The Door Opens For Both Sexes

See story on page 4
You Asked For It

When: We were not hired to fill anybody's quota. We were not asked to recommend another student. We felt that the people who were reliable and physically capable of doing a job needed to be hired to do the job.

The ' Bull Girls' Sueann and Ellen McCready

They had to fight the political aims of Zionists because they see Zionism as opposed to their personal welfare.

Zionism

Before the British intervention, the Jews constituted eight percent of the population of Palestine. The conflict today seems to stems from the fact that Zionism came to Palestine by force, denying most of the original inhabitants their rights and created a state that has little to do with religious values.

The distinction between Judaism and Zionism must be clear. Zionism is a political philosophy. Judaism is a religious tradition based on the belief in a supreme being.

Letters

In a recent editorial, Fred Ulbin, chairman of the University Union board of governors, the statistics are being handled by three statistics students as their senior project. Their supervisor, an assistant professor of computer science and statistics, Joe Grimes, said the survey is being designed to measure student opinion regarding ASI budgeting to be presented to the Associated Students, Poly Pres. Robert E. Kennedy.

Election

SA C has finally taken this notion seriously. With a spring, we will be receiving a student survey, designed to measure student opinion regarding ASI budgeting to be presented to the Associated Students, Poly Pres. Robert E. Kennedy.

Racial Bias

Jorgensen said in a story in Mustang Daily that SAC will have no basis to argue the truth of the survey. The question that remains is whether or not SAC was given attention to the results of the survey.

Since it approved $800 to fund the project, it is better to take a look at the results. The survey should present SAC for the first time with some concrete ideas about what ASI can or should spend on new projects.

Now that SAC has shown some good faith in seeking what the students want, it's up to at least 450 of the randomly polled 500 students to respond to the survey. That's the number of answers needed to assure the validity of the survey.

Those students have been given the responsibility to represent the wishes of their fellow students. Whether it's concerts, films, speakers or athletics... student voices have to be in where their $800 goes.

An old political axiom says people get the government they deserve. If 450 can't make efforts to know what students want, then they deserve SAC.

They also leave students open to worse such as purchasing Cow Park.

Sexism Disputed

Zionism

In a recent editorial, Fred Ulbin, chairman of the University Union board of governors, the statistics are being handled by three statistics students as their senior project. Their supervisor, an assistant professor of computer science and statistics, Joe Grimes, said the survey is being designed to measure student opinion regarding ASI budgeting to be presented to the Associated Students, Poly Pres. Robert E. Kennedy.

Election

SA C has finally taken this notion seriously. With a spring, we will be receiving a student survey, designed to measure student opinion regarding ASI budgeting to be presented to the Associated Students, Poly Pres. Robert E. Kennedy.

Racial Bias

Jorgensen said in a story in Mustang Daily that SAC will have no basis to argue the truth of the survey. The question that remains is whether or not SAC was given attention to the results of the survey.

Since it approved $800 to fund the project, it is better to take a look at the results. The survey should present SAC for the first time with some concrete ideas about what ASI can or should spend on new projects.

Now that SAC has shown some good faith in seeking what the students want, it's up to at least 450 of the randomly polled 500 students to respond to the survey. That's the number of answers needed to assure the validity of the survey.

Those students have been given the responsibility to represent the wishes of their fellow students. Whether it's concerts, films, speakers or athletics... student voices have to be in where their $800 goes.

An old political axiom says people get the government they deserve. If 450 can't make efforts to know what students want, then they deserve SAC.

They also leave students open to worse such as purchasing Cow Park.
Poly Offers Aid To Quake Victims

Cal Poly assistance to victims of the Guatemala earthquake will get under way immediately in a drive that will be carried out by the university's programs in Guatemala. President Roberto Kennedy announced yesterday.

Kennedy said faculty members, alumni, students and staff members who have been involved in the university's programs in Guatemala have spontaneously offered assistance in the conduct of the drive. Kennedy said, "Because of the close association which Cal Poly has had with Guatemala for the last ten years through contracts to assist in the development of their agricultural program, the suffering created by the tragic earthquake is felt very keenly by all of us concerned. More than 20 faculty and staff and additional numbers of students have spent time in Guatemala during this period."

Athletic Director Vic Buccola has proposed a sub-committee to rectify the situation along with NCAA guidelines. It would be made up of five faculty-administrators and two students to handle adjustments within the budget up to $1,000.

Hurtado is against what he refers to as "dictation by an outside body" and wants to go with as little institutional control as possible.

We propose a sub-committee made up of the men's athletic director, women's athletic director, AIS business manager, finance chairman and the AIS president or his designee. A limit of approximately $300 would be placed on transfers.

Anything over the limit set by either sub-committee proposal would have to go to the Athletic Advisory Commission or Finance Committee.

Possible solution would be the appointment of AIS Business Manager Roy Gersen to the sub-committee Buccola proposes.

According to NCAA ruling the Athletic Advisory Commission is to be composed of a majority of faculty and staff and Mike wants a majority of students." Gersen explained, "No that students can't be on it all,"

Gersen continued, "but we're hoping the NCAA will accept our solution and consider us as staff."

Gersen now employed by AIS doesn't foresee a problem being appointed to the sub-committee.

"I don't see it as a major problem. There is no way it's not going to work out the way the students want it. I wouldn't go along with anything the student body wouldn't go along with."

Hurtado wants to take it to a student vote so see if students want to give up control of money in this area.

"They might want to get rid of NCAA athletics all together. I think that's what Buccola's afraid of," Hurtado maintained. "We're losing control over our funds."

Hurtado added, "I'm really concerned about that."

Hurtado said if he had his choice he wouldn't recommend the approval of tighter control of athletic funds by the NCAA. He's not so sure the students want to go along with the NCAA, but if they do "that's the way we'll go."

According to Buccola the men's athletic department has been aware of this violation for two or three years.

However, Buccola says he personally has only been aware of this for a year and a half and has been working on it since.

"All I try to do is keep us in line with NCAA regulations," he pointed out. "They could penalize or restrict the school from participation in NCAA events."

Sunday, February 16, 1986
A new state law is attempting to open doors to crowded housing complexes renting four or more units.

In its New Year’s resolutions Jan. 1, California enacted a bill prohibiting sex and marital status discrimination in housing. The legislation, Senate Bill 144, states: “This bill would amend all provisions of the so-called Rumford Fair Housing Act to prohibit the practice of discrimination in housing because of sex or marital status.”

The bill itself states, however, it “would not prohibit any post-secondary educational institution, whether public, private or public, (1) from providing separate accommodations reserved primarily for married students or married students or students of minor dependents who reside with them.”

According to Office of Campus Housing Coordinator Walt Lambert, “The bill will have no campus effects.”

Lambert discussed the legal guidelines of the legislation with its primary author, Bob Frank, a consultant to the Senate Select Committee on Housing. According to Lambert, Frank authored the majority of SB 144, although it was introduced by Senator Nicholas Petris (D-Oakland) and its listing co-authors are Assemblymen Peter Chacon, Howard Berman, and Teresa Hughes.

The bill itself states however, it “would not prohibit any post-secondary educational institution, whether private or public, (1) from providing separate accommodations reserved for only male or female students as long as equal access to housing accommodations is not denied, or (2) from providing separate housing accommodations on the basis of sex or marital status.”

This legislation, which was captioned “married couples will now have to rent married students or students of minor dependents who reside with them,” according to Lambert, will now have to rent to married students, said Lambert. “They can pay rent on an entire unit. The couple can rent the entire unit, and the other couple, or a request or a request of the students who live in that unit.”

The one housing unit Mustang Daily found apparently most in conflict with the new law was the Cal Park Apartments near California Blvd. near campus. It rents only to women, no longer to the housing director. According to Manager Daniel Goodwin was asked if the policy was still to rent only to women, he replied, “Yes, as far as I know.”

Former manager Dan Jones referred Mustang Daily to the housing director. After being questioned about the background of the directors, the housing director said they would rent to men and women with a single room or space, not to the housing director. The office was asking them to abide by the new legislation’s “status clause.”

However, Lambert said the office would still rent individuals with a single room or space to the policy that designates a sexual choice.

The one housing unit Mustang Daily found apparently most in conflict with the new law was the Cal Park Apartments near California Blvd. near campus. It rents only to women, no longer to men.

Manager Steve Goodwin was asked if the policy was still to rent only to women, he replied, “Yes, as far as I know.”

Former manager Dan Jones referred Mustang Daily to the housing director. After being questioned about the background of the directors, the housing director said they would rent to men and women with a single room or space, not to the housing director. The office was asking them to abide by the new legislation’s “status clause.”

However, Lambert said the office would still rent individuals with a single room or space to the policy that designates a sexual choice.

The one housing unit Mustang Daily found apparently most in conflict with the new law was the Cal Park Apartments near California Blvd. near campus. It rents only to women, no longer to men.

Manager Steve Goodwin was asked if the policy was still to rent only to women, he replied, “Yes, as far as I know.”

Former manager Dan Jones referred Mustang Daily to the housing director. After being questioned about the background of the directors, the housing director said they would rent to men and women with a single room or space, not to the housing director. The office was asking them to abide by the new legislation’s “status clause.”

However, Lambert said the office would still rent individuals with a single room or space to the policy that designates a sexual choice.

The one housing unit Mustang Daily found apparently most in conflict with the new law was the Cal Park Apartments near California Blvd. near campus. It rents only to women, no longer to men.

Manager Steve Goodwin was asked if the policy was still to rent only to women, he replied, “Yes, as far as I know.”

Former manager Dan Jones referred Mustang Daily to the housing director. After being questioned about the background of the directors, the housing director said they would rent to men and women with a single room or space, not to the housing director. The office was asking them to abide by the new legislation’s “status clause.”

However, Lambert said the office would still rent individuals with a single room or space to the policy that designates a sexual choice.

The one housing unit Mustang Daily found apparently most in conflict with the new law was the Cal Park Apartments near California Blvd. near campus. It rents only to women, no longer to men.

Manager Steve Goodwin was asked if the policy was still to rent only to women, he replied, “Yes, as far as I know.”

Former manager Dan Jones referred Mustang Daily to the housing director. After being questioned about the background of the directors, the housing director said they would rent to men and women with a single room or space, not to the housing director. The office was asking them to abide by the new legislation’s “status clause.”

However, Lambert said the office would still rent individuals with a single room or space to the policy that designates a sexual choice.
Beard Contest Needs 'Woollies'

The Recreation and Tournament Committee needs at least four entries by Wed., Feb. 11 for the Abraham Lincoln Memorial Beard Contest. Unless at least four entries are received the contest will have to be cancelled.

Entries are available in the Activities Planning Center, University Union U17. For further information call Scott A. Hobson at 544-0400.

Open House For Master's Degree

An open house for the Master degree in Business Administration (MBA) program will be on Wed., Feb. 11 from 1:00 to 4:00 pm and on Thursday, Feb. 12 from 9:30 to 12 noon. Instructors and students from this year's MBA program will be present to provide information on curriculum, admission requirements and program design and to answer questions. The open house will be held in the Business Administration building rm. 130 and refreshments will be served.

Security Officer Assaulted

Campus Security Officer Ronald Larsen was attacked by a Cuesta College student yesterday behind Sierra Madre Dormitory and suffered a sprained hand and body lacerations. James Taylor was booked at the San Luis Obispo County Sheriffs department and charged with a felony, assaulting a police officer. Bail was set at $10,000.

Housing: New Law

continued from page 4

'we're going to approach SB 144 yet we're pretty full right now so we probably won't feel the bill's impact until September,' Stenner Glen is closed during the summer.

"I think we are exempt because we operate more like the dorms," said Tropicana Village Manager John Becker. "We have our own food services and house rules which are part of the purchase package."

However, according to Stenner, Tropicana Village is not exempt.

Right, said Becker, he is not speculating any change in policy. Tropicana has three, four and five person units and Becker said a couple would have to rent an entire unit because he rents by bedspace. And, he said he would rent an apartment to a married couple. But he would not rent one room to more than one couple.

"It would not be palatable to me because I don't think it is the normal way of married couples to live with another couple," said Becker.

"I would be very hesitant to rent one unit to more than one couple at the present time unless I was legally advised to do so," said Becker, 'because married couples tend to have conflicts and I don't know if it would be wise.'

Lambert said the bill wasn't designed for places like Stenner Glen, Mustang Village or Tropicana Village, but was designed for the guy with an empty apartment who wouldn't rent to couples or wouldn't rent to singles.

"Mustang Village doesn't care about the marital status of its customers," said Lambert.

"The sign says 'students,'" said Mustang Village Manager Betty Blaire, "and we rent to all students regardless of marital status."

Blaire, who estimated Mustang Village houses about 400 students, said she has never had any married couples desiring to do so, while Becker estimated Northampton Village houses about 600 students. Although she has never had any married couples desiring to do so, Blaire said she has never had any married couples desiring to do so.

"It would not be palatable to me because I don't think it is the normal way of married couples to live with another couple," said Becker.

"I would be very hesitant to rent one unit to more than one couple at the present time unless I was legally advised to do so," said Becker, 'because married couples tend to have conflicts and I don't know if it would be wise.'

Lambert said the bill wasn't designed for places like Stenner Glen, Mustang Village or Tropicana Village, but was designed for the guy with an empty apartment who wouldn't rent to couples or wouldn't rent to singles.

"Mustang Village doesn't care about the marital status of its customers," said Lambert.

"The sign says 'students,'" said Mustang Village Manager Betty Blaire, "and we rent to all students regardless of marital status."

Blaire, who estimated Mustang Village houses about 400 students, said she has never had any married couples desiring to do so, while Becker estimated Northampton Village houses about 600 students. Although she has never had any married couples desiring to do so, Blaire said she has never had any married couples desiring to do so.
After five months of controversy Friday, the Agriculture Labor Relations Board folded due to lack of sufficient funds. Leading the fight to force amendments to the law which set up the board was Assemblyman Robert Nimmo (R-Atascadero).

What ultimately happened was Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. failed to compromise on the amendments and a coalition of Republicans and farm-belt Democrats let the board fold. The ARLB, which was an attempt to bring peace to farm labor relations in California after a decade of intermittent violence, used up the original state money of $1 million.

In addition to this the board also ran through a loan of $3.13 million from the state—all in a period of five months.

Ironically, 30 members of the United Farm Workers picked a speech by Nimmo Friday at Cuesta College. The speakers took issue with Nimmo’s key role in the blocking of the board and according to Nimmo, "We need the board and we need the law, but changes have to be made." According to Nimmo, 97 per cent of California’s agricultural industry in California has agreed to eight amendments which are minor, some important and all are opposed by the UFW.

The two major amendments which, according to Nimmo, "were holding up a compromise with Gov. Brown, are the access rule and the employer’s right to petition for an election. The ARLB ruling union organizers could enter the growers’ property one hour before and after work. and during lunchtime, to talk with workers. The fact that Nimmo supports this change to conform with the National Labor Relations Act, which stipulates access by employers whether there is or is not a union, is something new in labor law, Nimmo said.

"My information is that the Supreme Court will sustain the board’s ruling," said Nimmo.

But I know of two law firms that will take it to the U.S. Supreme Court, and I think it will be heard. Nothing is going to happen until then."

The other amendment, the employer’s right to petition for an election, is something that Nimmo argued there were only six days for the board to develop an internal law concerning labor unions. It did not have time to consult with unions or growers, said Vanoncelli.

"We don’t know why this law couldn’t have functioned as was intended if the governor had appointed the members by July 1," he said.

"We do not take issue with the members of the board."

"Due to the laudan of the appointment and in 65 days for the board to develop an internal law concerning labor unions, it did not have time to consult with unions or growers," said Vanoncelli.

The bill ties emergency appropriations for the Agricultural Labor Relations Board (ALRB) to approval of eight amendments to the law, which went into effect last August II.

According to Nimmo a total of 230 people ranging in age from toddlers to senior citizens marched in the rain in downtown San Luis Obispo Saturday afternoon to dramatize concern over routine or accidental release of radiation from Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant.

Afterwards about 400 persons jammed the auditorium to hear an audience of speakers on the issue of Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant. The district is chiefly agricultural and includes the Salinas Valley, a heavy grower of vegetables, tomatoes, etc., says the audience were more concerned about the farmer than the corporation.

Nuclear Protest

About 500 people ranging in age from toddlers to senior citizens marched in the rain in downtown San Luis Obispo Saturday afternoon to dramatize concern over routine or accidental release of radiation from Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant.

Afterwards about 400 persons jammed the auditorium to hear an audience of speakers on the issue of Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant. The district is chiefly agricultural and includes the Salinas Valley, a heavy grower of vegetables, tomatoes, etc., says the audience were more concerned about the farmer than the corporation.

Nuclear Protest

About 500 people ranging in age from toddlers to senior citizens marched in the rain in downtown San Luis Obispo Saturday afternoon to dramatize concern over routine or accidental release of radiation from Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant.

Afterwards about 400 persons jammed the auditorium to hear an audience of speakers on the issue of Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant. The district is chiefly agricultural and includes the Salinas Valley, a heavy grower of vegetables, tomatoes, etc., says the audience were more concerned about the farmer than the corporation.

UFW Protests Bill

About 50 pickets from the United Farm workers union (UFW) conducted a peaceful demonstration when Assemblyman Robert Nimmo introduced a provision to allow 400 people dedicating a 'freedom shrine' at Cuesta College last Friday.

The pickets circulated outside the building where the banquet was held, within view of other diners, and charged illegal, urgent defense of AB 8513, a bill co-authored by Nimmo.

The bill ties emergency appropriations for the Agricultural Labor Relations Board (ALRB) to approval of eight amendments to the state’s 1968 Agricultural Labor Relations Law, which went into effect last August.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.

The amendments include a provision for employers (not just union) to call elections to determine whether the workers want union representation, an extension of the time period when a grower must hold elections, and a modification of the access rule allowing union representatives to speak with workers on growers’ property before and after work, and during the lunch break.

UFW organizers say the amendments would allow growers to manipulate the outcome of union elections, thereby sabotaging the spirit of the Aug. 8 farm labor law.
Face Washington State Tonight

Cagers In Deep Trouble

By DENNIS HALLADAY

Daily Staff Writer

Deep in the throes of a 10-point shooting slump, the Cal Poly basketball team will have to double its figure to even stay close in tonight's game with Washington State in Pullman Wash.

The Mustangs are coming off a tough 91-77 loss at home Saturday in defending National Champion UCLA, and undoubtedly view tonight's contest as the easiest on their schedule.

Washington State is led by senior Steve Puldokai, recognized by many Pacific 8 coaches as the best center in the conference. Cal Poly will have its hands more than full trying to stop the 6'6" 225-pound stalwart.

"It will be good experience and a fun trip," Mustang coach Ernie Wheeler said. "We'll go in and play hard and hope to be representative!"

Despite their poor showing Friday and Saturday, the cagers managed to pick up a split, and their first win in three weeks.

Tuesday's game was the second victory of the year for the cagers against Westmont. They had been averaging 10.6 percentage. They left the Mustangs with a thoroughly blemished 0-6 record.

Cal Poly's streak of losses—many of them lay-ins—continued in the first half. With Gerald Jones tossing in most of his 19 points from the 10-foot range, the Mustangs fought their way back in first half to a 57-57 tie, and later a 68-66 deadlock with 4:18 left to play.

Bakersfield, however, riddled the Poly defense in the closing minutes to score several easy lay-ins, and put the game out of reach.

Besides Jones' game-high point total, Andre Keys tossed in 19 and led the team in rebounds with 10, but more significant was the statistic that showed Cal Poly committing its fewest number of turnovers of the season—seven.

The Mustangs committed 16, leading to a 67-67 tie at intermission.

Second half play could rightfully have gone under the title "The Mitch Cook Show," for it seldom-used sophomore's career-high 17 points that awakened a disinterested crowd and motivated Cal Poly to victory.

A team of students representing the Society of Automotive Engineers at Cal Poly piloted their 1974 Toyota pickup truck to a fifth place finish in the mini-truck class of the Parker Dam 400 Off-Road Race on Saturday, Feb. 7, at Parker, Ariz.

The best effort ever recorded by a Cal Poly engineering students who prepared and entered the truck...
Rugby Club To Host Australian Team

A farmer's Rugby team from Young, Australia will meet the Cal Poly Rugby Club tonight in Mustang Stadium at 7 p.m. It will be the first night game in Cal Poly Rugby history.

The Australian team will be playing the second game of its six-game California tour. The Australians asked that at least one of their matches be with a university where agriculture is a significant part of the instructional program.

Andy Wilson, a back on the Cal Poly team, said some of the Mustang players will be showing the Australians around the campus before the game. "It will be a good opportunity for them to see a good United States agricultural campus, and for us to play a top-notch rugby team," said Wilson.

Wilson said the Australian team will have an experienced edge on the Mustangs, but that Poly should not be considered out of it. "We have a size advantage on them and that is going to help," said Wilson.

"Most of their players have been playing rugby all of their lives and our players have only been playing for a few years, at most," said Wilson.

"The Australians will rely mostly on fitness and they are fundamentally sound," said Wilson.

Cal Poly is currently 1-0 on the year and its lone victory came against Cal Lutheran, 81-14, three weeks ago. In their last game, two weeks ago, the Mustangs were handed a 10-7 setback at the hands of UCLA.

Top Mustangs include Larry Young, Doug Clay, Harry Gentleman and Mike Dilligers.

Your career options with General Dynamics

If you are goal-oriented, and are now making specific plans for a future in an engineering, scientific or business field, write for your copy of this 16-page booklet. It describes the wide range of career opportunities with General Dynamics around the nation. Openings are at our corporate headquarters and in operations that are established leaders in aerospace, tactical systems, submarine and shipbuilding, tele- communications, electronics, building materials, natural resources, and data systems services. Opportunities are offered regardless of sex, color or creed.

Campus Interviews: Feb. 18 & 19

Make an appointment through your placement office. Or if you can't meet with us, send a letter or resume briefly describing your background to Manager, Personnel Placement, General Dynamics Corp., Lake City Center, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.

GENERAL DYNAMICS
An Equal Opportunity Employer, M/F