HOME CONCERT WILL FEATURE SPECIALTY GROUPS

Three musical specialty groups will be in the limelight when the Music Department presents its 26th annual Home Concert Friday (April 21) evening. The concert, an annual spring event on campus, is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p.m., in the Men's Gymnasium. All known for their novelty renditions of popular and old-time favorite songs, they are the Majors and Minors, a 12-member vocal ensemble; the Collegiate Quartet; and the Women's Sextette.

The Majors and Minors, a men's group costumed as waiters of the "Gay Nineties," specializes in music of that period and the "Roaring Twenties." Typical of the numbers included in their segment of the concert program are "While Strolling Through the Park One Day," "Carolina in the Morning," "Side By Side," and "It Looks Like Rain in Cherry Blossom Lane."

The Collegiate Quartet, which specializes in both currently-popular tunes and folk music, provides its own accompaniment with string bass and guitar. Among the numbers on its program are "Dear Heart," "Sassifras," "Evangeline," "Dream," and "Babylon's Fallin'."

Glee Clubs Combine for Finale

Vocal renditions of popular show tunes are favorites of members of the Women's Sextette which is slated to perform such favorites as "Danny Boy," "I Could Have Danced All Night," and "I Enjoy Being a Girl."

The Men's Glee Club and Collegians, who, along with the Majors and Minors and the Collegiate Quartet, recently returned from a tour of Southern California, will be joined by the Women's Glee Club for Friday night's concert. Seventy-two members strong, the Men's Glee Club will perform such numbers as "Carmen, Carmela," "Kuu Ipo," a Hawaiian folk song; and "The Fox." The 80-member Women's Glee Club will include such selections as "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and the popular "Al di La" in its portion of the program. "Michele," the popular Beatle hit; "Somewhere My Love," and Henry Mancini's "The Sweetheart Tree" are all among the currently-popular numbers selected by the Collegians, a 15-member stage and dance band, for their performance.

In a vocal climax to the annual spring music event, the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs will combine to sing several selections, including "Ave Maria," "The Lonely Birch," and "When You Wish Upon a Star."

Tickets for the event, priced at $1.25 for adults and $.75 for students, may be purchased at Brown's Music Store and Premier Music Company, both in downtown San Luis Obispo, and at the Associated Students, Inc., Office or from members of the performing groups on campus.

Each meeting will begin at 3:00 p.m., and is scheduled for Room 126 of Dexter Memorial Library.

Special attention in the announcement was called to the fact that neither students nor members of the college faculty and staff may drive state vehicles without having successfully completed this program.

CUESTA COLLEGE PRESIDENT SCHEDULED AS SPEAKER FOR LUNCHEON

Merle Eisenbise, president of Cuesta College which began operation on its campus at nearby Camp San Luis Obispo three years ago, will be the speaker for the regular luncheon meeting of the Cal Poly Staff Club which will take place Thursday (April 20), beginning at noon, in the Staff Dining Room. Title of his remarks will be "The Role of the California Junior College in Higher Education Today."

A member of the California Junior College Association, Dr. Eisenbise is currently busy with educational planning for Cuesta College and expects to be deep in campus planning in the immediate future. Prior to assuming his present duties, he served as director of Citrus College from 1951 to 1962 and for the year just prior to moving to San Luis Obispo was vice president of Monterey Peninsula College.
FACULTY ARTIST'S WORK BEING EXHIBITED

A one-man art show featuring the work of Robert Reynolds began in the foyer of Dexter Memorial Library on campus Sunday and will continue through May 5. Reynolds, an artist on the staff of the college Audio Visual Department, is exhibiting 35 paintings done in watercolor, oil, polymer emulsion, charcoal, and ink during the show. Most of those included have been completed in the past two years.

A graduate of San Luis Obispo Senior High School and the Art Center School in Los Angeles, Reynolds has been a member of the Cal Poly staff for the past four years. He has since done graduate study on campus and frequently teaches drawing and watercolor techniques for the San Luis Obispo Adult School. The young artist's work has been featured in various local art exhibits, including a one-man show held recently at Cuesta College and other shows for the San Luis Obispo Art Association and the Galleria de Santa Ynez. He is presently vice president of the San Luis Obispo Art Association.

Hours for the show correspond to regular open hours for Dexter Memorial Library. They are 7:45 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays; 7:45 a.m. through 5:00 p.m., Fridays; 8:00 a.m. through 5:00 p.m., Saturdays; and 6:00 to 10:00 p.m., Sundays.

Members of the college faculty, staff, and student body, as well as the public, are invited to view the show free of admission charge.

TWO PROGRAMS PLANNED FOR TOMORROW BY CAMPUS CSEA CHAPTER

Two meetings of broad interest to members of the college faculty and staff alike, sponsored by Cal Poly Chapter 97 of the California State Employees Association, are planned for tomorrow (Wednesday, April 19). Both are scheduled for the Staff Dining Room.

"Current CSEA Events Affecting State Colleges," will be the topic when Frank Farias, a member of the headquarters staff of the state employees group, addresses the regular monthly luncheon meeting of the campus chapter, starting at 12:00 noon. Also planned during the luncheon meeting are a report of the chapter's Nominating Committee and an opportunity for nominations for 1967-68 officers from the floor.

William Tidwell, a member of the faculty of San Jose State College presently on leave and working as a consultant on academic affairs to CSEA, will be the speaker for a special meeting being planned for 7:30 p.m.

Members of CSEA and their guests are both invited to the luncheon, with all members of the campus faculty especially invited to the evening meeting.

STURGEON NAMED "HONORED GUEST" FOR 35TH POLY ROYAL

Vernon L. Sturgeon, recently-appointed legislative secretary to Governor Ronald Reagan, has been named honored guest for 35th annual Poly Royal activities which will take place on campus April 28-29. The 51-year-old former state senator from San Luis Obispo County and his wife Esther, will be recognized at varied events planned during the two-day open house festival staged by Cal Poly's Associated Students, Inc.

Senator Sturgeon's selection as honored guest for the traditional open house spectacular was announced last week by Tom Ruggles of Oxnard, student superintendent of the event, who called the senator a "real friend to higher education and Cal Poly." "We're especially pleased to have Senator Sturgeon as honored guest for our 35th annual Poly Royal," Ruggles, who is a senior agricultural engineering major, said. "The high respect and confidence he enjoys in Sacramento is certainly matched by the high esteem citizens of San Luis Obispo County, and especially we here at Cal Poly, have for him," the student leader continued.

Perhaps best described as "A Country Fair on a College Campus," Poly Royal annually draws a crowd of 30-35,000 visitors to campus. Highlight events scheduled this year include educational displays and exhibits in the college's 35 instructional departments, an intercollegiate rodeo, sports car and art shows, band concerts, and a barbecue luncheon. Among departmental activities already announced are simulated flights of Gemini spacecraft, a flower and garden show, and displays of instructional projects undertaken by students during the year.

Joins Select List of Honored Guests

New twists for this year's open house festival include arrangements to keep the various departmental and club exhibits open from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., on the opening day, a melodrama production "He Done Her Wrong or Wedded But No Wife" presented by the English and Speech Department, and the Poly Royal Pony Express ride from Sacramento to San Luis Obispo.

Senator Sturgeon, who was San Luis Obispo County's representative in the California Senate for six years prior to his present assignment, lost his seat as a result of redistricting which took place last year. While in the senate, he was chairman of that group's Fact-Finding Committee on Agriculture and its Social Welfare Committee, and a member of its Reapportionment, Fish and Game, Rules, Transportation, and State Government and Economy Committees, among others. Prior to his election to the legislature, Sturgeon was a member of the City Council of Paso Robles for 12 years, served as water commissioner and police commissioner, and was mayor of that city for three terms.

This year's honored guest joins a select list of persons who have been honored as special guests at Cal Poly's annual open house since it began in 1933. Among those so honored have been Julian A. McPhee, retired president of the college; Vierling Kersey, former state superintendent of public instruction; the late Senator Chris Jespersen; the late Walter F. Dexter, former state director of education; former Congressman Jerry Voorhis; Carl G. Beck, originator of Poly Royal and a retired member of the college faculty; and Chester O. McCorkel, who retired last fall after having been a member of the faculty and administrative staff of the college for over 30 years.

SIGMA XI LECTURER SLATES CAMPUS PROGRAM TONIGHT

Paul B. Sears, professor emeritus of conservation at Yale University, will be guest speaker at a public meeting, scheduled for tonight (Tuesday, April 18) on campus. The program is being planned for the Theater, starting at 8:00 p.m. Admission will be free and members of the faculty and staff, as well as the public, are invited. Sponsor of the program is the campus Sigma Xi Club.

Dr. Sears, whose topic will be "Beyond the Forest," is the spring, 1967, national lecturer for the Society of Sigma Xi and its affiliate society, the Scientific Research Society of America. His talk will explain the nature, causes, and distribution of grassland, scrub, and desert, and their role in human evolution and culture.

The nationally-known conservationist is author of numerous technical articles as well as several books on ecology and its applications. Best known of his books is "Deserts on the March," a discussion of the impact of modern culture on the North American landscape. He is past-president of the American Society of Naturalists, the Ecology Society of America, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a former board member of the National Science Foundation.

The Society of Sigma Xi is a national scientific honorary society. At present, the society at Cal Poly is a club, composed of about 30 faculty members primarily from agricultural, engineering, and science backgrounds. Fred W. Bowden, head of the Electrical Engineering Department, is president of the campus group.

NAMES OF NEW DEPARTMENT HEAD REPRESENTATIVES ON FACULTY-STAFF COUNCIL LISTED

Names of the two men who will represent the department heads of the Schools of Applied Sciences and Engineering as members of the Faculty-Staff Council were announced last week by the council. Selected by the committees of department heads of the Schools of Engineering and Applied Sciences, respectively, for three-year terms of office, they are Leon Osteyee and M. Eugene Smith.

STUDENT-FACULTY TEAM AUTHORS NEW FILMSTRIP

A filmstrip entitled "The Brood Sow and Litter," authored by a former Cal Poly student with members of the college faculty serving as advisors, has been published. It was produced by the college's Instructional Materials Program, and is being distributed nationally at the present time.

Author of the script for the filmstrip is Harold Johnson, who wrote it as a senior project prior to his graduation with a bachelor's degree in animal husbandry in 1965. His advisor on the project was Gordon Gibbs, at that time a member of the Animal Husbandry Department faculty. Later revision of the filmstrip was carried out by Russell Anderson of the same department.

Requests from high school and college teachers in more than 12 states already have been received for the new production, which is one of some 90 similar instructional materials either completed or being completed as part of the Instructional Materials Program. Federal funds provided by the Vocational Education Act of 1963 are being used in the development of the materials. Sale of completed copies on a non-profit basis is carried out nationally by the Cal Poly Foundation.
"BOOKS AT HIGH NOON" SERIES SCHEDULES REVIEW BY ART INSTRUCTOR

Russell Lynes' Confessions of a Dilettante will be reviewed by Mrs. Bernice Loughran, an art instructor on the faculty of the Education Department, during the luncheon meeting of the campus Books at High Noon series, next Tuesday (April 25). The program, which will begin at 12:00 noon, is scheduled for the Staff Dining Room.

Confessions of a Dilettante, published last fall, is a collection of essays by the managing editor of Harper's magazine. All of the essays are centrally concerned with art. David Cort, writing for the New York Times Book Review said recently, "Russell Lynes uses dilettante in its first meaning of one who finds are delectable. . . . But he only pretends to be an amateur; he knows a great deal about creativity . . . . He is perfect on the subject of 'corn' and puts a curse on 'good taste' as one of the blights of any age. Matters of taste and boredom, or art and corn, are too rarely explored."

On today's (Tuesday, April 18) program Clyde Hostetter of the Audio Visual Department will review Miles Johnson's The Government Secrecy Controversy. Both the starting time and place for today's luncheon will be the same as those announced for next week's meeting.

SERIES OF PHYSICS LECTURES WILL BEGIN THURSDAY EVENING

A lecture on the "Surveyor Project," the first in a series of three such presentations sponsored by the student section of the American Institute of Physics at Cal Poly, will be presented Thursday (April 20) evening. Harold H. Strauss, senior systems engineer for the Surveyor Program at Hughes Aircraft, will be the guest speaker for the meeting, which will be held at 7:30 p.m., in Room E-27 of the Science Building. In addition to Strauss' lecture, an 18-minute film entitled "Next -- The Men" will be shown.

The second program, "Optical Observations of Solar Activity," will be presented May 4, at 7:30 p.m., in the same room. Guest speaker on that occasion will be Donald G. Carson, a scientist at the Lockheed Solar Observatory.

Final program of the Spring Quarter lecture series will be presented May 18, and will be entitled "The Earth's Radiation Belts." George A. Paulikas of Aerospace Corporation's Space Physics Laboratory will be the guest speaker. That program will also take place in the Science Building, Room E-27, at 7:30 p.m.

There will be no admission charge for any of the lectures and any interested person is invited to attend. A spokesman for the sponsoring student group, speaking of its interest in the programs, said last week that the club feels the general public should become better informed of the scientific advancements of the United States. "Although the programs are orientated toward the science student, the information presented should also be of interest to those not in the field," John Buck, vice president of the Cal Poly section of the institute of physics, said.

More than 100 girls from high schools and junior high schools located between Paso Robles and Thousand Oaks are expected to gather on campus for the Future Homemakers of America annual spring conference, Saturday (April 22). The conference, with girls representing the FHA's Region 9 in attendance, will be held in the campus Theater from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., that day.
