Fun is philosophy at Craft Center

By PETER GUM Daily Staff Writer

Don't abandon those umbrellas and rain coats yet! The state Weather Bureau reported there is more rain on the way. Rain is expected to continue through Friday.

Cal Poly Security reported 3.84 inches of rain fell between seven o'clock Wednesday evening until noon Thursday. That brings the season total to 30.66 inches. According to Cal Poly Security last year there was no rain in February until the 22 and then the season total was 11.27.

Along with moisture, the rain has brought some trouble. Flash flood warnings were issued on Thursday for San Luis Obispo County and northern Santa Barbara County. The state Highway Patrol reported that Highways 41 and 46 were closed to San Joaquin Indefinitely. There is two feet of water on those roads.

Cal Poly also had its share of troubles due to the rain. Thursday at 9:30 a.m. a short in a circuit buried underground caused the loss of power to the University Union, Vista Grande restaurant, and Dormite and Sierra Madre residence halls. According to Dick Tarchaglia, chief of Plant Operations, the shortage was caused by excessive moisture. He said power was expected to be restored by 1:30 p.m.

Campus radio station KCPR received a call at about 1 a.m. on Thursday saying classes for Thursday were to be canceled. According to Randy Kordell, station manager, the call was later determined to be a hoax and KCPR then made announcements that classes would go on as scheduled.

The report of no classes created a rash of calls to administration authorities, Lachlan MacDonald, director of Public Affairs said.

MacDonald said a decision to close classes would be based on considerations such as how severe rains were, electrical problems, and if county roads were passable. He said consultation would take place between such officials as the president, academic vice president and the business affairs director.

After the雨水, there would have to come from the president or the business affairs director. He said consultation would take place between such officials as the president, academic vice president and the business affairs director.

The actual decision to close classes would be based on considerations such as how severe rains were, electrical problems, and if county roads were passable. He said consultation would take place between such officials as the president, academic vice president and the business affairs director.

The actual decision to close classes would have to come from the president or someone acting in his place. Pres. Kenny said the rains and conditions would have to be more severe than they were on Thursday morning to warrant cancellation of classes.
Steel-jawed cruelty

Few people ever think about it, but it is legal to torture wild animals.

Each year in California, thousands of bears, raccoons, martens, minks, muskrats, and other fur-bearing animals die before the fur season, which lasts for about six months.

This is the part of the fur trade that no one wants to talk about.

Since its invention in medieval England, the steel-jawed or leg hold trap, has brought death and agony to millions of animals.

Its original purpose was to catch poachers who stole royal game to feed their starving families. The men who did the poisoning soon learned to use the same device to their own advantage.

Trapping is a part of frontier culture that continues for one reason—money. It's a big business. A bobcat pelt, for example, over $200.

A bobcat pelt is often worth more than the Doe old enough to be used as a trapping device.

The policy Action Club is now circulating petitions to end this cruel practice in California.

Four hundred thousand signatures are needed to place it on the ballot.

If you are a registered voter in San Mateo County, your signature is needed. For further information about CART, write to Mr. Turner, 1103 Hilltop Road, Chico, Calif. 95929.

Four fur-bearing animals have no votes, and they need your help very badly.

I am a sky uncomprehending man who reads and, but receive provision to a great Christian, cannot countenance the idea of this. For years I have been prejudiced against the whole idea of religion, and now I know that I am in one of the highest heavens of woman's belief is the highest.

When I was in grade school I learned to hold back unkind words, but when I am in class alone often something occurs, from elementary and high school, that I can tell you in print my last name is what he wishes, but I am one of the few Christian men who believe that if I were not to believe in their existence, I would not be a Christian.

Although I should bring about a family, a deep part of me has a cause to exist.

Student opinion poll discussed

By MICHAEL GOTT
Daily Staff Writer
Plans for a student opinion poll that could offer a collection of teacher evaluations to students and faculty were discussed at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting.

The poll will use essay questions to evaluate professors, said Brian Powell, project coordinator. Professors can choose from four essay questionnaires or may write their own questions, said Powell. Powell said essay questions were chosen because they are accountable and reliable, and to avoid statistical data that reduces from simple answer questions.

Essay questions require honest and money to evaluate than simpler questions, running the total cost of the poll to $10,000, said Powell. Some of the success will be covered by a $1,000 charge for the survey. The poll will be further discussed and essay action taken at Wednesday's Senate meeting.

The Senate also passed a resolution recommending that all traffic on inner perimeter roads be halted during the ten minute class breaks to relieve congestion and create a safer environment for pedestrians. A resolution will be sent to President Robert E. Kennedy recommending that he instruct department heads to adhere to the restraint.

To further protect pedestrians on inner perimeter road, the Senate is studying means of slowing down bicycle and moped traffic in areas without main lanes. The administration has encouraged the idea of speedhumps because of increased University liability for accidents resulting directly from speed. In the committee, the commission reported.

In other action the Senate:

Approved a budget of $10,000 in covered expenses incurred by the Student Community Relations during the Jackson All-Star basketball game.

Housing appeals requested by ASI

ASI wants information on students who have been approached by their landlords due to complaints of loudness and parties. The administration has encouraged the idea of noise by landlords because of the noise from adjacent buildings.

Funding approved for women's shelter

By JANET KRIETEMEYER
Daily Sports Editor
In a unanimous decision, the San Luis Obispo County Commission on the Status of Women voted Tuesday to fund Woman's Crisis House, the county shelter for battered women.

The shelter, which opened in August, 1977, has been operating on donations from county health agencies and the community. The commission expects that Senate Bill 124, the domestic violence bill, will be passed by April. The bill would allocate $500,000 to be divided up between four or five shelters in the state.

"It sounds like a lot but actually it isn't," said Commissioner Ann Crulkshanks. "It's what they really need—something to get us started.''

Crulkshanks reported that the six women who have volunteered to run the shelter agreed to stay for another six months. "Our aim is to be much more active through April," said Crulkshanks. "But the question is how we will be funded. There is no money available through county sources just yet."

The shelter is located at 1807 Chorro St., SLO. The shelter is run by volunteers, with financial assistance from local businesses.

Treaty debate heats up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary James E. Schlesinger said yesterday that rejection of the Panama Canal treaty would strain relations with other nations and in particular, important foreign policy allies, he said. "There can be no question of our dropping that treaty," Shlesinger said. "We cannot afford to lose it."

Willard Reagen, a chief spokesman for the Reagan administration, said rejection of the treaty would harm the United States, destroy our effectiveness in Latin America and strengthen the resolve of the Latin American nations to govern the zone independently.

The flak was in response to a resolution in the United States Senate last week that 15 senators have planned to introduce a resolution in Congress to reject the treaty. They said they would introduce it when the Senate reconvenes after its Christmas recess.

Netters looking for first win

Two conference tennis matches for the women's tennis team have been cancelled this weekend because of the weather.

The team posts a 1-1 record this season as the Mustangs fall to Irvine 64-60, last month.

"We lost royally," said Coach Rocky Murray. "It was too bad to have to play such a tough school for the first match of the season."

Irvine has four girls who are nationally ranked but we did have lots of fun. It was good experience but it showed we need lots of work," added Murray.

Murray feels that the team did play up to their potential against Irvine and is pleased that what she feels has been working has continued this season.

"I don't really look at the score—I look at how they played," she said.

At the First Annual California State University and College Championships held at Cal State Long Beach the Mustangs were eliminated in both the second round of doubles and singles.

Murray said that some of the other schools were "low and began to challenge the Mustangs."

Leslie Chapman and Gale Robinson led a fine doubles team for Chapman also led off the singles match.

Cal State Long Beach won the match 7-5 and 6-4 in the tourney to the team's standings Cal Poly Bakersfield took the varsity competition.

Weather permitting, the Mustangs will host Cal College on Feb. 16, 3 p.m.

A bowling hall of fame?

NEW YORK (AP)—Martin Luther was one of the early devotees of the sport but there is doubt that he will challenge Hank Martin, Don Carter and Dick Weber for a niche in the projected National Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum.

"Bowling was once a religious ritual—back in the Middle Ages," said Bruce Plunkholan, the manager of a club that has found success in competition bowling.

"We are the biggest participating sport in the country," said Plunkholan, a sometime Dayton, Ohio, sports writer. "We have 18 million bowlers registered in leagues, there are 10 million others who are casual bowlers, and the licensed bowler contributes two dollars."

"At Coopersworth, a village 20 miles south of Amsterdam, we have a bowling alley that was opened in 1908."

"The bowlers there are the greatest in the United States."

Deaf skater leads skating competition

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) —
It was freezing, as usual, for Portland Winterhawks days when David U. M was 10 years old, but when David M. entered, no one knew he was in a head room.

"It's easy now," he told his coach. "This really is my day."
Without a doubt Wednesday was one of the biggest days in the life of David M., who has been deaf since birth.

Although he can't hear his own footsteps, David M. has been the talk of the U.S. Figure Skating Championship, taking the lead in the junior men's competition after the first event, the compulsory free skating exercise.

"I don't believe this. I don't believe this is happening to me today," said David M., unswervingly. 96 ordinals and 87.10 points accompanied the figure that David M. put in the first place by 5 of the 7 judges.

fairly in the decision and I have no reason to intervene into the matter on a decision-making level," said Timone. The Rich, head resident of Santa Lucia Hall, had given Jensen permission to enter the dorm during break (immediately after the trip) and pick up belongings to take home. Jensen claims Rich agrees.

"I gave Greg permission to enter, either Tony or Cory, so he exceeded his authority there. I did discuss the matter at length with Bob Bostrum and tried to explain that although Greg might have made a judgement mistake, the penalty may have been too harsh," said Rich.

Poly grad chosen for NASA program
A 1969 Cal Poly graduate was chosen for the NASA space shuttle program, it was announced yesterday.

Robert Gibson, a graduate of aerospace engineering, was one of 15 people chosen to fly for a program by NASA. NASA secrecy surrounds him before narrowing it down to the final fifteen. Gibson was chosen as a pilot astronaut.

Gibson is currently a lieutenent at Pauuxant Naval Air Station, Maryland. After he graduated Poly, Gibson enlisted in the Navy. He is a candidate for NASA program. He graduated in October, 1969, at the top of his class.

He then completed jet aircraft flight training in Pensacola, Florida. He was named distinguished naval aviator, the only one in a class of 64.

After serving as a regular commission in the Navy and flew F-4 Phantoms over Vietnam, Gibson was awarded three air medals.

After the war, he was selected to attend the Navy test pilot school and completed school in June, 1977. He was named outstanding student.

Gibson will run a shuttle student. He is working to be selected for the second class.

Registration
Construction of a portable metal awning to shelter students as they stand in registration lines was suggested to the Executive Committee of the Staff Senate on Wednesday. The committee also discussed nighttime lighting for the campus.

Jeff Debrish, the chairperson for the Staff Senate, suggested that something should prevent students from the rain or sun as they wait to register in the gym. Inadequate lighting in certain parking lots on campus and the possible danger of late night harassment of female employees was also a topic of concern at the meeting.

The current policy is that women should be scheduled to work earlier in the evening, or male employees should escort female employees to their cars after certain hours.

In designing the agenda for the Feb. 13, Staff Senate meeting, the committee decided to ask Jim Lan- dreth, director of student affairs, to discuss the lighting situation, and the possibilities of a self-defense class for women.

"I'm getting pretty tired of this whole thing," said Rich. "I think Greg might be going too far with this now."

Although Rich claims he tried to talk Bostrum out of forcing Greg to resign, he says he now agrees with the decision that was made.

"I have to agree because I work with those people," said Rich.

Because letters were sent to Kennedy and two legislators recently, Jensen said he does not expect revenge for a few days. He is however, attempting to secure an appointment with Kennedy to discuss the issue, he said.
