Preventing and coping with a sexual assault

by Vladimir Milutin
Staff Writer

It was a normal sunny day in San Luis Obispo County. It was to have been a day of laughter and enjoyment at the dunes, but the victim never anticipated the attack by her acquaintance. Screams and obscenities blew across the dunes as bodies wrestled. She had thought it was safe to go out with him, but now he had turned rapist.

This was an actual rape that occurred in San Luis Obispo County. The victim recalled the vivid picture as she warned, "It could happen to anyone regardless of how you look, overweight, underweight, pretty or whatever, and you should be aware of it."

In 1981, 158 sexual assaults were reported in San Luis Obispo County. Of these, one-third were rapes, and the county district attorney office estimates that three times that number haven't been reported to law enforcement or crisis centers. The victims were 114 females, 16 males, two corpses, and two lambs.

The danger of sexual assaults has been increasing at an alarming pace between transient rapists who find Cal Poly a perfect stop, said Wayne Hall, Cal Poly public safety investigator, and local rapist who infest the area. There was an average of 6.5 rapes a year from 1972 to 1980 reported to San Luis Obispo police (2 in 1974 to 13 in 1978). In 1981 there were 16.

A common misconception according to Hall is that the campus is a sanctuary. "It's not. In some ways it is more dangerous than the city," he said.

On July 20, there was an attempted kidnap and attempted rape with a deadly weapon near the Cal Poly weight training room. Fortunately two Poly football

Campus safety: Poly not a haven from rape

From page 1 players, Kenneth Copas and Steve Gibson, rescued the female student and captured Frank Daniel Becerra, Becerra, who pleaded guilty to the charges, was a transient.

"Two years ago in the dorms a victim was raped," said Victims Service Director Peter W. Dunan of the D.A. office. The rapist was a counselor at the California Youth Authority School at Paso Robles.

"You should be aware there are sick people out there," said a rape victim. "I trusted people too much. It was hard lesson to learn but I don't trust people as much, which is good because I realized that some men have problems. This doesn't apply to all men, generally." Statistics show that half of the victims were assaulted while in the company of or following a social event with a known male, rather than by a stranger. Dr. Andrea Brauninger of the county's Sexual Assault Response Team said, "Acquaintances rapes are very common and are very devastating psychologically." Despite the victim's physical and emotional trauma, Brauninger stressed the importance of the victim's cooperation even if the victim is reluctant to prosecute. She said a rapist can attack more than once and that pregnancy and venereal disease tests are available to victims even if they chose not to prosecute.

A preliminary interview is held with an investigator, who calls San Luis Obispo General Hospital where a team of specialists will be waiting in a specially designed room equipped to comfort the victim. Upon arrival, the victim is reviewed by a doctor, counselor, investigator and Bill Baldridge, a Crisis Intervention Specialist. The victim can tell what happened and answer questions.

Following the interview, the person is given a physical exam to detect pregnancy and venereal disease. Brauninger stressed the importance of coming in as soon as possible after the rape (within 12 hours is suggested), not changing clothing, showering, douching or urinating in order to find evidence.

After the physical exam, counselor Baldridge and the victim talk on a one-to-one basis about the incident. The counseling continues until the victim feels sure enough to cope with the emotional distress. All these services are free.

Panetta acts as chairman of House subcommittee

Representative Leon E. Panetta will serve as acting chairman for any meetings or hearings of the House Agriculture Committee's Subcommittee on Domestic Marketing, Consumer Relations, and Nutrition during the rest of the current Congressional session. Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza (D-Texas) announced today.

The subcommittee chairmanship was left vacant by the recent resignation of Representative Frederick W. Richmond (D-New York).

Panetta has been a member of the subcommittee since 1977 and was the ranking Democrat on the panel following Richmond.

"While I regret the circumstances under which this has taken place," Panetta said, "I am pleased that I will have the opportunity to carry on the important work of the subcommittee. It is one of the most important components of the Agriculture Committee, and I look forward to dealing with whatever issues may come before the subcommittee during this Congress."

De la Garza said Panetta would preside over any subcommittee actions taken during the remainder of the year.

The domestic marketing panel has jurisdiction over a wide variety of issues, including domestic marketing orders for specialty and other crops, regulatory programs to ensure fair trading in marketing, Department of Agriculture consumer information efforts, and nutrition programs, including the Commodity Supplemental Food Program and food stamps.

Panetta is serving his third term in the House. In addition to serving on the Agriculture Committee, Panetta is a member of the House Budget Committee and chair of its Task Force on Reconciliation.

RAPE Counseling brings back a sense of security

Baldridge said the victim goes through three basic stages after the rape which the individual must correctly deal with. They are the stage of emotional shock (where the victim usually turns on himself or relatives), and the stages of rationalization (where there is a false sense of security where depression is right around the corner).

"I must help the victim learn where the anger should belong, at the rapist," said Baldridge. The victim remembers, "The effect of being raped is probably the worst. I had a real bad feeling towards men, all men in general because I didn't understand why I was raped and I kind of wanted to get back at everyone. I remember one specific incident that I was at a party and a guy pinned me, normally I wouldn't be affected by that but I turned around and slugged the guy."

Certain preventative measures have been considered and maintained by the Cal Poly police department for individual safety. One active program Rape Awareness, is informative talks about personal safety given at the dorms. "Awareness of your surroundings and taking time to feel what's around you is a start in rape prevention," said Investigator Hall.

The next Crime Prevention talk is Wednesday, September 29 in Sequoia Hall at 7:30 p.m. A 24-hour Hotline is available at Cal Poly for any emergency.

Mustangs sever longer college winning streak

Hm, nothing in the Los Angeles Times Sunday about the Mustangs football team upsetting Idaho State Saturday night. Nothing in the other papers, either, about the 15-13 squeaking past the Bengals in the NCAA Division I, A and AA, games.

Poly snapping the longest win streak, you'd think things always go on the front page. But nowhere is there mention of Cal Poly's 17-15,13-15,15-13. The Mustangs unscathed for their second straight Spartan Shops title. The Mustangs led in total of— Cal Poly, now 10-2 on the year, defeated host San Jose State, 15-10,15-11,15-12. In the best match of the tournament, and most certainly the one only loss coming at the hands of the Mustangs a week earlier. But it didn't matter who was playing Saturday—the weather stole the show, according to Gartner's words, "was our most valuable player tonight. He was, in large part, the reason we were blown out. He played well on defense and cleared out the ball whenever we needed it."*

The way the Cal Poly men's soccer team reacted when the final whistle sounded Saturday night, you'd think it had just upset the New York Cosmos. In fact, the team had tied visiting Golden Eagles of Cal State Los Angeles, 1-1, lasting 110 minutes on the field with one of the best NCAA Division I teams in the country.

While the Eagles aren't the Cosmos, they are a pretty good facsimile. No team prior to Saturday's game had held them below two goals, and last year they were the Div. II runner-up, losing in two overtimes to the University of Florida in the championship match, 2-1.

In addition, the Eagles boasted a 4-1-1 record coming into the match, their 1-1-1 record in overtime to the University of Florida in the championship match, 2-1.

If a Most Valuable Player trophy were to be handed out at the 6th Annual Spartan Shops Invitational volleyball tournament at San Jose State University, the recipient probably would have been Poly's Wendy Poer. The 6-4, 2-2 senior put on a phenomenal display of hitting Friday and Saturday as the Mustangs swept through the five-team, round-robin tournament format unscathed for their second straight Spartan Shops title.

Cal Poly, now 9-2 on the year, defeated host San Jose State 15-9,15-13,15-10,15-12 Saturday evening, in what turned out to be the championship match. Earlier in the day, the Mustangs whipped the University of Washington 15-10,15-11,15-12.

On Friday, Cal Poly opened up with Stanford University, the nation's sixth-ranked team. The Mustangs were No. 7. And, as expected, it was a war—a long war. In the best match of the tournament, and most certainly the longest—as in two hours and 56 minutes long—Cal Poly prevailed, 15-11,15-11,15-11,15-11,15-11.

Bishop flooded by dam
BISHOP, Calif. (AP) Several homes were washed away and police with bullhorns helped evacuate up to 1,700 people after a dam broke uphill from this resort community Sunday, freeing the rainfall-swollen North Lake.
The Southern California Edison dam, about 35 miles west of Bishop broke about 9 a.m., and destroyed several homes in the tiny unincorporated community of Aspindell, said Dave Walliser, state fire marshal for the Bishop area.
"There's been considerable damage," he said, adding that there were no reports of injuries.
By early afternoon, 1,700 people had been evacuated from the northeast section of Bishop, which has a population of 4,100, said Mike Brown at the Office of Emergency Services in Sacramento. City officials declared a state of emergency and police drove down streets with bullhorns asking residents to leave.
An undetermined number of people also were being evacuated from unincorporated areas along Bishop Creek, the drainage system for the 14-acre lake located 9,000 feet above sea level. North Lake had been swollen by rainfall from hurricane turned tropical storm Olivia.

with the tourney she turned in. The 5-11 outside hitter had 76 kills in 187 chances, seven service aces, four blocks and four defensive saves.

"It was a tremendous performance by Wendy for us," Wilton said. "Randy also played well and Terri (Purling) came back to life for us. Tina (Taylor) also got nice and flashy out there."

Purling, a 6-1 sophomore, had been in a hitting slump until the weekend trip. Jin the four matches, she was 45-11 in kills, hit .41 service aces and nine solo blocks.

"My hitting slump affected my whole game," Purling said. "Basically, it was all attitude. Then I got the attitude of 'Just go for it and you can't really lose.' I had to be more aggressive. The last two matches (before the tourney) I didn't play well. But I had a really good workout and it made me realize that if I go out and give it everything I got, it will come out good."

This tournament wasn't all spins, service aces and blocks for Cal Poly, though. The Mustangs had a few against them. But, you see, Poly's biggest problem right now is not the opposition. It is itself. Take the San Jose State game for example. After winning game one 15-9 in what Wilton called "a very business-like manner," the Mustangs were a different team.

"San Jose came out fired up in the second game," Wilton said. "And right now, we're just inventing ways to mess up. They built up big leads in games two and three, and we came back to make it close, but it's like slamming the gate after the cows are gone."

Then games four and five took about as long as a Sebastian Coe mile run. Why the turnaround? "You tell me, we'll bite it and make a million dollars," Wilton laughed, "we spend more time digging a hole for ourselves. But we do have a tremendous ability to come back. We got off to a fast start in game four and got our backs against the wall. We really do have a good team. We're just going to have to see us not dig those huge holes for ourselves, though."

Hepper said she knows it won't last long. "We won't be doing this all season," she remarked. "When we get to know ourselves better, we will. We won't be having those mental lapses."

Wednesday night the Mustangs beat the noise in a considered mental lapse to a minimum as Poly takes its six-game winning streak to Stockton to face the University of the Pacific on Friday-Saturday. The Tigers were ranked No. 1 by Volleyball Monthly last week and No. 2 by the Turchik poll.

Poly will then depart for UC Berkeley where it will face the host Bears, the University of San Diego, and, once again, Stanford in the UC Berkeley Tournament. The Mustangs placed second behind Stanford a year ago.

Soccer: Tie is like beating the Cosmos

Pai and the rest of the Mustang defense turned in their usual solid performance against a highly skilled offensive force. Martin Vasey, the Eagles leading scorer (6 goals, 6 assists in 6 games), was held scoreless while taking shots on goal and his teammates didn't fare much better.

The only Eagle to do damage was Marc Charleton, whose deep shot from Gary Green and put the ball into the lower righthand corner of the net for the only goal of the first half.

The goal seemed to wake up Poly, as they mounted their best offensive threats of the game thereafter. Earnie the other forward who connected on the game one 15-9 in what Wilton called "a very business-like manner," the Mustangs were a different team.

"San Jose came out fired up in the second game," Wilton said. "And right now, we're just inventing ways to mess up. They built up big leads in games two and three, and we came back to make it close, but it's like slamming the gate after the cows are gone."

Poly will then depart for UC Berkeley where it will face the host Bears, the University of San Diego, and, once again, Stanford in the UC Berkeley Tournament. The Mustangs placed second behind Stanford a year ago.

Renaudio Nehemiah going over a hurdle, scored on an and left foot show.

There was no more scoring in regulation and overtime, but the Eagles had two chances. Green missed a few crossing pass and had an attempted deflected by Smith, who made a diving stop of a crossing pass in the last minute to seal the deadlock.

The tie, coupled with a previous 9-2 win over the Eagles, puts the Mustangs on top of the OCAA with a 4-1-1 league record. More importantly, the Eagles, who were expected to give Poly the most competition for the title this year, are now 2-1-1 in conference play, which Poly can win with a win of the remaining nine league games, the title will be theirs.

"This puts us in a great spot for the league race," Gartner said, obviously excited about the possibility of a first league championship for the Mustangs.

Wednesday night was the visibly excited after the game was Apsey, a junior forward from Fresno, who smiled broadly and said, "All you have to write is 'Mustangs in first place.'"

All right, Curtis. Mustangs in first place.

Defense squeezes life out of Idaho State air game

From there it was Cal Poly, in a big way, Biller with the 69-yard play to Martin, capping a five-play, 84-yard drive.

The Hungry line of Cal Poly proved its worth with 11 minutes in the fourth quarter when Jerry Schmidt forced Peterson into the end zone for a safety. 19-12, ISU.

David Croteau put the edge on with 1:33 left in the game, booting a 65-yard field goal after a 10-second series from Biller to Martin.

Cal Poly puts in the win bracket. ISU's big one in the loser's spot. Cal Poly travels to Portland State next Saturday for its first Western Football Conference. Portland also got a taste of Idaho football—a bad taste, losing to Idaho this week 56-0.

The Adventures of Captain Pig

Dear Editor:

I was hurt and appalled to read your editorial "Welcome Back" in the September 2nd edition of the Mustang Daily. Welcome back to what? An island?

You say, ... the Daily should be a school newspaper. We plan to focus more intensely on Cal Poly instead of both it and San Luis Obispo... There will still be outside coverage, but the Daily will be much larger, toward Cal Poly.... This is a dangerous policy to follow.

Approximately 1,500 students live in the on-campus dorms this year, but they don't stay on campus all the time. The other 13,350 students live in S.L.O. They rent their apartments, park and drive their cars, shop for and eat their food in S.L.O. Their parents and friends come to visit them in S.L.O. They attend community functions such as the Mozart Festival, La Fiesta, and the Mardi Gras. The community also attends our university events such as Poly Royal and athletic events.

My obvious point is that the university and the community are an inseparable, integral part of one another. As such, they cannot rationally be isolated into separate entities. This is not, by a long shot, the end of the story/community rapport than there has been in years. A major goal of this year's ASI is to expand on last year's success, bring the university and the community into a closer, more harmonious relationship than ever before.

In order to facilitate this goal, the ASI needs the support of the Mustang Daily to reconsider the degree to which it covers off-campus issues and events. A single man is not an island, not a university campus.

Last year, the ASI had tremendous success in establishing a better university/students from an off-campus standpoint. The community has been in many years. A major goal of this year's ASI is to expand on last year's success, bring the university and the community into a closer, more harmonious relationship than ever before.

In order to facilitate this goal, the ASI needs the support of the Mustang Daily as it is in the forum most read by the majority of Cal Poly students. Your help is a critical requisite for our success. Thank you for airing my views.

ASI Announcements

A serious deficiency in the effectiveness of the current government on this campus has been its relative isolation from the general student body. While most students are indirectly aware of the activities of the ASI through its various programming activities (i.e., movies, concerts, intramurals, editorial services, discussions on programming these programs and services in addition to on-campus campus) are often reported to the students only after the fact.

This column will attempt to provide its readers with a heightened awareness of the issues being decided by the Student Senate during the year. By announcing these issues prior to Senate discussion and action, students are encouraged to provide input and express their views. The Senate meets every Wednesday evening at 7:00 P.M. in University Union 250.

Escort Service: With the support of the Office of Public Safety, we are beginning to coordinate the scheduling of the Escort Service. We need many volunteers to provide escorts from the University Union and the library. The dorms and student organizations are encouraged to contact the ASI office, UU 217A (546-1291) if they wish to participate in this very worthwhile service. Last year the Escort Service received much support from fraternities and proved to be quite successful.

Finance Committee: The ASI Finance Committee is the Senate's only standing committee. It works within the parameters of the ASI and the University Union's annual budget which exceeds $1.2 million. There are 11 number of openings for the general student body. Anyone interested in joining the committee should stop by the ASI Office or contact the ASI Director, Charles Dickey (546-1291).

Student Trustee: The Board of Trustees of the California State University system has one student member. This student trustee will be ending her term in December and a recommended replacement will be chosen next month by the California State Student Association (CSSA). The CSSA will recommend two people to Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr. who will make the final selection. To qualify, a student must be of Junior standing and enrolled in a California State University. If selected, the person will serve a two-year term. For more information, again, contact the ASI Office.

Voter Registration: The ASI is also sponsoring a voter registration drive. With many important issues and political races on the November ballot, we encourage all students to become informed on the issues and register to vote. Registration cards are available in the ASI Office. You may come in and fill one out any time during business hours.

Recently, the ASI Speakers' Forum and the League of Women Voters sponsored a debate between Assembly candidates Kurt Kupper and Eric Seastriand. The League of Women Voters provided non-partisan political information and encouraged student participation in the electoral process.

Intramural Information

There are more to college life than just academics. So come and get involved with Recreational Sports. This fall we have plenty to offer the sports-minded student who's looking for a little leisure-time activity.

There are upcoming meetings for managers/assistant managers interested in entering a team for Touch Football. Fraternity, residence hall, independent, competitive and recreational divisions are available. Women are encouraged to get a team going, also. Meetings will be held Monday, Sept. 27 at 6:00 p.m. in Science North 202 or Tuesday, Sept. 28, in the Sierra Madre upper study hall room. If you would like to join, but are not on a team, come to the meeting and we'll get you started. Officials meeting will be at 7 p.m. Flights and mandatory for hiring.

If you're interested in Backgammon, try your skill in the round robin tournament that starts Monday, Oct. 4. Entry tries will be taken in our office at UU 104 until 6:00 p.m. Friday, Oct. 1. For more information about the 60 other activities scheduled for the year, just come in and see us. We have informative activity sheets and personnel to assist in answering your questions. Registration cards are available in the ASI Office. You may come in and fill one out any time during business hours.

We'll be needing officials for 82-83 for sports such as football, basketball, volleyball, soccer, water polo, floor hockey, indoor tennis, swimming, wrestling, one-pitch softball, ultimate frisbee, and b歃er ball. Experience is desirable, but not necessary. We will train those interested in official's clinics. Please check the campus calendar for events for meetings or check with our help desk.

Come on and take advantage of what Recreational Sports has to offer you.
