Kennedy: Lecturer links assassinations to pollution

by MARIL J. KUHMAW

An image flashed on the screen and there he was—eyes crinkled from laughter, that famous unshaved hair and leopolded Irish grin. And memories came flooding back. Memories of Nov. 23, 1963.

Robert Kats, the researcher who spoke to a capacity crowd Thursday night, wants people to remember. "The lone, crazed assassin has become a form of American faith," Kats said. "The FBI, CIA and government leaders urge you to keep that faith. I urge you to lose it and replace it with curiosity."

Kats believes that the assassination of Kennedy is a cut-and-dried issue—a conspiracy that began in Dallas and is continuing even today.

The conspiracy according to Kats, involves wealthy private Western interests, the FBI, CIA, Warren Commission, major government figures and many directly implicated with the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

The program consisted of an hour-and-a-half slide and movie presentation, followed by an extensive discussion period.

The well known "Exposure" home movie, which depicts the entire assassination sequence as well as many amateur slides that were never seen by the Warren Commission was shown. Kats said that 600 phone calls taken by spectators during the assassination, the Commission chose to look at only 96.

One key member of the Warren Commission was Gerald Ford, who along with Sen. Walter Mondale and Leon Jaworski, was Jack Ruby's principal interviewer.

Kats believes that the assassination of Kennedy happened for one reason—"They're deluding the country."

Another source Kats likes to quote is the 1972 report of the U.S. Coast Guard's Avila Beach meeting on Oil Pollution in the San Luis Obispo County. Other sources include the National Resource Defense Council, the Sierra Club, the California Fish and Game Commission and the National Audubon Society.

"We must understand how far we have come over the years from the old days in Dallas. Power changed hands that day and that same power has increased," Kats said.

Any lecturer who speaks on such a delicate subject as does Robert Kats cannot be synthetical. As many questions were raised as answers provided. Yet, Kats was successful. He made people remember.

Standard Oil says oil usage doubles in 1985

Representatives of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey said the estimated number of barrels of oil used daily in the United States increased by the year 1986. Speaking at a meeting of the National Congress of the National Congress at Avila Beach on Oct. 15, Jules Mayer, Project Manager of Standard Oil said that calculations show oil usage in the future will be greatly increased.

The Commission is preparing a report on a comprehensive, coordinated enforceable plan for the orderly long-range conservation and management of the natural sources of the coastal zone. The Avila Beach meeting was the second meeting on the coast and was held at the Avila Beach Conference Center, which includes nine elements.

The candidates who will appear at the League of Women Voters and the California Federation of Women's Clubs will be. The League of Women Voters, sponsored candidates will be available.

League of Women Voters will sponsor candidates night

The League of Women Voters will hold a candidates night on Wednesday, Oct. 15, 1974 at 7:20 at the California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo. The candidates who will appear at the meeting are: O.K. Jerry Pearse and John H. Pierce, for supervisor; Earl D. Cornell and Norman E. Miller, for ordinance supervisor and of the Board of Education; and Gerald Johnson and Fred Schmehl, for municipal court judge.

The public is given the opportunity to acquire the candidates and their views. Each candidate will be given the chance to speak and answer any questions asked by the audience.
Fraternity sisters tell gross injustices

Editor:
As little sisters at a local fraternity, we share the very unfortunate fact that only a fraternity situation can generate. Naturally, we don’t partake in the feeling in the same way that men do. But to the same degree as the brothers, we would be part of the house, and are certainly aware of such things. We simply believe that there is no other social or extracurricular organization or activity that could offer us “the closeness, the effectiveness, the diversity, the pride, the unity, the lifetime gains of varied forms, the social development, and the good old fun” that we’ve found through a fraternity.

No, fratresses don’t set their schedules by the liquor store anymore, or their fraternity house by the beach. We do not have beer foam running down our front doors from the beach at night. Despite the surge to speak out for the true value of fraternalism in today’s atmosphere, it is hard for us to be the extreme students we are. There are some gross misconceptions about fraternalism among many city taxpayers and officialdom.

Our hope is that fraternalism at Cal Poly is not misunderstood or seen for what seems like a gross injustice to those of us who are benefiting from the house and other services that could be served.

Cydne Dalpice
Alex Hill
Alpaca Keppile: Pi Little Sisters

Vegetarianism offers a better way of living

Editor:
I am a vegetarian. For 400 years my people have been vegetarians due to political harassment, tradition, religion and now purely for humanitarian reasons. Every country in this century I have lived in has been influenced by all the propaganda about eating meat. I tried them out as produced, sold, and cooked by the nation. However I noticed that a) I was not satisfied, my hunger was still there, b) I became farty and flatulent because the meat was food for some reason and c) certain traces of diseases showed up in my yearly physical check ups. I had irregular bowel movements.

Well, the carnivores go back to vegetarian diet. I feel cool. I know I am not perfect but living as simple life as possible. I can check my food for balance.

Robert B. Brestes

Joe’s Restaurants
840 Higuera St.
San Luis Obispo, Calif. 93401
Phone 805-548-0547

San Luis Obispo’s
HELPFUL Camera Store
CAMPUS CAMERA
GIDS
35-5047
785 Higuera Bld.

Celeth lectrod
Interesting but unintended

Editor:
Dr. Robert Cleath’s lecture on a woman’s right to abortion was in the wrong place, at the wrong time. It was, none of which Dr. Cleath intended.

I refuse to defend the Soviet Union, for the one good thing is its no defense of it. But I believe Dr. Cleath’s comments should be placed in some kind of perspective. The General Doctor said he himself was shadowed by the KGB, but also mentioned passing along the money to foreign law enforcers beneath church pews during services, within the Soviet Union. Dr. Max Raiszadiperger of the History Department pointed out that this was probably the reason for appearances of the KGB—disappearance of Anti-Soviet Unionists, and that even under the freedom of one worshipper of God passing His word to another, this wasn’t a good explanation in Washington, D.C., but not on the Nevsky Prospect in Leningrad. People questioned what their educational level, seem to believe they are in a profession under foreign laws while travelling, citing a “Higher Education” as a reason, as this concept is absurd as it is outdated.

The Doctor’s premise, the act one country influences upon another is relative to its safety. In a lesser a name, the General Doctor said he himself was shadowed, but about what country? Relative to this, many Dr. Cleath’s comments can also apply. Surprisingly enough and inexplicably, the social crime when they are actually being processed for political dissension in the Einstein the Example; In- ternation, Confidential files that damage reports while individuals deny the existence of these files. These ideas have to be kept in mind while making political repercussions in any one country, and particularly the country you reside in.

Dwell on the past and you’ll lose both eyes.

T.W. Speers

Counseling Center
HA88LE87

Homecoming bebo contest underway

Beepbeep takes note, those ‘roll up 8’s’ style is on your way. The Homecoming Bebo Contest is scheduled as the opener before the Oct. 30th Homecoming game against the Nevada Cavallari and the Continental Kids. Now is your chance to show off the best dance duo and the best dressed couple who will receive two free barbecues tickets.

Couples interested may sign up with Kathy Hassler, Activities Planning Center or call 548-0547 before the 18th of October. It is open to any couple, according to Publisher Company Jennifer Armstrong.

Contests must bring their own 8’s and prizes will be awarded. Two hot dogs, a pair of 8’s, and a pair of Nashville’s at the beat dance duo and the best dressed couple will receive two free barbecues tickets.

Homecoming bebo contest underway

Employe blasts library policies

Editor:
I have worked in the Cal Poly library for over two and a half years, so I know a thing or two about the goings on. However, I would like to direct this letter towards the library policy makers— Is this any way to run a library?

Where some items are ordered in obvious excess of need, some other, or requested item, is left out of stock. Is this any way to run a library?

Where money is so carefully allocated that for the past 3 years, when the end of the fiscal year has drawn near, unnecessary materials have been purchased, and students hired in excess numbers; often to be resigned craval tasks; Is this any way to run a library?

Where some faculty members abuse their privileges by checking out books unrelated to their academic obligations, for the quarter and for returning books weeks, months, even years (if they return them at all), when the entire library has the books, without any fines whatsoever?

Is this any way to run a library?

Where those few who blizk and scream, and generally throw temper tantrums over every time often get their fines cancelled—or reduced, while those who accept the responsibility do not?

Where it has taken almost a month to get a confirmation (if you count notification) to come up with the facts on the one of two vacant positions (the other one is not filled) it was known at the beginning of the summer that the vacancy would exist when faculty stars; and where because of this 4 person situation, 4 person sad task that was being done by 1 and a half clerks last spring, with fewer clerks today?

Is this any way to run a library? Your’s truly,

Robert B. Bresltes

WORLD CAMPUSS APLOTO

JOIN US!

You’ll miss in February, The ship your class room and the world your campus combining as a credit for studies with fasci­ nating you the obvious land­ marks of the West. Africa and Asia. On the 28th of the month, two colleges have already sailed with WCIE at their Financial aid available. Write today for free catalog.

WCHA, Chapman College
Bea F, Orange, Ca 92566
Fred Vulin

Propaganda...and much, much more

This university gives you a lot of propaganda...and much, much more.

It seems everywhere I go on campus I'm bombarded by slogans that fit ear companies of the 1960's better than they do a university of the 1970's.

How about the bookstore? I'd like to shake the hand of the person who came up with the slogan words of: "El Corral—your university bookstore and much, much more." What the hell does that mean?

It sounds like their trying to sell everything including the proverbial kitchen sink. I don't know about you, but I always thought a bookstore was a place where I could pick up a few books at a relatively cheap price. I think El Corral may have another idea. Luxury items seem to be "in" this year. And in the end, the student is the one who is going to pay much, much more for those slogans.

I have a suggestion: stop the propaganda campaign and set up a university book club. There's a History Book Club which offers its members lower prices for books that El Corral would sell to you are "like trade lands." Why not a Poly Book Club Store where the books cost less, less, less?

But El Corral isn't the only one guilty of putting off a one job on the students. Don't forget the Beach Bar, where you can "Build a burger...and much, much more!"

Listen, food is food. Now I know prices for food have gone up for various reasons—but why try to sell something that isn't there?

They might as well be saying "Send a boy to camp" or "Drive a Datsun, than decide." Is it really so important to sell a product that has a captive market?

I could imagine a visitor to the university relating his rather a bad memory from the freshman year.

satisfaction with Poly and then suddenly being confronted with a sign saying, "Build a burger...and much, much more!"

What would you think if you came in from the real world and saw that sign for the first time?

Maybe you would think it was an engineering project or an unsuccessful attempt by an art student. The last thing you'd think of would be a sign to promote burger business at Poly. The students couldn't possibly allow that kind of hype at THEIR university—or could they?

Think about it: "Build a burger" is a straight put down on the mentality of those enrolled here. Would a San Francisco Rate or San Diego University put up with this crap? No way. I think they've progressed beyond the point of building burgers.

But let's not forget the biggest offender of Poly's propaganda. It put down—the cafeteria. Its claim to fame is simple enough: "You get a good deal and a good burger." Stolen from a television commercial from a few years back, the cafeteria's slogan is half correct. You certainly do get a good meaning in this case, great in number) deal more. But of what? Massed produced, food, that's what.

And as for the good deal part of it, not so. It's more like a trap than anything else. Freshmen live in the dorms and after all the other expenses they must pay, the cafeteria may look like a good deal.

But once they're sophomores and living in their own apartments, the same amount of money that was used the year before goes a lot further when you decide what and when to eat. The good deal is no longer remembered as a good deal but

But why does it have to sell itself in the first place? Word of mouth is said to be the best form of advertising—slither good or bad. I have to wonder, though, if the food people realize most students don't question things unless they are criticized or praised.

I don't have any personal axe to grind, so to speak, with that monster known as the Cal Poly Foundation. But I do get upset when I'm told I'm getting so much for so little. Like all propaganda, Poly's version seeks to deceive the students and take their minds off the real problems.

KAWASAKI
Husquarna DKW
74 Clearance Sale Now On
Savings Up To $50.
Cyclo Performance Center
748 Frarida R.S. S.L.O. 841-1941
Open Mon-Sat 8 a.m.-6 p.m.

It Sounds Incredible

BUT EVELYN WOOD GRADUATES CAN READ

THE EXORCIST IN 58 MINUTES

At That Speed, The 403 Pages Come Across
With More Impact Than The Movie.

You can do it, too. So far over 85,000 people have done it. People who have different jobs, different IQ's, different interests, different abilities have completed any course. Our graduates are proud of all pupils. The students are asked to choose one book that will help them understand reading better.

One student wrote, "I learned to read better than I ever learned before." Another student said, "I finally learned to read better than I ever learned before."

But why do they want to teach reading? To deceive the students and take their minds off the real problems.

Fred Vulin

Propaganda...and much, much more

This university gives you a lot of propaganda...and much, much more.

It seems everywhere I go on campus I'm bombarded by slogans that fit ear companies of the 1960's better than they do a university of the 1970's.

How about the bookstore? I'd like to shake the hand of the person who came up with the slogan words of: "El Corral—your university bookstore and much, much more." What the hell does that mean?

It sounds like their trying to sell everything including the proverbial kitchen sink. I don't know about you, but I always thought a bookstore was a place where I could pick up a few books at a relatively cheap price. I think El Corral may have another idea. Luxury items seem to be "in" this year. And in the end, the student is the one who is going to pay much, much more for those slogans.

I have a suggestion: stop the propaganda campaign and set up a university book club. There's a History Book Club which offers its members lower prices for books that El Corral would sell to you are "like trade lands." Why not a Poly Book Club Store where the books cost less, less, less?

But El Corral isn't the only one guilty of putting off a one job on the students. Don't forget the Beach Bar, where you can "Build a burger...and much, much more!"

Listen, food is food. Now I know prices for food have gone up for various reasons—but why try to sell something that isn't there?

They might as well be saying "Send a boy to camp" or "Drive a Datsun, than decide." Is it really so important to sell a product that has a captive market?

I could imagine a visitor to the university relating his rather a bad memory from the freshman year.

satisfaction with Poly and then suddenly being confronted with a sign saying, "Build a burger...and much, much more!"

What would you think if you came in from the real world and saw that sign for the first time?

Maybe you would think it was an engineering project or an unsuccessful attempt by an art student. The last thing you'd think of would be a sign to promote burger business at Poly. The students couldn't possibly allow that kind of hype at THEIR university—or could they?

Think about it: "Build a burger" is a straight put down on the mentality of those enrolled here. Would a San Francisco Rate or San Diego University put up with this crap? No way. I think they've progressed beyond the point of building burgers.

But let's not forget the biggest offender of Poly's propaganda. It put down—the cafeteria. Its claim to fame is simple enough: "You get a good deal and a good burger." Stolen from a television commercial from a few years back, the cafeteria's slogan is half correct. You certainly do get a good meaning in this case, great in number) deal more. But of what? Massed produced, food, that's what.

And as for the good deal part of it, not so. It's more like a trap than anything else. Freshmen live in the dorms and after all the other expenses they must pay, the cafeteria may look like a good deal.

But once they're sophomores and living in their own apartments, the same amount of money that was used the year before goes a lot further when you decide what and when to eat. The good deal is no longer remembered as a good deal but

But why does it have to sell itself in the first place? Word of mouth is said to be the best form of advertising—slither good or bad. I have to wonder, though, if the food people realize most students don't question things unless they are criticized or praised.

I don't have any personal axe to grind, so to speak, with that monster known as the Cal Poly Foundation. But I do get upset when I'm told I'm getting so much for so little. Like all propaganda, Poly's version seeks to deceive the students and take their minds off the real problems.

KAWASAKI
Husquarna DKW
74 Clearance Sale Now On
Savings Up To $50.
Cyclo Performance Center
748 Frarida R.S. S.L.O. 841-1941
Open Mon-Sat 8 a.m.-6 p.m.

It Sounds Incredible

BUT EVELYN WOOD GRADUATES CAN READ

THE EXORCIST IN 58 MINUTES

At That Speed, The 403 Pages Come Across
With More Impact Than The Movie.

You can do it, too. So far over 85,000 people have done it. People who have different jobs, different IQ's, different interests, different abilities have completed any course. Our graduates are proud of all pupils. The students are asked to choose one book that will help them understand reading better.

One student wrote, "I learned to read better than I ever learned before." Another student said, "I finally learned to read better than I ever learned before."

But why do they want to teach reading? To deceive the students and take their minds off the real problems.

Schedule of Free Mini-Lesson—

You'll increase your reading speed 50 to 100% on the spot!

Monday, Oct. 21st
4:00 p.m. & 8:00 p.m.
Sands Motel
1930 Monterey St., S.L.O.

EVELYN WOODS READING DYNAMICS
Life no bed of roses for youth offender

by MOLLIE STEWART

James B. Norman attends high school level classes. But not at a public school. Norman lives in a dormitory with 41 other boys but they're all in one room. He likes writing poetry, it helps him forget where he's at.

Norman is a ward at the El Paso de Robles Youth Authority School. There are 269 other wards attending classes and waiting to get out. They have all been arrested for felonies or misdemeanors.

Ray Otterson, assistant superintendent of the school, explained the theory behind the staff member's work.

"We try to better prepare them for the responsibilities and complications of our society. We also give them a good look at their life style. This way they can decide if they really want to be here or if they want other staff member's work.

There are some wards who see advantages in the school. There are three meals a day, they can gain a reputation among their peers and the institution offers protection to weak people. Some wards try to impress others with exaggerated details of their crime.

Otterson explained the problem here. "Almost without exception these boys are habitual liars."

Student gov't has committee positions open

Two student committee have openings for members. The Finance Committee has two opening in Human Development and Education. The Student Judiciary has one opening in Human Development and Education.

For more information, call 844-4751 or the A/S office.

Norman admits to advantages in the school but he does not want to stay. He said, "I want to get back to the straight life. I've got to make it."

Norman added, "You can't expect a lot of privileges because I'll give someone a reason to get busted again."

He has been in other rehabilitation centers in California. Norman has spent four to five years writing poems to pass time. He wants to put these poems into a book entitled "Jailhouse Poems" before he's out. Right now he said he's working at "getting my act straightened up". In a few more months he will be finished with the school.

Norman has another project in mind also. It's a book relating his ward experience at other centers and the Paso Robles school. The work will contain wards' grievances, hassles among the wards, staff treatment and how people act in the schools. The book will be titled "SCA—That's Where I'm At". Norman also wants to finish this before he leaves the school.

Asked why he wrote such bitter poetry Norman replied, "I never had any really happy experiences to write about." He also said that he has written many letters to his family but has received only one letter in return.

In his strongest poem he writes about being in another man's shoes awaiting execution.

"As I sit here in this death cell staring at a wall of stone, my mind wonders where my eyes, I feel so all alone. I feel like giving up all hope. Cause nobody cares about me. I have nobody to turn to for help. Oh God have mercy on me."

"The friends I had have forgotten. Oh God have mercy on me."

I.D. Cards are ready in U.U.

Students who had photos taken during the registration period for Fall quarter may pick up their permanent I.D. cards in the U.U. Pl ace Oct. 21, 22 and 23, 1974. In the event of rain the I.D. cards will be in the Mustang Lounge. Hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Community Gardens Project meets

Community Gardens Project will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium, Rm. 307. The meeting is open to anyone interested in helping the group develop a program for community run gardens. All types of volunteers are needed.

I.D. Cards are ready in U.U.

Students who had photos taken during the registration period for Fall quarter may pick up their permanent I.D. cards in the U.U. Place Oct. 21, 22, and 23, 1974. In the event of rain the I.D. cards will be in the Mustang Lounge. Hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

One joint not to smoke.

The constant-velocity joint, or "C-V." It goes between the engine and the wheels on a Volkswagen. Oh, and they go out once in a while. Too. If one goes out in the middle of nowhere, there you are, stuck...right in the middle of nowhere. And that's nowhere to be with a broken C-V joint. The towing alone costs your pocketbook. But, it's possible to avoid problems like this. Proper and regular maintenance on your bug can get these problems before they become major repairs. The mechanics at The Bug Werks are fully qualified to do this kind of work...and they are people, too.

Bug Werks
at the corner of Marsh and Santa Rosa • 844-8177