He's been working on the railroad

By Donna Gehr

Don’t be misled into the Daily's portrayal of Thomas Hunt, a 41-year-old retired railroad worker. He said that work about that monotonous job. He didn’t like it. He didn’t enjoy it. He didn’t want to do it. He didn’t need to do it.

The railroad is something that’s in your blood, said Hunt. "The father, the grandfather, the great-grandfather. It’s in your blood." He explained that he was born into, raised on, and would die working on the railroad. He said that’s how it was. He was taught it was that way.

"I was taught to work on the railroad. I was taught to work hard and make good money. That’s why I did that work about that time. A good many of us remained throughout our working career, he said. Hunt said he’s anything but a railroad buff.

"When I got off duty, I left. We left the track and the equipment in the railroad yard. We went to San Luis Obispo. Then we got to Santa Barbara. Then we got to Santa Barbara. It seemed like you worked all the way. Hunt said.

"The trips we enjoyed were trips when we just rode along in the beautiful scenery. Our trips had a way of being memory at night. We rode along in a train, went to San Luis Obispo. Then we got to Santa Barbara. It seemed like you worked all the way. He said.

"I was taught that work is about that time. A good many of us remained throughout our working career, he said. Hunt said he’s anything but a railroad buff.

"When I got off duty, I left. We left the track and the equipment in the railroad yard. We went to San Luis Obispo. Then we got to Santa Barbara. Then we got to Santa Barbara. It seemed like you worked all the way. Hunt said.

"I was taught to work on the railroad. I was taught to work hard and make good money. That’s why I did that work about that time. A good many of us remained throughout our working career, he said. Hunt said he’s anything but a railroad buff.

"When I got off duty, I left. We left the track and the equipment in the railroad yard. We went to San Luis Obispo. Then we got to Santa Barbara. Then we got to Santa Barbara. It seemed like you worked all the way. Hunt said.

"I was taught that work is about that time. A good many of us remained throughout our working career, he said. Hunt said he’s anything but a railroad buff.

"When I got off duty, I left. We left the track and the equipment in the railroad yard. We went to San Luis Obispo. Then we got to Santa Barbara. Then we got to Santa Barbara. It seemed like you worked all the way. Hunt said.
Editorial/Opinion

Courtesy is queried

What ever happened to the food days to make the meal vs. when it was around nature for a man to eat as much as an "animal" might? People do not always think of the manners of others.

Author Ans Fritz is a senior journalism major.

Proposition would have costly effect

Who will really benefit if the Jarvis-Goldwater Proposition is passed, which calls for all property taxes to be limited to 1% of the market value of property sold in June? The Jarvis-Goldwater Proposition, approved by 59 percent of the total voters in June, would limit property taxes to 1% of the market value of property sold. The limitation would affect all property holders and would cut their property taxes. The Jarvis-Goldwater Proposition would not affect property holders only.

Author Sandy Hax is a senior journalism major.

Symptoms indicate 'Senioritis'

Spring quarter is the beginning of the end for many graduating seniors. Or so the old joke goes, "Tell a senior when it's hot and you'll find out how cold he is." The Jarvis-Goldwater Proposition is a good example of this. All your good buddies are going to have to work hard for everything you get.

No more-gray steps from Mom and Dad. No more grade-point averages of concern at the Graduate or Terhune Field. No more spending time in classrooms. And no more bands, libraries, or debate clubs, unless you want to keep them going. It is a time of excitement, suspension of all the rules.

Author Julie Austin is a senior journalism major.

Senior projects a pain in the neck

The end is almost in sight. After four years of college, my relatives and friends say, "Don't worry, it'll all be over soon." The end of college is always anticipated, but times even though I am working hard for my degree, I still have trouble getting over it. My senior project is due next week, and I am working on it. It is a project that has been a source of frustration for me.

My senior project is due next week, and I am working on it. It is a project that has been a source of frustration for me.

Author Janet Frya is a senior journalism major.
Sale of wine fine, but Poly stays dry

By SCOTT CROFERT

The CSUC Student Senate last week voted 10-1 to strike down a resolution which called for the sale of both wine and beer on campus. The resolution was proposed by the campus's student senate, which was working in conjunction with the university administration. The resolution was designed to increase revenue for the university and to improve the image of the university. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 10-1, with the lone dissenter being the resolution's sponsor. The defeat of the resolution was seen as a victory for the university administration, which had opposed the resolution on the grounds that it would undermine the university's image.
KCPR gets new program, new style

By STEVE THOMIN

KCSR gets new program and a new 501 design. Bob Deeragon was appointed the new program coordinator, replacing former director Jim Hutton. Deeragon is currently the program director at KCMR-FM, takes over for the new station manager, Randy Lavoro and feels the station has been making a positive move in the right direction.

"Besides playing the current hits, we're going to add several playbacks to the line-up. We've also seen strong songs in our library," he said. One of the criticisms KCPR has received is the lack of airplay for the station's own special programs. Deeragon believes this is in part due to the station's musical variety. "As far as I'm concerned, there's no difference between AM and FM in music selection, it's what the individual determines," he said.

Deeragon said that the morning and afternoon shows would remain the same, but most of the weekend shows would be replaced with professional DJs. "The format will be more mellow, more adult," he said. "We'll play a lot of records, but not too many."

The new p.m. said he received positive reaction to the idea of a banquet, the KCSR staff. "The staff wanted a celebration to mark the station's 10th anniversary."

Polk students can look forward to seeing the college's new program in the spring. Deeragon is also considering a number of potential programs, including a talk show and a music program. The new program director is expected to start within the next few weeks.

Weekend events occurring around the county

Special events

Greenpeace Foundation-Two events will be presented from the Greenpeace Foundation. The first event will be a screening of the film "Nuclear Waste: The Next 5000 Years" on Saturday, April 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Stroum Jewish Community Center. The second event will be a lecture by Dr. John Phillips on "The Future of Nuclear Energy" on Saturday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the University of Washington's Henry Kravis Center for the Performing Arts.

For more information, call 221-1341.

Look for the Spring Nature and Gardening Sale on April 3 at El Corral Bookstore

The sale will be held at El Corral Bookstore from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on April 3. Entrance is $3.95, which includes soup or salad and a special treat.

The Cigar Factory

San Luis Obispo

Dinner: 5:30-10:00 Specials: $3.95

Monday: Teriyaki Chicken or crab meat Piano a la Plancha Wednesday: Beef Kabobs Thursday Night: 15-16 oz. Rib Eye $5.95 Includes soup or salad

Entertainment nightly from 9 PM

724 Higuera

ENTERTAINMENT

BOB DEARAGON, new program director at KCSR-FM, takes inventory of the station's record library. (Daily photo by Curt Gallant.)
Farm bureau endorses tax bill

ALAMOGRAM (AP) — The California Farm Bureau, in a move that will add a new dimension to the state's tax picture, will endorse a $900-pounder that has been waiting in the wings for some time to show up — the sales tax. The Farm Bureau will endorse a tax bill on the June ballot that will increase the state's sales tax by 1 percent.

The Farm Bureau has been criticized for its past support of Proposition 13 on the June ballot. It has been accused of being overly focused on property taxes and not enough on income taxes. The endorsement of the sales tax bill is seen as a move to balance the state's tax burden.

California's agriculture industry has been hard hit by the state's budget crisis, and the endorsement of the sales tax bill is seen as a move to provide some relief for the industry.

Registration proposal may help raise FTE

JERUSALEM (AP) — Despite political differences, the Israeli government has agreed to endorse a registration proposal that would increase the number of foreign students in Israel. The proposal, which has been approved by the Israeli parliament, is seen as a way to boost the country's economy and improve its educational system.

The registration proposal would allow foreign students to enter the country and study at Israeli universities. It would also provide them with the opportunity to work while studying, which would help to reduce their financial burden and make it easier for them to complete their studies.

The proposal has been welcomed by many in the educational sector, who see it as a way to improve the quality of education in Israel and attract more foreign students.

Israelis contact Egyptians

 Registration proposal for Israeli government'S Birthplace Foundation may make it easier for Egyptians to visit Israel.

Israel's narrowing property tax bracket, which was announced in the country's budget, is expected to make it easier for Egyptians to visit Israel. The tax bracket is currently set at 5 percent, which is lower than the rates in many other countries.

The narrowing of the tax bracket is seen as a move to attract more tourists to Israel, especially from Egypt, which is a major source of tourists for the country.

Cartier: Brazil and US friends

There is an ongoing dispute between Brazil and the United States over the rights toCertain waters in the Amazon region. The dispute has been ongoing for several years and has caused tension between the two countries.

The dispute is centered around the rights to Certain waters in the Amazon region, which are believed to be valuable for hydroelectric power generation. Brazil claims that it has the right to develop the waters, while the United States argues that it has the right to share in the development.

The dispute has been ongoing for several years and has caused tension between the two countries, but recent developments have shown a willingness to work towards a resolution.
Retires after 32 years

Bob Mott reflects on his Cal Poly career

By JAMES KENNETT

Dr. Robert Mott’s 32 year career as instructor-administrator in Cal Poly's Department of Physical Education has made a considerable impact on students and faculty alike.

On the day after his retirement, Bob Mott, a Cal Poly faculty member for nearly a decade, reflects on his career and shares some personal memories.

"It's been a great ride," Mott said, "and I'm proud of what I've accomplished here." Mott, who has taught at Cal Poly for 32 years, has mentored countless students and influenced the lives of many.

His contributions to the department have been significant, and he has held various leadership positions, including chair of the department and director of the Physical Education Program.

"I've had the opportunity to work with some incredible colleagues and students," Mott said. "It's been a privilege to be a part of this institution, and I'm looking forward to what the future holds."
First home meet for Poly track teams

The Poly track teams will compete at the Northridge Relays on Saturday, March 11th. The meet will feature Poly's track team, along with teams from other universities. The meet will be held at the Northridge High School track. Poly's team is expected to perform well, as they have been practicing hard for the upcoming season. The meet will feature a variety of events, including sprints, hurdles, and field events. The meet will be a great opportunity for Poly's track team to showcase their talent and compete against other teams. For more information, contact Mr. Miller at 323-252-2222.
Rose float designs wanted

Anyone with a quirky idea for a float is encouraged to participate in the Rose Float Design Contest as a way to express their creativity. The contest is open to all participants, and entrants are asked to submit their designs by April 3rd and 4th, with the winners announced on April 5th.

Instructor and faculty advisor for the float committee are:

A crew sketch was designed by an instructor on a folder with a clear idea as to the design. The design committee consists of faculty members who are interested in arts and culture.

Among the entries that were submitted, the one for the float will be chosen. The float is a piece of art that is meant to be seen from the streets and transportation systems.

Although most of the designs are created by students, there may be some collaboration from outside sources as well. According to Dahl, the maximum dimensions for a float are 16' high, 12' wide, and 8' long. Artworks, while consistent with the designer's name and creative vision, are subject to the maximum dimensions established.

Entries, with the designer's name and address, will be turned in to the Activities Planning Center, University Union room 117. The front of the design must be covered.

NEWSCOPE

Architecture classes

The Ornamented Christmas will be presented in a concert on April 2nd, with the event sponsored by the university. The performance will be held at 7 p.m. in the Arts Center room 393.

Festival of magic

All Special Events is presenting Magic Featuring Fire and Flames at the Student Union on April 3rd at 7 p.m. The show is free to students, and Auditorium Con is $2.25 for general admission.

Recital cancelled

The Fresno State Quartet recital for Saturday, April 1st in the Cal Poly Theatre has been cancelled due to the Queens of the Earth exhibit. The Quartet Arts Committee, which was planning the event, decided to bring the quartet to the West Coast this year, providing a larger venue for the performance.

Folk dancing

The International Folk Dance Committee is hosting a workshop on folk dancing at the Twitchell Auditorium on April 4th at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Workshops will be held at the University Union rooms 117, 119, and 121.

Conference

M.B. O.A. is sponsoring a conference on April 5th at 8 a.m. The conference will focus on making, manipulating, and creating a variety of art forms.

Crowd openings

Council openings: There are three openings available on the Board of Student Services and Councils. One opening is for the Student Senate, and the other two are for Finance. Applications are due on April 1st. Students interested in applying should contact the council chairperson, President's Office, at ext. 225.

Financial aid

The deadline for filing an application for financial aid for the academic year 1977-78 is April 1st. Applications must be on file in the Financial Aid Office by April 1st. Students interested in filing for financial aid should contact the Office of Financial Aid.

2 DAYS ONLY April 3 & 4

the ring sale

$59.95

save up to $24.00

Men's traditional Siladium® rings and selected women's fashion rings are an unusual buy at $59.95. Today is your last chance to get really outstanding savings in this sale.

 infographic

The ARTCARVED REPRESENTATIVE has a large collection of rings. Ask to see them.

 infographic

EL CORRAL BOOKSTORE