Cal Poly Seeks Nominations for ‘Woman of the Year’ Awards

SAN LUIS OBISPO -- Cal Poly is seeking nominations for the university’s annual Woman of the Year awards. The awards ceremony will be held March 8, but the deadline for nominations is Friday, Jan. 30.

The awards will recognize one woman from each of the following categories: Cal Poly students, Cal Poly faculty, and Cal Poly staff. While the awards are only given to Cal Poly faculty, students and staff, nominations may be made by anyone.

Nominees should be someone who has served as a leader, role model, or mentor or someone who has made a significant contribution to the women on campus.

Nomination forms can be found in the Cal Poly residence halls, Cal Poly’s Kennedy Library, the University Union Epicenter, at the Campus Information Center, and in the Cal Poly Women’s Center.

Nominations may also be e-mailed to cpwomensprograms@yahoo.com. Nominations must include the following information: name and phone number of nominator, name and phone number of nominee, category (student, faculty, or staff), and a one-page essay on the contributions made by the woman.

All nominees will be recognized at the 2004 Women of the Year luncheon March 8 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the lobby of the Christopher Cohan Center’s Performing Arts Center.
