Black dancers perform at Cuesta

Black Dimensions, a troupe of lively, versatile dancers absorbed in the Afro-American experience, will perform at Cuesta College Auditorium, Wednesday, Dec. 4.

The two-year old, nonprofit organization was developed to perpetuate and inspire the knowledge and appreciation of African-derived dance. The group recognizes the dance as a performing art that is an excellent medium for the expression of cultural and historical information.

Focusing on the goals of the company, Vaughan said, "We want to perpetuate the dance forms of Africa, and to show that they are beautiful and they are part of Black culture. We want to make our dance functional to inspire people about relationships between a man and a woman, the idea of unity and race relations. We want to present a total experience, not just isolated dances, but also percussion and drama."

Admission to the Black Dimensions production will be $1 for adults and 90 cents for students and children. Tickets are available at the Cuesta College Community Services Office or at the door the evening of the program.

Establishment of campus bars finds opposition

The permission of allowing beer to be sold on state university campuses is bound to be a thorny one, according to a story in the Los Angeles Times last week after a meeting of the Board of Trustees committee.

A California State University administration task force will study the suggestion of Trustee William Wawrash that beer be allowed in student union buildings. Wawrash said the amnesty, the University of San Francisco, has permitted operation of a beer bar on campus for 17 months without serious mishap.

Wawrash said that the sale of beer has encouraged opposition from other trustees and other campus officials.

President Robert E. Kennedy said there are 3,000 students under the legal drinking age of 21 on the Cal State campus, living away from home for the first time.

"Plurals of these students do, indeed, expect generally that their own and their colleagues are not going to be placed in a situation in which the university itself becomes an agent advocating the use of alcohol, or at least an abstinence drug abuse problem," Kennedy said.

Paper oversupply slows ECO-SLO

The ECO-SLO Recycling Center can no longer take old newspapers for recycling, at least for the present time.

Bruce Paskrovsky, manager of the facility, said that there is a tremendous oversupply of old newspapers at recycling mills. This has not only dropped prices on old newspapers over 50 per cent, but none of the mills in the state want to accept the newspapers.

"Our paper broker, the guy who ships the newspapers, is just out of business. Therefore, we will no longer have any newspaper on our second list," said Paskrovsky.

"He hadn't even priced dropped from $3.00 a ton to three dollars a ton, we tried to keep the newspaper, but it just isn't possible," said Paskrovsky.

"But when you can't get any paper, there's no way you can take them from the public."

Dr. Billy Mounts, director of health services, said that permitting the sale of beer "is not in this young people's best interest. This is their time of need. Young adults who are currently or have been recently engaged in drug abuse should not be served what amounts to a 'white, middle-class' haven on campus."

Helpful hints for winter registration

A preliminary list of students eligible for preferential registration for the spring quarter is available at the registrar's office. Students who completed 150 units at the end of the spring quarter or summer quarter are currently or have previously enrolled in introductory, junior college-level courses.

The preliminary list will be updated after fall quarter grades are posted. Any student who completed 150 units at the end of one of these quarters will still have priority for registration Winter Quarter. This second list will be posted outside the Men's Gym at noon, Jan. 1, 1975.

Students should report any omission to the Registrar's Office, before Dec. 15.
Car club meeting set

The Cal Poly Sporta Car Club will feature a speaker in the Erhart Agriculture Building in Room 221, Dec. 4.

The 7:30 speech entitled "Ignition Systems" will be presented by Professor James G. Andresen.

How ignition systems operate, how to make them better, and a study of high performance ignitions will be explored by Prof. Andresen.

Editor: After reading your feature on "The Health Council Links Students To Services," dated Nov. 21, 1974, I would further like to elaborate on the subject. As mentioned in the article, the Student Health Services Council (comprised of student representatives, faculty and staff members) has accomplished such things as an augmented health clinic, an insurance program related to the Health Center, a health card program, an Alcohol Abuse Program, LaFemme Clinic (oriented to women's problems) and an Oral Health Program. In addition, the Health Council is in the process of bringing about a Health Education Program in which filmstrips will be available to students at the Health Center on various topics ranging from VD to cancer to acupuncture.

The council was established for the sole purpose of being a communications link with the university community. The goals that were achieved have been through the help of student input and council's response. But, the only way the Student Health Services Council is to remain even the slightest bit effective is through continued student input. True, the council is not well known on campus, but I would like to have seen these students who have complaints or questions take the initiative to just tell someone who works at the Health Center.

I'm not blaming students for not taking the initiative but I just want it to be known that the Health Council wants any and all student input, good or bad. Any student is welcomed and encouraged to attend the council meetings which are held every first Thursday of the month, at 11 a.m. in the Health Center library conference room.

believing that the judicial system is strong enough to find the truth and redress the wrongs committed at Cal Poly, as a matter of policy," he said.

Kennedy said that he has opinion on the lawsuit, but that he feels it is inappropriate to make comments on some of Guerra's charges. "It will then turn into a charge, counter-charge debate," he said.

"But while it is being resolved I'm not going to become involved in the preu," Kennedy said, adding that he can't make the defenses that ought to be made until the hearing. But they will be said in court, he said. Until then Guerra can say all he wants, Kennedy concluded.

Mustangs will tangle with UOP

by JON HARTINGS
and PETE KING

The University of Pacific Tigers will play the Cal Poly basketball team tonight in the Man's gym here. Their victory will put them closer to winning the CCAA title. The Tigers are hardly ever beaten. In UOP's own element, the Bokton Civic Auditorium, the Tigers are hardly ever beaten. In the crackbox gym where crowd noise sounds like a snap, crackle and pop magnified 1,000 times. UOP has won 70 of its last 79 games.

But on the road, the Tigers tend to be more brittle. Last year, eight of the 12 UOP losses were in away games. The overall Tiger record was 14-11.

While most Poly students were home getting fat on turkey, Wheeler's young basketball team was fattening up on game experience. The defending CCAA champions ousted San Francisco State 69-61 last Friday in the opener at home, and lost an exciting 60-66 contest to a heavily favored UC Santa Barbara team the next night in the Gauchos' gym.

The Mustangs started off slow in their victory over San Francisco State. Their first basket came with a little over seven minutes gone in the game, reserve forward Dave Krohn finally hitting on a 17-foot jumper to get the Mustangs untracked. Guard Gary OrglTl, the captain and most experienced player on the squad, kept the game close as he netted 11 first half points. The Mustangs shot a miserable 33 per cent from the floor in the first half. The Golden Gaters shot 47 per cent but only took a 38-37 halftime lead over the Tigers in front of a packed house.

In the second half, with 1,800 fans behind them, the Mustangs shot a blistering 60 per cent from the field, and took the game with eight minutes gone.

The Mustangs never relinquished the lead from that point. Junior forward Dave Bush led the Mustangs in rebounds with eight. The 6'6" Bush also registered 14 points. The other starting forward, senior Ray Hall, scored 13 as he got a hot shooting hand in the second half. John Slater was the only Poly player who scored double digits with 13 points.

Ironically the Mustangs seemed to play a better game in their losing effort the next night. Poly again took on the Gauchos, but the Mustangs seemed to be playing a different game. The Gauchos exploited their height advantage, going inside to a pair of 6'9" forwards named Don Ford and Tex Walker.

As the game progressed, the Mustang defense tightened up and received excellent play underclassmen from Bush and Plavin. The first half ended with the Gauchos' on top 37-27.

The second half saw the lead change hands several times. Poly got into foul trouble, however, and lost Dave Bush, OrglTl, and Ray Hall on fouls. Santa Barbara built up a seven point lead and a late Mustang rally fell one point short.

Tipoff for the game tonight is at 9 p.m.
