A Drug To Clear The Blur Of Booze

Cosmic photo by Colleen Combes

Story on Page 3
Funding Child Care

Students whose children attend the ASI Children’s Center should throw a temper tantrum if the ASI refuses their request for a subsidy next year.

The Children’s Center is legitimately entitled to the $4,178 subsidy for the 1975-76 academic year which the ASI Finance Committee is considering. A story in Mustang Daily pointed out the Children’s Center is seeking ASI funds to meet higher costs caused primarily by state mandated pay raises.

Children’s Center director Alvah Davis says that if the subsidy is reduced the students pay to have their children attend the center would have to be raised. This would put the cost of the center out of the reach of most students. Therefore, they would have to drop out of school.

The ASI has traditionally refused to grant subsidies to the Children’s Center because when the center was set up in 1973 (it was originally believed) that it should be self-supporting after the first year. This was probably unrealistic to begin with and is now irrelevant. The Finance Committee must be responsive enough to meet the changing needs of the Children’s Center. Three years ago the effects of inflation could not be foreseen or that the state would require pay raises.

The weakest argument against subsidizing the center is one brought up by Finance Committee Chairman Ole Meland. He pointed out in the Daily story that the subsidy request poses a philosophical question of whether or not students should be paying for the care of other people’s children.

Through the ASI fees, all students are paying for programs that do not have a direct effect on them. Should students support Legal Aid even though they don’t have legal problems? Should they support athletic programs even though they’re not on the teams and don’t go to games? The small special interest groups the ASI funds are indefensible.

ASI President Mike Hurtado points out that the ASI offers fees if any survivors for student parents who pay their 20 ASI fees. They are entitled to the benefits of ASI funding probably more than most groups because that money should enable them to stay in school rather than entertain them with morose such as “Emmanuelle.”

Without a subsidy the Children’s Center may go out of business. The numbers of people involved should not be the issue. The issue should be the quality of the program and what it contributes to the welfare of students rather than the quantity served by the program.

Football games are attended by 5,000 people who get three hours of entertainment. The Children’s Center is giving some student parents a break that will serve them the rest of their lives.

Pinball Or Child Care?

A Question Of Values

The question of whether Disabled Students Services should be allowed to use University Union Rem. 102 for an office should have been reduced to an emotional or moral issue, believe University Union Board of Governors members Kathy Trugger and Ken O’Connor.

This is especially true for UUBG because it’s concerned about the $13,500 that the pinball machines that occupy the office space. It’s an idea brought on by the group because of its central location and easy accessibility.

The UUBG has delayed a decision on the matter pending the recommendation of a committee appointed to study the issue. We hope the committee places a higher priority on human needs than on the one-armed bandits.

The income from the machines is important for the financially strapped University Union. However, the pinball machines can be relocated anywhere the UUBG can find an electrical outlet. DSS Vice-President Ed Wheeler suggests logically enough that the machines be placed in the games room.

Disclaimers: Advertising material in this section is placed by the agencies concerned. The Daily does not guarantee or verify the certification of such commercial services in the University Union. The Daily is not responsible for the printing or delivery of advertisements. If there is a dispute over a charge, the Daily recommends that you contact the University Union Office and speak to a Manager. The Daily reserves the right to edit for libel.

Pinball Or Child Care?

A Question Of Values

The Daily story explained DSS helps disabled students with registration and parking; transportation to classroom locations; note-taking for any student temporarily unable to attend class due to injury; relocation of inaccessible classrooms; contacting instructors about student problems and coordination of the effort to remove campus architectural barriers. This is only a partial list of DSS activities.

A story in Mustang Daily pointed out only Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Cal Poly Pomona don’t provide offices for disabled student services within the campuses in the California State University and Colleges system. The other have them or are including them in new construction.

The Daily story explained DSS helps disabled students with registration and parking; transportation to classroom locations; note-taking for any student temporarily unable to attend class due to injury; relocation of inaccessible classrooms; contacting instructors about student problems and coordination of the effort to remove campus architectural barriers. This is only a partial list of DSS activities.

A story in Mustang Daily pointed out only Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Cal Poly Pomona don’t provide offices for disabled student services within the campuses in the California State University and Colleges system. The other have them or are including them in new construction.

DSS President Bob Raymond points out students might be forced to drop out of school for a quarter in the event of an injury without the aid of note-takers provided by DSS.

An office would allow DSS to centralize its activities and provide more efficient activities for students. A UU office would give the group more visibility and make more students aware of its existence. DSS is a potential benefactor of every Poly student.

Cenrtially locating pinball machines make them more accessible so they stay in more bucks. Cenrtially locating DSS will benefit temporarily and permanently disabled students. It will be interesting to see which set of values wins out.

Servicing S.L.O. for 3½ Years

Hawk’s Humanist

We have what you want

BONGS & PAPERS

AND MUCH MORE

1320 Monte St. (Near Theater & market) 866-4403

Mustang Daily

Editor’s Note: In this editorial which appeared in Tuesday’s Mustang Daily, the first two paragraphs were inadvertently deleted during the final production steps. In fairness to the parties involved we are reprinting the editorial in its entirety. We apologize for any confusion this error may have caused our readers.

The question of whether Disabled Students Services should be allowed to use University Union Rem. 102 for an office should have been reduced to an emotional or moral issue, believe University Union Board of Governors members Kathy Trugger and Ken O’Connor.

This is especially true for UUBG because it’s concerned about the $13,500 that the pinball machines that occupy the office space. It’s an idea brought on by the group because of its central location and easy accessibility.

The UUBG has delayed a decision on the matter pending the recommendation of a committee appointed to study the issue. We hope the committee places a higher priority on human needs than on the one-armed bandits.

The income from the machines is important for the financially strapped University Union. However, the pinball machines can be relocated anywhere the UUBG can find an electrical outlet. DSS Vice-President Ed Wheeler suggests logically enough that the machines be placed in the games room.
Antabuse: A Drug For Drinkers

by JANET MABRIEN
Associate Editor

Alcoholics traveling the road to sobriety may find the drug Antabuse a chemical ticket to a vacation of ease and relaxation free from the temptation of imbibing a drink. No miracle cure or panacea, Antabuse, nevertheless, removes the personal decision in drinking by creating a chemical aversion to alcohol.

Michael Looney, head of the Alcohol Use and Abuse program here, said, "It gives alcoholics a nice break, enabling them to tend to other things and help them to start problem solving.

"It's a crutch for an alcoholic and must always be identified as such.

Antabuse is a chemical, even in small amounts, produces flushing, throbbing in the head and neck, headaches, respiratory difficulty, nausea, vomiting, sweating, marked uneasiness and blurred vision.

No alcohol — no reaction.

"It's mostly working the patient to become uncontrollably sick," said Looney. "Most alcoholics using the drug are aware of the consequences of drinking and therefore refrain from doing it."

Both Looney and Dr. Grant Miller, staff psychiatrist at the Health Center, emphasize that Antabuse is just one form of treatment of alcoholism and is ineffective without concurrent counseling.

"It's just one deterrent, one way of making people stop and remember that alcohol is bad for them," said Miller. "It's not necessarily the best treatment or the most effective. Obviously it is, it would be the only thing.

During the past year between seven and eight Poly students graduated under the Antabuse as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?

- In the case of Ronnie Montrose, Montrose begins his tour of California as a result of counseling with Looney and Miller. This is between 10 and 15% lower than the national average alcoholics the two see.

Because alcoholism is a behavioral problem not medically treatable in the drug itself, compliance — willingness to take the drug daily if an alcoholic requests it — would be impossible according to Miller.

Antabuse is a last ditch treatment to be used by the person with an impulse control problem," he said.

"The only way it can be effective is if the person is willing to take it with his other problems, the ones causing the alcoholism.

According to the American Medical Association, Antabuse, used alone and without supportive therapy, is not a cure for alcoholism and is unlikely to have more than a temporary effect on the drinking pattern of the chronic alcoholic.

Cal Poly
To Host
Montrose

What does a seasoned heavy metal rock guitarist do after three years of success and established fame like Van Morrison, Boz Scaggs and Edgar Winter had?
Parched blades of grass were not a few weeks ago sitting under one of the dryest droughts in recent history, Tuesday, but the second time in about two weeks, these same blades of grass were subjected to the opposite extreme — snow.

A cold front from north only dropped off an inch of rain, but it also blanketed an undetermined amount of snow on San Luis Obispo County.

The snowfall forced the closure of Casitas Grade to through traffic for several hours during Tuesday night. The snowing hours saw the white flake still collected on the billboards and roadblocks of Casitas Grade (see Thomas Kelby's photo on right.)

An unidentified snowperson allegedly built by Associated Students, Inc. officers was seen wandering around the University Union.

Snow blanket most of the higher hills and mountains in the county. The coastal range from San Simeon to the South County had several inches of powder according to some residents. The white crust was visible to all students coming to breakfast Wednesday morning.

The white frosting was as much a treat for the eyes. During the night, the California Highway Patrol reported eight accidents. There were also uncounted cars who lost control on the ice, roads spinning blindly off the pavement.

Even the Goodyear blimp was forced to interrupt a trip to San Francisco and land at San Luis Obispo Airport because of the bad weather.
A Split Over PG&E Nuclear Ads

By ANNE ZERZEN
Daily Staff Writer

PG&E advertisements running in 275 newspapers in Northern and Central California should be paid for with stockholders' money because they come close to taken a stand on the nuclear initiative which will be on the June ballot in California.

Local PG&E spokesman Dick Davis disagrees: "There is nothing political about that ad," Davis says.

Davis says the main purpose of the advertisements is to inform people about how nuclear power is designed to defeat the initiative.

The advertisements, which appeared in Tuesday's Telegram Tribune, shows a hand holding a uranium pellet with a headline that says: "If all our fuel looked like this, electricity would be cheaper."

"As a planner I do not approve of any of my money going over nuclear power in any way," Fleming says. Fleming also feels the picture of the hand holding a uranium pellet gives a misleading impression about the safety of handling nuclear materials.

"It's true you can hold it in your hand like that when it's in metallic form, before it has undergone fission," Fleming says. "But it is dangerous at every other step of the fuel cycle."

"You wouldn't be able to hold spent fuel in your hand because the radioactive isotopes released by fission are too dangerous. Plutonium in oxide form, if inhaled, will cause death or lung cancer."

"I feel the ad is promoting nuclear power, and unless PG&E has taken some action to do something to counter this," Davis says. "The PG&E company has not used my money for that purpose," Fleming says.

"We are not trying to mislead people. We are not trying to promote nuclear power. We are just promoting a specific viewpoint concerning the nuclear initiative," Davis says. "It is misleading because it doesn't mention what nuclear opponents cite as risks associated with the operation of nuclear power plants."

PG&E cites routine antiradiative emissions, earthquake dangers, accidents caused by human error, the possibility of sabotage, and waste storage problems as areas of concern that are not mentioned in the advertisement.

PG&E spokesman Davis says mentioning the points as every other step of the fuel cycle."

"You wouldn't be able to hold spent fuel in your hand because the radioactive isotopes released by fission are too dangerous. Plutonium in oxide form, if inhaled, will cause death or lung cancer."

"I feel the ad is promoting nuclear power, and unless PG&E has taken some action to do something to counter this," Davis says. "The PG&E company has not used my money for that purpose," Fleming says.

"We are not trying to mislead people. We are not trying to promote nuclear power. We are just promoting a specific viewpoint concerning the nuclear initiative," Davis says. "It is misleading because it doesn't mention what nuclear opponents cite as risks associated with the operation of nuclear power plants."

PG&E cites routine antiradiative emissions, earthquake dangers, accidents caused by human error, the possibility of sabotage, and waste storage problems as areas of concern that are not mentioned in the advertisement.

"We are just promoting a specific viewpoint concerning the nuclear initiative," Davis says. "It is misleading because it doesn't mention what nuclear opponents cite as risks associated with the operation of nuclear power plants."

PG&E cites routine antiradiative emissions, earthquake dangers, accidents caused by human error, the possibility of sabotage, and waste storage problems as areas of concern that are not mentioned in the advertisement.

PG&E cites routine antiradiative emissions, earthquake dangers, accidents caused by human error, the possibility of sabotage, and waste storage problems as areas of concern that are not mentioned in the advertisement.
Judge Rejects Defense Motion

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - A Superior Court judge at a pretrial hearing for Emily and William Harris Wednesday rejected a defense motion to rule inadmissible certain evidence seized by the FBI at Patricia Hearst's San Francisco hideout.

Judge Mark Brandler said FBI agents were armed with an arrest warrant which enabled them legally to search the apartment where the newspaper heiress was arrested last September after 18 months as a captive with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Brandler's ruling differed directly with one he made Monday barring introduction of evidence seized at the residence occupied by the Harrises when they were arrested the same day as Miss Hearst but in a different location.

The Harrises were taken into custody outside their residence and FBI agents made an immediate search of the place although they did not get a search warrant until a day later. Brandler pointed out the FBI had the Harris residence under surveillance for more than a day and had ample time in which to get a search warrant in advance.

Staff Training For Center

Staff training for the Women's Resource Center will be held this Saturday, March 6 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The training will include speakers from different service agencies in the community and loss of good information concerning women.

The Women's Resource Center is a non-profit organization for the support of women in the community. Women interested in volunteer staffing can call 344-9119.

Government Jobs

Mr. J.J. Daniels, Chief of Personnel Service for the Veteran's Administration, will be coming on campus Tuesday, March 9. He will be discussing Federal Government employment needs and opportunities at a group meeting from 11 a.m. to 12 noon. All interested faculty and students are invited to attend.

Mr. Daniels will be available in the afternoon to answer individual questions. He will be offering information concerning employment opportunities, interviewing techniques, the role of Federal Job Information Centers, and how to apply through Civil Service procedures.

Arm Wrestling Sign-ups

Sign-ups for the Arm Wrestling Tournament must be in before the entrants arrive by Saturday, March 6. The tournament will be held on Saturday, March 13, at 9:00 a.m. in the Men's Gym.

Famous Cellist Performs

Jeffery Solow, nationally known cellist, will guest with the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra tomorrow evening in concert.

The performance, which will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Cal Poly Theatre, will cost $1.50 for students and $2.50 for general admission.

The program will include pieces by Bach, Haydn and Charles Ives' "The Circus Band." Solow, who performed with the County Symphony a year ago, will perform both in solo and with the entire orchestra.

The concert is being co-sponsored by the Music Department and the ASI Fine Arts Committee.

Law School Representative

Representatives from the San Joaquin College of Law, Fresno, will be on campus today during the university hour. They will be answering questions about their law school in Room 220 of the Business Administration building.

Nuclear Specialist Speaks

Nuclear specialist, Dr. Dave Lenderts will speak today at University hour on the topic of nuclear safeguards and the nuclear initiative proposition 15.

Lendert's, who was one of the organizers of last fall's heated nuclear forum here on campus, will speak in Room 220 of the University Union.

As an outspoken critic of nuclear energy, Lendert has been recently appointed the new chairperson of Project Survival for San Luis Obispo County. Project Survival is a state-wide ecology organization actively concerned with preserving the quality of life in California.

Lendert's talk is sponsored by the campus Ecology Action Club.

GSU Talks On Open Channel

Open Channel, the student-oriented talk show on KCPW-FM, will present two members of the Gay Student's Union on the program tonight at 7:00 p.m. Listeners may call in with questions and comments at 344-4646.
Coach Jorgenson will lead the men's tennis team against San Francisco State Friday at 3 p.m. (Daily photo by John Van De Wow)

Comment

An Ironic Situation

by JON HASTINGS

Daily Sports Editor

Two centuries ago when it all began in a small New England town, the heroes of this country were long hair and talked about the fight for freedom and rights. Today, a little less than two hundred years later, values have changed and so have the heroes.

Heroes still have long hair and fight for freedom, but they do it with owners, not countries. Instead of trying to defeat the Red Coats, they are trying to figure out how to beat the Red box.

It no longer matters how many Indians a hero kills, it's how many he is shot. Today, a Patriot is someone who loses more than he wins on Sunday afternoon.

The hero of modern times, however, is the professional athlete. No names are as familiar to the American people as those of sports figures. Today Washington is not someone who held out at Valley Forge, he is someone who holds on in San Francisco or Minnesota.

The past gave us Abraham Lincoln and Daniel Boone to admire. Today we are looking up to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Bill Walton, literally.

In this bicentennial year, no longer gathers more attention than sports. While in the eighteenth century people were concerned about emancipating the slaves, today all they want to do is free Bobby Orr from the penalty box.

In the two hundred years of this country's existence, sports have come along way. Professional sport is great. It provides a lot of opportunities and enjoyment for a lot of people, but sometimes people think too much of its participants and forget about the people who are doing more than just a jump shot to this society. OJ Simpson is fun to watch, but as far as lasting contributions to the world goes, he isn't making any more than your neighborhood bus driver.

But there are people making phenomenal contributions in the field of medicine that are standing in line to pay ten dollars to see Simpson play. The irony is absurd.

It is time to look up to pro athletes, but it would be rather tragic if the only thing future generations could remember about the UPI's was that Joe Namath had a quick release and Lynn Swann had good hands.

---

Classifieds

Announcements

Services

Automotive

Lost & Found
Get Ready For Tennis Sale

Open Saturday 9:30 - 6:00
And Sunday 12 - 5 To Serve You
Copeland's Carries All The Names In Tennis Supplies

Practice Tennis Balls
By purchasing in huge quantities, we are able to offer you these amazing prices.

Exclusive!

For the First Time
In Santa Barbara We Are Carrying The New Prince Racket Designed By Howard Head.
This specially designed tennis racket has a 20% larger-hitting area, yet weighs no more and is no more wind resistant than ordinary rackets.

Try our demonstrators!