library materials. The funds awarded to Cal Poly include a basic grant of $5,000 and a supplemental grant of $18,170 given because of several new curricula being introduced at the college. Dean Fisher said that he would request the Faculty Library Committee, which consists of two faculty members from each of the instructional schools, to recommend a program of acquisition of such materials with the grant monies.

This is the third consecutive year that the Cal Poly library has received a federal grant, all of them being made under Title II-A of the Federal Higher Education Act of 1965. The previous two grants were expended for special reference materials.

FIRST RECIPIENT OF JULIAN A. McPHEE AWARD CHOSEN

The first recipient of the Julian A. McPhee Award is Terry Rudkin, a senior agricultural business management student. He was selected for the honor by the scholarship committee.

Previously, Rudkin had won almost every honor available to a Cal Poly student. The awardee's academic record is outstanding. He has been on the Dean's List each quarter and on the President's List each year of his college course, and is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society. With a 4.0 representing straight A grades, his grade point average at the college has been 3.62.

In ROTC work Rudkin also distinguished himself and was given the Distinguished Military Student Award and the Association of the United States Army ROTC medal at the recent President's Review of the Cal Poly unit.

He was also the winner of the Outstanding Agricultural Student Award, held a Sears-Roebuck Scholarship for two years and a Leopold Wrasse Scholarship of $500 for two years, and is a member of Alpha Zetas national honorary agricultural fraternity and Blue Key national honorary service fraternity.

The Julian A. McPhee Award of $150 is to be made each year to one student at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, and one student at Cal Poly, Kellogg-Voorhis. Recipients are outstanding students who are members of the junior, senior, or fifth year class who have attended the college for at least six quarters as a full-time student.

The award recognizes academic proficiency, interest in the college, and participation in the co-curriculum. A grade point average of 2.8 or better is required. Funds for the awards are provided by the Julian A. McPhee award trust consisting of the net balance of an accumulation of money received by the Committee to Honor Julian A. McPhee, headed by Earl Coke, during the months prior to Dr. McPhee's retirement as president.

HOUSING FOR NEW FACULTY AND STAFF

The housing shortage in the San Luis Obispo area continues to present problems for new employees coming to Cal Poly. According to a recent survey conducted by PG&E, the vacancy factor for San Luis Obispo City and County is 2.8 percent as compared to 3.5 percent for the same period last year, indicating fewer rentals are available.

A number of steps have been taken by the Personnel Office to assist new faculty and staff to locate suitable housing in the San Luis Obispo area. For example, new employees from out of town are sent: (1) a week's free subscription of the local newspaper, courtesy of the Telegram-Tribune; (2) a list of realtors in the area (indicating those who handle rentals); and (3) a special request form addressed to the College Housing Office to obtain rentals listed in that office. In addition, for employees interested in buying, the Personnel Office is compiling a list of "Homes for Sale" using information received from individuals who have contacted the college.

Cooperation from the Cal Poly community is requested in listing sales with the Personnel Office and in listing rentals with the Housing Office.

In the past, the most effective assistance in locating housing for new employees has been provided by individuals from the department in which the employee is assigned. It is hoped that this "personalized approach" will continue. To assist in this effort, department heads and others orienting new employees are encouraged to use the services of the Housing and Personnel Offices in locating available housing.
Soon each instructional department head will receive a form like this.

It is part of the continuing effort of the college to locate past graduates and students so that we may keep the master Cal Poly mailing list up to date.

The present list is quite accurate and contains the names of slightly less than 12,000 persons. It is estimated, however, that degree graduates and certificate holders over the years far exceed this number. There probably are closer to 22,000.

The master mailing list is available to all departments on the campus as a means of maintaining contact with graduates and former students. The placement service uses the list for surveys and studies. Through this master mailing list "Cal Poly Today," currently a biannual publication giving information on the campus and on former students, is circulated to alumni and friends of the college.

The forms are designed to make it easy for faculty members to assist the college in adding to this master mailing list as many as possible of the 10,000 or more graduates or former students not now listed.

The college solicits the assistance of the department heads in this project by asking them to distribute the forms to faculty members and requesting that they complete them on former students who have requested their names be included on mailing lists for college publications or information, and on any other former students whom they believe would be interested in maintaining contact with the college. The forms should be returned to the Alumni Office, Administration Room 210.

The assistance of all college staff is vital to the success of maintaining an accurate and up-to-date mailing list of graduates and former students.
