License-lease woes by MARK GROSSI

Making an agreement which takes away some personal freedom is a little like making a house with a foundation. Certain factors won't allow either to stand very long.

Members of Interhall Council are in the process of seeing the constitutional foundation of the license agreement which Cal Poly students sign to reside in dorms. Many feel the rode could cave in and the license could be changed to a lease.

Says Diane Burkdoll, SAC representative for Interhall Council, "We are working with Attorneys Mike Devit to find exactly where student's rights are being violated."

"Cal Poly and Prepro are the only two campuses in this system which do not allow alcohol on school grounds. We believe this is an infringement on the rights of the 18-year-old and older dorm resident. According to figures in the housing office the 2,340 dorm inhabitants are El or over.

Burkdoll says the bulk of conflicts which Interhall Council finds in the license are contained in a letter from the legal office of Richard Carael to the ASI President dated April 1972. Carael said the legal opinions in the letter were cast aside, but that a legal basis exists for challenging the license.

The letter reads, a tenant under a lease has the right to quiet enjoyment of the premises; the tenant is afforded all of the best sections of society, not property, but that a legal basis exists for challenging the license.

The lease reads, a tenant under a lease has the right to quiet enjoyment of the premises, the tenant is afforded all of the best sections of society, not property, but that a legal basis exists for challenging the license.

Burkdoll says the bulk of conflicts which Interhall Council finds in the license are contained in a letter from the legal office of Richard Carael to the ASI President dated April 1972. Carael said the legal opinions in the letter were cast aside, but that a legal basis exists for challenging the license. The letter reads, a tenant under a lease has the right to quiet enjoyment of the premises, the tenant is afforded all of the best sections of society, not property, but that a legal basis exists for challenging the license.

In the lease, the University reserves "a reasonable right of inspection."

But, Carael said it would be doubtful that a student would voluntarily consent to having his room searched at the convenience of the State. He said such contracts have historically been held to be coercive and the courts have ruled against the perpetrator (in this case the State).

Robert Bostrom, director of housing, says the room checks are made for the safety of the students. "We've found live-gallon cans of gasoline in rooms. We've never had a student burned here and we want to keep it that way."

Bostrom contends that the license has advantages over a lease because troublemakers can be moved around. If a lease were used as a contract, Bostrom says it will have dangerous ramifications.

"We have a voluntary metal ticket at Poly, so naturally we have to worry about students cooking in their rooms. We're not part of the city, but the city prohibits cooking in bedrooms because of fire hazards, garbage, odors, insects and a lot of other problems. With a lease, the chances of cooking in the dorm rooms would increase considerably.

"The main reason we don't allow refrigerators is because it would encourage cooking in the rooms and increase drinking of alcoholic beverages."

Asked why he does not go along with alcohol on campus, Bostrom said, "We believe in upholding the best portions of society, not the worst. I would not want to be responsible for converting students to alcoholism."

"If we do not allow alcohol on campus, we also do not allow signs or any other signs or displays or articles to be placed in windows."

"One provision in the dorm license says no refund will be made for breaking the lease for cause of disciplinary action by the University President or his designee. Interhall Council members say this part of the lease is quite reasonable."

However, Bostrom says, "We've changed from a lease to a lease. This year for repeated offenses. We warned them several times. But they also warned us."

It is this type of selective enforcement that prompted Diane (continued on page 2)

Deadline today

Students planning to run for an office in the Associated Students, Inc. or the Student Executive Council must file by 4 p.m. today at the Activities Planning Center.

As of 2 p.m. Monday, the list of candidates for ASI president included Greg Fowler, Doug Jorgensen, Rob Chappell, Kevin D'Conner, and Mike Hurtado.

Candidates for vice-president so far include Phil Bishop, Roland Hill, and Tim Heyen.

Sports doctor to lecture at Cuesta College

Harold Baltes, M.D., a noted authority on sports medicine, will be guest lecturer at a Cuesta College Community Services program at Atascadero Junior High School April 30, 8 p.m.

Dr. Baltes has done extensive research into the health and safety aspects of sports. He is the medical director, preventive cardiology and athletic training at San Francisco State University, and a fellow in the military medicine at Mt. Sinai and Beth Israel Hospital in New York.

The Atascadero program will be open to the public, with $1.00 admission for adults and 50 cents for students and children.

A graduate of the State University of Iowa, Dr. Baltes served his medical residency in internal medicine at Mt. Sinai and Beth Israel Hospitals in New York, and received his diploma and licencing in surgery from the College of Chinese Acupuncture in Kentwood, England. He has published numerous articles on health and safety, and is well-known for his research in helmet design for bicycle and motorcycle riders.

Grant may aid housing

An application for federal housing aid was approved unanimously by the City Council Monday night.

The application will be directed to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. A total of $500,000 will be requested. Cal Poly students will benefit from the funds. A letter from the city council staff, Cal Poly students were said to generate 67 per cent of the total rental market in the city. As many as 3,000 units are needed in all of the housing communities which students have been experiencing difficulties in getting.

The grant request, if approved, will be funded under the federal housing and Community Development grant program. The grants in the program are offered to buy property and offer it to developers to encourage construction of housing units.

The Vietnam war was a disaster

by CONNIE BECCHIO

Believing North Vietnam would achieve victory in the end, Joe Oliva feels what's important would achieve victory in the end, Joe Oliva feels what's important are going on at usual."

"What I also see it average nowadays," he said. "We are going through a rough time, and we are going to keep it that way."

"We have a voluntery meal ticket at Poly, so naturally we have to worry about students cooking in their rooms. We're not part of the city, but the city prohibits cooking in bedrooms because of fire hazards, garbage, odors, insects and a lot of other problems. With a lease, the chances of cooking in the dorm rooms would increase considerably."

"The main reason we don't allow refrigerators is because it would encourage cooking in the rooms and increase drinking of alcoholic beverages."

Asked why he does not go along with alcohol on campus, Bostrom said, "We believe in upholding the best portions of society, not the worst. I would not want to be responsible for converting students to alcoholism."

"If we do not allow alcohol on campus, we also do not allow signs or any other signs or displays or articles to be placed in windows."

"One provision in the dorm license says no refund will be made for breaking the lease for cause of disciplinary action by the University President or his designee. Interhall Council members say this part of the lease is quite reasonable."

However, Bostrom says, "We've changed from a lease to a lease. This year for repeated offenses. We warned them several times. But they also warned us."

It is this type of selective enforcement that prompted Diane (continued on page 2)

The Vietnam war was a disaster

by CONNIE BECCHIO

Believing North Vietnam would achieve victory in the end, Joe Oliva feels what's important are going on at usual."

"What I also see it average nowadays," he said. "We are going through a rough time, and we are going to keep it that way."

"We have a voluntery meal ticket at Poly, so naturally we have to worry about students cooking in their rooms. We're not part of the city, but the city prohibits cooking in bedrooms because of fire hazards, garbage, odors, insects and a lot of other problems. With a lease, the chances of cooking in the dorm rooms would increase considerably."

"The main reason we don't allow refrigerators is because it would encourage cooking in the rooms and increase drinking of alcoholic beverages."

Asked why he does not go along with alcohol on campus, Bostrom said, "We believe in upholding the best portions of society, not the worst. I would not want to be responsible for converting students to alcoholism."

"If we do not allow alcohol on campus, we also do not allow signs or any other signs or displays or articles to be placed in windows."

"One provision in the dorm license says no refund will be made for breaking the lease for cause of disciplinary action by the University President or his designee. Interhall Council members say this part of the lease is quite reasonable."

However, Bostrom says, "We've changed from a lease to a lease. This year for repeated offenses. We warned them several times. But they also warned us."

It is this type of selective enforcement that prompted Diane (continued on page 2)

The Vietnam war was a disaster

by CONNIE BECCHIO

Believing North Vietnam would achieve victory in the end, Joe Oliva feels what's important are going on at usual."

"What I also see it average nowadays," he said. "We are going through a rough time, and we are going to keep it that way."

"We have a voluntery meal ticket at Poly, so naturally we have to worry about students cooking in their rooms. We're not part of the city, but the city prohibits cooking in bedrooms because of fire hazards, garbage, odors, insects and a lot of other problems. With a lease, the chances of cooking in the dorm rooms would increase considerably."

"The main reason we don't allow refrigerators is because it would encourage cooking in the rooms and increase drinking of alcoholic beverages."

Asked why he does not go along with alcohol on campus, Bostrom said, "We believe in upholding the best portions of society, not the worst. I would not want to be responsible for converting students to alcoholism."

"If we do not allow alcohol on campus, we also do not allow signs or any other signs or displays or articles to be placed in windows."

"One provision in the dorm license says no refund will be made for breaking the lease for cause of disciplinary action by the University President or his designee. Interhall Council members say this part of the lease is quite reasonable."

However, Bostrom says, "We've changed from a lease to a lease. This year for repeated offenses. We warned them several times. But they also warned us."

It is this type of selective enforcement that prompted Diane (continued on page 2)
Antiquated attitudes permeate opinion

editor:
I find it difficult to believe that Mr. Robert George Reid's letter of April 22, concerning the disgust he felt toward alcohol and marijuana use at Cal Poly was meant to be serious.

Letters
Mr. Reid, if by any chance you wrote your letter in an attempt to induce reaction, congratulations—you definitely succeeded. I have not read anything so ridiculous and antiquated in attitude since the letter last spring condemning streaking as being an obscene, vile and crude act of a sick person.

Congratulations—you have won this year's award for the most ridiculous, antiquated attitude.

We all have our "cop outs;" some use drugs, some use alcohol and others use Jesus. Just as you have been amazed and appalled at parties, so have I at church services, "seeing people sitting there in a comatose state totally unaware of the world about them.

If, by any chance, your letter was meant to be taken seriously, I sincerely feel sorry for you and all such "societal snails."

Ken Ruggles

Tractors will pull at event

Farmers from throughout California will be testing their favorite tractors in the 1973 Poly Royal Tractor Pull on Saturday, April 26.

Tractors in top tune-up condition will be pitted against weight in the pull which has become a major attraction at fairs in California in the past two years.

The tractor pull feature a sled designed by agricultural engineering students which uses a weight transfer mechanism to increase the drawbar load.

The competition will begin at 11:30 a.m. on April 26 at the former air strip.

On April 23, contestants and prospective future tractor pull contestants will participate in a seminar designed to create a better understanding of tractor pulling objects and techniques.

The seminar will be held in Shop 6 of the Agricultural Engineering Building beginning at 9 a.m. Practice pulling will follow at 10:30 a.m. at the former air strip.

Licence problems
(continued from page 1)
Burkdoll to bring the matter before Interhall Council.

Does a courtroom clash looming in the future over the question of constitutional rights in the license?

"We're not sure yet," says Burkdoll. "The case would not be statewide if it did go to court. This case would be confined to Cal Poly. "If we could not get the license changed to a lease, we would like to get portions of the license changed."

RING WEEK APRIL 23-26

WOW! 10% OFF

The El Corral Bookstore in cooperation with Josten's Ring Company, proudly offers a 10 percent discount on Josten's Cal Poly rings purchased on our campus Ring days April 23 to April 26. Your Josten's representative will be available to assist you in the selection of your Cal Poly ring. Ask about our special rings for the following majors: Agriculture, Business, Education, Engineering, Forestry, Liberal Arts, Music, and Architecture.

ADDITIONAL SAVINGS ARE AVAILABLE BY TRADING IN YOUR COLLEGE OR HIGH SCHOOL RING.

Ring Trade In Credit (April) 10K 14K
Josten's College Ring-Trade In Credit 059.10 060.70
Josten's High School Ring-Trade In Credit 051.70 051.40
Letters College or High School Ring-Trade In 051.70 051.40

EL CORRAL BOOKSTORE

Weekdays: 7:45-4:30, Saturday April 26: 10 am-4 pm
Veterans speak out on Vietnam conflict

Ralph, a fully grown St. Bernard and mascot of Delta Sigma Phi, was being anxiously sought by his fraternal brothers.

$100 reward offered for missing mascot

Ralph, the two-year-old St. Bernard house mascot of Delta Sigma Phi disappeared early Sunday morning. He was last seen in the fraternity house's backyard about 5:30 a.m. last Sunday.

Ralph is a brown St. Bernard, tan and white with black around the eyes. He is a short-haired and registered purebred, and was wearing a brown leather collar and a choo-choo collar when he was last seen.

Ralph, who also answers to "Puppy," has been with the house since he was 3 weeks old, when he was given to the brothers by their Little Sisters.

The dog had never disappeared before, and the house is anxious for any information that may lead to his whereabouts.

Delta Sigma Phi member Joel Brando said Monday that the brothers are afraid Ralph was stolen. "We're offering a $100 reward for his return," he said.

If you see the dog, or have any information that may help locate Ralph, call 549-0818.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

American and South Vietnamese troops crossed over the South Vietnam border into Cambodia to destroy Commie caches of arms and supplies.

Xuan Loc, headquarters for Capt. Wendling's brigade, was the site several weeks ago of a battle described by military analysts as pivotal because of its scale and consequences. The fighting was in a popular Cambodian campaign of 1970.

American soldiers and marines were involved in the fighting. The battle was won by the South Vietnamese forces, but the casualties were high.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.

Capt. Wendling said American intelligence had warned of a Viet Cong attack, but the South Vietnamese had not been notified. He said the South Vietnamese had not been notified because of the political situation in the country.
Shovels, flowers and dusty shoes can be found any fair weather weekend at the Chumash Indian archaeological excavations at the construction site of the Baywood Park Junior High School.

The Cal Poly California Archaeology class and volunteers dig in four 4x4 foot pits randomly selected on the construction site. Food wastes such as bones and shells will be kept along with other artifacts for a dietary study conducted by students in Biological science, said Robert L. Hoover.

This is the largest site in the county, said Hoover, instructor of the archaeology class. But since the deposits are relatively shallow we think that this was either a large tribe living here for a short length of time or a small tribe that moved horizontally across the hillside, he added.

Dr. Hoover observing Bob Ward excavating a pit.

Photos and Story by C. Combes

A perfectly formed bead that was found in the screen siftings at the Chumash Indian site.
by LINDA GENTRY

Student sings his way through Cal Poly

Faced with the rising costs of education, many students are attempting to make ends meet in a variety of ways. Twenty-three year old Pat Moultrup solved the problem of paying for his education easily; he is literally singing through Cal Poly.

Moultrup, a third year architecture student from Newport Beach, said he began playing guitar about three years ago and played with studio bands throughout high school.

When Sound Castle Limited, the Disneyland in-house band, needed a bass guitar player, Moultrup said the director of one of the studio bands he was playing with at the time suggested that he audition for the job.

"I auditioned and lied about my age and got in," he said.

After spending a year with the band, Moultrup said the New Christy Minstrels needed a bass player, so he auditioned for and was selected to fill the position. He remained with the group for two years until he left to attend Cal Poly.

He was selected to play with the New Christy Minstrels, which was owned by a company affiliated with Disneyland, said Moultrup was hired, because they were looking for the all-American image and I guess I filled the bill at the time.

In San Luis Obispo, Moultrup became a member of the Townspersons and played bass guitar with the group until it disbanded about a year ago.

Moultrup, who still plays with Disneyland bands during the summer, is currently a member of Blacksmith, whose members include drummer Rich Simmons and organist Greg Stark, both former members of the Townspersons and lead singer and guitarist Ron Liljstrand, who was lead singer and guitarist for. Blacksmith, according to the band's schedule, Wednesday through Saturday, June 5 through 8, at 1:30 a.m. in the Crown Room of the Laurel Lanes, sometimes makes it difficul to get things worked out for school, but that he has learned to live with it.

Moultrup said he will graduate next year and intends to "keep up with both music and architecture.

"If I can do both now, I can do both later," he said. "I don't think I'd be happy doing one without the other.

Each page says something different and the tone of the book is constantly changing. One page can evoke tears, the next page will be humorous.

The best thing this book offers each reader is a chance to see what life could be or might have been.

It's frightening to realize that only because of chance people scared lucky enough to be in one particular lifestyle rather than another, less fortunate one.

More of an education can be gained from this book than from 20 classes at college. I definitely urge everyone to read this book. It's a long book, but each page is better than the one before it.

Score some points.

Chiefs jersey is designed for players and teams of all ages. Won't shrink. Full cut. And shoulder slants. Great for guys who wanna make passes and girls who wanna juggle the front line. Available in three colors: Red or blue or white trim. Or white with blue trim.

And personalized with your name and favorite number on back. Sack the fullback for only $7.90. And feel the power.

For Those "Just Right" Hair Trims or Style Cuts

UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP

For Appointment Phone 543-8253

University Square 992 Foothill Student Discount Cards Welcome

King Falafel

Lunch Specials Daily

With every special, one slice of 6" pepperoni pizza, your choice of fries or coleslaw Free large pita, everyone's favorite food

The Falafel, Cuesta to hold musical tryouts

Auditions for the Cuesta College summer production of Gilbert and Sullivan's musical "Patience," are scheduled for Sunday, May 18, at 1 p.m. in the Interact Theatre.

Nellie Girile, musical director for the third annual Gilbert and Sullivan presentation, said the auditions will be for chorus and lead roles.

Play production will begin on Monday, June 16, with presentation planned for last July. Interested participants who will be unable to attend the May 18 auditions should contact Ms. Girile at 544-8943 or 775-1708 prior to auditions.

King Falafel

Lunch Specials Daily

With every special, one slice of 6" pepperoni pizza, your choice of fries or coleslaw Free large pita, everyone's favorite food

The Falafel, Cuesta to hold musical tryouts

Auditions for the Cuesta College summer production of Gilbert and Sullivan's musical "Patience," are scheduled for Sunday, May 18, at 1 p.m. in the Interact Theatre.

Nellie Girile, musical director for the third annual Gilbert and Sullivan presentation, said the auditions will be for chorus and lead roles.

Play production will begin on Monday, June 16, with presentation planned for last July. Interested participants who will be unable to attend the May 18 auditions should contact Ms. Girile at 544-8943 or 775-1708 prior to auditions.

For Those "Just Right" Hair Trims or Style Cuts

UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP

For Appointment Phone 543-8253

University Square 992 Foothill Student Discount Cards Welcome

Score some points.

Chiefs jersey is designed for players and teams of all ages. Won't shrink. Full cut. And shoulder slants. Great for guys who wanna make passes and girls who wanna juggle the front line. Available in three colors: Red or blue or white trim. Or white with blue trim.

And personalized with your name and favorite number on back. Sack the fullback for only $7.90. And feel the power.

For Those "Just Right" Hair Trims or Style Cuts

UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP

For Appointment Phone 543-8253

University Square 992 Foothill Student Discount Cards Welcome

Score some points.

Chiefs jersey is designed for players and teams of all ages. Won't shrink. Full cut. And shoulder slants. Great for guys who wanna make passes and girls who wanna juggle the front line. Available in three colors: Red or blue or white trim. Or white with blue trim.

And personalized with your name and favorite number on back. Sack the fullback for only $7.90. And feel the power.

For Those "Just Right" Hair Trims or Style Cuts

UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP

For Appointment Phone 543-8253

University Square 992 Foothill Student Discount Cards Welcome

Score some points.

Chiefs jersey is designed for players and teams of all ages. Won't shrink. Full cut. And shoulder slants. Great for guys who wanna make passes and girls who wanna juggle the front line. Available in three colors: Red or blue or white trim. Or white with blue trim.

And personalized with your name and favorite number on back. Sack the fullback for only $7.90. And feel the power.

For Those "Just Right" Hair Trims or Style Cuts

UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP

For Appointment Phone 543-8253

University Square 992 Foothill Student Discount Cards Welcome

Score some points.

Chiefs jersey is designed for players and teams of all ages. Won't shrink. Full cut. And shoulder slants. Great for guys who wanna make passes and girls who wanna juggle the front line. Available in three colors: Red or blue or white trim. Or white with blue trim.

And personalized with your name and favorite number on back. Sack the fullback for only $7.90. And feel the power.

For Those "Just Right" Hair Trims or Style Cuts

UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP

For Appointment Phone 543-8253

University Square 992 Foothill Student Discount Cards Welcome

Score some points.

Chiefs jersey is designed for players and teams of all ages. Won't shrink. Full cut. And shoulder slants. Great for guys who wanna make passes and girls who wanna juggle the front line. Available in three colors: Red or blue or white trim. Or white with blue trim.

And personalized with your name and favorite number on back. Sack the fullback for only $7.90. And feel the power.
Tourney snatched from spikers

by STEVE CHURM

The Mustang Volleyball team traveled south this weekend in hopes of capturing the California Collegiate Association Tournament. But it wasn’t to be, as the Titans from Cal State Fullerton ousted the Mustangs in what was more like an endurance test than a volleyball tournament.

The Mustangs finished their regular season play Friday night defeating LaVerne in three sets, 15-9, 15-3, and 15-0, but fell short Saturday in their bid to capture the CCVA tournament crown, at Cal Poly Pomona.

Having already won the league championship, compiling an impressive 15-1 record, the Mustangs were considered slight tourney favorites. But someone forgot to tell the Titans, as they doused the Mustangs in the other semifinal.

Northridge, the bridesmaid to the Titans, as they doused the Mustangs in regular season play with a 14-2 mark, proved the stage for losing the championship match.

The Titans, a surprise winner of their pool edging the Courtyard favorite Northridge earned the chance to face Cal Poly Pomona in the other semifinal.

The hungry Titans disposed of the Broncos in short order 15-11 and 15-9 to step into the finale of the day long tournament against the Mustangs.

Pomona upset Northridge in the consolation match 15-10 and 15-13 setting the stage for the championship match.

The Titans were three sets away from proving why they have earned the reputation of one of the finest small college volleyball teams on the West Coast. Preston’s squad started last taking the first set from the Titans 15-12 and appeared to be in the drivers seat needing only to win one of the last two sets to end the game.

But the Titans rose to the occasion behind the strong defensive play of Roy Nichols and Eric Privet, stifling the Mustangs defense.

The Titans rebounded to take the last two sets 15-7 and 15-9 ending the Mustangs season on an anticlimactic note.

Preston made no excuses for the loss. "They played extremely well in the last two games, they were shooting for us and we just got outplayed. Fullerton has a really good team and some fine athletes, we just got beat."

Preston praised the Titans defense. "They had a real solid defense and every time out defense put the ball down on their side their defense was there to get it back up."

The Mustangs did receive some consolation following the tournament, as Preston was named Coach of the Year in the CCVA. In only his third year at the helm and first year in CCVA competition, Preston has built a solid winner and laid the foundation for a strong program.

The coaches also announced an all league team, which included Mustang setter Steve Bartlett and hitter Thom McMahon. Freshman Rick Hauser was a second team choice by the coaches.

The modest Preston talked very proudly about his team and the job they have done. "Steve Bartlett played probably the best he has ever played for me and Thom McMahon played just super all day long. They definitely deserved the honors."

The selections reflected the activity during the tournament and not the entire season. "I only wish all my players could have won a spot on that first team, they all certainly deserved it."

Despite the second place finish the Mustangs get one final shot at Fullerton if they should meet in the Far Western Regionals in Berkeley this Saturday.

Twelve teams including five from the CCVA will compete in the tournament. A confident Preston stressed defense and passing as the key to winning the tournament.

Win or lose Saturday in Berkeley the Mustangs have come a long way in one year from a push over to a respected contender.
Top three coed tennis players to compete in Ojai tournament

The women's tennis team, fresh from their win over the University of Southern California last Friday, will take the upcoming Poly Royal weekend off. But several of the girls will miss the festivities due to participation in the annual Ojai tennis tournament starting Thursday.

Roxie Lachman, the no. 1 player on the women's tennis team, will play singles and Ruth Gilstrap and Jan McNabb will play in doubles competition. Lachman, a sophomore from Hillsborough, has a 4-3 singles record with consecutive wins of her Pomona-Pitzer and USC opponents.

Gilstrap who usually teams with Lachman in doubles competition will pair with McNabb, both of whom were part of winning doubles teams against the Trojans.

Following the Ojai tournament Lachman will take part in the Pat Boone Celebrity Tennis Tournament in Santa Barbara. Lachman will team up with Steve Prues for mixed doubles play.

The Mustang women's team returns to action May 1-9 at Northridge for the league finals. Coach Sonja Murray plans to enter two girls in singles and two doubles teams.

The team just concluded their Intercollegiate League season, compiling a 4-3 record with a win over the powerful Trojans 6-3.
Benford hates defeat

Hurdler Janet Benford displays her All-American form.

By LINDA GILL

When a person knows what she is interested in and is completely followed, life is much easier. These are the best words that someone could ever say to describe the All-American track star Janet Benford.

Ms. Benford, 20, has laced up her track shoes and is strictly adhering to her goal and is trying her hardest to make the team and be able to compete for the United States.

Ms. Benford, who is from Richmond, Calif., realizes there is no real future for a woman in track. Football is always awaiting many girls.

Even when I was in elementary school I had to be restrained. When she was a freshman in high school she became interested in track through a friend who was affiliated with the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU).

One of her coaches, Roxanne Andersen, had been a hurdler in the 1984 Olympic Games.

Andersen, had been a hurdler in the Pan Am track team the same year Ms. Benford was 17.

She then realized she had a promising career in track ahead of her. Ms. Benford, was the state champion in the 800-meter hurdles for two years.

"I really had some good coaches who knew what they were doing," she explained. "I'm not a tough kid, but I work hard and get my point across."

When Ms. Benford was 17 she held the title as Pacific Association Champion for both girls' 800-meter hurdles and for the women's 100-meter hurdles.

Another one of her coaches, Irene Ghinassi, will only be a part on the Pan Am track team this year and Ms. Benford will be representing her.

Ms. Benford has been attending Cal Poly for three years, and it is a year in Physical Education. This is her second year on the track team.

"I really had a tough time adjusting my first year at Poly," she explains. "After I pulled myself together I decided to go try out for the track team."

Ms. Benford feels she did not do as well as she expected last season, but is determined to excel this year.

The sprinter did, however, qualify to be entered in the 100-meter hurdles in the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) national meet last year. She placed third in the event.

"I plan to win this year!" Ms. Benford exclaimed.

When she tried to Oregon State University in May for the nation's meet it was not entered in two events. Besides the 100-meter hurdles, Ms. Benford will compete in the 100-yard dash.

"I'm just running in the 100-yard dash for the practice. The 100-meter hurdles is my main event and I want to be prepared to win it."

Winning at the nationals is not the only thing on her mind. Ms. Benford has hopes of going to the World University Games in Belgrade, Yugoslavia to be held in September.

"If I really get in shape I want to try out for the Pan American team," she said.

Ms. Benford thinks she may have a good chance at the Pan American Games at UCLA. If she makes this team she will be going to Mexico City in October to compete in the Pan Am Games.

Ms. Benford explains she does not just have to be physically ready for everything, her mind must also be together. She claims that a good mental attitude is 75 per cent of the race. Before a race Ms. Benford likes to be alone. Solitude helps her mental attitude which is so important to her race.

Ms. Benford has been working hard for a long time in track. Competition plays a big part in her life.

"Even when I was in elementary school I had to be restrained. When she was a sophomore in high school she became interested in track through a friend who was affiliated with the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU).

Ms. Benford joined the Laurel Track Club of San Francisco and began her career in track. When she was a sophomore in high school she beat the champion of the Pacific Association of Northern California in the 800-meter low hurdles for girls.

She then realized she had a promising career in track ahead of her. Ms. Benford was the state champion in the 800-meter low hurdles for two years.

"I really had some good coaches back then," she explained. "One of her coaches, Roxanne Anderson, had been a hurdler in the 1984 Olympic Games."

Another of her coaches, Irene Ghinassi, will only be a part on the Pan Am track team this year and Ms. Benford will be representing her.

Ms. Benford has been asked to join the Los Angeles Track Club. She will probably be traveling to New York in June to compete in the AAU national meet with the club.

Traveling is another reason Ms. Benford loves being involved in track.

"I get to go to so many places I wouldn't normally go to. Meeting people is another advantage with track."

"I remember when I met Chi Cheng, I was in the tenth grade and I was competing in the Kennedy games. Meeting her inspired me to work harder."

Having a good coach is really important to Ms. Benford. After she is out of school she and has finished her career in track she plans to teach Physical Education.

Coaching on the high school level is another goal for Ms. Benford's life. She wants to be a good coach. Ms. Benford feels it is very important to produce good athletes.

"I really had some good coaches who knew what they were doing," she explained. "Most important I want to make my own hurdles."

Habits?

Drop in and see us at the Counseling Center now open bess. 2-8 p.m., 8-11 p.m., 11 p.m. P.M. 2-6 a.m., 6-7 a.m. Drop in and see us!