SAC okays resolution regarding TGIF woes

by FRED VULIN

A resolution with the hope for a final solution to the problems resulting from Thank God It's Friday parties was passed unanimously Wednesday night by the Student Affairs Council.

The resolution, authored by ASI President Scott Plotkin, proclaims that SAC has "taken note of the increasing problem regarding TGIFs and the resulting detrimental effect on student-community relations."

The resolution further states SAC's satisfaction of efforts made by the InterFraternity Council, the City of San Luis Obispo and the ASI in trying to find a solution.

One interesting aspect of the Plotkin resolution is it's reference to Title V of the Education Code and how it relates to the resident of each university.

The University president, according to Title V, is "responsible for developing and maintaining good campus-community relations." This was an apparent reference to EGL City Councilman T. Keith Gurnee said the city councilman Wednesday night by speaking with University President Robert E. Kennedy.

Gurnee spoke to the council about student-alcohol problems and explained difficulties he's had in setting up a conference. He mentioned Kennedy was sent a "final letter" to speak with the city councilman on one of our dates in the first week in December.

"I would like to have seen the city provide a mass area for large gatherings, but unfortunately my colleagues didn't agree with me," Gurnee told the council.

The Poly grad termed the resolution as "very positive" and expressed the hope it might serve as a means to start different parties involved communicating with each other.

Enrollment up 10.1 per cent since last year

Cal Poly is one of the three campuses in enrollment growth over last year for the four-campus California State University and Colleges system.

Information released by the system's headquarters showed that Cal Poly was third in the per cent of gain in total students and third also in the increase of full-time equivalent (FTE) students for the Fall Quarter, 1974.

The university reported a 10.1 per cent increase in total students and a gain of 8.1 per cent in full-time equivalent students. The number gain in total students was 1,354 (from 13,150 to 14,504), and the growth in FTE was 1,181 (from 13,777 to 15,958).

The total number of students in the entire CSUC system climbed 12.8 per cent to 361,816 and the number of FTE students rose 9 per cent to 123,806.

The only campuses reporting a gain in total students and a gain in FTE students were California State College at Sacramento, which rose 13.3 per cent to 33,515, and California State College at San Bernardino, which reported an increase of 18.6 per cent from 4,686 to 5,747 in total students and 18.8 per cent from 3,972 to 4,653 in FTE.

Musical college delightfully done

by FRANK NOLAN

A college of various musical styles and rare instrumentation was presented on the second day of the Poly Student Organizations' Fall Convention Thursday at 7 and 9:16 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium. Admission price is $1.50.

The concert opened with a performance of George Philipp Telemann's "Trio Sonata in F major." The work was performed by student conductor's Albert Hurst, tenor violins, Gay Kincaid, viola, and Ronald Vincent, bass violins. The tenor violin is an instrument that has been set up to resemble the flute, half way between the violin and the cello, holding an octave below the violin. The three movements of the sonata were adequately performed, although at times out of tune, with little regard for balance. A masterful effort was turned in by Miles Bender, who was complemented by the sensitive performance of Rainthorpe. Next on the program was the opening movement of "Trio in C Major for Two Oboes and English Horn" by Beechman. This delightful piece of music was performed exquisitely by Ela Auerrey, oboe; Debbie Vlais, oboe; and Mary Miller, English horn. The three performed so well it is impossible to pick a standout. The ensemble work was most interesting and harmonious.

The audience was entertained by a lecture-demonstration on the techniques and instruments native to the Alphorn. Professor Carl Henager explained that the alphorn has a large four-octave range. However, only one octave can be played on the alphorn; most players use only 10 or 11. Henager said that there are two styles of playing the instrument, improvisational playing and concert work. He demonstrated both with perfection.

The concert was concluded with the performance of three Joplin ragas by the Cal Poly Ragtime Ensemble. Scott Joplin has recently regained his popularity since the use of his music in the musical "Hello Dolly." The performances of the ensembles were atmospheric and appropriate.

Gospel groups show faith in Glory

by LYNNETTE BAYLESS

Music from biblical times was brought to the stage when the Black Student Union presented the Glory Road Gospel Festival in Chumash Auditorium Wednesday night.

The Perry Choir tells, a group of 18 men and women who sing about the Christian faith, were featured singing biblical hymns such as "I Believe," "God is the Spirit" and "The Lord is Speaking to You."

The Choraliers are young people from various churches in the Los Angeles area who are interested in serving God, according to Rev. Garland L. Perry, director of the group. Perry said, "Our motto is Not for form or fashion, but for the glory of God, and we are working to praise God in our own way."

According to the director, the group has recorded, but has never performed at colleges, high schools or churches. In addition to their two performances, the group will appear in a devotional program at the University's chapel and a devotional program at the University's chapel and a devotional program at the University's chapel.
Concert conflict bad for relations

It seems as though the programming board is giving the BSU a little static concerning the January concert. It appears that the concert time and date and even the concert itself seem to be in question at this point, due to the opposition of another organization that wants to sponsor a concert themselves.

Although the date was already given to the BSU for the concert, it is still being bargained for by the programming board.

If the concert date is taken, it will possibly mean that no concert will be presented at all this year by the MU.

I sincerely feel that if any of this nature are allowed to continue to breed on this campus there will be a provoative animosity between individuals and groups, whereby progress will be impeded and understanding will definitely need a shot in the arm. If the decision makers don't keep an eye on the future in mind they jeopardize it—look at Watergate. This is within the same framework. By the way, the concert will feature either soul, rock or jazz music and maybe a combination. What groups or stars? It is still up in the air just like the concert at this point.

Activities: Ring and Queen Contest. Sponsored a dance Friday night and the 15th of November which was a successful venture considering past experiences. Proofs will go towards the Spades—"Na" Malakes pageant of '76. Butani "Na" Malakes means King and Queen, which will be the title of the pageant this year, held the first day of Black Heritage Week. The committee meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 28.

With Judy Johnson for place of meeting. Contests are still welcome, deadline is Dec. 3rd. Intramural Playoffs: Featuring the Spades, which is the name of the black team—participating in the playoffs which starts Saturday and goes through Monday. Whether or not the Spades will still be in the running come Monday is almost certain with a little moral support.

Refuse will be in Santa "B" this weekend to "tell you something good." So check in then out. "Back and ya shall find"—whatever. But Hey! Don't forget about your GPA. Right ON! Until later.

Best of Luck, Rufus. WiU be in Santa "B" this weekend to "tell you something good." So check in then out. "Back and ya shall find"—whatever. But Hey! Don't forget about your GPA. Right ON! Until later.

MANU
SAC considers TGIF problem...

They also will try to find the individual's mode of transportation and from what area of the campus he or she is leaving.

O'Connor stresses all information will be confidential and "no attempts will be made to inform the authority of any possible violation of any laws." In other business items, the council approved unanimously the establishment of the Student Discipline Review Committee. It will be chaired by the All-City Justice Council and will be comprised of three bodies that a student accused of a violation of a university law must go through before a penalty is set.

According to Dave Ciano, coordinator of student discipline, some students go through his office each month. Under the old plan, Ciano would receive a penalty directly to Kennedy.

With the new system, both Ciano and the review committee will give separate recommendations to Kennedy—the final authority on such matters. SAC also endorsed a resolution by the academic Senate which approves of a final examination period for Fall Quarter to be held on Wednesdays through Saturdays.

Joplin's well-played day hike at Rancho El Chorro will cost 78 cents per person and $1.29 per couple. Hikers should meet at the Dairy Building Saturday, Nov. 1 at 11 a.m.

For Polyt football it is...

Last chance time

For Poly football it's last chance time. Four weeks from now, the Mustangs will be playing for the Pacific Coast Interfraternity Conference title. Even if the Mustangs lose their last game, they can still win the conference if the teams they have already beaten also lose their last game.

The Mustangs are currently in second place in the conference, with a 7-1-1 record. To win the championship, they need to win their last game and hope that the teams they have already beaten also lose.

The Mustangs will play their last game against the Banana Slugs of Occidental College. The game is scheduled for this Saturday at 4 p.m. at Poly Field.

If the Mustangs win, they will be champions of the Pacific Coast Interfraternity Conference. If they lose, they will still be in contention for the title, but they will need some help from other teams in the conference.

The Mustangs are confident that they can win the last game, but they are also aware of the challenges that lie ahead. They know that they will need to be at their best if they want to win the championship.

The Mustangs have a strong team, with many players who have been playing together for years. They have a good defense, a strong offense, and a good coaching staff.

The Mustangs are confident that they can win the championship, but they are also aware of the challenges that lie ahead. They know that they will need to be at their best if they want to win the title.

The Mustangs are Looking forward to the last game, and they are excited to see what the future holds for them.
