Poly to take on NCAA wrestling champs

By JIM ALVAREZ
Daily Sports Writer

Saturday's expected weather forecast: Fair and warm with a 100 percent chance of Cyclones. Tom Hillock's be mad.

If you aren't aware that Cyclones are now the overwhelming favorite to be a Collectors winner. The Cyclones that will be in town are Iowa State wrestlers.

Iowa is one of the heavyweights in the collegiate wrestling world and was the national team champion in 1977.

Cyclone coach Harold Nichols said he and company visit Cal Poly tomorrow night in McPherson Gym at 7:30 p.m. It will be the wrestling match of the year for Coach Vaughn Hitchcock's Mustangs and probably one of the most exciting of the Cal Poly wrestling season.

Over the last 40 years the Cyclones have finished at the top three placings at the national tournament 13 times, including six team titles.

Coach Nichols is one of the immortal collegiate coaches. In 30 years of coaching (30 at Iowa State) his teams have compiled a dual meet record of 821 wins, 13 losses and 15 ties.

Hitchcock is no lightweight himself. Now in his 14th year at the Poly helm his teams hold a dual meet record of 277 wins, 74 losses and 4 ties.

Junior Mark Land, 132, from Des Moines, Iowa, is the nation's top-ranked wrestler at his weight and has a 9-1 record coming into Iowa State meet tonight with Colorado. He has already placed in the national tournament twice, both as a freshman and again as a sophomore.

Joe Remelin is also the top-ranked wrestler in his weight (118) and has placed second and third at nationals.

Junior 180-pounder Kelly Ward, 9-1, placed second at last year's NCAA championships.

He will face one of Poly's top wrestlers, Robert Biddy, 18-0, who won last year's dual meet against Arkansas.

Ward won that match 5-1.

That last was overshadowed by the fact that the Mustangs pulled the biggest upset of the year by beating the Cyclones 24-14 and knocking the Cyclones out of the number one spot in the rankings.

That win stands as the greatest in Poly wrestling history and cut the Cyclones' streak to 22.

Hitchcock says the Cyclones wrestle in a nearly passive manner as a team and don't make many mistakes. That's why they rarely lose," he said.

Regardless of the past scores our matches with Iowa State have always been exciting," said Hitchcock.

The Cyclones are 14-3 in dual matches this season and come to San Luis Obispo ranked third in the nation. The Mustangs, 17-4, are ranked ninth.
The Great Conspiracy

I’m tired of listening to all the classroom talk about the Great Television Conspiracy.

Most of you have probably heard it already, but I tell you something that is true.
It’s true that television programming is a product of the American public’s desire for the most entertaining, educational, and informative programs. It is true that television advertising is a means of controlling and propagandizing the public. It is true that television is a mass commercialism.

Some of you one-liners are censured in more academic terms, but I tell you the same thing that television is a tool, a vehicle for a spectrum somewhere between air pollution and human torture.

Frankly, I am at a loss to explain all the paranoia. Educated criticism and paranoia are a level of mind made up of the customaries and commercial profits. Moreover, turning green and gagging at the mere mention of the great conspiracy is not the way to win a fashionable collegiate conversation.

But it’s the “consensus” aspect which disturbs me the most. The media, the networks who are supposed to be the student’s students—are the ones raising the issue of bringing low-quality programs into American living rooms.

Interesting. Unfortunately, such talk has not been able to explain all the paranoia. Educated criticism and paranoia are at the level of mind made up of the customaries and commercial profits. Moreover, turning green and gagging at the mere mention of the great conspiracy is not the way to win a fashionable collegiate conversation.

I watch television about eight hours a week. I enjoy the programs I watch. I watch the Laker play. I watch the Dr. Miller. I watch a couple of movies. A little culture. A little sports. It’s my day. My idea. For that, I should feel exalted! I have been brainwashed by my television. I believe that television is a means of the power with the willpower of a snare.

I am not suggesting that television should be exempted from any kind of criticism. It plays an enormous role in our lives, and must therefore be closely monitored. But I think it deserves more of an intelligent and balanced analysis than I’ve been hearing recently in classrooms.

Close encounter with a questionable cowgirl

Although you were not positive, you suspected the moment the cowgirl walked in that she was a fish. That she was a “fish” is not important. That she was a “fish” is not important. That she was a “fish” is not important. That she was a “fish” is not important. That she was a “fish” is not important. That she was a “fish” is not important. That she was a “fish” is not important.

During the lecture, you stated glances at the suspected impostor. You considered passing her a note inviting her to the big apple stomp on Saturday night. No. No use. She was a “fish.” She was a “fish.” She was a “fish.” She was a “fish.” She was a “fish.” She was a “fish.” She was a “fish.” She was a “fish.”

At last, the last had been waiting for a call: the professor called upon the class to feed some steps up at the head of the line. The confirmed cowgirl just shrugged.

“I have a horse,” the experienced cowboy with the scar on his face. You also raised your hand to lend your horse and time. Curiously: the strange man on the hard-core cowboys...

Tomorrow was to be the day of reckoning.

The next morning, you rode up to the best golf course in your home county, spent a half-hour playing a round, and then got back on your horse. You promised, “I’ll still might be the real deal. You spurred your company on to meet her.

Divorce means visits on Sunday

It is Sunday and today, all day, it is his habit, he drives the radio, so familiar, first to the fresh air, then to the fresh air, and after that to the fresh air. He sits down and waits for the confirmed cowgirl just shrugged.

Many times he sits reading letters from the old house. His old house. This one is waiting.

On the quiet drive over, windows rolled up, radio playing softly in the background, he is seen glancing at the house. Thoughts of all the Sundays in the past four years. How much they longed. How much they longed. Sundays before were business as usual. Now it’s just a memory. Adventures on thirty-miles and kick fights.

Letter policy

MUSTANG Daily: tomorrow, waiting patiently on the porch for his father’s car to pull into the driveway.

Sometimes he site reading a Times toy, a fire engine or cement mixer that his father had brought the Sunday before. And I had... he says.

Author Gary Kaplan writes a weekly column for Mustang Daily

when he sees the blue car his father drives, he comes running, toy in yard, and they meet and hug for a moment. An important moment.

David (his mother prefers Davy) looks forward to his coming. He is always either a little boy or, with his 12-year-old seat belt, he is always either a little boy or, with his 12-year-old seat belt, he is always either a little boy or, with his 12-year-old seat belt, he is always either a little boy or, with his 12-year-old seat belt, he is always either a little boy or, with his 12-year-old seat belt.

But he knows he has an little time must not waste a moment. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there. He is there.

Two hundred city journalism students from Santa Monica and Ventura are expected to gather at the Cal Poly Press Association for the 10th annual spring convention this Saturday. Thirty-one professionals will select city editors and editors-in-chief for the next year.

The deadline for the convention is March 10. For more information, call 897-7133. The convention will be held at the Elks Club, 2222 Cameron Ave., San Pedro.

FINANCIAL AID QUIZ

BY ANON

- EASY QUESTIONS
  - EASIER ANSWERS
  - A “NO-CREDIT COURSE” — WE DEAL ONLY IN CASH $0

1. CAN YOU READ THIS?
   - Then you shouldn’t have any trouble filling out an application for a scholarship, financial aid, a Basic Grant for the 1978-79 school year.

2. IS THIS YOUR PROBLEM?
   - If your time is worth money, and you will need money to continue in school next year, it may be worth your time to fill out an application for a scholarship, financial aid, a Basic Grant. For more information, call 897-7133.

3. DO YOU HAVE TROUBLE WITH FORMS?
   - We don’t guarantee — “no problems,” — but we will have workshops on all our forms on March 3, March 30, and March 39. Let us ease your burden.

4. DO THE TYPES AND KINDS OF FINANCIAL AID CONFUSE YOU?
   - You are not alone in your confusion. On March 10, we will have a workshop on “Money for College” Come, let us reason together.

5. DO YOU HAVE TROUBLE MEETING DEADLINES?
   - We have established one and only one deadline for scholarship and financial aid applications — APRIL 1, 1978. (That’s a Saturday, so April 3, 1978 is acceptable — we have trouble with deadlines, too.)

END OF QUIZ

Regardless of how you answered the questions, you will all pass the quiz if you take advantage of what we have available in the way of scholarships, financial aid, and related materials. See us for assistance.

Formulas for peace has snags
JERUSALEM (AP)—American efforts to mediate a Middle East peace settlement are running into snags because of a toughened Egyptian stand, Israeli officials said Thursday.

A pessimistic view of chances for an Israeli-Egyptian agreement leaked out of a closed briefing given Wednesday by Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan to Parliament's Foreign Affairs and Security Committee.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt appears to be retreating from his acceptance of a U.S. formula to break the negotiating deadlock, the officials said, and they confirmed that Dayan saw an erosion in Egypt's position.

Egypt consistently has been more cautious in his public statements than President Carter. It began, who signs off on ultimate success.

Begin will have more say on the issue. Officials said President Carter asked Dayan to return with Begin and Defense Minister Yaakov Arnon to be told on the telephone to find a way to break the impasse.

Carter stays out of coal strike
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter has decided not to intervene at this point to end the 80-day-old coal strike, congressional leaders said today.

After Republicans and Democratic leaders met with Carter at the White House to review the strike, they said the president is continuing to review several possibilities, but that he intends to hold off further before intervening to impinge a settlement.

Rep. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and Carter apparently will decide what action to take after the weekend. "I think he wants to keep his options open," Baker said.

The American Republican leader also said that it could be as late as April 5 before Congress would be able to act on any presidential action. Any legislation would be needed if Carter were to have the coal operators take over the mines or require binding arbitration.

The rookies: McCracken and Wragge

By MIKE PAYNE
Daily Sports Writer

It's tough making the jump from standing in the sidelines and being a spectator to being a participant in the transition to a varsity player.

The only first-year man on the Poly basketball squad this season, sophomore guard from Newport, Ca., Bob Wragge, a 5'9" player, was not-expected to play much last season. But he has risen to the occasion and is now a regular part of the Poly lineups.

"It's a new experience,
"said Wragge. "Learning to play the game at Poly was a shock, but it helped me get under way.

"And starting all over again is pretty hard," added McCracken. "It gets tough to play on the same team in school and have to learn a new team." "It's like beginning school all over again," said McCracken.

A former prep standout
from Newport High School,
"Crack," as he is called by his Poly teammates, is the first court player to join the Poly squad in a span of seven years.
Twice an All-GIF choice, McCracken was voted the Los Angeles League's most valuable player as a senior.

He was also selected MVP
in the CIF State Tournament at Cal Poly and was chosen to the All-State All-Tourney team.

"Rapnow," a two-year school at Earlham High School, averaged 16 points a game.
Twice he scored more than 20 points for the Earlham senior team. Last season, he was the top scorer in the Los Angeles league and member of the All-League Team.

As far breaking into the lineup at Cal Poly this season, the two fit right in:
"The seniors are great," both players agreed. "They show us around, help us out a bit, give us the advice we need and show us the 'inside

And the feeling is mutual.

rookies. "They're the type at Cal Poly. They have been well under pressure.

"It's a tough transition. I'm not sure if we're ready to play in the game yet, but we're working hard to prepare ourselves.
