Zoning amended for dining halls
City allows non-residents use of cafeteria facilities

by R. K. EVARNA

An amendment to the city's zoning ordinance which would allow student dining facilities to serve non-residents was unanimously approved by the San Luis Obispo City Council on Monday night.

Even though the amendment passed, the housing complexes must apply to the City Planning Commission for use permits and meet the criteria set by the council.

Confrontation ends in firing of professor

A young sociology professor, emblazoned recently in a textbook collection controversy, has been fired on the recommendation of the tenured faculty and head of his department.

Final disposition of the case of Bradford Smith, assistant professor in the Social Sciences Department, was made with President Robert E. Kennedy.

Dean Carroll R. McKibbon of the School of Business and Social Sciences has approved the recommendation that the present academic year be Smith's last, passed by four of the five tenured Social Science faculty members and department head Mahmut Hariri.

According to administrative sources, Kennedy rarely overturns the combined recommendations of the tenured faculty and department head and school dean.

Smith claims the firing is political in nature and the result of his efforts to change a rule at Cal Poly requiring department head approval on textbook requisitions.

Hariri has refused several times in the past to approve some of Smith's next choices. Smith was proposed to the Academic Senate that it present a plan to order texts at off-campus book stores until the rule is changed.

Hariri emphasized the vote on Smith was five to one for non-reappointment. Beyond that, he says, nothing can be said at this time, due to policies of personal confidentiality.

Robert Strong, city planning director, said, "By no means will the use permit automatically be given, the places must pass the criteria."

The housing complexes such as Stanner Gien and Tropica Village which apply for the use permit will have their request evaluated by nine criteria. First, is the student housing facility located in an area where expanded dining facilities would adversely affect the surrounding neighborhood?

Would the dining facility have sufficient on-site parking to accommodate an increase in usage by non-residents? Would non-residents use of the dining facility create an excessive amount of traffic on nearby local streets?

Is the dining facility sufficient in size to accommodate the specified number of patrons? Should advertising for non-resident patrons be limited perhaps to any of the trade journal public?

Would patrons be limited to ticket holders only? (Other than regular residents.) And lastly, should a time limit be imposed for review subsequent to the filing of an application to reevaluate the operation?

"Commentary by R. K. Evarna said, "This passage is no blant check, it will not allow general patronage but will allow students and senior citizens to obtain nutrition meals."

It was also mentioned during the public hearing that sales tax should be collected from the diners to comply with state law.

Indian leader calls for end to oppression

by CONNIE FITTS

As this country approaches its bicentennial in 1976, many Americans take pride in the deeds and accomplishments of their ancestors over the last two hundred years. However, one group of Americans does not receive the same amounts of recognition: the American Indian Movement has taken a stand regarding the bicentennial. It has warned the federal government that the next 200 years will not be like the last 200 years and a complete reversal of Indian policy must be made said Dennis Banks, co-founder and executive director of AIM.

The American Indian Movement has taken a stand regarding the bicentennial. It has warned the federal government that the next 200 years will not be like the last 200 years and a complete reversal of Indian policy must be made said Dennis Banks, co-founder and executive director of AIM.

Banks, sponsored by the student American Indian Organization on campus, spoke to a capacity crowd in Chumash auditorium Monday night. His presentation was the first in a series presented by the 1976-77 Speaker's Convocation Committee.

"Violence is deplorable in any situation. We do not advocate a violent course of action to our problems. But, the Indian tribes must be delivered from their oppression," said Banks.

As Banks and other Indian leaders attempted to deliver the op-pressed members of their race in this country approaches its bicentennial in 1976, many Americans take pride in the deeds and accomplishments of their ancestors over the last two hundred years. However, one group of Americans does not receive the same amounts of recognition: the American Indian Movement has taken a stand regarding the bicentennial. It has warned the federal government that the next 200 years will not be like the last 200 years and a complete reversal of Indian policy must be made. "Violence is deplorable in any situation. We do not advocate a violent course of action to our problems. But, the Indian tribes must be delivered from their oppression," said Banks.

As Banks and other Indian leaders attempted to deliver the oppressed members of their race in this country approaches its bicentennial in 1976, many Americans take pride in the deeds and accomplishments of their ancestors over the last two hundred years. However, one group of Americans does not receive the same amounts of recognition: the American Indian Movement has taken a stand regarding the bicentennial. It has warned the federal government that the next 200 years will not be like the last 200 years and a complete reversal of Indian policy must be made said Dennis Banks, co-founder and executive director of AIM.

The American Indian Movement has taken a stand regarding the bicentennial. It has warned the federal government that the next 200 years will not be like the last 200 years and a complete reversal of Indian policy must be made said Dennis Banks, co-founder and executive director of AIM.

Banks, sponsored by the student American Indian Organization on campus, spoke to a capacity crowd in Chumash auditorium Monday night. His presentation was the first in a series presented by the 1976-77 Speaker's Convocation Committee.

"Violence is deplorable in any situation. We do not advocate a violent course of action to our problems. But, the Indian tribes must be delivered from their oppression," said Banks.

As Banks and other Indian leaders attempted to deliver the oppression
Short library hours cramp learning style

Editor: The question I would like to pose is this: Is Cal Poly an academic institution or a social center? As far as I can see the administration would rather have the university labeled as a social center.

Farm meeting

The Farm Management Club is hosting a speaker at tonight's meeting on Recreation-Game Management.

The meeting will be held tonight, November 30, at 7 p.m. in the Staff Dining Hall.

Disciplinary group to get final vote... (continued from page 1)

Our library, which is supposedly the hub of research and higher learning, keeps banker's hours when compared with other institutions of higher learning. Why, when other university librarians are lengthening their hours of operation as the quarter draws to a close, do we students shut down the only campus library for 2 1/2 days out of a three-day week-end?

I surely do not begrudge the librarians their time with their families, but I am certain with limited services and a little more trust in student workers, library operation could be expanded. I really don't consider 3 hours from 10 to 12 each night in a claustrophobic room much trust for higher learning.

You can plainly see where the major emphasis is in this university's goals. I always thought that education was a process of exposing one's self to what has happened in the past and to what is currently going on in the present. Judging from this university's attitude toward the use of our library, I was wrong.

Gary Laird

Letters

Editor

Marji Neuwaime
Managing Editor

Martha Roush
Layout Editors

Mark Grossi
Mark Lasker
Sports Editor

Pete King
Photo Editor

Jerry Hernandez
Advertising Manager

Mike Mines
Business Manager

Bill Barnes
Production

Publications Manager

Anne Larkin
Web Manager

Tom Ray

Security 546-2281

IF YOU ARE A B.S. or M.S. IN E.E. or PHYSICS...

Follow the Sun

to one of the world's leaders in the electronics field, engaged in research and development of advanced systems... located in a suburb of beautiful, smogless Santa Barbara, California.

Raytheon Santa Barbara is the Electromagnetic Systems Division of the Raytheon Company (headquartered in Lexington, Mass.). Our primary work is performed on government contracts and encompasses electronic countermeasures systems, reconnaissance and intelligence systems, radar detection and tracking systems. These systems cover: antennas, receivers, signal processors, general and special purpose computers, complex signal generators, low and high-power RF components, passive and active RF devices, and high-power supplies and modulators.

Raytheon Santa Barbara includes an elite engineering group of nearly 400 persons (from a total of 1,100 employees), plus extensive, well-equipped laboratories and facilities.

Our location is near the ocean, the mountains, the University of California at Santa Barbara (full tuition refund benefits available), and only 100 miles north of Los Angeles.

If you'd like to join a prestige, state-of-the-art company at a multiple-lifestyle location in a near-perfect climate, consider us. For further information, please send resume to:

LYLE LANGSTON
Electromagnetic Systems Division
Raytheon
5200 Hollister Ave.
Goleta, CA 93117

Support our advertisers!
AIM leader asks for changes...

(continued from page 1)

government agent, was called against me. He was asked to identify me, which he did. Then he was asked if 1963 was my correct birthdate. The agent said the date was incorrect, since he claimed I was born in 1967.

"On the first day of the trial, I gained five years. If this had gone any further, they would have tried me in a federal court," said Banks, with a chuckle.

Banks said the siege at Wounded Knee occurred because of discrimination of the American Indians and the misunderstandings by the Department of Interior. Many Indian leaders and tribal chiefs held a conference to discuss the wrong doings against their people.

"I remember clearly that day when the chiefs of the Sioux, Cheyenne and many other tribes came together to meet and hear each other's solutions," said Banks. "I also remember two women. I had seen many of these faces all of my life."

"I was expecting one of the chief to speak out first against the unfair acts against our people. But, the women spoke out instead, saying, 'Where is the great Sioux nation? What happened to the pride the Indians had?'"

Banks said the women continued to speak, telling the others how they had suffered because of the discrimination and unfair treatment of their race. After they spoke, the 83-year-old chief of the Sioux tribe addressed the group.

"The chief had already said he would not smoke his peace pipe until there was peace on the reservations. He called for unity within the group and said, 'We cannot go another day. These women have already suffered too much.'"

"One by one, the peace pipes were laid down and all the chiefs decided they must go to Wounded Knee," Banks said.

Many other races gave their support at Wounded Knee. Banks said Chicanos, whites and Asian-Americans offered a helping hand. The blacks also went to Wounded Knee, including Angela Davis, Della Gregory and Rev. Ralph Abernathy.

"They all heard the cry of these two Indian women," Banks said. The American Indian Movement, which was formed in 1968 in St. Paul, Minn., has launched a campaign to support Indian self-determination and its Three Point Program. The federal government has been presented with the program and AIM is awaiting a decision on the matter.

The three points of the program are:

- The repeal of the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934 - The removal of the Bureau of Indian Affairs from the Department of Interior - The senate Foreign Relations Committee's examination and recognition of the 371 treaties signed between Indian tribes.

"The government has to recognise that each tribe signed between Indians and the government has been presented with the program and AIM is awaiting a decision on the matter.

Banks said: "The government has to recognize that each tribe has entered into agreements and signed the treaties in good faith. They cannot ignore the treaties, they have to live up to them."

"The government is awaiting a decision on the matter, which Banks said, "is an ongoing issue."

Banks said, "The government must recognize the importance of sovereignty among the Indian people."

"Many Americans do not know how it feels to be deprived of constitutional rights, to be lied to and oppressed. When the country called for the imprisonment of President Nixon, I could see one thing. I said to myself, 'Now they know how it feels to be denied the truth.'"

The articulate spokesman for the American Indians had completely captured his audience with his ringing words. He concluded his presentation with an emotional appeal, which prompted a standing ovation.
Volleyballers lose last two road contests

The Cal Poly women's volleyball team lost its last two road games of the season last weekend. It was swept by both Whittier College and Cal State Fullerton.

In a close match with Whittier, the Mustangs won the first game in the best of three, 15-14, but Whittier recovered to steal the match, 15-16 and 15-16.

In the series with Fullerton the next morning, the Mustangs followed the same pattern, winning the first game and dropping the next two.

The Poly squad came from behind in the first game against Fullerton on the serving effort of Sylvia Moore, who scored 13 straight service points. Coach Ann Woodolph described the winning serve as twisting and short. Fullerton naters, accustomed to hard, fast serves, had trouble scooping up the ball and passing it to the setters.

LeSage's efforts were to no avail, however, as the Mustangs lost the next two games 15-4 and 16-14, but was outplayed by Fullerton, 1-3, 15-13, 15-7 and 15-11.

The B team beat Whittier in two straight games, 15-9 and 15-13, but was outplayed by Fullerton, 1-3, 15-13, 15-7 and 15-11.

The women's rodeo team have been named to the first Western equitation, third in English pleasure, fifth in bareback equitation and placing second in English pleasure; third last Sunday in the first competition.

The university rodeo team placed second in the University of Arizona team placing second in the calf roping.

*State University won the team competition. Orientals second in the calf roping.

Cowboys get first Equestrians third

The Cal Poly men's rodeo team won their fourth straight victory this season in an intercollegiate rodeo at Tuscon, Arizona last weekend. The team rode to top honors in overall team competition with Central Arizona College placing second and Marred College coming in third.

Bruce "Pinky" Hunt brought home a new saddle for being the top point earner in the men's all-around division. Hunt gained most of his points by winning the bull dogging event and placing third in the calf roping.

Saddle bronc riding was dominated by the Cal Poly men with 167 points for the event. The victory came in the third place rodeo at Tuscon, Arisons last Sunday in the calf roping.

Third place in the bareback bronc riding went to Lou Bjugand; and Dennis Spear, competing as an individual, was second in calf roping.

The women's rodeo team placed third in overall team competition. Cindy from Arizona State University won the team competition with the University of Arizona coming in second.

The rodeo, hosted by the university, was held at Old Tuscon, a movie set 10 miles from the city of Tuscon. Arizona State media relations director, this was the last rodeo before the fall quarter. The next rodeo will be Feb. 15-16 at Temple, Arizona.

Mustang Classifieds

For Sale

1973 HONDA 500 CB Motorcycles. Good condition, $400.
2-15 and 0-18. '73 HONDA 200 CB Motorcycles. Good condition, $400.

Wheels

1969 VW BUGS. 4 Cyl. 2.9 S

Services

TV ANSWERING SERVICES. Student know Discount Card. Card for answering service. Call 544-2912.

BATTERED BASES & CLATTERED EDGES?

LET OUR WORKING "KNOMES" REPAIR YOUR SKIS WITH:

- HOT WAX
- EDGES SHARPENED
- FLAT FILE
- & BASE REPAIR

158 Higuera St., BLO 544-7141
228 S. Broadaway, BM 922-8271
8783 Caille Road, Goleta 904-7816

Housing

2-1, 2-15

NEW HARRISON'S "THE HAMBURGER EXPRESS" RESTAURANT. Great hamburgers. Open 11 A.M. to 10 P.M. Call 544-1689.

Advertising

Announcements

SONY Stereo, Camera & TV, CAMPUS & CAMERAS 746 Higuera Street

KIKO'S

KODAK FILM

OLD FASHIONED HARDWARE

You name it - we got it!

Farmers' Ace Hardware

581 Higuera S.L.O. 543-7102

LOTS OF FREE PARKING—NO HASSLES!

Travel

SUBURBAN, ALASKA, CANADA, MEXICO, 2,000 MILES, TRAVEL AGENT, 310-202-9400, 544-1234, 614-4230.

Housing

KODIAC FILM

KIKO'S

OLD FASHIONED HARDWARE

You name it - we got it!

Farmers' Ace Hardware

581 Higuera S.L.O. 543-7102

LOTS OF FREE PARKING—NO HASSLES!