Eagles concert on again soon

The Eagles and Linda Ronstadt will perform in two concerts in Santa Maria to benefit the Red Wind Foundation, Sunday, Nov. 3.

The on again, off again show was confirmed by the concert coordinator, John Plata-Randofo. He also said that more acts will be announced for the 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. shows to be held at the University of Southern California Fairgrounds Convention Building. Plata-Randofo said that tickets will be $8 and will go on sale today at Check Thulls, The Record Exchange, Pacific Stereo on campus and the Pacific Stereo in Santa Maria. All proceeds from the concerts will benefit the Red Wind Foundation and it will sell at $200 a set of land and start a dental fund.

According to Plata-Randofo, the land will be a traditional Indian village "where handicrafts and cultural-spiritual activities will take place. It will also pay for the filing fee to the county for the environmental impact report. The money for processing and conditional use permit application for working on the cultural center."

Public hearing will decide fate of tickets

There is still a chance for Cal Poly students to purchase meal tickets off campus student housing dining facilities.

A final public hearing at the Nov. 18 City Council meeting will determine the fate of an amendment to the zoning ordinance which prohibits the sale of meal tickets off campus. If passed, the amendment would enable the U.S. News and World Report to apply for a conditional use permit. Non-Reserve students could then purchase meals on a regular basis at Bannerman Glenn and Programs Village.

According to Kevin O'Connor, Assistant representative for City council affairs, the amendment would enable the U.S. News and World Report to apply for a conditional use permit. Non-Reserve students could then purchase meals on a regular basis at Bannerman Glenn and Programs Village.

Calling the amendment a "doubled-edged sword," O'Connor said, "It is the idea of selling parts of the body to the students and then keeping the body." The amendment was approved by the City Council on Nov. 12.

Correction

The name of the Black student body column which appeared in Wednesdays's Mustang Daily should have been "Umoja," not "Umoja. Umoja means "to strive for and maintain unity in the family, community, nation and race."

Brief Diablo Canyon tour lacks specific information

Editor:
As a fellow student, as well as an employee of PG&E, I was glad to read of your disappointing experience with the FGL Diablo Canyon Nuclear Information Center.

As an employee, I too, have heard the tour presentation and have had an occasion to visit the nuclear site. I agree with your attack and discourage management of the tour. Many of your feelings are very real, very valid.

I, too, am sorry that the vista point does not answer the desire of the viewer and distraction for the workers. On the other hand, won't you agree that the vista point does give an excellent view of the overall plant facility?

Again, I have to agree that the presentation is a very broad, brief excursion. But I feel this is because there is so much to cover in so little time. The purpose and the basis of the information center has been designed primarily to expose the public to our future sources of electrical power.

But you might also take into consideration the possible safety problems that could result to both viewers and construction workers. The location does eliminate any chance of potential hazard for the viewer and distraction for the workers. On the other hand, won't you agree that the vista point does give an excellent view of the overall plant facility?

For a more in-depth study on nuclear energy, may I suggest an inquiry into the course of study through our college. Many departments (science, engineering, architecture) do regard the course as relevant to their classes and thus require their students to make a tour.

Titles for women get student 'steamed up'

Editor:
I have been sitting back and reading all your articles on the so-called "woman" on, you know, for a very long time. I want to say something on my behalf, and not necessarily that of all the guys on campus.

I see nothing wrong with women getting equal pay, jobs on the local, state, and national level. Even a woman as President would be okay with me as long as she knew what she was doing. What gets me all steamed up are the "married," "single," or "take-your-pick" titles they give themselves. In the marriage, woman who calls herself "Mrs." seems embarrassed to let people know she is married to "the one she loves!" Does the single woman not want the man to know she is not married, or lead them to believe she is not? Why must the Woman's P.E. Department put the title of Ms. in front of all the names of the women instructors? (except, for two Dr.s, which it must be proud of.) If all the women want to be labeled as a Ms., they should take off their wedding rings as not to give any hints of their identity.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not putting down women P.E. majors, in fact my fiancé is one. I am glad that she is proud to let everyone know she is engaged by wearing my ring, and soon put a "Mrs." in front of her name. When a woman calls herself "Ms." I do not feel it is because she is engaged to "the one she loves." "Mrs." or "Miss." they have my respect. Why must they hide their marital status by cramming a "Ms." down my throat?

Legal aid

Tenant rights explored in first legal aid article

In the weeks to come the Student Legal Services Office will present a series of articles dealing with recurring legal problems brought by students to Student Legal Services.

The plan is to cover the gamut of landlord-tenant relationships, court procedures, insurance and other topics (within reason and depending on information availability) that readers may want to have covered. Suggestions for topics by students should be sent to Student Legal Services, s- Mustang Daily, O.C. 258.

It is the purpose of these articles only to educate and familiarize readers and their landlords with the laws and problems they may confront while attending the university. The articles are not designed to replace the services of a bonafide legal counsel nor are they intended to transform the reader into an attorney. Legal aid services can only be given by a qualified, licensed attorney.

This first article will explore the basic rights of the tenant and his frequent problems. One of the first things a tenant must identify is the term of occupancy. It is presumed to be at least one year. Any other sort of rental (hotel, motel or guest room) is presumed to be made for the time specified in the rental agreement (daily, weekly or monthly.)

An oral agreement is less binding than a written agreement and the tenant is not subjected to written rules and conditions. This facilitates the termination of the tenancy. The disadvantages of the oral agreement is the uncertainty of both the length of tenancy and conditions of the agreement.

Aqua poloists dunked by Fresno's Bulldogs

Appropriately looking past Fresno State to the CCAA Championship tournament last weekend, the Cal Poly water polo team was dumped last Saturday by the Bulldogs, 1-8.

"We weren't ready to play Fresno," Mustang coach Dick Anderson said. "We just didn't prepare ourselves mentally to play and simply overlooked them."

Anderson said his team will be ready tomorrow, however, when the annual CCAA tournament gets underway at Cal Poly Pomona. The round-robin tournament will continue through Saturday.

"Physically we're ready for the tournament, I've noticed that the players seem to be mentally prepared also," Anderson said. "A few guys have even gotten into fights during practice, which shows they're anxious."

Tomorrow the Mustangs will battle Cal State Northridge at 11 a.m. and UC Riverside at 5 p.m. Saturday the team will face LA State in the morning and unbeaten Cal Poly Pomona in the afternoon.

The Mustangs enter the tournament with a 1-4 record in CCAA play, with their losses to Northridge and LA State being by just one point. The team's only win came against last place Riverside and their most lopsided loss was to Pomona, the conference leaders.

Coed spikers drop a pair

The Mustang women volleyballers had another bad time last weekend when they were dumped by both UC Irvine and Cal State Long Beach.

Coach Ann Windolph said the team was nervous for the Friday night match at Irvine, being 1-3 and 10-11. The two out of three match followed an emerging pattern. The netters, when they lose, are beaten badly in the first game and come back in the second, but not enough to even the match.

The match at Long Beach the following morning showed a slight, but not significant, improvement. The Mustangs went down 8-18 and 11-14.
