Enthusiastic students sign away in Nancy Dauterman's sign language class. From left: Jean Evans, Jane Faroqui, Susan Frye, Karen Calhoon, Kim Creighton, Elizabeth Cofe and Linda Bourne.

Language conveyed in sounds of silence

BY KELLY RUTHERFORD

Imagine walking into a classroom and not hearing a sound. Even the instructor is not saying a word. Yet, she has everyone's attention.

This is the exact setting Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in a Cal Poly classroom, where 16 female students all sit in a circle, and "sign" to one another.

The course is Sign Language and is offered as a mini-course by the ASI Recreation and Tournaments Committee. A beginning course is taught Winter Quarter, followed by an intermediate course Spring Quarter.

The teacher is Nancy Dauterman, former instructional aid at one of the two deaf classes in San Luis Obispo County. Dauterman was an aid for three years, and is currently attending Cal Poly to obtain her teaching credential.

The first hour of the class is committed to total silence. This is done so that the students learn to discipline themselves not to use sound as a means of communication. They are learning to concentrate on "signing" correctly by using vivid facial expressions and proper hand gestures.

There are two forms of sign language.

BY DAVE BRACKNEY

The San Luis Obispo City Council tentatively moved Tuesday night to limit both downtown merchants' sidewalk sales and temporary outdoor vendors selling of flowers and other goods around the city.

Council members first voted to completely ban temporary vendors such as corner flower sales and orange sales on Monterey Street. After the vote, however, councilman Robert E. Griffin suggested that the staff consider allowing certain types of temporary outdoor sales.

Another city ordinance already allows temporary sales of Christmas trees, and Griffin suggested it could be expanded to include the sales of other items, including cut flowers and fresh produce.

In addition to his city council duties, Griffin is also assistant to executive director of Cal Poly Foundation. He said the city's Community Development Department will consider his proposal and present a report and possible ordinance to the council in 30 to 45 days.

To set up a business, the outdoor vendors simply have to rent a site from a property owner and then obtain a city business license and Planning Department permits. However, Mayor Melanie C. Billig said she is "philosophically opposed" to temporary outdoor vendors, calling them unfair competition to existing businesses which pay substantially higher overhead costs and must meet stricter city and state regulations. Councilwoman Glenne Jeanne Dowey said she is also opposed to such vendors.

The outdoor flower vendors counter that their businesses do not compete with the city's established florists.

"I think most of the people we sell to here wouldn't go to a florist," said Mary McKeever, who sells flowers on weekends at the corner of South and Broad Streets.

While the Community Development Department considers Griffin's proposal allowing limited outdoor sales, the ban on temporary outdoor sales will be reviewed by the council in public hearings before it could become law.

Placula see page 2
I acknowledged some scattered actions but said the na-calm reigned will contribute to strengthening the line of dialogue and accord.”

promptu meeting with Western reporters. “ The fact pedestrians and drivers ignored calls by the clandestine tests there. Traffic moved smoothly in the capital as reported.

and police both acted with restraint as no violence was fitable for Poland and reform,” Urban said in an im­ ty for 15-minute factory strikes. It appeared unionists months of martial law.

nationwide to calls by underground leaders of Solidarition was calm. The official news agency P A P in a 5,000 Poleé.siagè WErsaiw ”

"Attem pts at Fomenting Unrest Government press spokesman Jerzy Urban rtflegMfzrl not:

call

MOLquar terbacks

the harder they fell defense time poppin cans of Lite

m aybe BKX:
partner Try to draw p layers, so they're on a team Work with a tongues .

BBBBA:
Because  Lite's le ss fillm , so it won't
in a  crow ded bar

BBBBA:
Smart Like watching the guy m front of you for a tip Som etim es the position 0* a guard's feet'll tell you where he's gonna go o nce  the front of you for a tip Som etim es the

BBBBA:
But smart g uys remember where he's gonna go o nce  the

BBBBA:
Sure A nd even though we re drinkers Right Mr Butkos'^ to relax with the great taste of Lite Beer

BBBBA:
And drinkin Lite B eer is  one smartest things you can do Because Lite's less fillm , so it won't slow you down

BBBBA:
And drinkin' down beer and Argentine Deputy Foreign Minister Enrique Ros.

Cuellar attempted to inject new momentum into'his
government, and Secretary-General Javier Perez de

Tony Parsons brought “fresh instructions”  from his

Britain warned Thursday there may be more fighting around the Falkland Islands despite U.N.

W ARSAW . Poland (AP) -< - About 5,000 paopla chan­
5,000 Poleé.siagè WErsaiw ”

WARSAW. Poland (AP) — About 5,000 people channing pro-Soviet slogans and "free Loch Wales" inned a Warsaw square and some factory workers briefly stopped work in protest Thursday marking five months of martial law.

Government press spokesman Jerzy Urban acknowledged some scattered actions but said the na-

It was difficult to determine what the response was nationwide to calls by underground leaders of Solidari-dy for 15-minute factory strikes. It appeared unionists and police both acted with restraint as no violence was reported.

Observers in Lodz and Lublin said there were no protests there: Traffic moved smoothly in the capital as

Curb, a former record company executive, held a 16-point lead over Deukmejian in the January 1981 California Poll survey. He trailed by 11 points in March.

Foreign Secretary Francis Pym told the House of Commons in its fifth emergency debate on the crisis.
Pym also said military pressure is having an effect
because “there are signs the message is beginning to get through.”

At the United Nations, British Ambassador Anthonio Parsons brought “ fresh instructions” from his government, and Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar attempted to inject new momentum into his peacemaking efforts, meeting separately with Parsons
and Argentine Deputy Foreign Minister Enrique Roe.

Two of the nicest, sweetest guys ev er to play football on drinkin' down beer and eatin' up quarterbacks

by Bobba Smith and Dick Bulkus

BBBBA: Now that we're not playin' football anymore, we spend more time poppin' tops of cans of Lite BBBBA: But our favorite topic of conversation over a couple of Lite BBBBA: Yeah The bigger we were BBBBA: Very true. Being big helps give you presence. What i can winning through intimidation

BBBBA: But you also have to play smart. Like watching the guy in front of you for a tip. Sometimes the position of a guard's feet'll tell you where he's gonna go once the BBBBA: Sure And even though we're not playin' anymore, after years of earnin' up quarterbacks, it's nice to relax with the great taste of
Lite Beer

BBBBA: You might say we've gone from being heavy hitters to Lite drinkers. Right Mr Butkus?
BBBBA: Right. Mr Smith

Tenured faculty secure at Poly

From page 1
ment. By a new provision of state law, they may be fired for lack of funds.
More than 75 percent of Cal Poly's 755 full-time faculty are tenured, according to campus personnel files. The university's 194 part-time instructors do not acquire tenure.
Another factor cited by Sonoma State admnistrators is a need to adjust faculty assignments, beefing up applied programs like business administration which are in demand by students.
Easy adjustments Such adjustments are easy when the school is growing. Kersten explained. Whie faculty members are added to meet the -growing enrollment, they are chosen for programs most desired by students.

The dwindling state support for higher education could result in layoffs at other premier campuses, though Kersten doesn't predict any for Cal Poly.

“We've cut back on faculty, sure,” he said.
“We did it in our temporary positions. But it's hard to say how much flexibility is left in the budget.”

From page 1

Fighting may resume, U.K. warns

Britain warned Thursday there may be more
fighting around the Falkland Islands despite U.N.
peace efforts, and Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said she would never betray the pro-British Falklanders in a compromise with Argentina.

In Buenos Aires, Argentina’s military government said it would meet any new threat with force but that it was still possible to settle the six-week dispute with Britain.

“Military incidents may occur with increasing frequency as the net closes round the islands,” British Foreign Secretary Francis Pym told the House of Commons in its fifth emergency debate on the crisis.
Pym also said military pressure is having an effect
because “there are signs the message is beginning to get through.”

At the United Nations, British Ambassador Anthony Parsons brought “ fresh instructions” from his government, and Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar attempted to inject new momentum into his peacemaking efforts, meeting separately with Parsons
and Argentine Deputy Foreign Minister Enrique Roe.

Hawk raps
Reagan, plans to fight aid cuts

From page 1

troller.

"If Reagan's programs go through," Hawk
"that will include the cutting of the Student Work Study program... that means 27 percent of the people involved in the program will be lost at Poly."

"It's ironic to me
Reagan says the students should work their way through school, and then be the cut aid work study.
Hawk said that too
many valuable loan program will not be able students as they were intended, thus forcing many to not even consider higher education.

"We'd be dealing with basically the upper class, and those who can get the needed aid. but this school needs the mix...we need to have students from every class," he said. "Without the money that many students need, that mix is going to be lost."
KCPR will reanimate great moments of rock

The greatest hits of the rock era will be featured in a seven night presentation May 17-23 when KCPR brings "A Celebration of Rock'n'Roll" to the air.

Beginning at 7 p.m. each night, KCPR (91.3 FM) will bring four hours of uninterrupted music and trivia to its audience, followed each night by a one-minute review of what is to come.

Brian Hackney and Toby Browning are hosts of the rock special, which will be highlighted by mini shows on special guests, including an hour special on the Beatles Tuesday at 10 p.m., and seven half-hour specials on Sunday featuring Elvis Presley, the Rolling Stones and other rock stand-outs.

The following is the schedule for "A Celebration of Rock'n'Roll":

Monday, May 17
Introduction (up to and including 1955)
1956-1960 (one year each half hour)

Tuesday, May 18
1961-1964 (one year each half hour)
Beatles one hour special Wednesday, May 19
1965-1968
Thursday, May 20
1969-1970
Friday, May 21
1971-1975
Saturday, May 22
1976-1977
Sunday, May 23
1981-1982
Half hour specials:
Elvis Presley
Buddy Holly
Beach Boys
Supremes
Rolling Stones

Martin Mull to mull Martin Mull

Martin Mull, who scored one of TV's biggest late-night hits as the crusty talk-show host on "Fernwood 2 Night," and later, "A Whisker of a Chance," will bring his understated comedic brilliance to Cal Poly on Sunday, May 16.

Since the "talk shows" have left the air, Mull has ventured into the movies, appearing in "Ferret," "F.P."
—and more recently, as Chris Makrische's father in
"My Bodyguard."

Mull was born in Chicago in 1941. He grew up in Ohio and Connecticut, where he attended New Canaan High, graduating in 1961. He enrolled in the Rhode Island School of Design as a painting major, and in 1967 received a masters degree in the medium.

Warner Brothers Records hired him to write singles.
His song, "A Girl Named Johnny Cash," recorded by Jane Morgan, was an answer to the country singer's
"A Boy Named Sue."

After being fired by the label in 1971, Mull ventured into the studio for his own purposes, writing and producing his own comedy albums. His fourth effort, "Sex and Violins," resulted in a Grammy nomination.

His LP exposure led to acting on Louise Lasser's funny soap setup, "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman." He played Garth Gimble, who left the show after being impaled on an aluminum Christmas tree.

He then created the role of Garth's twin, Barth, in 1977's late-night summer hit, "Fernwood 2 Night," where he played a slyly smooth and taciturn host to such celebrities as Tom Waits.

Besides his acting and sit-down comedy, Mull has made a number of comedy albums. LPs with titles like,
"Martin Mull and His Fabulous Furniture," "Sex and Violins," "Days of Wine and Neurboses," and "I'M Everyone I've Ever Loved."

Two shows are scheduled at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., both in Chumash Auditorium of the University on campus. Tickets are $5.50 advance for students and $7. advance for the general public, available at all Cheap Thrills locations, and Buo Buo Records in San Luis Obispo. Door prices are a dollar more.

The popularity of Fernwood's own host led to a syndicated show, "America Tonight," a wonderfully tacky spoof featuring mythical as well as real guests, such as Burt Lancaster, Carol Burnett, Peter Hamptom and Charlton Heston.

He has hosted the Tonight Show, Mary Griffls, Mike
Douglas, Dinah, and has appeared on The Hollywood Square.

His composing music led to an Emmy Award for his work on PBS's "The Great American Dream Machine."

As an artist, Mull's work has appeared in the pages of New West and Empire, and his one-man show was well received at LA's Molly Barnes Gallery.

Mull's two shows at Cal Poly are presented by Special Events, a Program Board Committee of Cal
Poly's Associated Students Inc.

GOING TO BE HERE THIS SUMMER AND/ OR FALL?
NEED SOME EXTRA MONEY?
The Mustang Daily is now hiring advertising representatives. Drop off a letter or resume to Graphic Arts, Room 225.
HUNGRY FOR A BIG OLD-FASHIONED HAMBURGER?

Scrubby & Lloyd's
OPEN MON-WED 9 AM TO 4 PM
THURSDAY & FRIDAY 9 AM TO 7 PM
SATURDAY 9 AM TO 9 PM
1328 Central-543-8090
L.Lane Peterson Proprietor

THE BURGER FACTORY
374 Santa Rosa, SLO 543-2363

SPRING CELEBRATION May 15
FREE ROOTBEER with food purchase

COUPON
The BURGER FACTORY, 374 SANTA ROSA, SLO
Buy one Ortega Burger and Medium Rootbeer and get the 2nd Burger FREE
One coupon per Customer per visit, Not Valid with other coupons or discounts Offer expires Monday, May 21.

COUPON
The BURGER FACTORY, 374 SANTA ROSA, SLO
Buy one Guacamole Burger and Medium Rootbeer and get the 2nd Burger FREE
One coupon per Customer per visit, Not Valid with other coupons or discounts Offer expires Monday, May 21.

COUPON
The BURGER FACTORY, 374 SANTA ROSA, SLO
Buy one Double Chilli Burger and one Medium Rootbeer and get the 2nd Burger FREE
One coupon per Customer per visit, Not Valid with other coupons or discounts Offer expires Monday, May 21.

THE GREAT AMERICAN FISH COMPANY
EAT, DRINK & STORE
1188 EMBASSADOR MORRO BAY, CA 93442
(805) 772-4927

SUNDAY CHAMPAGNE BRUNCH BUFFET
10am to 2pm free champagne
FREE ENTERTAINMENT WITH $7.95
11am to 7pm
MONDAY NIGHT FISH & CHIPS ENTERTAINMENT & DANCING
$2.00 NIGHTLY STARTS AT 7:30pm
FEATURING Lost Angels

OLDE PORT INN
At the end of the pier at Avila Beach 556-3513

“Masterpiece Pizza” showing at WOODSTOCK's

“...starring...

- The best Pizza in Town!
- Pretty Fast Pizza Delivery
- Pizza in the Raw

This week’s Special Guest Star Pizza:
WOODSTOCK'S SPECIAL
(Your choice of any five toppings)
Don’t miss this "Top 8" - Accoladed by Piano Critics all over San Luis Obispo!

Tune into Woodstocks
1015 Court Street (across from Bollson)
541-4420

Showtimes:
Lunch: Mon-Thurs 11-3
Dinner: Sun-Thu 4:30pm-1am
Fri-Sat 4:30pm-2am
Guest performances by three prominent orchestras will be highlights of the annual Spring Concert of the Cal Poly Band on Saturday, May 15, in the University Auditorium.

Two旗, one of the nation's most accomplished trumpet players, Paul Drusso, a widely acclaimed euphonium player, and guest conductor Carl Chevallard will all be featured during the concert, which will begin at 8 p.m.

General admission tickets for the event are priced at $4 for adults and $1.75 for students. Tickets are being sold in advance at Premier Music and Castle Music in San Luis Obispo, at the University ticket office on campus, and by members of the band.

William V. Johnson, now in his 16th year as conductor of the Symphonic Band and director of bands at Cal Poly, and a varied program has been selected.

A new transcription of Hector Berlioz's "Te Deum March" will receive its first performance at the spring concert.

Drusso, who has performed with some of the world's finest conductors including Zubin Mehta, Erich Leinsdorf, Eugene Ormandy, and Matthias Rostropovich, will be joined by Richard Ward of the university ensemble in Vivaldi's "Concerto for Two Trumpets." They will be accompanied by the entire band.

"Blue Bells of Scotland" by Arthur Pryor has been chosen by Drusso, currently a professor of music at Ohio State University, to introduce the third act of the opera. "The opera, "Austrian Up-Country Tunes" by Farley Granger, "Symphonica Sana at Profa" by Timothy Brookes, a piece that requires the band to both sing and play; and Henry Fillmore's fastest tempo march, "Circus Boa.

Also scheduled to perform during the evening are the Cal Poly Brass Band and the Cal Poly Studio Band.

The Brass Band will present Edward Gregson's "Concerto" and the Studio Band, a group of 25 musicians that specializes in big band, jazz, and jazzrock music, will perform "Blue Birdland" and "Johnson Rag.

The Spring Concert is being sponsored by the university's School of Communication Arts and Humanities, Music Department, Associated Students Inc., and Instructional Related Activities Fund.

Series to follow Marco Polo

From the grasslands of Inner Mongolia to the exotic court of China's Kublai Khan, the adventures of the 13th-century Venetian Marco Polo will be told in authentic detail May 16-19 during the mini-series presented on NBC.

"Marco Polo" -- the story is nearly 700 years old, but it is a new adventure each time it is told. It encompasses a three thousand year's worth of knowledge, an exposure to a culture and a lifestyle that are now long since disappeared. Marco faced the dangers of plague, imprisonment by Saracen, capture, by here master, and death. In the land of Kublai Khan, all culminating in the end, where Polo wrote the book of his travels.

"Marco Polo" is the first Western drama to be produced with the Chinese since the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949.

Shooting for the epic 10-hour series took place on three continents over a period of 13 months. Among the 54 filming sites are such places as Tibet, Wall, The Forbidden City and the Ming Tomb in the People's Republic of China. Other locations include Venice, Rome and North Africa.

Ken Marshall, acclaimed for his performances on Broadway, stars in the title role as the wide-eyed, romantic traveler, full of curiosity and eager to travel to new horizons and experience new adventures.

Authenticity and accuracy were the guiding marks for this lavish production. "The Travels of Marco Polo," plus data from 200 other books and historical documents were used. The 4,000 original costumes, designed by Enrico Bissabatini, were the products of extensive research to ensure accurate reproduction.

Produced by the Italian Television Italia and sponsored by the Procter and Gamble Company, "Marco Polo" will be broadcast May 7-10, continuing Monday and Tuesday 9-11 p.m. and concluding Wednesday 9-11 p.m.

The rock opera "Godspell" stages its second of three showings tonight with the finale Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Cal Poly theater. Poly student Chris Zerbel sold out in one of the production's numbers.

CATERING AT ITS FINEST.

WEDDING RECEPTIONS in your home, in beautiful tree-shaded brick patio of The Cigar Factory, or our newly completed Rock Room and deck of This Old House.

- Champagne and bar service
- Silver and china
- Simply scrumptious hors d'oeuvres
- Elegant buffets or complete sit-down service
- Santa Maria Style Bar B Que
- Vegetable, fruit, and cheese displays
- Flower arrangements and decorations
- Wedding cake
- Music and Photographer
- Courteous and efficient staff

Let our new catering and banquet manager Dianne make the most important day memorable. Contact her at:

543-2690
BY GAIL PELLERIN

Nothing will improve United States relationships with Europe more than arms control talks between this country and the Soviet Union, a speaker said Thursday in the University Union.

David Elliot, a history professor at the California Institute of Technology who spoke on the subject of Europe, said that on the surface, our relationship with Europe appears to be peaceful and harmonious. This is because the U.S. communicates well with Europe. Europe has a similar background, shares a democratic spirit, and seeks the same goals, he said.

"When differences do arise, we are disheartened, disappointed and dismayed," Elliot said.

Talks on nuclear weapons, however, touch more sensitive nerves and produce diverse views, he said.

According to Elliot, "Over the last 40 years, the safety of Western Europe has appeared to depend on U.S. nuclear weapons." Because this sovereign country has lived under the nuclear umbrella of another country, unease has developed, he added.

Western Europe may question whether the guarantee of nuclear weapons, said Elliot.

The people have observed deteriorating international relations and have listened to military strategists, crying out that they want the world to stay the way it is for them and their children, he said.

The testing of nuclear weapons this spring has not improved United States relationships and have listened to military strategists, crying out that they want the world to stay the way it is for them and their children, he said.

The testing of nuclear weapons has not improved United States relationships, and they became more aware of nuclear weapons, said Elliot.

"But it was necessary that arms control be linked with re-armament," Elliot said.

Anti-nuclear sentiments soon spread across Europe and the United States, he added.

According to Elliot, "NATO is moving toward the implementation of the modernization program, but they need more reassurance in the area of arms control."

"And there the key lies in Washington," Elliot said, "where a little more forward motion would be encouraging."
Hartar could be his downfall.

"If they'd have the championship trophy run with us," said Harter.

Although Harter conceded the quick recovery from a broken throwing hand, will be held out of the javelin Friday at the NCAA championships.

Karin Smith, who made an extremely successful performance with a best of 6-2, will be entered in the 400; Brad Underwood (51.5) in the 400 intermediate hurdles; Steve Thomas in the 400; Pat Croft in the 440. Tamela Holland is entered in the 400; Brenda Underwood (1:5.1) in the 400 intermediate hurdles; Rose Thomas or Mark Kibort both have season bests in the 440. If I meet in two weeks and I do, we're looking great," said Harter. "We're looking for individual performances and improvements. We're looking to take home hardware, and win with dignity and pride. We've done it all year and we hope to continue it.

Two Mustangs will be going to the Div. I meet in three weeks. As an additional anchor, they'll be entered in the 100 high hurdles and Danielle Brown in the 100 intermediate hurdles. The women's team has lost the last four CCAA championships, and it doesn't look as if any team is ready to dethrone them. The Mustangs won't run away with the meet, like last year when they won by 67 points, but they are favored to repeat by about 15 or 20 points.

Four Mustangs are favored to win their individual events: Pat Croft (lifetime best and school record of 46.02) in the 440; Brad Underwood (1:5.1) in the 400 intermediate hurdles; Rose Thomas and Mark Kibort both have season bests in the 440.

"As far as the team score is concerned, we're not looking great," said Harter. "We're looking for individual performances and improvements. We're looking to take home hardware, and win with dignity and pride. We've done it all year and we hope to continue it.

The Mustangs won't run away with the meet, like last year when they won by 67 points, but they are favored to repeat by about 15 or 20 points.

Four Mustangs are favored to win their individual events: Pat Croft (lifetime best and school record of 46.02) in the 440; Brad Underwood (1:5.1) in the 400 intermediate hurdles; Rose Thomas and Mark Kibort both have season bests in the 440.
Street diversity

In a time of sterile concrete and automation, every bit of color and diversity adds to one's appreciation for life. Some of this diversity will be missing in San Luis Obispo if action taken Tuesday by the city council goes into effect.

The council voted unanimously to prohibit temporary outdoor vendors, such as the corner flower sales and the orange sales on Monterey Street.

Sam Miller has been selling oranges on upper Monterey Street for over 20 years. His crates of fresh produce are a familiar sight to many San Luis Obispo residents, and Miller would be sorely missed if he were forced to discontinue his business.

Several local flower growers sell arrangements on San Luis Obispo street corners. The brightly-colored blossoms enliven the beauty of the city, as well as providing inexpensive bouquets for people with limited incomes.

Mayor Melanie Billig said she opposes outdoor vendors because they are unfair competition with existing businesses as do several business owners. But this reason is without substantiation. The outdoor vendors add a different market than local businesses. People who purchase street corner bouquets, for example, are not the sort able to afford arrangements from florists. Many San Luis Obispo mothers received flowers for Mother’s Day from husbands and children who may not have been able to afford a bouquet from a florist. The outdoor flower sales add a little sunshine to many people’s lives.

The Mustang Daily Editorial Board believes the outdoor vendors add an aesthetically pleasing element to the community, and should be allowed to continue their businesses.

The city council is also tentatively backing an ordinance which would require merchants to have a permit to hold sidewalk sales. The Mustang Daily Editorial Board upholds this decision. Rows of marked-down clothing add nothing to sidewalk sales. *nie community, and should be allowed to continue their businesses.

The city council in its decision is attempting to “Keep the City Beautiful,” it would be achieving the opposite effect by depriving residents of the diversity and pleasantly low prices of these alternative merchants. Variety is indeed the spice of life, and sterile cement sidewalks offer little variety.

Letters

Reverse psychology?

Editor:

I would like to thank you on the success of your “reverse psychology” endorsement of Sandra Clary for ASI President. You say devil’s. You know that when you endorsed Chris Hartley.

Poly Wally

ONLY $385 FOR A DIPLOMA! IF I’D KNOWN THAT I’D HAD TO BUY ONE YEARS AGO!!

It’s a crime.

I’m referring to the method the North Mountain dorm mail is sorted and delivered to students, not the recent arrest of a woman or suspicion of mail thefts.

A guy I know had $600 withdrawn from his bank account because his automatic teller card had been stolen from the dorm mailbox. All of his recently-written checks (including for registration fees) have bounced.

I am bothered because I have lost all trust in the way these dorms are run. The dorms I live in are a group of five buildings opposite Fisher Science building, the doors of which open on the outside. We also have no lobby like the other dorms.

Thus, we have a special mail delivery system. We have to traipse over to the Off-Campus Housing building and open our mailboxes with our “secret” combinations. Safe enough, right?

That’s what I thought, until the theft. This person suspected of the theft of mail wasn’t supposed to touch the dorm people’s mail, but had volunteered to help a resident advisor sort and put the mail in the boxes. Maybe it was tempting for the harried resident advisor to accept help, but I don’t think my friend can appreciate that.

The Housing Office had better make damn sure this incident isn’t the sign of things to come.

Author: Tayla Thomas is a junior journalism major and Mustang Daily copy editor.

Daily policy

Mustang Daily

Publications:

Department of Journalism, California Polytechnic State University
San Luis Obispo, CA 93407

Districts: San Luis Obispo, Monterey, Santa Barbara, Santa Maria

Circulation

S. 1200: 10,000

Circulation

Subscriptions: Nonprofit student publications for the benefit of the San Luis Obispo community. Luxury, color, and advertising are provided in appropriate compensation to reflect their value.

Editorial Board: Board of Advisors, Board of Editors, Staff Editors, Copy Editors, Art Directors, and Newsroom Staff.

Opinion:

President Reagan Going That "Extra Mile"

The Last Word:

Poor sign

Mail is a very personal item and the stopgap way it was handled at the North Mountain dorms is disgusting. I talked to an RA at Yosemite Hall who says students never help them sort mail. They don’t even hand students the mail. It’s either get the mail out of the mailbox or nothing, said the RA.

It makes me wonder what everyone could have taken. I never got two packages my mom sent for my 21st birthday — who knows where they are. When we receive packages we have to go to Santa Lucia Hall to pick them up. Sometimes I don’t have to show my identification or sign my name — just show my pick-up slip.

So what happened in the North Mountain dorms? I think the laxity given to the mail delivery regulations was avoidable and unjustifiable. Because of this, the door has been left wide open for any stray opportunist to steal personal property.

The Housing Office had better make damn sure this incident isn’t the sign of things to come.

Author: Tayla Thomas is a junior journalism major and Mustang Daily copy editor.

Editor: Tom Johnson

Managing Editor: Robin Lewis

Asst. Managing Editor: L. JoAnn Beremseth

Ad Director: Paula Drazar

Editorial Assistant: Becki Huanetz

Photo Director: David Middelcamp

Business Manager: Andy Berger

Director of Circulation: David Brackney

Editorial Assistant: Rob Land Werntz

Editorial Assistant: Paula Dawson

Business Manager: Todd Deppen

Advertising Manager: Lynn Cezrak

Advertising Manager: Pamela Wong

Typographer: Vincent Pershing

Production Manager: Keith Chandler

Test your comprehension of this text with the following question: What is the main argument of the opinion piece? The main argument of the opinion piece is that the city council's decision to ban temporary outdoor vendors is unfair competition with existing businesses and removes an aesthetically pleasing element from the community. The author believes that these vendors should be allowed to continue their businesses.