Hobby Garage cuts car repair costs

Having problems with your car? Don't junk it but give it to the Hobby Garage group and work on it yourself.

The Hobby Garage, located near the north dorms in the K parking lot, is designed to allow full use of all tool and garage facilities during operating hours for a quarterly fee of $1.

John Hollbrook, manager of the Hobby Garage and Allen Horovitz, assistant manager, are on hand to offer some sound advice when asked. Hollbrook, a senior BT major, hired by All as manager this year, says:

"We're not allowed to work on other people's cars, but we give advice and help when we can. A lot of work on cars is common sense." For those who prefer to work on their cars after work, a closed garage may be rented for $10 a day. The garage is gridded and tiled, making it a great location for general cleaning. The only reason these facilities are not available to the public is fear of vandalism and break-ins. Parts are the responsibility of those making use of the facilities.

Faculty members as well as students have been using the Hobby Garage. The average student membership per quarter is two, but the garage has been utilized by those hiring the garage, as evidenced by the garage which is also funded by the All.

Hollbrook, who used the garage last year himself and helped shore up the managers position, has worked at that school high school and in several garages alone to help pay for school, says:

"It's a good way to get to know people.

Use of the Garage is not only a good way to meet people, but also to share experiences with others who may have the same interests.

The atmosphere of the garage is one of friendship and light-hearted conversations. Clark Hall, a vice of the garage, says:

"You don't have to do things just for yourself. That's why I don't let you work on your car. It's like he is to leave your car behind.

Another dedicated car is called "Kinetics," a car used the weekends building his engine.

"The price is right.

For the convenience of all who use the garage, Hollbrook is able to, by request, do a job (such as the service) on a weekend, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday to Saturday. The hourly fee is $2/hour.

Vocal pop group to debut Friday

By JILL HENDRICKSON

Music from recent motion picture scenes will be performed by Cal Poly's Men's and Women's Glee Club Friday night.

The program for the third annual January concert includes themes from "Rocky" and "New York, New York," says Dr. Stanley Malinowski, the group's director.

Polyphonics, a new specialty pop group with a rhythm section, also is scheduled to perform.

The concert is free and will be held in the Arts Center. Polyphonics will perform "Ev'rything," the academy award winning song from "A Star Is Born.

"I should also mention the World Famous Majors and Minors, which is our backup group," Malinowski said. "They really jam it up from time to time.

The 15-member group, dressed in traditional vocal groups, always involves tremendous energy and "hustle."

Malinowski attributed their performance at Disneyland and on board the Queen Mary to their "hustle."

In March the group canceled its scheduled performance at the University Union, Brewer's Meineke Bar, and the Glee Club members.

Housing law criticized

EDITOR'S NOTE: Art Prep. Paul Curtis

I recently received a letter from Mayor Kenneth Schubert and the San Luis Obispo City Council. They wished to inform me of the housing restrictions passed by the council.

Dear Mayor and City Council Members:

I am greatly disturbed by the action you have recently taken. I am particularly disturbed by the strict regulations that prohibit students from residing in any single-family home on the Cal Poly campus. As a resident of Cal Poly, I know that I can vote the same as any other student on campus, but the only issue being discussed is housing.

Due to the city's increased regulations, the costs of Cal Poly's single-family student housing have increased. The regulations have doubled the cost of accommodations. Unaffordable rents, unresponsive landlords, and housing permits have made this city unattainable for Cal Poly students and their families.

Thus, the university is responsible for providing housing for its students. By passing the regulations, you are neglecting your duty to students. You are neglecting the students' right to have a safe, affordable place to live. You are neglecting the students' right to have a better quality of life.

The regulations are a form of discrimination against students. You are discriminating against students based on their housing preferences.

In conclusion, I urge you to reconsider the regulations you have passed. I urge you to provide students with safe, affordable housing. I urge you to provide students with a better quality of life.

Sincerely,

Paul Curtis

Starry-eyed dreams of being famous

Of course there will be a whole can of drinkables. Whatever we all love in our drinks. I'll attend the conference if they'd like to hear a song or two. I'll sing with my band in the confident Cottonwood. I'll tell you (I'm that kind of girl) I won't let you down.

Finally, my sister Lisa, who's planted in our lives, is so ecstatic. This is our big moment. I'm sorry there's no otherway. I feel so appreciated by my husband's guitar. They have a plan to manage to get one of my sessions on the radio. I'm just semi-illiterate on that historical scene, but you know, I want to be respected. Of course, there's this hot-shot agent in the audience who is on his way to visit Marveen. He's got white shoes and a polyester suit. I don't want to be left in the dust. I don't want to be left with just a dream. I want to be recognized. I want to be seen. I want to be appreciated. I want to be respected.

Marveen says "I'm going to make you famous." We're going to say "I'm going to make you famous." We're going to say "I'm going to make you famous." I'm going to make you famous.

Well, that next Friday night. I find myself Tacon with aредел address in 6409 on the corner of Alta Mesa. Lunch is at the student union. Lunch is at the student union. Lunch is at the student union. Lunch is at the student union. Lunch is at the student union. Lunch is at the student union. Lunch is at the student union.

Consider a student who buys a 19- week season, assuming a 19 weeks, 19.6 weeks, plus, for weekends. However, due to the heavy registration, the student is charged for one quarter, and I feel I should be able to get the full value, regardless of whether I use the passes or not.

A challenge to City Council

By SCOTT CRAVEN

Daily Daily Staff Writer

We recently heard some interesting ideas for a new parking lot at City Hall. The idea was never brought to a vote by the City Council because an ordinance did not exist.

Larry Bracken, Director of the Planning and Development Department, said recently that the city has been considering building a parking lot for many years. He said that the lot would be used for both public and private events.

"We have been looking into the possibility of building a parking lot for some time," Bracken said. "We are also considering the possibility of using the lot for community events."

The idea was first presented to the City Council in 1976, but no action was taken. Bracken said that the council will be discussing the idea again in the near future.

"We are currently looking into the feasibility of building a parking lot," Bracken said. "We are also considering the possibility of using the lot for community events."

Collectors find happiness in cards

By GARY KAPLAN
Daily News Writer

In their monthly "Hobby," a page that appears in all editions of the Daily News, four dedicated card collectors shared their experiences with the hobby.

"When I was a child," said one collector, "I would spend hours looking through card albums. Now, as an adult, I still find the same joy in collecting." The others echoed similar sentiments, expressing the sense of accomplishment and pride they feel in their collections.

"I've been a long-time collector and have accumulated hundreds of cards," said another collector. "It's a hobby that never grows old." The collectors discussed the various aspects of their collections, including the history of the cards, their geographical origins, and the value of their collections.

Despite the different origins and interests of their collections, all the collectors agreed on the importance of friendship and camaraderie within the hobby. "There's nothing like sharing your passion with others," said one collector. "It makes the hobby even more enjoyable." The others concurred, expressing their appreciation for the community that exists within the world of card collecting.

Fall slows Rouda, Keyes places fifth

Misfortune struck Poly wrestler Rod Keyes during Saturday's Sunbelt Invitational track meet in Los Angeles. A knee problem forced Keyes to withdraw from two events.

Rouda also encountered problems, finishing third in the 100-yard dash and fourth in the 200-yard dash. Keyes qualified for the invitational championship meet in Los Angeles with a time of 22.10 seconds in the mile. Keyes' fourth place finish was his only consolation.

At the three-quarter mark, Rouda had already set a new personal best in the mile, posting a time of 3:55.20. Keyes' second place finish was a significant accomplishment in the face of the adversity he faced.

KEYS TO SUCCESS

"I've always been a hard worker," said Keyes. "I know that if I put in the effort, I will succeed." The other competitors concurred, expressing their admiration for Keyes' determination and resilience.

Will both on fire like the result of a Cal Poly wrestling dual?

Cal State Fullerton comes to town Thursday night for a 7 p.m. match with Poly and is expected to be especially tough.

First of all, Fullerton has been successful in recent years of late. According to recent reports, since the beginning of last season, the Mustangs have been almost unbeatable. In all of their duals, full of 11 matches, the Mustangs have been victorious. This year, U.C. Berkeley was Poly's only loss of the season. They have very little chance to lose. The Mustangs have won 11 matches, according to the report.

The Cal Poly wrestling team will be a strong contender in the upcoming match. Fullerton's superior weight classes are expected to be its strongest suit.

Season opener with USCB

By JIM ALVERNA

With three All-Conference and one All-American performer returning from last year's conference and one new addition, the Cal Poly wrestling squad will be a force to be reckoned with. The Mustangs will open their season with a 7 p.m. contest in the Main Gym on Wednesday, January 30th.

The Mustangs enter the season with the addition of Junior Paul Spragg, a transfer from San Diego State University. He will bolster the Mustangs' weight class and add to the team's overall depth. Spragg will be a key member of the team and is expected to contribute significantly to the Mustangs' success this season.

The Mustangs' season opener will be against the University of California, Berkeley. Poly is expected to come out on top in this match, given its strong roster and recent success.

Satellite crashes in Canada
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet military satellite apparently destroyed by a nuclear blast after it was reportedly an operational failure yesterday morning and blasted itself out of the atmosphere over the northern area of Canada, Pres. Carter's national security advisor said today.

A Canadian government spokesman in Ottawa said there was no confusion about the danger of the satellite. A government security official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the satellite had been destroyed in the atmosphere. The official was quoted as saying, "We knew it was going to be destroyed, and it was.

However, Zbigniew Brzezinski, the President's national security adviser, said the satellite had been destroyed because it was found to be unstable after it had been launched. Officials said the satellite had been destroyed because it was found to be unstable after it had been launched.
