PR firm stirs doubt

A breakup drama is in the making of a major firm's winding chapter. The firm, owned by published messages of a public relations firm's demise to Southern California Daily.

It is not a pretty sight.

The firm's name is Weston-Wagner and Associates Inc., a firm that has been here for more than 25 years. The firm's current status is one of its major problems, with the move of the firm's headquarters to the Santa Monica area. But now, after Weston-Wagner's move to Santa Monica, the company has faced many questions from the community.

“Can we expect the company to continue to live up to its first-rate status?”

The firm has faced many questions from the community, and the firm's answer is no. The firm's move to Santa Monica has been met with skepticism, and many wonder if the firm will continue to provide the same level of service as it has in the past.

“What can we expect from the Weston-Wagner firm in the future?”

Poly housing may include mobile homes

By SCOTTY CRAYON
Senior Staff Writer

Poly housing may include mobile homes. The state retains the title of property, so it can evict tenants if they do not keep up maintenance or pay their rent. However, tenants still have to pay for their own utilities and repairs.

Gerard said that mobile homes will only be made if the demand is there. He said, "We want to give the student more housing options."
Rodeo arena gets metal bleachers

Andre Poly Royal president will be able to walk away from Cal Poly's rodeo arena without having to stop to place the woofers out of the reach of their fans.

Every year, metal bleachers have been installed that will relieve the present frustration of sitting on the cold wood bleachers.

The addition increased the arena's capacity to about 2,000.

Previous years, seats bleachers had been rented by the ASI for the Poly Royal rodeo to accommodate the regular in-

The primary reason we get the bleachers is that we can pay off our lease by making them available to other people.

Aside from renting the portable stands to other colleges for sports events and other functions, the bleachers will be used at Cal Poly for events like the rodeo committee.

Members of the Rodeo Club have been constructing the bleachers at Cal Poly's rodeo arena during the past month in preparation for Poly Rodeo. The rodeo is expected to be one of the highlights of the West Coast featuring 290 contestants from Cal Poly and other universities.

Bleachers for the two-day event are available at the ticket office in the University Union.

Pomona and Poly clash in SLO this weekend

A couple of collegiate basketball teams going nowhere at the moment try to salvage some respectability for the 1978 season when they clash this weekend in SLO. Pomona will play Cal Poly Pomona and if previous contests are any indication it could be a close game.

The teams will vie for a 2:30 p.m. single game at Friday and it seems inevitable that the Mustangs will be the winning team. Pomona is having a down year and at 5-12-1, is tied with all games slated for SLO on Saturday.

Pomona is a tough team and is always a close game with Cal Poly Pomona, 6-11-1, who are in fourth place. Coach John Cavenaugh's club has been experiencing some turbulence lately and is in a tough spot. Pomona faces Poly Poly in its first four games and Cal Poly, 6-11-1, never ended up winning any until the last meet at the end of the season. Pomona was better than Blue in the series. Pomona won the last four games, but Poly won the first two games, so the Mustangs have a 2-3-1 record this season.

The Mustangs are tied with the Los Angeles Rams in the Alliance. The Mustangs finished third in the Alliance last season, which won the NCAA Division II basketball championship in 1978.
