Pot reformers light up fire at clerk's office

by ROGER VINCNET

Spokesmen for the Marijuana Reform League of California will file a complaint against the Clerk of the Superior Court in San Jose, Calif., later this week to investigate the adequacy of registration procedures in the county. The complaint is based on an unusually high rejection rate of signatures on petitions to place the proposition on the November ballot.

"Nearly 60 per cent of the signatures collected in this county were rejected by the county clerk's office. This is an unusually high rate, especially considering how clean the petitions were. It's easy to spot blanks in L.A., but these signatures looked like they were taken in good faith," said Jerry Goldberg of the MRL in Los Angeles.

Goldberg came to San Jose Tuesday to investigate what he said were the unusually high rejection rate of signatures on petitions to place the proposition on the November ballot.

"Many of the signatures collected in this county were rejected by the county clerk's office. This is an unusually high rate, especially considering how clean the petitions were. It's easy to spot blanks in L.A., but these signatures looked like they were taken in good faith," said Jerry Goldberg of the MRL in Los Angeles.

Goldberg also has accused the Clerk of the Superior Court in San Jose of making it difficult for young people to be deputy registrars, especially 18-year-olds. "There's a frightening amount of potential voters not registered in this county. Registration procedures are such that people are not being disenfranchised."

In response, Mrs. Wollam declared allegations that she is making it difficult for young registrants are "completely false and incorrect."

"I don't pay much attention to that," Mrs. Wollam explained. "I don't have any time to pay any attention to that."

Mrs. Wollam conceded many clerical errors in her office have been difficult since the death last May of County Clerk Ruth Waskes. "I'm very understaffed right now, so I can't make sure everything is correct."

Mrs. Wollam recently held a class necessary for providing deputy registrars, the first since Miss Waskes' death. Another class is scheduled next week, in addition to the present pool of deputy registrars in the county. As far as the number being rejected, the clerk said that many signatures are rejected for technical reasons. Mrs. Wollam said she didn't know without research what the main reasons were for signatures being rejected.

She said that deputy registrants have an obligation to register, and that they are not required to have a class to register. She said that the marijuana petition signatures were rejected for technical reasons. "I don't know what the main reasons were for signatures not being registered."

Golda leaves Isreali post

JERUSALEM (UPI) - Prime Minister Golda Meir resigned Wednesday, saying she has "become the end of the road." Her resignation dimmed a raging controversy over who should take the blame for Israel's lack of preparations for last October's war with the Arabs which threatened to destroy the ruling Labor Alignment and bring about a government collapse.

The 79-year-old Mrs. Meir, Israel's fourth prime minister, had held the post since 1969 while serving as a Counsel to Congress in 1947. With the exception of two years in Korea with the Marine Corps, he has been working continuously in the field of journalism for 22 years.

Following his service in the Marine Corps, Brand took a job as a reporter for the Redding Record-Recordlight, where he went on to become managing editor. He left that position after 10 years to take the job of editorial director of the Los Angeles Times in 1972.

One of the most respected senior editors on the staff of the Times, Brand was named editor-in-chief in 1972. He retired as editor-in-chief in 1979.

War Memorial Fund may go to University Union

by DEBRA WISWENMAN

Thoughts of a lost or forgotten War Memorial Fund can finally be put out of mind.

Al Amaral, Foundation executive director, said that the University Foundation is holding several funds in trust that had been donated for the purpose of constructing or equipping a student union.

The first fund of $155 was donated by the Class of 1940 for the purpose of securing a permanent trophy, fixture, or other article deemed "proper, or necessary." In 1941, a second fund was started, the War Memorial Fund. The intended purpose was to accumulate funds to be used for the building or equipping of a student union. A Red War Bond was purchased.

Again in 1941, $160 was donated to the War Memorial Fund by Mrs. Dagmar J. Goeck, in memory of her son who had died in the war. The Class of 1948 donated $600, the purpose of engraving the names of a future student union and to construct a copper box for placement in the cornerstone.

The total of these funds are invested by the Foundation and are now identified as the "War Memorial Fund." The money has been invested in certificates of deposits and are backed by the government, said Amaral. As of Dec. 1, 1979, the total of the fund was $6,481.40.

The University Union was built with money generated by the sale of Revenue Bonds that were sold to the investing public. However, before the sale of bonds could be started, approximately $200,000 had to be secured as a type of down payment from Student union fees and rent from the contractors.

Amaral said that since money had already been set aside for the building it was decided that the War Memorial Fund money could best be used in "equipping" the building.

Amaral said that it was not his decision as to what to do with the money, but that it was completely up to the University Union Board of Governors.

Amaral, chairman of the University Union Board of Governors, said that several proposals for the use of the money were under consideration. He said that at the moment there were several ideas seriously being considered.

Blazing bats spur Poly to doubleheader clean-up

by JERRY VAMBELER
The Mustang baseball team came back to even their four-game series with the University of Nevada (Reno) by sweeping a doubleheader, 5-0 and 5-1, Tuesday afternoon on the Poly Field.

Poly scored first in the third inning when Mario Viera singled and scored on a single by Gary Exoo.

The fourth inning saw Terry Ruggles hit his sixth home run of the season when he drove in Jim Bergman, who had led off the inning with a double. The Mustangs got two more runs in the ninth inning when Dave Hardin singled and was muffed to second by Cabras Smith. Hardin reached third base on Jim Fleshner's fielder's choice.

PITCHIN' PAPADAKIS—Junior southpaw Bud Papadakis will try and get the Mustangs back into the CCAA baseball race this weekend. The 6-foot 6-hunter will face Cal State Fullerton this weekend.
