A national survey of marijuana use and attitudes, commissioned by the independent Drug abuse Council of Washington, D.C., shows that among adult Americans, age 18 and over, 18 percent report having at least tried marijuana, with 5 percent of them currently using marijuana.

Differences in adult usage divided sharply among age groupings, and while almost one-half of those 18-28 reported that they have tried marijuana, only 3 percent over 80 years of age reported that they have ever tried marijuana.

Norman Bone, county coordinator for the California Marijuana Reform League, said the actual percentages of persons between the ages of 18-28 who have tried marijuana is probably more like 70 percent.

The Drug Abuse Council was established in 1972 by a consortium of private foundations to serve as an independent source of information, professionals rank high among all adult occupational categories in reporting marijuana use with 14 percent currently using marijuana and 28 percent having tried marijuana.

The survey was conducted in October 1974 by the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey, and consisted of several questions asked as part of a longer, regularly scheduled survey of public opinion on a variety of issues. All interviews were conducted in the home of respondents and each respondent was guaranteed anonymity as required by the code of Ethics of the American Association for Public Opinion Research.

The Drug Abuse Council was established in 1972 by a consortium of private foundations to serve as an independent source of information, policy evaluation and research funding in the field of drug use and misuse in the United States.

The news in brief

The supply fell 6 percent in the last three months because consumers and businesses are saving instead of spending, Federal Reserve President Fed says.

"We can't force people to spend money and nobody else can either," said Janet Yellen, Federal Reserve Bank of New York. "It's difficult in a time like this." If approved, the 500,000 would be poured into the local economy by the 180,000 people who attended the activities.

According to Frank Bianchini, general superintendent of Poly Royal, such a request is justified because the merchants of San Luis Obispo benefit directly from Poly Royal.

Bianchini explained that last year, an estimated 15 million was poured into the local economy by the 180,000 people who attended the activities.

If approved, the 500,000 would be spent to open the travelling expenses of the Poly Royal Queen, and to aid in the publication of promotional materials and brochures.

The Queen is sent throughout the state in order to disseminate literature and information about the Poly Royal celebrations.

Bianchini said that, not including publicity expenses which are covered by State money, it costs about $20,000 to put on Poly Royal.

While admitting that in relation to the total cost of Poly Royal, the 500,000 is not a large sum, Bianchini emphasized that the city money is vital to the production of a successful event.

According to survey
Editor: I recently had the opportunity to hear Ali President Scott Plotkin speak on the upcoming AB 3116 referendum. Although arguments in favor of maintaining the present student body fees are well taken, I believe that there are some important facts that should be considered.

Of the $889,000 the ASI received this year from student body fees, approximately $196,000, or 45 per cent, was used for a very small minority of the students. A significant part of this money was spent on such things as buying meals for various athletic teams, covering travel, hotel and food expenses for the CPU band ($2,000 for one trip to Pomona alone) and financing similar costs incurred by the rodeo team and various agriculture judging committees.

Meanwhile, the money spent on services for the general student population (films, concerts, lectures, etc.) was accounted for less than nine per cent of the budget! I suggest Plotkin and company stop spending time and money financing the virtues of a "YES" vote on the AB 3116 referendum and pass their priorities when spending our money. A "NO" vote will most likely bring our officers to action.

If the time is taken to make these adjustments in spending habits, we students will not only save a few dollars come registration time, but student services offered us can be expanded to include all of us and not just selected few.

So do yourself a favor...vote "NO" on AB 3116 and reduce ASI fees as much as possible.

Brown signs bill, faces demonstration

It was, as Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr. said, an historic occasion. Not only did the new governor sign his first bill but he also had his first confrontation with demonstrators.

The occasion was Brown's formal appearance before the California Newspaper Publishers Association (CNPA) annual convention in San Francisco.

Before an astonished standing-room-only crowd at the Hilton Hotel, Kathy Cade of the "Free Ines Committee" confronted Brown with a list of demands.

"In response, Brown pledged to visit prison facilities for women in the state to see "that the law is fairly and equitably applied." But, he added, "I cannot intervene in her case until the appeals process is exhausted." He did promise, however, to study the Garcia case and give the committee a response in two weeks.

After Cade's departure, Brown told his audience, "It doesn't take demonstrations, or yelling to reach me. Come to Sacramento and meet me in a quiet way so we can discuss any problems." Politicians need to say what they mean and they need more time on a question, but just the truth," he said.

The committee is protesting the Garcia case and Brown's decision to sign the bill allowing prison personnel to receive specified income tax deductions.

In his remarks, Brown urged the press to receive specified income tax deductions. In his remarks, Brown urged the press not to cover his speeches. Reporters with an advance text are covering his speeches, he said, but simply "following along on something written somewhere else by someone else."

Rocky warns of quick cure for economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller warned Wednesday there is no quick cure for the nation's economic ailments, even if Congress acts quickly on President Ford's program.

Speaking at a morning breakfast of businessmen and later to the nation's governors, Rockefeller said the nation must go through a period of belt tightening and Congress must overhaul many costly programs before the economy can be turned around.

"Face it, we're in tough times," Rockefeller said. "It's going to take time, it's not going to happen overnight."

"For too long Congress has been passing legislation with wonderful objectives without realizing the long term implications," he said. He added that even if Congress acted quickly on Ford's economic program, or adopted one of its own, it would not bring a rapid end to inflation, recession and unemployment.

But Rockefeller said he was "very optimistic" that the country had the "natural resources to pull us out of this. It involves additional changes, and nobody wants change. They want to go back to the good old days," he told a national Chamber of Commerce meeting. "But just to give you an example, we can't go back. The days of cheap energy are gone. We have to face reality."

Later, Rockefeller told the National Governors Conference that big, costly, overlapping government-programs are unwelcome if all it is doing has led to a growing sense of frustration among Americans.

One of the reasons he resigned as governor of New York state last year, Rockefeller said, was that "less and less was I able to be responsive to my own constituents, both in terms of decision-making and the operations of government."

Baker might make a run for President

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — Howard Baker might consider himself a "trial heat" for the presidency, says he is convinced that a primary race against President Ford would not harm the Republican Party.

The Tennessee Republican, who has speaking engagements in eight states over the next two months, said he expects to make a final decision on entering the race by late summer or early fall.

"This is not only a trial heat in terms of seeing the reaction of the country, but it is also an expen- sable in finding out what the reaction is here in Tennessee and last but certainly not least to see what my own reaction is," Baker told UPI in an interview.

Baker, who announced recently that he may seek the GOP nomination regardless of whether President Ford seeks office again, said he did not think a primary between himself and the President would be damaging to the party.

"I don't have the slightest doubt that President Ford and I could compete without rancor and anger and divisiveness," Baker said. "That was one of the factors I took into account when I decided to stop being coy and to acknowledge that I was thinking about the subject." Baker, who vaulted to national prominence as vice chairman of the Senate's select committee investigating the CIA, said he has not yet determined under what conditions he would run for the presidency.

The Black Student Union (BSU) is having a special meeting today, Monday at 11 a.m. in the Cal Poly Theatre. The meeting is to discuss future concerts, office election and the BSU Queen Pageant.

The slides and sounds of India, a special slide presentation by the student chapter of the American Institute of Architects (A.I.A.), will be shown at 11 a.m. today in the Cal Poly Theatre.

The slides, taken by faculty member Sharad Atre, emphasize the famed Indian architectural style.

The presentation is open to the public free of charge, and is the second in a series of presentations by the A.I.A.

A preliminary list of students eligible for preferential registration is posted in the foyer in the library.

This list includes students who completed 128 units at the end of fall quarter and are currently enrolled or have previously enrolled in introductory or upper-division courses.

Students should report any omission to the Registrar's Office, Adm. 318, before March 18.

The talents of Richard Ayling, a senior in Graphic Communications, were used in creating the theme symbols of two exhibits at Cal Poly.

The first symbol used the effect produced by looking at the ends of a group of books placed in a stylized sunburst pattern.

The phrase, "BOOK BUILDING From Manuscript to Bound Book," was used as the verbal base for the design. This symbol was used to promote the book exhibit recently at Cal Poly.

The second symbol is a fabric design and will be used in a promotional manner for an exhibit scheduled for next quarter.

Both of these designs will be among the exhibits of Second Annual Graphic Design Show beginning Monday Feb. 24 in Rm. 319 of the University Union.

"Waking up," an exhibition of weaving as an art form will be presented by the San Luis Obispo Art Association from Feb. 24 to March 23 in the Grey Wing of the Art Center, 1016 Broad St.

The artists in the exhibit, Jim Carli, and Kathleen and Dennis Purcell, will each be presenting an individual aspect of the ancient craft of weaving.

The artists use similar materials, natural and animal fibers, either in their raw state or hand-dyed.

A public preview and reception for the artists will be held at the Art Center on Sunday, Feb. 23, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Any person interested in volunteer service as gallery assistants for the non-profit organization are invited to attend the coffee and critique session being held for the gallery assistants at the Art Center Monday, Feb. 24, at 10 a.m.

Netters in rare loss to UCSB
by JIM SWEENEY

It was a rare afternoon for coach Ed Jorgenson's tennis team Tuesday. They lost. Up against a more experienced UC Santa Barbara squad, the Mustangs dropped a tough 6-3 decision in their season opener. It was the third match for the Gauchos.

Cal Poly jumped to a quick 3-1 lead, winning three of the first four singles matches. Jim Martin, playing in the number one spot, squeezed out a 6-4, 7-6 victory over Crandall Edwards. Pete Lambert dominated the number two match, defeating Bruce Matthews 6-2, 6-2. Mustang Tom Zurn was defeated in the third spot, 6-4, 7-7 by Jean Oliver. Rudy Van Solingen came back with a hard-fought 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 win over Gaacho Russ Kline.

After the fourth singles match, the cheering was over for Cal Poly. In the number five slot Mustang Craig Parton dropped a 6-4, 6-7 decision and teammate Jim Holst was annihilated 1-6, 6-3.

The doubles matches were even more frustrating as Jorgenson's crew won the first set of each, only to lose all three contests in three sets.

The Mustangs next match is at home Friday against Pomona College of Claremont at 3:30.

Intramural rodeo Friday

The annual Winter Intramural Rodeo, hosted by the Cal Poly Rodeo Club, will be held Friday at 6 p.m. in the Collett Arena.

A $1 donation towards the Rodeo Club will be collected from participants and spectators to raise money for the club's annual banquet and the Poly Royal Western Dance in April.

Poly title hopes get jolted, 73-64
by STEVE CHURM

The Mustangs combined a hot shooting first half, converting 14-25 from the field, with a cold shooting Mustang first half. The Mustangs found the range on only 9 of 35 attempts and found themselves down by 15 at intermission.

Hollywood couldn't have come up with a better finish for the California Collegiate Athletic Association basketball race than the one shaping up.

With just two weeks left, only one game separates five teams with a possibility the race might end in a five way tie.

Coach Ernie Wheeler would like to see league officials the trouble of having to choose a winner, in case of a tie, by repeating out right as league champions.

But the Mustangs chances of repeating as champions were dealt a blow Friday night when Cal State Northridge knocked them off the Mustangs 74-64 at Northridge.

Hewlett-Packard introduces a smaller uncompromising calculator: the HP-21 Scientific.

$125.00:

Now $125.00 buys:

More power than our HP-35. 32 pre-programmed functions and operations vs. 22 for our HP-35. The HP-21 performs all log and trig functions, the latter in radians or degrees. It's our only calculator short of the HP-41 that lets you:

• convert polar to rectangular coordinates, and back again (→P, →R);

• do full register arithmetic (M+, M-, MX, M^);

• calculate a common antilog (10^x) with a single keystroke.

The HP-21 also performs all basic data manipulations (x^y, √, 1/x) and all pre-programmed functions in one second or less. In sum, it's designed to solve tomorrow's problems as well as today's.

Smaller size. 6 ounces vs. 9 ounces for our HP-35.

Full display formatting. The display key (DSP) lets you choose between fixed decimal and scientific notation and lets you control the number of places displayed. (The HP-21 always uses all 10 digits internally.)

If a number is too large or small for fixed decimal display, the HP-21 switches automatically to scientific. It never confuses a smaller number with zero.

Finally, if you give the HP-21 an impossible instruction, the Display spells E-E-R-R-O-R.

RPN logic system. Here's what this unique logic system means for you:

• You can evaluate any expression without copying parentheses, worrying about hierarchies or re-structuring beforehand.

• You can solve all problems your way—the way you now use when you use a slide rule.

• You solve all problems—no matter how complex—the step at a time. You never work with more than two numbers at once.

• You see all intermediate answers immediately. The HP-21 executes each function immediately after you press the function key.

• You can easily backtrack when you err. The HP-21 performs all operations sequentially.

• You can re-use numbers without re-entering them. The HP-21 becomes your scratch pad.

• HP quality craftsmanship. One reason Nobel Prize winners, astronauts, conquerors of Everest, America's Cup navigators and over 500,000 other professionals own H-P calculators.

Mustangs kick UCSB

The Gauchos didn't win a single match as the Mustangs won their 11th straight dual to wind up the season with a 17-8 record.

With UCSB the owner of a 1-8 record, Coach Vaughan Hitchcock decided to water down his starting line-up and moved Mark Digirolamo, Bruce Lynn and Cliff Hatch up a weight. Dave Duke gave Gary Casey a rest as he filled in at 190.

The evening was to mark the return of Mustang heavyweight Randy Hudson, who missed the latter half of the season with an injury. It was anti-climactic though, as Hudson's opponent, George Merton, forfeited with an injury.

Rodger Warner finished the season with a 20-3-1 record, as he won a 14-0 decision over Gaucbo Gay Feneke at 190. Warner's team high 23 wins was two short of the record held by Glenn Anderson.

Digirolamo, Hatch and Duke added to the evening's excitement as they each pinned their opponent. Hatch recorded the quickest fall of the night as he pinned 177-pound John McNalley of the record held by Glenn Anderson.
