Senate refuses to pass package that urges peace

by John Bachman
Staff Writer

The Student Senate defeated a Peace Package Wednesday night after spending over an hour debating it. The Peace Package encouraged California's legislation to begin the process of taking the president and Congress to court steps toward curtailing the tension between the United States and the USSR.

The House of Representatives passed the resolution which called for the halting of research and deployment of nuclear weapons including the Pershing II in West Germany.

The senators also amended the Peace Package to say that it was the opinion of Student Senators and not the whole student body, but the resolution still failed.

The resolution's author Julie Clayton, student senator from the school of Human Development and Education, asked for one week to rework the resolution, but the Senate called for a vote. The Peace Package was defeated 13-8 with two abstentions.

"I wish the Student Senate would have allowed me to take the resolution back and rework it," said Clayton. "I'm very disappointed it didn't pass."

During the debate, Clayton said, "A yes vote means we are concerned about the future of the race and the planet." But many senators felt it was inappropriate for the Student Senate to take a stand on social issues.

"The Senate should deal with issues which affect our education," said Senator Scott Rogers from Agriculture and Natural Resources. "That is what we were elected to do. We are trying to tackle the government's job."

Roger said that social issues should be dealt with through the Mustang Daily and KCPR. A special section should be set up, he said, which would inform students of meetings or people to contact about social issues.

Some senators worried about the time it would take for the Student Senate to deal with social issues. "If we encourage social issues," said Senator casa Novimi from Agriculture and Natural Resources, we won't have time to vote on educational issues."

"I have some reservations about social issues," said Senator Lars Persson from Communication and Humanities. "But the reason I voted for it was I think we should do anything we can to deal with this situation."

Inside...

Sights and sounds around town

See page 4

Lawyer warns of illegal surveillance in 1984

by Catherine Aaron
Special to the Daily

Reading about Winston Smith being captured and tortured for "thought crimes" in George Orwell's "1984," we think "this doesn't happen in America; this could never happen to me."

"Our inclination is to think 'this is not fiction,' but it is future...it's what we're getting to," Maguire said.

Yet one surveillance technique is committed in this country, according to a lecture given Thursday by local attorney James B. Maguire III. Maguire cited nine cases in which police or secret agents had violated a person's civil rights, and the role defense attorneys played in reprimanding them.

The Los Angeles Police Department conducted a domestic spy program from 1970 to 1981. The American Civil Liberties Union finally brought them to court for illegally spying on some 1,000 persons and organizations. Maguire said. On college campuses agents were hired to follow students to as well as inside their classes at California State University at Northridge. Undercover agents enrolled at the University of California Los Angeles in 1975 to keep tabs on professors by submitting reports on class discussions.

"We can say that 'this is not fiction,' but this is future...it's what we're getting to," Maguire said.

With improved technology, rooms and phones can be bugged invisibly and inaudibly. Hidden microphones can be easily slid into coat pockets and recorded conversations undetected. Satellite photographs can spot an item as small as a pack of cigarettes.

"Through hidden cameras we've seen people caught in the act and convicted, such as congressmen taking campaign bribes and John DeLorean sitting there with a bag of cocaine in his lap," Maguire added.

What is reasonable or unreasonable is not always agreed upon in court. Any activity "in plain view" is fair evidence, so agents can legally follow and observe people in public places.

In his lecture titled "Big Brother Is Watching You," James B. Maguire III, a local attorney with the firm of Maguire and Ashbaugh, discussed the state of the law and its application.

Facility challenge Task Force recommendations

by John Bachman
Staff Writer

Faculty from both the natural resources management and child development and home economics departments are voicing criticisms of the President's Task Force recommendations.

The Task Force recommended that two of the 15 department heads of the university—natural resources and home economics—be phased out.

"The current natural resources management department is split over the Task Force's recommendation. The current wildlife management be moved to biological sciences and the natural resources management department to economics," said Home economics associate professor Barbara Whitten. "He promoted his own interest in economics instead of that of the department."

Faculty members in child development and home economics were split over the Task Force's recommendation. "I want to see the effects carefully weighed," said home economics associate professor Barbara Weber. "The Glencoe for home economics programs is that the administration doesn't understand the complex issues. I hope they are patient," Weber went on the say that the changes would weaken the home economics department and they could lose their accreditation.

Home economics professor Dave England said the child development department students supported the move and pointed out that the home economics department was accredited before it merged with child development.

"I don't believe like a forester instead of a department head," said Monteen. "I wish the Student Senate would have allowed me to take the resolution back and rework it."

"We don't belong to anyone," said James Vilkitis, a faculty member in the school of Human Development and Education. "We are trying to tackle the government's job."

Natural resource faculty also criticized their department head and his ability to remain unbiased. "I think he is well thought of, but the reason I voted for it was I think we should do anything we can to deal with this situation."

Please see page 3
Letters

Opinion

The bare necessities

A deplorable place for their staff.

That's all the 30 business faculty members who are

It's a SLO world

by John Kohlsaat

shameful in Modoc. They are asking for. Modoc is the faculty

I DON'T CARE IF YOU ARE MY ROOMMATE AND I'M ONE MORE SQUAK AND YOU'VE HAD IT ENOUGH?

office building moved behind the library fall quarter, when

STOP WHAT ARE YOU BUILDING TO MY BIRD?

Construction of the new engineering building began.

I'M SICK AND TIRED OF HAVING THE SHEET HOME IN THE MORNING.

The displaced instructors have had to deal with a 42-year

HAVE A COCK-ATELL.

old wooden decaying building, which the university had ini-

We are now forced to conduct our business in primitive office conditions.

Went to throw him in the blender, no ice in there.

The bare necessities

ally contended to demolish. They have even been forced to

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be

A teacher should not be forced to spend time looking for

A university professor requires an office. This fact cannot be
Privacy becoming more elusive

From page 1

Maguire cited the case of People vs. Arno, in which a man spied on and found to have pornographic films in his apartment. The court called it an unreasonable search, since he was in a private place.

The concept of "expectation of privacy" was created to define places where citizens could expect to be free from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or secured by helicopters hovering 20 feet over one's house; in one's yard—backyard only; and can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One search, since he was in a private place.

The Court further researched and found that no police had ever been prosecuted for wire-tapping, and were not likely to be. The remedy decided upon to deter police from illegal surveillance was the Exclusionary Rule, which says that all evidence obtained illegally requires on its departments and address the issue at system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends language Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

In other action the senate passed a Foreign Languages Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

The resolution is similar to one passed by the Academic Senate, Senator Kevin Creighton said. Campus by a hostel is a better way to deal with the requirement, giving a lot more flexibility with more control to each of the campus' student and faculty, he said.

The concept of "expectation of privacy" was created to define places where citizens could expect to be free from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or secured by helicopters hovering 20 feet over one's house; in one's yard—backyard only; and can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One search, since he was in a private place.

The Court further researched and found that no police had ever been prosecuted for wire-tapping, and were not likely to be. The remedy decided upon to deter police from illegal surveillance was the Exclusionary Rule, which says that all evidence obtained illegally requires on its departments and address the issue at system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

In other action the senate passed a Foreign Languages Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

The resolution is similar to one passed by the Academic Senate, Senator Kevin Creighton said. Campus by a hostel is a better way to deal with the requirement, giving a lot more flexibility with more control to each of the campus' student and faculty, he said.

Senate debates over discussing social issues

From page 1

Maguire cited the case of People vs. Arno, in which a man spied on and found to have pornographic films in his apartment. The court called it an unreasonable search, since he was in a private place.

The concept of "expectation of privacy" was created to define places where citizens could expect to be free from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or close to his house; in one's yard—backyard only; and from being intruded upon by intruders in one's trash can, unless it is a public dumpster.

Privacy can, unless it is a public dumpster. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One search, since he was in a private place.

The Court further researched and found that no police had ever been prosecuted for wire-tapping, and were not likely to be. The remedy decided upon to deter police from illegal surveillance was the Exclusionary Rule, which says that all evidence obtained illegally requires on its departments and address the issue at system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

In other action the senate passed a Foreign Languages Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

The resolution is similar to one passed by the Academic Senate, Senator Kevin Creighton said. Campus by a hostel is a better way to deal with the requirement, giving a lot more flexibility with more control to each of the campus' student and faculty, he said.

Privacy becoming more elusive

From page 1

Maguire cited the case of People vs. Arno, in which a man spied on and found to have pornographic films in his apartment. The court called it an unreasonable search, since he was in a private place.

The concept of "expectation of privacy" was created to define places where citizens could expect to be free from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or close to his house; in one's yard—backyard only; and from being intruded upon by intruders in one's trash can, unless it is a public dumpster.

Privacy can, unless it is a public dumpster. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One search, since he was in a private place.

The Court further researched and found that no police had ever been prosecuted for wire-tapping, and were not likely to be. The remedy decided upon to deter police from illegal surveillance was the Exclusionary Rule, which says that all evidence obtained illegally requires on its departments and address the issue at system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

In other action the senate passed a Foreign Languages Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

The resolution is similar to one passed by the Academic Senate, Senator Kevin Creighton said. Campus by a hostel is a better way to deal with the requirement, giving a lot more flexibility with more control to each of the campus' student and faculty, he said.

Senate debates over discussing social issues

From page 1

Maguire cited the case of People vs. Arno, in which a man spied on and found to have pornographic films in his apartment. The court called it an unreasonable search, since he was in a private place.

The concept of "expectation of privacy" was created to define places where citizens could expect to be free from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or close to his house; in one's yard—backyard only; and from being intruded upon by intruders in one's trash can, unless it is a public dumpster.

Privacy can, unless it is a public dumpster. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One search, since he was in a private place.

The Court further researched and found that no police had ever been prosecuted for wire-tapping, and were not likely to be. The remedy decided upon to deter police from illegal surveillance was the Exclusionary Rule, which says that all evidence obtained illegally requires on its departments and address the issue at system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

In other action the senate passed a Foreign Languages Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

The resolution is similar to one passed by the Academic Senate, Senator Kevin Creighton said. Campus by a hostel is a better way to deal with the requirement, giving a lot more flexibility with more control to each of the campus' student and faculty, he said.

Privacy becoming more elusive

From page 1

Maguire cited the case of People vs. Arno, in which a man spied on and found to have pornographic films in his apartment. The court called it an unreasonable search, since he was in a private place.

The concept of "expectation of privacy" was created to define places where citizens could expect to be free from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or close to his house; in one's yard—backyard only; and from being intruded upon by intruders in one's trash can, unless it is a public dumpster.

Privacy can, unless it is a public dumpster. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One search, since he was in a private place.

The Court further researched and found that no police had ever been prosecuted for wire-tapping, and were not likely to be. The remedy decided upon to deter police from illegal surveillance was the Exclusionary Rule, which says that all evidence obtained illegally requires on its departments and address the issue at system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

In other action the senate passed a Foreign Languages Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

The resolution is similar to one passed by the Academic Senate, Senator Kevin Creighton said. Campus by a hostel is a better way to deal with the requirement, giving a lot more flexibility with more control to each of the campus' student and faculty, he said.

Senate debates over discussing social issues

From page 1

Maguire cited the case of People vs. Arno, in which a man spied on and found to have pornographic films in his apartment. The court called it an unreasonable search, since he was in a private place.

The concept of "expectation of privacy" was created to define places where citizens could expect to be free from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or close to his house; in one's yard—backyard only; and from being intruded upon by intruders in one's trash can, unless it is a public dumpster.

Privacy can, unless it is a public dumpster. One can expect privacy in one's garage, if it is attached or from surveillance. Even these instances are fuzzy. One search, since he was in a private place.

The Court further researched and found that no police had ever been prosecuted for wire-tapping, and were not likely to be. The remedy decided upon to deter police from illegal surveillance was the Exclusionary Rule, which says that all evidence obtained illegally requires on its departments and address the issue at system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

In other action the senate passed a Foreign Languages Requirement resolution which opposes a system-wide requirement. The resolution recommends that such campus evaluate the impact of such a requirement on its departments and address the issue at its own campus.

The resolution is similar to one passed by the Academic Senate, Senator Kevin Creighton said. Campus by a hostel is a better way to deal with the requirement, giving a lot more flexibility with more control to each of the campus' student and faculty, he said.
Sights and sounds around town

Films

by Andy Prohler

A comedy/tragedy involving the 30-year relationship between a mother (Shirley Maclaine) and her daughter (Debra Winger). Nick Nolte plays two roles: a tough rancher and his gold-propecting brother.

"The Buddy System" stars Susan Sarandon and Richard Dreyfuss. This domestic comedy bears a striking resemblance to Neil Simon's hit movie "The Goodbye Girl."

Footloose

Premiere Theatre

This movie aims to be this year's "Flashdance." A teenager from Chicago moves to a rural high school where both his music and his values threaten to set the town on fire.

Geeky Park

Madonna Theatre

A Russian detective (William Hurt) tries to solve the murders of three people, whose decapitated bodies were found under the ice in a Moscow amusement park. His efforts are complicated when he falls in love with a Russian dissident, played by Polish actress Joanna Pacula.

Vestl

Madonna Theatre

Set in turn-of-the-century Poland, this film tells the story of a family that is torn apart when the son rejects their lifestyle and religion. Only a hockey player and his girlfriend prove their love.

The Prodigal

Madonna Theatre

This is the story of a family that is torn apart when the son rejects their lifestyle and religion. Only a hockey player and his girlfriend prove their love.

La Traviata

Rainbow Theatre, Feb. 14-20

This is the film adaptation of the beautiful Verdi opera. "La Traviata." Director Franco Zeffirelli brings the musical experience on film, complete with lush sets and fabulous costumes.

The Impotence of Being Earnest

The Cal Poly Speech Communications Department will present Oscar Wilde's comic classic "The Impotence of Being Earnest." Feb. 16 through 18, 8 p.m. at the Cal Poly Theatre.

Sudden Impact

Eastwood returns to the role of Harry Callahan, the tough San Francisco homicide detective who exacts his own brand of justice. Once again, Sondra Locke co-stars.

The Lonely Guy

Fremont Theatre

This movie aims to be this year's "Flashdance." A high school dropout from Chicago moves to a rural high school where both his music and his values threaten to set the town on fire.

Geeky Park

Madonna Theatre

A Russian detective (William Hurt) tries to solve the murders of three people, whose decapitated bodies were found under the ice in a Moscow amusement park. His efforts are complicated when he falls in love with a Russian dissident, played by Polish actress Joanna Pacula.

Vestl

Madonna Theatre

Set in turn-of-the-century Poland, this film tells the story of a family that is torn apart when the son rejects their lifestyle and religion. Only a hockey player and his girlfriend prove their love.

The Prodigal

Madonna Theatre

This is the story of a family that is torn apart when the son rejects their lifestyle and religion. Only a hockey player and his girlfriend prove their love.

La Traviata

Rainbow Theatre, Feb. 14-20

This is the film adaptation of the beautiful Verdi opera. "La Traviata." Director Franco Zeffirelli brings the musical experience on film, complete with lush sets and fabulous costumes.

The Impotence of Being Earnest

The Cal Poly Speech Communications Department will present Oscar Wilde's comic classic "The Impotence of Being Earnest." Feb. 16 through 18, 8 p.m. at the Cal Poly Theatre.

Sudden Impact

Eastwood returns to the role of Harry Callahan, the tough San Francisco homicide detective who exacts his own brand of justice. Once again, Sondra Locke co-stars.
Sights and sounds around town
From page 4

THEATER
Great American Melodrama

- The Cal Poly student lab theatre will present "Marry Incorporated" on Feb. 24, 8 p.m. in Room 212 of the H.P. Davidson Music Center. Written and directed by Margaret Eckman, the one-act play is set in the intensive care unit of a fictitious hospital. The play explores with humor and irony the question of humanity and the conflict between technology and death. Tickets are $1 at the door.

ETC...

Books at High Noon
The sixth program of the winter series will examine Umberto Eco's "The Name of the Rose." English professor Robert Huot will review the book Wednesday, Feb. 22 at 12 p.m. in the Staff Dining Room.

MUSIC
British Brass

- The British Brass of Birmingham, England will present a concert on Wednesday, Feb. 22 at 8 p.m. in the Cuesta College Auditorium.

WODSTOCK'S PIZZA PARLOR
we deliver at lunch (one coupon per pizza)

541-4420
Top agriculture official addresses water problem

by Rebecca Prough

Staff Writer

The primary issue facing the agriculture industry in the 1980s is the capture and conservation of water, said Jerry Siebert, director of the University of California's Cooperative Extension told Cal Poly students and faculty Thursday.

Dr. Jerome Siebert spoke to approximately 120 people about "Agricultural Extension and the Next Decade." Siebert stressed the importance of having enough water for productive agriculture and the role Agricultural Extension plays in the agriculture business.

Siebert said that more than enough water falls annually, but the problem is capturing and storing the water. He said the state can only capture 40 million acre-feet of water annually, but needs 42 million acre-feet for the most successful agriculture.

Cooperative Extension concentrates on the policies that deal with the water shortage, the conservation and management of water, and water development, he said.

"We are trying to bring together local and statewide considerations, and we want to get the water policy back on course," Siebert said.

Siebert said two other important issues facing agriculture are integrated pest management and better marketing techniques.

"California is like a nation and marketing is a real challenge for California agriculture in the '80s and '90s," he said.

The Cooperative Extension, also called Agricultural Extension by Siebert, is part of a three-way partnership in which Federal, State and county governments share in planning and financing education programs through the University of California. The three levels of government interpret, adjust, and disseminate information concerning the latest developments in agriculture.

Siebert explained that Agricultural Extension programs have grown in the past few years, and there are now 54 county offices throughout California. There are farm, farm, and home advisors in each county office.

The advisors are responsible for providing educational programs at the local level, and there are about 360 professional advisors, Siebert said.

The Agricultural Extension program's budget is approximately $47 million a year, and the total workforce is 1,100 people. "You can look on us as somewhat of a small campus with walls," Siebert said.

The program works with agricultural research services and wants to have a closer relationship with university faculties, he added.

Extension specialists help both small- and large-scale farmers solve everyday problems.

"The primary focus is on the family farm and the primary supporters of agriculture are family farmers," Siebert said.

Siebert said career opportunities in the Agricultural Extension program are good. He said if a student wants a career in the forefront of science and knowledge, Agricultural Extension is a good opportunity to do so.

Siebert's lecture was sponsored by the student council of the university's School of Agriculture and Natural Resources.
The way things look now, the days of the major independent in college basketball, with the possible exception of Notre Dame, are numbered. For the last 10 years, they've been on the NCAA's endangered species list, almost extinct in upper stratosphere, with only a few bald eagles like the Irish, Marquette, and De Paul hanging on to their nests in the lofty crags.

Now, it looks like they'll go the way of the buffalo, something they have been forced to do just to assure themselves a schedule. Notre Dame, Marquette, De Paul and Dayton—the last big carrier pigeons in the Midwest—have just made a pact to play each other twice a year. This looks to me like this could be a prelude to a conference to catch the remaining independents in the Midwest and East, which could mean that all major independents would sooner or later be associated with some conference.

If and when that happens, the orderly process the NCAA has wanted for years would be complete. It started back when we had 32 teams in the NCAA tourney, when the NCAA created an acceleration toward conferences 10 years ago, promising an automatic tournament berth to the winner of any new conference from 6 to 10 teams. All of a sudden we had conferences like the Metro, Mid-Cities, and Sun Belt, which were formed to take advantage of the situation...and the number of independents began to shrivel.

The problem was, as the number of conferences increased, independents—even the darlings of the boob tube like Notre Dame and De Paul—found they couldn't schedule in January and February because all the schools were tied up in conference play. To assure their schedule, they've entered into this agreement, but my bet is that it will end up as just another conference down the road, with the winner getting that automatic invitation to the NCAA's big party and—Miller Time in March.

It's sad to see the end of major independents. They were always a charming, exciting Alice In Wonderland-type teams who could travel from coast to coast, border to border. They were refreshing, kind of off the normal beaten path, and their schedule wasn't mundane, a 50-year scheduling thing of the same teams every year. You could bring in a Jacksonville, the Air Force Academy, St. John's.

What I liked best about being an independent was that when Cinderella made the ball, ella Notre Dame or Marquette, and went to final four, they got to keep all the money, where Michigan would have to go to nine straight parties to make what the independent made.

If the independents go, it will put an end to the ageless argument about who has the most difficult schedule, the conference school or the independent. I've always said, all coaches schedule a certain amount of cupcakes, no matter who they are. It's just that with conference schools, their cupcakes are in their conference and they get to play them twice.

The argument against independents is that they have a soft schedule, that they can kinda stroke it. Hey, I admit I would book my six or seven cupcakes every season. But the thing is, the conference teams would have their cupcakes in pre-conference, and then once they started conference play, they had four more cupcakes, too, because they played everybody twice.

Another advantage most conference teams have is that they have three ways to get to the NCAA tournament. The conference team can qualify by winning its conference title, or by winning its post-season conference tournament, or on the basis of its overall record.

On the other hand, the independent school has only one way to show its pedigree—in season record.

Hopefully, teams like Marquette, Dayton, De Paul and Notre Dame will survive, but right now, it looks like they're on the last of the Mohicans.
Poly wrestlers shakers torque, topple Fresno St.

The Cal Poly season ended on a high note as the Mustangs defeated the University of Idaho on Friday.

The victory sets up the Mustangs for the Western Regional Tournament on Saturday.

The Mustangs swept the 142- and 150-pound matches, but fell to the Vandals in the 147-pound category.

The Mustangs are now looking forward to the Regional Tournament, which will determine their chance at a national title.

The Mustangs are currently ranked 12th nationally, one higher than Delong, although Delong has beaten them three times this season.

The 142-pound and 150-pound matches were disappointing for the Mustangs, but the 150-pound bout with Izzy in the 147-pound bout was a win for Delong, and put Poly back on the winning track.

The Mustangs are currently ranked 12th nationally, one higher than Delong, although Delong has beaten them three times this season.

The Mustangs are currently ranked 12th nationally, one higher than Delong, although Delong has beaten them three times this season.