Learning from PALS

Before I could express my growing admiration for the many materials needed to survive on this campus, as a student, I realized that I was more interested in the content of the materials themselves than in the materials themselves. A couple of years ago when I had a quarter that turned out to be one of the mailers, they were more than happy to have me. In the past, I felt that my experiences were extremely valuable.

As a member of the Student Body in the Student Senate, I was particularly pleased to see that the PALS program had received the support of the Student Senate itself. I believe that this is an excellent example of the importance of student involvement in academic affairs.

I have found the right to carry a weapon to be a necessity in many situations, especially because I can claim that it has saved my life many times. Not only has it helped me in emergencies, but it has also served as a deterrent to would-be attackers.

I have been a member of the Student Senate, and I believe that it is important for students to have a voice in the decision-making process. I believe that the Senate has a responsibility to ensure that all students are represented.

Hitching rides boosts knowledge

Hitchhiking is a common practice in many campus dormitories and can be a great way to learn about different aspects of campus life. It can also be a way to meet new people and explore different parts of campus.

Regardless of your field of study, hitchhiking can be a valuable experience. It allows you to see different parts of campus, meet new people, and learn about different aspects of campus life. It can also be a way to save money on transportation, which is especially important for students who are on a tight budget.

The ins and out of proper dental care

By LAURA CHRISTIAN

Proper dental care is an essential part of overall health and well-being. Yet, many people neglect their teeth, leading to a variety of dental issues. Dental problems can cause discomfort, pain, and even affect a person's confidence and social interactions. The importance of dental care cannot be overstated.

One common dental issue is tooth decay, which can lead to cavities and gum disease if left untreated. Tooth decay occurs when harmful bacteria in the mouth break down sugars and other food particles, forming acids that erode the tooth enamel. By brushing and flossing regularly, and visiting the dentist for cleanings and check-ups, the chances of developing tooth decay can be significantly reduced.

In addition to tooth decay, gum disease is another significant dental issue. Gum disease, also known as periodontal disease, occurs when the gums become inflamed due to the buildup of plaque and tartar. Over time, the gums can become detached from the teeth, leading to tooth loss. To prevent gum disease, it is important to maintain good oral hygiene, including brushing and flossing daily, and visiting the dentist regularly.

While proper dental care is essential, not everyone has access to affordable dental care. Dental clinics and programs offer services to those who cannot afford traditional dental care. These programs often provide basic care such as cleanings, fillings, and extractions. By utilizing these resources, individuals can receive the care they need to maintain good oral health.

In conclusion, proper dental care is crucial for overall health and well-being. By taking steps to maintain good oral hygiene and utilizing available resources, individuals can prevent dental issues and enjoy better oral health.

About school increase

RUTHERFORD, N.J. - When first-grader Jeff Dolson moved from Indiana to this residential town last year, he thought he was coming to a "city, not a town." Now, after he gained access to the school that he had enjoyed in his previous school, he's more certain.

"You don't know what to do about it. You could just be out of the Frequent Temporary Traffic. You don't know about the school that is there. You can't live in a school. It's just a school."

"I don't need to know anything!"

Ozzie's first major league weekend

By JANET KRISTEYMEN

Daily Sports Editor

It was a weekend of firsts for Ozzie Smith — in his first major league game on Friday, the graduated from Cal Poly last year, had his first put out against the San Francisco Giants at Candlestick Park.

The rookie shortstop for the San Diego Padres also drew his first walk.

On Saturday, Ozzie went three for three as the Padres were shut out 6-0. His first hit came in the third inning when he singled to left field. The first base bag, Ozzie had failed to touch in his previous at bat, was one of those rare shots to a level, legendarily.

Tears welled up in Osce's eyes as he read that he was voted the best shortstop in the National League by the Baseball Writers. It's been a long time since those days.

"I don't think it's a question of me getting a hit because I'll be able to hit it. I think the question is whether I can get a base hit. You can look over my past record and

I don't have a high strike out ratio.

I certainly doubt my getting hits," he said.

When Ozzie started playing with the Padres in Arizona last February Alvin Dark was the manager.

Some time during Spring Training, however, Dark has been fired and Roger Craig has become the San Francisco manager.

Although the Padres' effort to win the Western Division proved repeatedly to be an illusion, a few things did go their way.

"Everything doesn't work out," Craig said. "We've been consistent in playing hard and trying.

We're just trying to do our

Coach Lee Miller's team scored in the 1500 meters, 880, 800, 440, and three relays to solidify their victory. Poly won in times of 4:24.8, 1:53.8, 1:49.8, 54.4, and 44.8, as well as 5:43.8, 4:49.8, 1:46.7, 59.9 (for Joe Stahl, second from right, on the finishing line at Irvine's Russell Royce in the 300 meter dash), Cal Poly set a new school record of 10.3.

At the meet, Linda Whitten's women's team proved in a strong performance. Her team scored 4:49.8, 1:46.7, 59.9 (for Joe Stahl, second from right, on the finishing line at Irvine's Russell Royce in the 300 meter dash), Cal Poly set a new school record of 10.3.

The key to the women's success was the first running event of the relay, as Kipa Upan ran the anchor leg for Poly and made up a great deal of ground to record his victory. Both teams were record holders but the Mustangs were the winners. Barbara Harris was more than the distance and An- otherwho could handle. In addition to running legs on Poly victories over and over again, she won both the 800 (2:01.2 and 200, (20.8) meter dash.

Maggie Ryan was a winner in both the 3000 meter run, (9:21.8) and the 5000 meter run, (16:11.3).
