Conflict of interest? It all depends on who you talk to

BY MELISSA HILTON
Daily Staff Writer

When one person is vice chairman of the ASI Finance Committee, chairman of his school's student council, and treasurer of the ASI films committee, does he have a conflict of interest?

Roger Mann, a biochemistry senator, holds all three positions. The Finance Committee proposes the budgets for all ASI coded groups, including the school councils and the Films Committee.

After John Griffin, senator from the School of Engineering and Technology, decided to question it, the student senate wound up putting a new conflict of interest policy in student senate and Finance Committee bylaws.

Under the new bylaws approved March 5, Senators and Finance Committee members must report each quarter whether they are officers in any ASI coded groups.

Until now, student senators were informally advised to avoid conflicts of interest. The Finance Committee rule since June 1979 has been "No member of the finance committee shall be an officer in an ASI-funded group without the approval of two-thirds of this body.

Wednesday night, I wound up writing that clause," said senator Anne Perry, School of Business, at last week's senate meeting. "If you take conflict of interest, then we all better leave."

See Conflict, back page

Baker leans against beer sales

Open forum draws reaction on other campus issues, also

BY TOM JOHNSON
Daily Staff Writer

Proponents of the drive to allow alcohol to be sold during Poly Royal were dealt a major blow Thursday when President Warren Baker announced in an at the ASI Senate-sponsored Open Forum that he is presently siding against that measure.

The hotly contested alcohol issue was just one of numerous questions fielded by Dean of Students Russ Brown, Associate Executive Vice President Howard West, Vice President of Academic Affairs Hazel Jones and President Baker during the hour long Open Forum discussion held Thursday in the University Plaza during activity hour.

The Open Forum allowed Cal Poly students to voice their concerns and receive administrative feedback on diverse issues such as the proposed relocation of the child development department and Xanadu preschool lab, the possible effects of Jarvis II upon the sports program and Rose Float Committee and allowing more student input on the landscaping of the campus.

Though numerous questions were raised and discussed, probably the most controversial and immediate issue addressed was the question of whether alcohol should be allowed to be sold at Poly Royal. Baker explained that the final decision has not been reached though he currently supports banning the sale of liquor during Poly Royal.

"I presently have a series of proposals on my desk supporting the use of alcohol at Poly Royal. Have I met with (ASI President) Rose Krae on this subject but no final decision has been made. Presently I am leaning toward not having alcohol on campus at Poly students to voice their concern.

Baker based his current stance on the many legal and ethical questions which may be raised should the sale of liquor at Poly Royal be approved.

"I can see a few problems arising if this is passed. Although I don't have all the legal information, there may be a problem of legal liability should we allow students to serve beer at Poly Royal. This swelling liquor at Poly Royal is an issue that is of great concern with many students. Although I have received many petitions asking for alcohol to be served, many other students have come in to talk with me and requested that it be not sold. I have to be sensitive to the students' wishes and the environment of the school.

Baker said he wasn't sure if it would be wise to make a sudden policy change at an event of the stature of Poly Royal. Baker worried, some people might misconstrue the action as signaling the elimination of all alcohol rules on campus.

A decision on the alcohol issue is expected to be reached by the end of next week, the president said.

Three students queried the four forum participants on the possible effects of Jarvis II upon the athletic department and the school in general.

West, the associate executive vice president, admitted that Jarvis II could have a profound effect on the athletic program but he is at present uncertain what the effect will be.

"I have heard from some people that some if not all state funding for athletics should be promised to look at the new and lost revenue can't be offset by tuition, then it will have tremendous effect on the athletic department," said West.

If Jarvis II passes then all programs which receive state funds or are not related directly to education may come under fire. He said the school is trying to bolster financial support for the athletic program by drawing more money from private individuals. If not enough money is available to offset the loss of state funds, a few sport teams may be dropped so as to not hurt the entire department.

Dean of Students Brown reflected on his opinions of priority registration.

Brown spoke out against priority registrations and did not think it was fair to the students as a whole.

"The priority registration issue is a hot one. The key factor is the impact it has on the total student population. It seems to me we should minimize it because it works to the disadvantage of students in general. I think that every student should get an equal shot at the classes they want," said Brown.

In other issues:

- Baker explained to a contingent of child development majors the possible need of moving the Xanadu preschool lab and entire child development department from its present site behind the Health Center to the cottages on Campus Way. He said a place is needed to entertain alumni and other possible contributors and the present CD site would be ideal because it has kitchen facilities and is not too remote from campus. He promised to look at the needs of the child development department before making a decision.

- All four speakers supported the idea of having a voting student representative on the Foundation Board.

See Forum, back page

Students pass revenue bill

BY MELISSA HILTON
Daily Staff Writer

Each vote in the student election this spring will be able to choose which ASI group gets $1 out of the voter's yearly $20 fee. Baker and the only council that would have veto power over student senate actions, and voted unanimously to recommend adding a voting student member to the Cal Poly Foundation.

By a vote of 18-7, senators approved revenue sharing for a one-year trial period.

At the polls this May, each student will be given a list of all coded and bylawed groups recognized by the ASI—almoost 300 organizations ranging from the Society of Wizards and Warriors to the Concerts Committee.

Each voter may check off one option of each group. Each group will receive $1 out of the voter's yearly $20 fee.

Students cannot vote to have money allocated by student council removed. It is also intended to increase voter turnout at student elections. It is also intended to increase voter turnout at student elections.
Cheating: Short term asset...

Cheating in school is a phenomenon which has been occurring every day since education began. It is not noble or enlightening, but it appears to be useful for taking the scholastic burden off of one's shoulders.

Hopefully, at this stage in our education, we have realized that cheating is self-defeating. The real loser is the student who cheats because he or she is given credit for knowing something which was actually never learned.

For cheating, on this or any other campus, continues to survive. One of the lowest examples of cheating occurs when a student gets ahead of all the required work needed for a particular class. From this point on, the student has no fear of deadlines because the required work can be copied and handed in when assignments fall due. If a student does not reflect the prospect of working long hours to complete an assignment be or she can relax and opt for the easy way out. This is an avenue which will gladden the heart of even the laziest student.

In any discipline there exists a group of students, such as those long since graduated, who have achieved everlasting fame for the excellence and availability of their completed school assignments. They have become almost legendary figures revered by all who shamelessly duplicate their painstaking work. These thoughtful providers do not have the educational interests of all students in mind and, while helping them to achieve grades which would otherwise be beyond them, they are actually doing a disservice.

Author Guillermo Brock is a junior journalism major and Mustang Daily staff writer.

Letters

KCPR news

Editors:

To the news staff at KCPR:

Recently, during your regular newscast, I thought I heard a small news filler coming from Los Angeles. It involved a Rabbi Shlomo Cunin and a number of his students who were arrested in the Hollywood area when their loud chanting was disturbing the peace. That's fine. And that's new. But really, why did you choose to read that news item over the air? And why wasn't it at all complete?

Certain that I hadn't heard right, I called the station. You were able to repeat the story to me over the phone, and it didn't help. What I don't understand is, why a story about such a petty type of arrest, many of which occur daily right here in our area? But most of all, the connection it had with Jews was uncomfortable and unnecessary. You told me you had picked it out from a list of stories which were to be broadcast. I question the importance of the story because it was just another story of a few people who are opposed to conscription.

Eve Nicholson's scathing attack on Jews was a distasteful one. It seems that my friend is not interested in knowing the full story to a story which, however, concerns her. I feel that myself and other Jewish students were not represented by her story.

Paul Dumas, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, was referred to in a Wednesday news filler coming from Los Angeles. It concerned about alcohol problems and the pervasive May Day syndrome. Paul Dumas, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, was referred to in a Wednesday news filler coming from Los Angeles. It

Stephen E. Jensen Coalition Against the Draft

Correction

Paul Dumas, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, was referred to in a Wednesday story. Minor, partisan issues, as it was, the only individual who had a complaint against the police regulation of parties.

Instead of complaining of police and their regulations, Dumas said he was concerned about alcohol problems and the pervasiveness of the May Day syndrome. In a speech to students last week, he said that they did not want to get into accidents. He said the police should crack down on alcohol problems, but it is not right to pick on fraternity

Daily policy

The policy of Mustang Daily regarding letters and submitted material such as letters and press releases outside of the newspaper staff is as follows:

Letters should be submitted to the Mustang Daily office in Graphic Arts building 226, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays or by mail to Editor, Mustang Daily, GeC 226, Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407. Letters must include the writer's signature and social security number. Editors reserve the right to edit letters for length, style, and libel. Letters should be kept as brief as possible.

By Dave Curtis

Communication between husband and wife is no longer privileged in court. This is the opinion delivered by the U.S. Supreme Court on Feb. 27 in Trammel vs. U.S. The decision overturned a 1958 Supreme Court ruling that a spouse could keep his/her mate from testifying.

What this has done is to provide more opportunity for spouses to testify against each other. In a society that has always considered marriage and family as one of the central units of life, this decision strikes the heart of the American family.

This court decision throws new problems on the stability of married life. No longer can a husband and wife share their experiences without fear of eventually being called to testify on some aspect of their life together, considered a basic human right.

What the court has done is modify the privileged marital communications rule to exclude evidence of criminal acts and communications that occur in the presence of third persons. However, the court does not clarify who this third person is. It could easily be a child, relative, or friend.

The ambiguity in this ruling challenges the stability of the family unit and pressures children to turn against parents. The whole stability of the American family is being challenged by this ruling.

The court provided its justification for this decision as follows:

"When one spouse is willing to testify against the other in a criminal proceeding—whatever the motivation—there is probably little in the way of marital harmony for the privilege to preserve."

Two people are willing to testify against each other in a criminal proceeding—whatever the motivation—there is probably little in the way of marital harmony for the privilege to preserve.

It seems like the Supreme Court of our land is passing the buck, basing their decision on the problems of marital discourse and divorce that has occurred in our land. The rate of divorce has risen at an alarming rate during the past decade. Yet this does not mean the Supreme Court, whose purpose is to interpret the law of our land based on the Constitution and its amendments, should be subject to the trends of society.

Author Karen Gravés is a sophomore journalism major and Mustang Daily staff writer.

Instead, the court should look at a case such as Trammel vs. U.S. and concentrate on how a ruling could be made to make clear the constitutional interpretation of this matter. Despite the changing morality of the country, the privileges of marriage should not be taken lightly.

It is hard to know what the next decision the Supreme Court will make in reference to family life. We can only hope the court will emphasize the sanctity of family life over the trends of society so that there will still be some stability left in the concepts of marriage and family.
BY SEANNA BROWDER

The California gray whale lifted its huge body out of the water and gracefully plunged back into the ocean.

"Quick, to the port side. There is a whale breaching," cried someone from the bow of the holding boat. When a whale breaches, it is completely out of the water.

On board the vessel, members of the Cal Poly Biology Club and children from ESC, a child care center in San Luis Obispo, ran to look at the spectacle. They were on one of the daily whale cruises that ran to look at all the spectacular whale breeches, it is said Nash.

"I was speaking, a baby whale stuck its head out of the gray water and nibbled on some kelp. On the ship people crowded against the port side, clicking their cameras and oohing and ahhing.

Seemingly oblivious to the commotion, the calf continued to dive. Then it flicked its tail toward the spectators as if disgusted with the whole affair, and disappeared underneath a swell.

Andy Kirkby from the child care center turned to a guide and bragged, "I saw the tail two times."

I saw the spout lots," replied his pal, Mais Kinney, age 7. "But if I had to pay money to see this, I would want to see real whales."

One excited child ran back to her teacher to share her excitement.

"Hey Maggie, you missed the whale," said the little girl.

Maggie, her teacher, glanced at the little girl, then looked past her to the other children. The other children pretended to be surfing, and rocked their bodies to the ship's motion. Their teacher closed her eyes and put her head over the board. The passengers were lucky to see a whale. The whales migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

The passengers were lucky to see a whale breaching. Usually only one third of the whales are visible when the animal surfaces.

The boat sped up to catch a better view. About 100 feet away from the whale, the captain cut the engines. Jerry Belair, a guide and president of the Cetacean Society, said the significance of a whale breaching is that the whale is alerting its surrounding herd.

"Then he was speaking, a baby whale stuck its head out of the gray water and nibbled on some kelp. On the ship people crowded against the port side, clicking their cameras and oohing and ahhing.

Seemingly oblivious to the commotion, the calf continued to dive. Then it flicked its tail toward the spectators as if disgusted with the whole affair, and disappeared underneath a swell.

Andy Kirkby from the child care center turned to a guide and bragged, "I saw the tail two times."

I saw the spout lots," replied his pal, Mais Kinney, age 7. "But if I had to pay money to see this, I would want to see real whales."

One excited child ran back to her teacher to share her excitement.

"Hey Maggie, you missed the whale," said the little girl.

Maggie, her teacher, glanced at the little girl, then looked past her to the other children. The other children pretended to be surfing, and rocked their bodies to the ship's motion. Their teacher closed her eyes and put her head over the board. The passengers were lucky to see a whale.

The whales migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

The boat sped up to catch a better view. About 100 feet away from the whale, the captain cut the engines. Jerry Belair, a guide and president of the Cetacean Society, said the significance of a whale breaching is that the whale is alerting its surrounding herd.

"Then he was speaking, a baby whale stuck its head out of the gray water and nibbled on some kelp. On the ship people crowded against the port side, clicking their cameras and oohing and ahhing.

Seemingly oblivious to the commotion, the calf continued to dive. Then it flicked its tail toward the spectators as if disgusted with the whole affair, and disappeared underneath a swell.

Andy Kirkby from the child care center turned to a guide and bragged, "I saw the tail two times."

I saw the spout lots," replied his pal, Mais Kinney, age 7. "But if I had to pay money to see this, I would want to see real whales."

One excited child ran back to her teacher to share her excitement.

"Hey Maggie, you missed the whale," said the little girl.

Maggie, her teacher, glanced at the little girl, then looked past her to the other children. The other children pretended to be surfing, and rocked their bodies to the ship's motion. Their teacher closed her eyes and put her head over the board. The passengers were lucky to see a whale.

The whales migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

The boat sped up to catch a better view. About 100 feet away from the whale, the captain cut the engines. Jerry Belair, a guide and president of the Cetacean Society, said the significance of a whale breaching is that the whale is alerting its surrounding herd.

"Then he was speaking, a baby whale stuck its head out of the gray water and nibbled on some kelp. On the ship people crowded against the port side, clicking their cameras and oohing and ahhing.

Seemingly oblivious to the commotion, the calf continued to dive. Then it flicked its tail toward the spectators as if disgusted with the whole affair, and disappeared underneath a swell.

Andy Kirkby from the child care center turned to a guide and bragged, "I saw the tail two times."

I saw the spout lots," replied his pal, Mais Kinney, age 7. "But if I had to pay money to see this, I would want to see real whales."

One excited child ran back to her teacher to share her excitement.

"Hey Maggie, you missed the whale," said the little girl.

Maggie, her teacher, glanced at the little girl, then looked past her to the other children. The other children pretended to be surfing, and rocked their bodies to the ship's motion. Their teacher closed her eyes and put her head over the board. The passengers were lucky to see a whale.

The whales migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.

Gay's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring. Virg's Fish'n operates out of Morro Bay during the whale migration to and from Alaskan waters in fall and spring.
Review

Mustang Daily Entertainment

---

Concert

Kenny Loggins keeps the fire burning in Main Gym

The sell-out crowd on the floor of the Main Gym surged forward; surrounding the foot of the stage. Kenny Loggins appeared onstage to perform his hit song and encore, Celebrate Me Home, and beckoned the crowd to "break the rules a little" and come forward to worship him.

The people on the floor flocked to his feet the way a herd of sheep might flock to a feed lot. Loggins was in complete control of the mesmerized audience. Fifty minutes into the concert he had teased the young co-eds into a frenzy by his high-pitched rendition of the top 40 hit, Whenever I Call You Friend.

Loggins appeared on the stage amid a cloud of dry ice mist and thunderous applause from the weeping audience. He opened powerfully with his hit song This Is It. His voice was sharp and well defined and it moved the audience on the floor into sets of human waves.

As the people near the front rose to show their adulation for Loggins, each row successively behind would stand. As the front rows sat, the rear rows would in turn sit.

Then Loggins slipped into his disco voice and sang Who's Right, Who's Wrong. As he sang he danced around in red satin, skin-tight pants, a black silk shirt and purple scarf. Loggins and Messina sang into his disco voice and Imboden, the drummer who did a five-minute drum solo with the speed of an M-16. Vince Danann, the saxophonist and an old Loggins and Messina handmember, made almost every Loggins tune sound fresh and vibrant with his constant efficiency on his instruments. Each member was allowed some time to display his musical abilities.

Near the end of the concert Loggins sang What A Fool Believes, written by him and the lead singer of the Doobie Brothers. More young co-eds climbed upon the shoulders of their boyfriends and wildly gesticulated their love for Kenny.

Loggins ended his show and left the stage. The roaring, crowded didn't budge. They wanted more for their money.

Loggins obliged by giving two encores. The last one, Celebrate Me Home, was drawn out into a fifteen to twenty minute musical love triangle between Loggins, the audience and Loggins. In the middle of the song Loggins dove onto the piano in an emotional manner, apparently trying to mount the keyboard.

---

A.S.I. RECREATION AND TOURNAMENT COMMITTEE

MINI CLASSES

SPRING QUARTER 1980

Course | Instructor | Time | Place
--- | --- | --- | ---
Beginning Sign Language | Nick Jagger | Tues. Apr. 8 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Beginning Sign Language | Nick Jagger | Tues. Apr. 15 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Beginning & Intermediate Karate | Roy Hynson | Mon. Apr. 8 & Mon. Apr. 15 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Basic Dancing | Deborah Long | Tues. Apr. 8 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Beginning 220 Dance | Monique B. | Tues. Apr. 8 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Aerobic Dance to Heart & Brain | Chery Price | Tues. Apr. 8 & Wed. Apr. 15 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Recreational Ballet | Linda Torrez | Mon. Apr. 15 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Pantomime | Joy Quiner | Thurs. Apr. 15 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
New York Dance Experience | Virginia Quiner | Tues. Apr. 8 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10
Freestyle | Valentino Sabella | Tues. Apr. 8 | 7:15 pm - 8:15 pm | Lower Lower Unit 10

---
Review

Movie

‘American Gigolo’ struggles with confused poor script

BY TOM JOHNSON

Paul Schrader’s American Gigolo is a testimonial to the old movie adage that good acting will not overcome a poor script. American Gigolo is a confused and poorly conceived attempt to try to portray the struggles of a male prostitute, Julian Kaye. But despite its numerous plot inadequacies, the movie manages to work, thanks to outstanding efforts by the two leads, Richard Gere and Lauren Hutton, who have reached the pinnacles of their acting careers in this sorry film.

Gere pulls off an almost flawless performance as Hollywood’s most exasperating gigolo, Julian Kaye. Julian is built up as the perfect male—ruggedly handsome, intelligent enough to speak five languages, suave, and, most importantly, a fantastic lover.

Schrader’s image of the perfect man is a tough bill to fill, but Gere fits the part quite nicely. Julian saunters about the streets and bars of Hollywood in a fluid, almost poetic manner. His personality is equally slick, as Gere slides away from the dominant, macho image he evoked as Dirty-Kenton’s lover in Looking for Mr. Goodbar. Gere captures the essence of the rich housewife who is grasping for something—anything—that will lift her out of her dull, routine existence. That something turns out to be Julian. The union of these two characters provide the movie with what little magic it possesses. The high point of this film came when the two first met. Michelle is sitting with a boyfriend at a bar, hilariously sipping a drink and speaking French. Julian, thinking she is a customer, saunters over to the table and engages her in a conversation in French, casually dropping hints as to his true purpose for talking to her. Soon about the time Julian realizes that Michelle is not a trick, she propositions him and offers a small wad of bills. Julian makes a hasty retreat, saying, “Pardon mes, but I thought you wanted a translator.”

Michelle becomes intrigued with Julian (we are never told why) and seeks him out. Michelle tries to pull him out of the hole and leave Julian in the hole and tries to pull him out by writing in a totally inane and illogical ending. Though the plot was excruciating, the performances of Gere and Hutton made the film worth seeing. I look forward to future films with the combination of these two fine performers—without director Schrader.

Richard Gere discusses with Nini Van Pallandt his upcoming appointments as a male prostitute in Paul Schrader’s “American Gigolo.”

Richard Gere discusses with Nini Van Pallandt his upcoming appointments as a male prostitute in Paul Schrader’s “American Gigolo.”

TORTILLA FLATS

Margarita

In celebration of that quarterly sado-masochistic event - FINAL EXAMS

“Tortilla Flats” seeks to ease the pain.

ONLY

“75¢”

Margaritas

Every Mon thru Wed.

Surf film tonight

Many Classic Moments. Gary Cape’s new surf film makes its San Luis Obispo premiere on March 14 in the Veteran’s Building, 801 Grand Ave., at 7 and 9 p.m.

The film explores the various moods and intricate feelings associated with the sport, evoking a strong sense of camaraderie between surfers and an optimistic view of the times.

Filmed mostly in Malibu and Australia, the movie features the mandatory quota of lunk-in-clad beauties. The movie starts with an animated adventure, Surf Wars, which is loosely patterned in the plot after its name-sake. The nine-minute sequence works as a nice lead in to the live action.

Advance discount tickets are available at Surf ’n’ Wear, which is sponsoring the showings along with Radio KIOZ.

GREEK LETTERS

BAIRD'S CRESTS

IMPRINTED HATS

T-SHIRTS AND SPORTSWEAR

Madonna Road Plaza

545-1325

50% Discount to students on AIRFARE

Finally, an alternative! Golden Carriage Air offers a 50% discount to Cal Poly & Cuesta or any students. Standby seat available basis only.

Information/Reservations

Call (805) 238-0321

Los Angeles • San Francisco
San Luis Obispo • Salinas
Bakersfield • Paso Robles

Golden Carriage Air

WE CHARTER ANYWHERE.
Post shadowed by Blue Moon

BY LOREN SCHNEIDERMAN

Plenty of folks moseyed into The Great American Melodrama Thursday night to hear some down-home music—folk music, that is.

With sawdust scattered on the hardwood floors and the antique fly fans swirling the saloon air, Jim Post, in celebration of Wednesday night at the Melodrama in Oceano. The show follows his rise and racks up points for his ambitious status-seeker named Littlechap. He is an ambitious status-seeker who spends his whole life trying to score in the game—whether it be in wealth, love, money or politics. Littlechap could be called a role model for everyman character to tell a joke. He played his standard routine with the fluidity of water. I thought their best song was an original titled Yogic Boogie, a tune capturing the altered-states of the blues through karmic overtones. He said, "Whatever you call Post—zany, crazy, silly—off-the-wall or funny—he was talent. The folk fans came to see him, but they left with also the memory of a New Blue Moon.

$3 off large supersyle
$2 off large regular
$1 off any medium

Delicious Pizza and Delicious Savings, 2138 Broad Street, 541-3478

Pizza Hut

Not good in combination with any other offer. One coupon per order. Expires April 1

THE CRUSADERS

A TASTE OF JAZZ
APRIL 13, 8:00 PM.

Joe Sample, Walter Minor, with hud, with a special appearance by Russ Freeman

Oldies of all ages, plus some up-to-date hits.

FOOD
Beverages
Drinks

A variety of items, not shown here.

For more information, call 541-3478.
BY JIM HENDRY
Daily Review Editor

As the first mezzo chords of Hotel California echoed through the darkened Oakland Arena, thousands of lit ticket stubs, matches and lighters flickered in the rush of air that accompanied 18,000 people cheering.

The Eagles had just landed in Oakland last Thursday night and were about to show why they are considered the biggest selling rock act of the '70s. The stage was minus the almost perfunctory props and gimmicks most rock acts use today — The Eagles' were just here to play their music. Coming off four sell-out shows at the Inglewood Forum in Los Angeles just one weekend previous, the Eagles this night were slicker than Elvis Costello's hair in performing the material that has more-than-once topped America's pop charts.

With the first half of the show stressing the lighter musical side of the Eagles, drummer/singer Don Henley and guitarist/singer Glen Frey focused attention on such Eagle classics as Lyin'-Eyes, Desperado and Already Gone. Cheating wives and spiteful lovers may not make the best companions on a cold night in Oakland, but they do make for good song lyrics. And the Eagles had most everyone present singing along.

New material from their most recent album, The Long Run, such as the haunting Sad Cafe, the thunderous Those Shoes and the evil-flavored King of Hollywood were expertly mixed with songs written by guitarist/singer Joe Walsh. Walsh's previous hits brought whoops of approval from fans who might have been drawn to the Eagles through Walsh's former groups, the James Gang and Barnstorm.

Walsh also brought percussionist Joe Vitale from Barnstorm as a new addition to the Eagles for this tour. Four fans, two perched on the other's shoulders, paraded around the arena before and during the show with a spray-painted bedsheet proclaiming, 'Joe Walsh for President.' Walsh, an unofficial candidate, has declared that what the country needs now is a good guitar player in the White House.

Some of the best moments of the show came during stirring guitar duels between guitarists Don Felder and Walsh during the rockers Life In the Fast Lane and One Of These Nights. The second half of the show really belonged to Walsh who had most of the audience on its feet with the first chord pattern of Life In the Fast Lane.

CONGRATULATIONS
and
GOOD LUCK DAVE!!

We'll miss you.

Love,
The Cal Poly Acctg. Office
and Mustang Daily Staff

THE MUSHROOM
(in the Creamery)
“the perfect place for a romantic lunch or dinner.”

The Mushroom is a little restaurant in the Creamery with a nice and informal atmosphere.
We serve only fresh food prepared to your order.

• we feature:
  Omelettes • Crepes
  • Continental Cuisine •
  • Vegetarian Specialties •

• lunch — 11 to 2:30 Mon-Fri
Champagne brunch — 9 to 2:30 Sat & Sun
dinner— 5:30 to 9:30 Wed-Sun

570 Higuera 544-9902

“good food, personal service, very reasonable prices”

Sat, March 15:
chumash:
7 & 9:15:
25¢

100 minutes of...

REMEMBER!
March 21 is the last day to redeem coupons!
Gas by the liter deceiving

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It’s like a trip back in time—gasoline selling for 30 cents.

But customers at some 150 Shell stations in Northern California are quickly brought back to the reality of 1980. The metric system is it doesn’t seem to apply.

Larry Ertenberg, a sheet-metal worker from San Francisco, was philosophical about the change. "I don’t see why it matters whether it’s liters or gallons," he said. "You’ve got to pay for it, and you’ve got to get to work." He said he’d be happy if the government would "do something" to help him get around.

Harry Rotenberg, a Sacramento resident, agreed. "I’d just be as soon do this way as we have to. We can’t do much about the half-gallon price pumps, but I guess in the end it really doesn’t matter to me. You just have to keep on paying." He said the metric system is increasing in popularity at gasoline stations in California because they face a July 1 deadline for a halt to half-price sales.

Gasoline tank to expand

The stations report a mixed response to their recent changeover to sale by the liter rather than the gallon. There are 3,715 liters to a gallon.

The first customers to get liter sort of used the measure. "I’ve got to keep track of the matter with you," they said. "It’s supposed to be the U.S.A. and I’m in California. I told him he was in the right country, but my boss told me to do it." Larry Ertenberg, a sheet-metal worker from San Francisco, was philosophical about the change. "It doesn’t seem to apply," he said. "You’ve got to pay for it, and you’ve got to get to work." He said he’d be happy if the government would “do something” to help him get around.

Harry Rotenberg, a Sacramento resident, agreed. “I’d just be as soon do this way as we have to. We can’t do much about the half-gallon price pumps, but I guess in the end it really doesn’t matter to me. You just have to keep on paying.” He said the metric system is increasing in popularity at gasoline stations in California because they face a July 1 deadline for a halt to half-price sales.

Second Annual FROG JUMPING

April 3 at 11:00 a.m. U.S. Plaza Frogs can be rented for $5.00. Prizes. Sponsored by A.S.I. Rec. and Traum.

Newsline

Ford innocent of charges

WINOMAC, Ind. (AP)—A jury from the nation’s heartland Thursday found Ford Motor Co. innocent of reckless homicide charges in the first criminal prosecution of a corporation in a products defects case— a verdict the prosecutor said “indicates the giant automaker’s” defense attorneys said Thursday.

The jury was only part of the day’s events. Judge James Franklin McInnis, who is supposed to be the discount gasoline tank to expand. Ford attorneys said the force of the impact, rather than any alleged defect, caused the gasoline tank to explode.

The verdict came in the four-day-based deliberations, including a marathon session that went into the early morning hours Thursday.

Chief Prosecutor Michael Coenino said after the verdict that there was a “strong possibility” he would appeal the judge’s ruling in the case.

Earl Ulrich of Oceola, Ind., father of two of the three victims in the 1978 crash on U.S. 33 near Graham, Ind., said of the verdict: “I’m very disappointed. But this isn’t the end. I want to do this for the day against Ford Motor Co.”

Senate cracks down on burglars

SACRAMENTO (AP)— The state Senate sent Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. a “rob a home, go to prison” bill Thursday on a lopsided vote, despite warnings that it would force construction of costly new state prisons.

The upper house voted 35-1 to approve Assembly amendments to SB 1236 by Sen. Robert Beverly, R-Manhattan Beach, sending the measure to Brown.

The Democratic governor, who has not said if he will sign the bill, was campaigning for president last week, but Beverly said he would not try to work the measure to President. He mentioned “the strong possibility” he would appeal the judge’s ruling in the case.

Sen. Robert Beverly, R-Manhattan Beach, said Thursday that the bill would require a prison term for a nighttime burglary or a daytime home burglary prosecuted as a felony, unless the judge decided special circumstances warranted probation.

It also would require at least a 90-day jail sentence for a misdemeanor daytime residential burglary unless a judge found circumstances required probation.

Burglars can receive up to six years in prison for a nighttime burglary.

Senate bill seeks plea repeal

SACRAMENTO (AP)— A Senate bill to repeal the defenses of diminished capacity and voluntary intoxication in criminal cases was introduced in the Legislature Thursday by Sens. David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, and Sam Tran, D-San Francisco.

Roberti cited the case of Don White, who pleaded diminished capacity and was convicted of manslaughter in the death of George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk in San Francisco in 1978. In the case of two Ohio men accused of murdering a black man because he was a gay man, a judge ordered a new trial in the case of a man found guilty of murder by reason of insanity. The bill would require a prison term for a nighttime burglary or a daytime home burglary prosecuted as a felony, unless the judge decided special circumstances warranted probation.

It also would require at least a 90-day jail sentence for a misdemeanor daytime residential burglary unless a judge found circumstances required probation.

Burglars can receive up to six years in prison for a nighttime burglary.

The legislation would require a prison term for a nighttime burglary or a daytime home burglary prosecuted as a felony, unless the judge decided special circumstances warranted probation.
Wrestlers seeking high place in NCCA finals

Coach says team is well-prepared for task

"This could be Poly's greatest team ever," said Coach Vassie Hitchcock. His prediction before the 1979-80 season began last November. Hitchcock made the same statement, this week as his matmen prepared for the NCAA Division I National Championships, which began Thursday at Oregon State University in Corvallis, Oregon.

Cal Poly's highest finish ever in the big meet was a fifth place in 1969. Four Mustangs were NCAA All-Americans that year, with 191-pounder Tom Kline taking top honors, 167-pounder John Woods finishing second, 115-pounder Terry Hall placing third and 177-pounder Ken Bos finishing fourth.

"We've had an outstanding dual meet season (18-3), competing against the best teams in the country," said Hitchcock. "As a team, our goal is to place in the top five in the nation. It will take a lot of good luck and excellent wrestling by the entire team."

For the second year in a row, Cal Poly has qualified its entire 10-man squad for the nationals. All 10 placed first or second in the NCAA Div. I West Regional at Nevada-Las Vegas as the Mustangs captured their sixth straight team title.

Only Oklahoma and Cal Poly have full 10-man squads for the 1980 nationals. "This team is the best prepared team overall in that we fought the best competition in the country," Hitchcock added. "It's the most talented team in my 18 years here at Cal Poly.

"The wrestlers have an excellent competitive attitude. They don't appear to be burned out from trying," Hitchcock added. "It's a must win match, the NCAA's...!

Coach says Tekn is well-prepared for the relay, followed by Perry at the 500-yard event, and then Keefe finishing off the relay team as possibly the best Cal Poly has produced.

"We feel gnarly," said Hensel. "We're looking forward to giving our finest performances."

Going to Ohio

Nine swimmers make division finals

BY KAREN LUDLOW
Daily News Writer

Coach Mark Johnson has qualified nine of his swimmers for the NCAA Division I swimming and diving championships. The prestigious meet will be held at Youngstown, Ohio on March 20 through the 22.

Junior Steve Wright was the only Mustang to compete in the nationals last year. He earned All-American status by placing sixth in the 100-yard backstroke. Wright will swim that event again, and will add the 200-yard backstroke and the 100-yard freestyle relay to his list of individual events.

Freshman Glenn Perry will be kept busy at nationals. He is entered in the 100- and 200-yard butterfly and the 200- and 400-yard individual medley events. Perry has the second fastest time turned in so far for the nationals in the 200 fly event.

Junior Ron Hensel is the veteran of the men's team. Two years ago he was named All-American for his part in placing the 400-yard freestyle relay in the top twelve finishers. Individually Hensel will swim the 100-yard freestyle. Coach Johnson once described Hensel as a strong competitor, a swimmer who doesn't like to lose.

"Jim Keefe, a transfer from Golden West College, should be strong in both the 200- and 400-yard individual medley events. Gary Yoe is also entered in the 400-yard IM. Assistant coach Bill Bischoff is Poly's freestyle specialist, swimming the 200-, 500- and 1600-yard freestyle races. Bischoff hopes to be named All-American by placing in the top 12 in the 200-yard event.

Despite all the individual talent the Mustangs boast of this year, the strongest races for Cal Poly may just be the relays. The 800-yard freestyle relay of Hensel, Keefe, Wright and Bischoff should place in the top six out of the 30-team field at the nationals. Hensel, Keefe, Mike Petersen, and Wright will team to make a strong 400-yard freestyle relay. Wright will be in the water again, leading off for the 400-yard medley relay. John Edwards will swim the breaststroke leg of the relay."

Tahoe Ski Bowl—No new, base 9 feet, packed powder and firm packed.

Heavenly Valley—No new, base 10 feet, packed powder and machine groomed.

Squaw Valley—No new, base 10 feet, packed powder and firm packed.

Sierra Ski Ranch—No new, base 11 feet, machine groomed powder.

Kirkwood Meadows—No new, base 14 1/2 feet, powder and packed powder.

Bear Valley and Mt. Reba—No new, base 14-16 feet, powder on packed powder.

Dodge Ridge—No new, base 7-9 feet, powder on packed powder.

Squaw Valley—No new, base 9 feet, packed powder and firm packed.

China Peaks—No new, base 10-13 feet, powder and packed powder.

we feel gnarly," said Hensel. "We're looking forward to giving our finest performances."

El Corral invites you to read for pleasure...!
Wrestlers

From page 10

the long season.” Hit-croch continued.

His schedule was dif­ferent than those in the past in that he scheduled three tournaments (Oakland State, University of Arizona and University of Washington invitational), and the Mustangs did not wrestle in more than four dual meets on any one road trip this year.

“Because we were in three tournaments this season, we are better prepared for the nationals,” noted Hit-croch. “Last year we were in just one tourney.”

In last year’s national championships, all 10 Cal Poly wrestlers survived the preliminary competition, but were eliminated by the end of the second day. The Mustangs scored a disappointing 16 points for a 15-place finish with no place winners.

Amateur Wrestling News’ final national poll placed Cal Poly sixth, and four Mustangs are rated among the top five in their respective weight classes.

Gary Fischer is rated in third, at 119 pounds. Scott Heathon is top-ranked at 167 pounds. Both are NCAA All-Americans. Fischer placing 12th in 1978, and Heathon placing third, also in 1978.

Mustang 150-pounder Randy Flamey is rated fifth in the final 177-pound poll. Rick Wrol, rated No. 1 for most of the season, dropped to No. 4 after his loss to Dave Allen of Iowa State in a February dual meet.

Amateur Wrestling News predicts Iowa will capture its third straight national title and fifth in the last six years. Iowa State is predicted to finish second, with Oklahoma third. Lebgh fourth and Wisconsin fifth, according to the final poll of the season.

Cal Poly is sixth, followed by Oklahoma State, Arkansas, Minnesota and Oregon State.

The Mustangs left San Luis Obispo at 4 p.m. Monday, flying from San Jose to Portland at 9:30 p.m. They will return to San Luis Obispo Sunday night following a 1:30 p.m. flight from Portland to San Luis Obispo.

Competition will con­clude with the finals Saturday night in Oregon State’s 10,500-seat Gill Coliseum.

Raiders’ LA move

BANCHO MIRAGE (AP) — Prices on tickets to Raiders games in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum will be set Monday during an announcement at a Los Angeles football ban on the Oakland Raiders games in Los Angeles. The Raiders announced Friday that they were a part of the NFL owners meeting in this Palm Springs suburb for the NFL owners meeting by next Monday. Davis 50,000 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

four Mustangs are rated dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.

Scott dropped to No. 4 after his promising Poly graduates are placed Cal Poly sixth, and cam the second day. The petition, but all were amateurs, 600 request for tickets had predicted he’d have them in Los Angeles so 16 1/2 points lost in place winners.
Conflict

From page 1

Perry introduced the new "Recognition of Special Interests" policy.

The whole problem surfaced when Griffin protested to Nick Forestiere, chairman of the Finance Committee, that Mann had a potential conflict of interest.

The School of Science and Mathematics student council, which Mann chairs, voted on Feb. 19 to oppose an alcohol absolution to Delta Sigma Phi, Griffin's fraternity, to sell beer at Poly Royal.

"That's some malicious gossip going around that has no basis in fact," he said.

Conflict to help student government find out which groups

ASl—

Griffin asked whether it would be a conflict of interest for Mann to be on the student senate. Walters said yes.

"It's not designed to kill active groups," said Roger Mann, a member from the School of Science and Mathematics. "It's to try to get rid of inactive groups.

Gary Hitesman, a member from the School of Architecture and Environmental Design, said, "It seems like you're raising a lot of dangerous potential for clubs to use in organizing to get their vote.

But after nearly two months of discussion, the Finance Committee approved revenue sharing. The senate cut one week from its usual two-week consideration to approve the plan Wednesday.

Senators also moved to reconsider several of the amendments to the ASI bylaws they passed the previous week at a complicated meeting March 5.

At that meeting, the senate had voted to eliminate the Program Council, which had veto power over student senate actions, and created a new Chair Council with veto power.

"I think it's a dangerous concentration of power," Cregger said.

But after the Chair Council was eliminated from the bylaws, Sen. Marc Taranto from the School of Science and Mathematics said an important check on the senate had been destroyed.

"Essentially by a two-thirds vote this body said that we don't need anybody behind us who can veto us except the president," Taranto said.

Forum

From page 1

— Baker rationalized the need for the increased number of administrators as opposed to faculty members because of the burden the administration must meet to follow all the regulations set forth by the state and national governments.

— Baker supported the idea of the draft in times of national emergencies, but he was opposed to the notion of allowing the government to use campus facilities to conduct registration.

Jeff Shapiro, Internal Affairs Asst. to Rose Kranz and forum MC formed the forum a success and expressed the desire to hold similar ones in the future.

Gulf Oil Corporation, a major energy company, has job openings for all types of graduating engineers interested in building a career in crude oil and gas producing operations.

Duties include drilling, equipment installation and maintenance, subsurface reservoir studies, economic evaluation of producing properties, well stimulation and reconditioning, and enhanced oil recovery operations.

Individual development courses will be provided, including outstanding oil and drilling instruction. Positions are located in Gulf Coast, Mid-Continent, Rocky Mountain, and West Coast areas. Excellent employee benefits.

Applicant must be U.S. citizen or hold a permanent resident visa.

Please send resume and transcript to:

J. R. Ligon, Jr.
GULF OIL EXPLORATION & PRODUCTION COMPANY
Sec. E. P.O. Drawer 2100 Houston, TX 77001

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

Back to all ads