Strauss' "Capriccio" Screens Live in HD from the MET to the PAC

San Luis Obispo, CA – Cal Poly Arts and Opera San Luis Obispo are proud to present The Met: Live in HD – a live-streaming, high-definition transmission series screened at the Performing Arts Center direct from the famed Metropolitan Opera's stage in New York City.

On Saturday, April 23, 2011 at 10 a.m. in the Performing Arts Center, The Met: Live in HD series will feature a new production of Strauss' opera, Capriccio.

On opening night of the 2008–09 Metropolitan Opera season, opera's own Renée Fleming dazzled audiences when she sang the final scene of Capriccio, Strauss' wise and worldly meditation on art and life.

In the lavish full-scale Met Opera production transmitted live from New York City, Fleming performs Strauss' entire work, in which the composer explores the essence of opera itself.

Andrew Davis conducts. Matthew Polenzani and Sarah Connolly also star, with featured performances by Joseph Kaiser, Russell Braun, Morten Frank Larsen, and Peter Rose.

Expected running time: 2 hours, 45 minutes

This Cohan Center screening is sponsored by C.F. Buetow in memory of Charlotte Buetow.

The Met: Live in HD is the Metropolitan Opera's Peabody and Emmy Award-winning series of performances transmitted live by satellite in high-definition to more than 1000 movie theaters around the world.

Opera stars such as Fleming, Natalie Dessay, Plácido Domingo, Susan Graham, Thomas Hampson, and Deborah Voigt have served as hosts for the shows, conducting live interviews with cast and crew and introducing behind-the-scenes features – allowing the worldwide HD audience an unprecedented look at what goes into the staging of an opera at one of the world's great houses. Robotic cameras and state-of-the-art technology are used to capture the action, giving a bird's-eye view and interesting perspectives on the productions.

In order to offer the The Met: Live in HD series, the Performing Arts Center underwent major technological renovations including the installation of a new 22,000 lumen projector with high-definition capabilities. The purchase of the new equipment was made possible by the Foundation for the Performing Arts Center through a generous donation by the Hind Foundation.

The Met: Live in HD series is also made possible by a generous grant from its founding sponsor, The Neubauer Family Foundation. Bloomberg is the global corporate sponsor.

The Met: Live in HD began airing on PBS in January 2007. The series is produced in association with PBS and WNET, with support from Toll Brothers, America's luxury home builder.
