Senior Citizens play federal $$$. game
Filling lake is waste of water

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The filling of a 125-acre recreational lake in Southern California is a waste of water and must be stopped, the state Water Resources Control Board ruled Wednesday.

The board voted 4-1 to order Mission Viejo Co. to halt water flow into the man-made Orange County lake, saying the case could be referred to the attorney general for court action if the company failed to comply.

Mission Viejo President Philip Reilly refused to say after the decision if the company intended to shut off water to the lake, which is now about three-fourths filled.

"The statement that I would make now is the same statement in the press release issued earlier," he said. "When reporters pressed that the matter was no longer before the board, I wouldn't worry about planning too far ahead," Brown replied.

But Tony says, "I've wanted to be president since the fourth grade and I like the idea better and safer." West asked the governor who tells him what to do.

"Everybody," Brown replied. "It doesn't mean that I always listen," he told West that the governor's job is not that different from any other job and said he bad not set foot in it hard that he wished he had been doing something else.

West got his start in presidential politics from one of his hobbies—listening to inaugural addresses, recording them himself and memorising important parts.

"I wouldn't worry about planning too far ahead," Brown replied.

"We will have to move in the same order," the governor said.

"Filling of the lake has drawn sharp criticism from the Northern California because some State Project water from the drought-stricken north was used to fill the lake. However, project water had been shipped to the Southern California Metropolitan Water District, Mission Viejo's indirect supplier, water a bit earlier this week.

"We didn't worry about planning too far ahead," Brown replied.

"It doesn't mean that I always listen," he told West that the governor's job is not that different from any other job and said he had not set foot in it hard that he wished he had been doing something else.

West got his start in presidential politics from one of his hobbies—listening to inaugural addresses, recording them himself and memorising important parts.

"I wouldn't worry about planning too far ahead," Brown replied.

But Tony says, "I've wanted to be president since the fourth grade and I like the idea better and safer." West asked the governor who tells him what to do.

"Everybody," Brown replied. "It doesn't mean that I always listen," he told West that the governor's job is not that different from any other job and said he had not set foot in it hard that he wished he had been doing something else.

West got his start in presidential politics from one of his hobbies—listening to inaugural addresses, recording them himself and memorising important parts.
Mayor hopefuls: one last look

by WENDY J. HILL

Daily Bulletin Writer

TODAY marks the closing of the filing period for candidates running for the LMC seat on the Los Altos City Council.

Earlier this week, Marie Swanson, 22, graduated from San Jose State University with a degree in government. During her time here, she explains, she worked for the community organization called the Student Tenants Association, which worked for dorm reform involving new tenant regulations for visitation hours and co-ed housing.

Swanson currently works for the community organization Housing for a few hours a week. She feels that this is a job that is most complex problems of the decade—the energy shortage—PG&E may have a job for you.

The work is challenging. The pays well. And the benefits are above average.

If you'd like to do something meaningful with your life, as well as earn a good living in a job with good security, there is an opportunity for you at PG&E.

We are interviewing on this campus Mar. 8, 9. Contact your Placement Office for details.

PG&E
An Equal Opportunity Employer.
—men and women.
Services aged the aged

by STEPHANIE FINUCANE

Daily Staff Writer

Older residents of San Luis Obispo are awaiting the fulfillment of Pres. Carter's pledge to provide the elderly with adequate services.

In preparation, the Tri-County Area Agency on Aging (AAA) took a survey to determine the needs of senior citizens in the county.

If the Carter administration makes more grant money available for senior citizen projects, some funds will undoubtedly trickle down to San Luis Obispo, says Elsie Erickson, a member of AAA's Board of Directors.

One of AAA's purposes is to apply for federal grants and raise funds from private contributions. The agency distributes the money received to organizations that serve the elderly. AAA was re-established two years ago as a private, non-profit organization.

The survey, conducted through the San Luis Obispo AAA branch, listed coordination of current services as its top priority. Currently many of the programs sponsored by different social service organizations overlap.

In San Luis Obispo County alone, the elderly are served by 14 Senior Citizen Clubs, Project Head Start, Retired Senior Volunteers Program (RSVP) and the Central Coast Rehabilitation centers.

Many programs could be improved if they were solidified, Erickson says. For example, the Senior Citizen Camera operates Nutrition, a program which serves hot meals at seven sites in the county. Erickson says the demand for meals on wheels, bringing hot meals to the homes of the incapacitated elderly, Erickson says in most counties Nutrition and Meals on Wheels are combined into one program and in that way, are more efficiently administered.

Other needs of the elderly listed by the AAA include: home services such as health care and cleaning, housing and home repair, expanded nutrition programs, transportation and construction of recreation centers.

Senior citizens in the county disagree on which priority is most important. Erickson believes transportation is most in need of expansion.

"Nutrition and recreation are important, but if the people can't get to the activities, what good are they?" she said.

Transportation services are now provided by the Senior Citizen Clubs. Over the past year the clubs bought vans with room for up to 12 persons who are on waiting lists for rides and with county funds. Volunteer senior citizens drive the elderly to club meetings, shopping centers, Nutrition and doctors.

The service is available to those who have not been able to work due to poor health. Others who are forced to retire because of mandatory retirement are also eligible. Erickson said that mandatory retirement is most important.

Ryan, who moonlights as a "Senior Power"深层 alphabet, said some towns in the state have initiated programs where businesses give the elderly a 10 per cent discount on all merchandise and services.

Ryan approached the Arroyo Grande Chamber of Commerce with the proposal, but was told it is up to the individual merchants to enact a discount program.

Ryan contacted some merchants, but most said they could not afford to give seniors a discount.

Ryan says, "If some towns can do it, I don't see why local merchants can't provide some kind of discount. I think that Seniors across the country should get on the ball and pressure merchants into starting a comprehensive discount program."

Some San Luis Obispo business owners give discounts to the elderly. Thoem like both student and senior citizen rates. The city also provides some discounts. Adult Education is free to those over 65. In March, Project Head Start will begin a project funded through AAA which will sell bus tokens to senior citizens for 10 cents.

Ryan said the elderly need discounts because many are unable to work to due to poor health. Others who are forced to retire because of mandatory retirement are also eligible. Erickson said that mandatory retirement is most important.

Ryan does not believe that mandatory retirement is wrong. He says room rates are made for the young people entering the work force.

Jim Jacobson, coordinator of the Senior Citizen Clubs in Arroyo Grande thinks that the elderly could benefit most from a discount program.

Mickey Ryan, transportation director for the Arroyo Grande Chamber, thinks that the elderly could benefit most from a discount program.

Erickson said that additional funds are needed to purchase more vehicles. Only a small number of passengers can be handled by the existing vans.

Ryan, who moonlights as a "Senior Power"深层 alphabet, said some towns in the state have initiated programs where businesses give the elderly a 10 per cent discount on all merchandise and services.

Ryan approached the Arroyo Grande Chamber of Commerce with the proposal, but was told it is up to the individual merchants to enact a discount program.

Ryan contacted some merchants, but most said they could not afford to give seniors a discount.

Ryan says, "If some towns can do it, I don't see why local merchants can't provide some kind of discount. I think that Seniors across the country should get on the ball and pressure merchants into starting a comprehensive discount program."

Various programs in the county provide senior citizens with hot meals like the following:

Flint and Hancock senior citizens. The concert begins at 8:15 PM on Friday night. Admission is $2.50 for general and $1.50 for students. The concert is sponsored by the ASI Fine Arts Committee and the Cal Poly Music Department.

DeTullio is known on the Central Coast for her involvement as a soloist and orchestra member with the annual San Luis Obispo Mozart Festival, the Bach Festival in Carmel and the Ojai Music Festival.

As a freelance musician, DeTullio spends most of her time working with the movie and television studios based in Los Angeles. DiTullio has performed the background music for many films including "King Kong," "Robin and Marion," the Eleanor and Franklin series for television and a new film "yet undeveloped." "White Rabbit."

"Working for the studio is the most enjoyable because the constant change is exciting." DiTullio says she is a "private" symphony you've had a referral for a three, four months out of the year. There's little freedom, you can't do what you like to do. DiTullio admits the studio work is fun and rewarding as well. Another reason for the performer in a studio is the work is the atmosphere.

"The symphony is a large, unknown family," DiTullio says. "You play with each other everyday, then you don't have to."

"I'd fit into the studio work because it's the family who's going to miss you if you don't show up." DiTullio then turned and left her studio work and went to her studio work. She is a freelance musician, DeTullio spends most of her time working with the movie and television studios based in Los Angeles. DiTullio has performed the background music for many films including "King Kong," "Robin and Marion," the Eleanor and Franklin series for television and a new film "yet undeveloped." "White Rabbit."

"Working for the studio is the most enjoyable because the constant change is exciting." DiTullio says she is a "private" symphony you've had a referral for a three, four months out of the year. There's little freedom, you can't do what you like to do. DiTullio admits the studio work is fun and rewarding as well. Another reason for the performer in a studio is the work is the atmosphere.

"The symphony is a large, unknown family," DiTullio says. "You play with each other everyday, then you don't have to."

"I'd fit into the studio work because it's the family who's going to miss you if you don't show up." DiTullio then turned and left her studio work and went to her studio work. She is a freelance musician, DeTullio spends most of her time working with the movie and television studios based in Los Angeles. DiTullio has performed the background music for many films including "King Kong," "Robin and Marion," the Eleanor and Franklin series for television and a new film "yet undeveloped." "White Rabbit."

"Working for the studio is the most enjoyable because the constant change is exciting." DiTullio says she is a "private" symphony you've had a referral for a three, four months out of the year. There's little freedom, you can't do what you like to do. DiTullio admits the studio work is fun and rewarding as well. Another reason for the performer in a studio is the work is the atmosphere.
The absurd thing about this race is that the boats are not new snow and we project ourselves into the plan."—Jean-Henry Joven.

The base conditions are good with no obstacles and they are operating daily with packed powder. The weather is clear. At Mammoth, ASj Films Committee presents "The Great Escape." There is packed powder. The base conditions are fair with some inconsistent player, very solid. And DiTullio finds artistic merit in her studio work. She is a very consistent and thorough player and plays it very well. I admire her a great deal."

Graduating Engineers: If your heart's in San Francisco....

Mare Island is hiring!

Live in the heart of Northern California-America's most famous work and play land, ideal, smog-free climate, short drive to the Golden Gate, the wine country, lots more!

Work in a challenging environment at the West Coast's oldest and best-known naval institution, with unmatched potential for professional growth, reward and recognition.

Get the facts on civilian career opportunities. Contact your Placement Office.

Campus Interviews: MAR. 1

Mare Island Naval Shipyard
Vallejo, California 94592
An Equal Opportunity Employer U.S. Citizenship Required
Hitchcock admits he's looking to nationals

by COREY BRITTON
Daily Star Writer

Head wrestling coach Vaughan Hitchcock isn't bearing around a bush. He thinks that his team will win the regionals for the third straight year.

"We should win the regional championship and have at least six members of our team place nationally," Hitchcock said at a press conference Wednesday.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association will hold their sixth annual Western Regionals at Cal Poly Friday and Saturday. Sessions are scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. both days.

Cal Poly will enter the tournament ranked sixth in the nation by Associated Press. The only other school that will be in the tournament that is nationally ranked is Portland State at 18th.

The Mustangs lost to Lehigh, University of Iowa, Arizona State, and Oregon this season. Hitchcock called that of the 10 best teams in the nation, his squad has faced 12 of them, and three of the four losses has come from those teams.

"We are a young team that will be in the tournament," Hitchcock said. "They are as capable as any team in the regionals. Cal Poly plans to have seven or eight wrestlers seeded as much as possible.

"Seeding is very important, more important than what it sounds, so give your kids a better opportunity to win. If your wrestler has seeded correctly, and it loses, he will have a shot at the other guys for third, place," Hitchcock added.

The following is Hitchcock's lineup, barring any surprise:

Roger Flook, a senior 168 pounds has seeded fifth. "He is probably the toughen," Hitchcock said.

Junior Paul Coates will be in the regionals at 177 pounds. "He is a junior that will be a major threat in nationals," Hitchcock said.

Four losses have come from those teams.

"We are a young team that will be in the tournament," Hitchcock said. "They are as capable as any team in the regionals. Cal Poly plans to have seven or eight wrestlers seeded as much as possible.

The people that are winners of their division, second place finishers and wild card choices, will then get together with the same finishers of the other two regionals being held in the East and the Midwest for competition in the nationals to be held March 17-19 in Norman, Oklahoma.

Seeding is very important in any tournament, are equally as important in the regionals. Cal Poly plans to have seven or eight wrestlers seeded as much as possible.

"Seeding is very important, more important than what it sounds, so give your kids a better opportunity to win. If your wrestler has seeded correctly, and it loses, he will have a shot at the other guys for third, place," Hitchcock added.

The following is Hitchcock's lineup, barring any surprise:

Roger Flook, a senior 168 pounds has seeded fifth. "He is probably the toughest," Hitchcock said.

Junior Paul Coates will be in the regionals at 177 pounds. "He is a junior that will be a major threat in nationals," Hitchcock said.

Four losses have come from those teams.

"We are a young team that will be in the tournament," Hitchcock said. "They are as capable as any team in the regionals. Cal Poly plans to have seven or eight wrestlers seeded as much as possible.

The people that are winners of their division, second place finishers and wild card choices, will then get together with the same finishers of the other two regionals being held in the East and the Midwest for competition in the nationals to be held March 17-19 in Norman, Oklahoma.

Seeding is very important in any tournament, are equally as important in the regionals. Cal Poly plans to have seven or eight wrestlers seeded as much as possible.

"Seeding is very important, more important than what it sounds, so give your kids a better opportunity to win. If your wrestler has seeded correctly, and it loses, he will have a shot at the other guys for third, place," Hitchcock added.

The following is Hitchcock's lineup, barring any surprise:

Roger Flook, a senior 168 pounds has seeded fifth. "He is probably the toughest," Hitchcock said.

Junior Paul Coates will be in the regionals at 177 pounds. "He is a junior that will be a major threat in nationals," Hitchcock said.

Four losses have come from those teams.

"We are a young team that will be in the tournament," Hitchcock said. "They are as capable as any team in the regionals. Cal Poly plans to have seven or eight wrestlers seeded as much as possible.

The people that are winners of their division, second place finishers and wild card choices, will then get together with the same finishers of the other two regionals being held in the East and the Midwest for competition in the nationals to be held March 17-19 in Norman, Oklahoma.

Seeding is very important in any tournament, are equally as important in the regionals. Cal Poly plans to have seven or eight wrestlers seeded as much as possible.

"Seeding is very important, more important than what it sounds, so give your kids a better opportunity to win. If your wrestler has seeded correctly, and it loses, he will have a shot at the other guys for third, place," Hitchcock added.
Baseball players as bubble-gummers

From The Associated Press

Baseball players can't even get his picture as a bubble gum card for the time being.

Mike Jackson, who really was the candy bar after all, because New York can't even get his picture as a bubble gum card for the time being.

Mike Jackson quietly reported to the New York Yankees' training facility Tuesday for his first workout in pinstripes, by Berger, his bubble gum card, was kicked out of the New York Mets clubhouse.

In fact, the colorful, bombastic Jackson was upstaged in his own clubhouse by center fielder Mickey Rivers, who had some words for Manager Billy Martin, and in the Milwaukee Brewers locker room, where pitcher Larry Dierker and utilityman Ed Kirkpatrick camouflaged.

Berger, who annually tours the spring training camps and signs up players for bubble gum cards, was requested by General Manager Joe McDonald to vacate the premises when he entered the team's clubhouse.

"It was very embarrassing to Joe, who is a long-time friend of mine," said Berger. "But he was acting on a directive issued by the Major League Promotion Corp."

The promotion group is seeking greater royalties from Berger's bubble gum card for the Islanders. A $1 royalty for the use of the picture. Pending the outcome of current negotiations, Berger is persona non grata in major league clubhouses.

Ron, however, wasn't harried. The Yankees' speedy center fielder just didn't bother to show up on time.

"I didn't feel like coming out here that early," he griped. "I'm going to be late already. I don't even eat that bad.

They're hazing me on every little thing. If they don't want me, they can trade me."

When Rivers finally appeared, more than an hour in, he found a note from Martin.

"I hope it is Rivers," Rivers said. "I really didn't read it, but I think it said I'm going to be fined."

"It's not going to ruin spring training," Martin said. "I'm not nobody else."

Meanwhile, the media largely ignored Jackson, who had to try on three pairs of pants before he found one that fit.

He popped a button off his uniform shirt, couldn't find a batting helmet his size and finally was plucked in the back.

On the signing front, the Philadelphia Phillies reported "definite progress" in talks with third baseman Mike Schmidt, the major league home run champ, while the Mets said he "some movement, but nothing appreciable" in their efforts to sign slugger Dave Kingman.

Elsewhere:

The San Francisco Giants signed shortstop Bill Madlock for one year at a reported $900,000 while outfielder Jerry Morales sold the Chicago Cubs he wasn't interested in becoming the successor to traded third baseman Bill Madlock.

"I'm an outsider, not an insider," he said.
When it's 6 weeks into the semester and 34 books have just arrived for a class of 35...it's no time to get filled up.

Lite Beer from Miller. Everything you always wanted in a beer. And less.