Car vandalism: a recurring campus problem

By SANDRA THORNBURGH

Shredded tires, broken antennas and scratched paint are becoming a familiar sight in Cal Poly parking lots as the incident of car vandalism continues to be a recurring problem on campus.

"Vandalism was on and off all last year," said Investigator Ron Herrett of the Cal Poly Public Safety Department. Continued with reported thefts of parking stickers, go-cups and other car parts, illegal tampering with campus vehicles is one of the greater problems on campus, he added.

Last week, the incidents of car vandalism were reported to the Public Safety Department. The most recent occurred last Thursday in the I 2 parking lot in the creek off Highland Drive.

"The person took a knife and totally shredded my bag and car right through the paint down to the metal," said the owner of the vandalized Volkswagen Rabbit GTI, who wished to remain anonymous. "I had wondered a silver rabbit on the car and they cut the handle in half like they had something against rabbits. It gets me so upset I don't want to know that some vandalized person is out there doing these things to people's cars."

Herrett said she didn't think it was anyone after her because she had just moved here and didn't know anyone. "It seemed like the person was more intent on hurting the body of the car because they didn't go after the tires or the fog lights."

The other two incidents both took place in dorm parking lots. One of the victims, who also wished to remain anonymous, left his Volkswagen Rabbit on Sunday in the dorm parking lot off Grand Avenue and came back Monday to find it vandalized.

"They scratched the whole length of the driver's side, bent the antenna, broke the license plate frame, took the gas-cap and bent both the front and rear wind-shield wipers," the victim said. "I couldn't understand why anyone would want to do this to my car because I don't have any enemies here."

"The opportunity to obtain a student park lot for police officers to patrol and feels that increased student awareness of the problem could help."

"I am sure people see these things happening, but don't take the time to report them," Hardy said. "Cal Poly parking lots have become the biggest shopping center in town."

Herrett said the problem could be alleviated by a student parking lot watch which he has tried to implement in the past but lacked volunteers to run the program. Unless students take the time to report suspicious activity the problem of car vandalism will probably continue.

Anti-abortion posters have sparked controversy on campus over the past few weeks. A film depicting an actual abortion with the Vietnam War references to the visual media coverage of the war. Mustang Daily

Please see ABORTION, page 3

External degree program: diploma without classes

By SANDY BRADLEY

An employed adult may have the opportunity to obtain a bachelor of arts in general studies without becoming a regularly enrolled student if an external degree program proposal is adopted.

Dr. Howard M. Vollmer, of the Extended Education Department, is now in the process of planning negotiations with California State University, administration, faculty, and community colleges. He said that he is not sure that the program will ever be a reality, amount of demand, faculty and local college support must first be analyzed.

The program would be ideal for weekend adult, who has to work during the day or obtaining a new degree. Existing concurrent enrollment in courses on campus and concurrent study, challenge of coursework examinations, transfer credit and the normal semester program are requisites.

The student would be accepted at a rate of 10 units per quarter. The Extended Education Department will be responsible for the program.

Please see DEGREE program page 3

MBA info day Wednesday

By SUSAN EDMONDSON

Students can learn about obtaining a Master of Business Administration degree at Cal Poly during MBA Information Day on Wednesday.

"It's just too many cars in too many places. A film depicting an actual abortion showed just too many cars in too many places," the of comment. In Bishop Lounge by the Coalition of American Respect Life University Students (CAMPUS).

CAMPUS, a student anti-abortion club on campus which has been criticized by students for graphic posters depicting aborted babies, showed a film on Thursday of an actual abortion, which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. The audience was generally silent, with anyone who wished to comment. There were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.

"If this is an educational institution, why shouldn't it be shown three times in Bishop Lounge by the Coalition of American Respect Life University Students (CAMPUS)"

Bishops Lounge, which has a large video screen, was crowded with over 50 people. Two thirds of whom were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.

Six students from the 14 member club, Brent Murdock said of the first time he saw the film. It cut into my heart and soul."

CAMPUS, a student anti-abortion club on campus which has been criticized by students for graphic posters depicting aborted babies, showed a film Thursday of an abortion in process, which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. The audience was generally silent, with anyone who wished to comment. There were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.

"If this is an educational institution, why shouldn't it be shown three times in Bishop Lounge by the Coalition of American Respect Life University Students (CAMPUS)"

Bishops Lounge, which has a large video screen, was crowded with over 50 people. Two thirds of whom were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.

Six students from the 14 member club, Brent Murdock said of the first time he saw the film. It cut into my heart and soul."

CAMPUS, a student anti-abortion club on campus which has been criticized by students for graphic posters depicting aborted babies, showed a film Thursday of an abortion in process, which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. The audience was generally silent, with anyone who wished to comment. There were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.

Six students from the 14 member club, Brent Murdock said of the first time he saw the film. It cut into my heart and soul."

CAMPUS, a student anti-abortion club on campus which has been criticized by students for graphic posters depicting aborted babies, showed a film Thursday of an abortion in process, which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. The audience was generally silent, with anyone who wished to comment. There were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.

Six students from the 14 member club, Brent Murdock said of the first time he saw the film. It cut into my heart and soul."

CAMPUS, a student anti-abortion club on campus which has been criticized by students for graphic posters depicting aborted babies, showed a film Thursday of an abortion in process, which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. The audience was generally silent, with anyone who wished to comment. There were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.

Six students from the 14 member club, Brent Murdock said of the first time he saw the film. It cut into my heart and soul."

CAMPUS, a student anti-abortion club on campus which has been criticized by students for graphic posters depicting aborted babies, showed a film Thursday of an abortion in process, which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. The audience was generally silent, with anyone who wished to comment. There were male students. The audience was generally silent throughout the film which was narrated by Dr. Bernard Nathanson. There were occasional contorted facial expressions from the audience as Nathanson described the abortion in process, then the beating of the fetus is removed piece by piece from the uterus.
Opinion

TEACHing the right way

Cal Poly is an institute of higher learning. Some of the most intelligent minds are here at this university, and as students, we have access to invaluable information through the knowledge and expertise of many professors.

There is a problem, however. Many professors use their intelligence to baffie, rather than teach. Many professors are too intelligent to deal with a classroom of students. The key word here is "teach." Students are people who are learning, not people who already know everything about a subject.

In a class where a new concept is being taught, teachers need to realize that their students may not know the basics. Don't they know that cardinal teaching rule—"it is always best to start from square one?"

It is very frustrating to go to class, take notes on a subject that only the teacher seems to understand, be quizzed on it the following week and then get the quiz back with a low score.

Asking questions would seem to solve the problem. But, all too often the answers consist of some complex explanation even more foreign than the original question. Some professors even seem to get upset when students ask questions. They think the answers are so obvious that even a high school student could grasp the meaning of the subject.

In other cases professors believe so wholeheartedly in what they are teaching, and they get wrapped up in their lecture or teaching techniques to such an extent that they forget to come down to the level of their students to answer questions. They cannot even understand students' questions because they are so "basic."

We are not condemning those professors who have teaching techniques that teach. We applaud those instructors who work outside office hours to accommodate students who are having difficulties in the class, and who will sit down on a one-to-one basis and go over the "basics." Those teachers who communicate the information to the class in an organized and interesting way also deserve recognition.

We also realize that upper division classes are meant to expand our horizons, and challenge our intellect and practicality. But it is not excusable for a 100-level introductory class, to be so difficult that students want nothing better than to get through the test and to never have to take another class in that department. Obviously, not every class is going to appeal to every person, but every class should have some relevance for every person enrolled in it.

Facts are useless unless they can be utilized. Students are here to learn, and they should want to learn. Professors are here to teach, and teaching takes more than a lecture that consists of useless rhetoric.

Letters

Anti-abortion posters are offensive, unnecessary

Editor

I don't care if the anti-abortion posters are factual or not. They are simply in poor taste. I wanted to show the facts about incest. I have a right to post pictures of a father raping his six-year-old daughter? I think the law would say no. If I wanted to show the facts about a murder case I do have a right to expose people to grisly photographs of the act.

Certain things are illegal to post, air on TV, or say over the radio because they offend the majority of the public and therefore take away their rights.

My argument is that the posting of this material takes the rights of more people than just one. By making them look at the toning down of this material would restrict CAMPUS rights.

I only ask that CAMPUS aides by this and stops trying to offend. If the facts are really on your side, then you don't need to use scare tactics. The facts will speak for themselves.

Elizabeth Tucker, Senator, Science and Math

Education suffering from cold

Editor

It's your faculty and your education. Let's you and me.

The Mustang Daily encourages reader's opinions, criticisms and comments on news stories, letters and editorials. Letters and press releases should be submitted to The Daily office in Room 226 of the Graphic Arts Building, or sent to: Editor, Mustang Daily, GRC 226, Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407. Letters should be kept as short as possible, must be double-spaced typed and must include the writer's name, address, and phone numbers. Numbers to ensure that they are considered for the next edition. Letters should be submitted to the Daily office by 10 a.m. Editors reserve the right to edit letters for length and style and omit libelous statements. Letters will not be printed without the author's name. Press releases should be submitted to the Daily office at least a week before they should be run. All releases must include phone numbers and names of the people or organizations involved, in case more information is needed. Unsigned editorials reflect the viewpoint of the Mustang Daily Editorial Board.

Mustang Daily
Cal Poly ROTC wins first meet

By T. WILLIAMS

The Cal Poly ROTC Ranger Challenge Team won their first meet Saturday against UC Santa Barbara and Fresno State University.

The Fightin' Mustangs hosted the Surfriders from UC Santa Barbara at Camp San Luis Obispo, in their first inter-collegiate meet. Fresno State University was scheduled to enter a team in the meet, but failed to show up.

Major Mike Robinson, enrollment officer for the ROTC, isn't sure how their absence will be handled but said, "As far as we're concerned, they've forfeited."

Captain Henry Bryan, ROTC operations officer, said the cadets all got "high and tight" haircuts before the meet, which means that they shaved all but the top of their heads. They wore blue berets in order to distinguish them from the Surfriders, who were "gone down" or camouflage paint on their faces for the same reason.

A member of Cal Poly's Fightin' Mustangs participates in marksmanship during the Ranger Challenge meet.

ABORTION

From page 1

said, 'If the American public never saw the horrors of Vietnam, we might still be in Vietnam. Showing these pictures of abortions is just presenting the fact."

In last week's senate meeting, the senators also discussed the name of the club. Some said the name "C.A.M.P.U.S." implied that it is the view of the entire campus. Murdock disagreed saying that all literature disseminated has the acronym as well as the spelled out name of the club.

Murdock, 26, a graduate student studying international development, also compared the German Holocaust to abortion. "The Jews could at least run away. The fetuses are totally captive," he said.

When asked his view or that of the club on the recent rash of bombing of abortion clinics, Murdock had no comment.

Murdock hopes that his club, and other anti-abortion groups will persuade enough people, and the government, to overturn the 1973, Roe v. Wade case, which gave women the right to have abortions. "If you want things changed, you must act on your convictions," he said.

"People want to stereotype anti-abortion groups as right-wing Reaganite. That's just not true," said Murdock."

C.A.M.P.U.S. has been an ASI coded group since September and considers itself anti-euthanasia, anti-suicide, anti-human experimentation and anti-infanticide.

DEGREE

From page 1

Vollmer said he believes that not only would community adults benefit, but it would also give the faculty the chance to gain extra income and to come in contact with a variety of individuals. The community service image in the campus would be enhanced and direct revenue to Cal Poly may open further opportunities for cash or equipment donations out the campus.

The program is financially self-supporting and would always be expected to remain an external degree program, administered through Extended Education rather than thorough the regular campus curriculum. However, Vollmer said, it would meet an important need in the Cal Poly Extension Service Area. Central Coastal Counties and other anti-abortion groups as right-wing Reaganite. That's just not true," said Murdock.

The program is financially self-supporting and would always be expected to remain an external degree program, administered through Extended Education rather than thorough the regular campus curriculum. However, Vollmer said, it would meet an important need in the Cal Poly Extension Service Area. Central Coastal Counties and other anti-abortion groups as right-wing Reaganite. That's just not true," said Murdock.

the GOLD CONCEPT

Downtown San Luis Obispo in the Network Mall
and our new studio at 970 Chorro

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!

OLDE PORT INN

 помогул варианто варианта

HOLD CONCEPT

Downtown San Luis Obispo in the Network Mall
and our new studio at 970 Chorro

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!

OLDE PORT INN

The Gold Concept Presents

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!

OLDE PORT INN

The Gold Concept Presents

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!

OLDE PORT INN

The Gold Concept Presents

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!

OLDE PORT INN

The Gold Concept Presents

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!

OLDE PORT INN

The Gold Concept Presents

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!

OLDE PORT INN

The Gold Concept Presents

Make this Valentine's Day special if someone you love
4 days only: Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14
We're marking 20% off
all jewelry in stock!
CoOp: invaluable opportunity for experience

By LEANNE ALBERTA

Steve Krauss can’t hide his enthusiasm for the Cooperative Education Program. Krauss has been a Cooperative Education Coordinator since August 1984. As a coordinator, he provides career counseling and emotional support for students considering Cooperative Education (CoOp).

"Basically I meet with students and direct them toward the right companies," Krauss said.

"Over 600 employers have constant contact with us," Krauss continued. "The students get two things out of this contact. First of all, they benefit from the constant communication we have with companies and secondly we can give students certain guidelines that companies provide for hiring purposes."

Krauss stressed that CoOp is a safe way for students to attain job experience and he regretted not going through CoOp himself when he was a Cal Poly student.

"Sometimes in a university environment we are in ivory towers and shelter ourselves," Krauss continued. "We’re academic, but education needs to be about business and work in industry. That’s why I feel Cal Poly should provide for hiring purposes."

Krauss said that over 1,800 students participate in CoOp every year. Approximately 65 percent of these students are offered jobs in the companies where they served their CoOp term and another 10 to 15 percent are offered jobs and don’t accept.

"CoOp allows students time to find out what they don’t want to do and maybe that’s its most important function," Krauss said. "If a student goes on CoOp it will usually take him an extra year to graduate in CoOp. The average monthly salary is $1,600. If you worked for a year you could make about $18,000. That’s enough to pay for the rest of your college education."

"Students who have a lot of work experience might not benefit as much from CoOp," said Jim Donnell, another CoOp coordinator and the man Krauss calls "partner." But a lot of students simply don’t have experience and we’ve found that when a company takes a CoOp student, that student gets promoted much faster.

Despite CoOp’s successes there are still ways in which Krauss would like to improve the organization.

"I’d like to find a way to combine CoOp with senior projects or make CoOp take the place of senior projects," explained Krauss. "I think this would add validity and make senior projects more than just academic exercises. It would make senior projects something students look forward to."

Krauss said that CoOp students must write lengthy reports that detail their CoOp experiences. It would make senior projects "almost be as good as students going on CoOp themselves."

"Sometimes in a university environment we are in ivory towers and shelter ourselves...Education needs to be about business and work in industry," explained Krauss.

Steve Krauss

---

Coastal Pools

Coastal Pools has plants of all varieties for Valentines.

- AZALEAS
- TULIPS
- DAFFODILS
- A GREAT ASSORTMENT OF SILK FLOWERS

Coastal Pool Center
265 Pacific SLO
543-9808

CLARK’S EXXON

ANNOUNCES

FREE LUBE & SAFETY CHECK

WITH PURCHASE OF OIL AND FILTER CHANGE

Also-

Complete Brake Job Disc or Drum for-

$99.95

INCLUDES

- Turning drums and rotors
- rebuild wheel cylinder
- matalic pads extra
- most cars done

CLARK’S EXXON
656 Santa Rosa
543-1717

Test yourself.

Which early pregnancy test is as easy to read as red, no—white, yes?

Which is a simple one-step test?

Which has a dramatic color change to make the results unmistakable?

Which is 98% accurate, as accurate as many hospital and lab tests?

Which is portable for convenience and privacy?

---

Photo ID

Photo I.D. cards will be available for student pickup in the UU Plaza Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 11 & 12, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

For the remainder of the quarter after the above dates, the I.D. cards may be picked up in the Dean of Students Office, Administration Room 209. Hours are Monday through Thursday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

At the time of pickup, students will be asked to relinquish their temporary I.D. cards.
Orchesis show has the beat of success

By WENDY WALTERS-BURGENER

Another successful show accomplished. Orchesis' "Portfolio '85" completed its three night dance concert Saturday, with performers receiving a standing ovation and flowers.

Celebrating 15 years of Orchesis, "Portfolio '85" exemplified a new era of dance, choreography and education.

Although a few acts left viewers muttering under their breaths in confusion, the audience generally seemed to respond to this "new era" of dance performance favorably with enthusiasm and support. Some shouted their support, "That's the way!" "Show 'em how to do it!" Others gasped in surprise at the unique variations of lighting, color, costumes and dance moves.

Injected with a touch of humor, "Portfolio '85" presented "Danse Audacieuse," a saccharin ballet performance which caught the audience off-guard when a carpenter walked on stage, complete with his own work bench and table saw, and began sawing away as the ballerina continued her dance. The dance completed, the carpenter then put away his things and came back and carried off the doll-like girl as if she was part of his work. The reaction from the crowd was loud laughter, and there was a sigh of relief when it was apparent the joke was on them.

Judith Gray, director of the dance concert, said the feedback Orchesis received indicated "tremendous success" in all areas of the performance, especially for the choreography and variety presented.

Although Gray will not be directing next year's presentation, she will be directing the one after that and plans to incorporate more special effects, she said.

Stephanie Varco, left, Sanford Smith, center, and Sheila Pesut tap to "Le Jazz Hot," from the "Victor-Victoria" soundtrack.
Cal Poly custodian Thomas Shevlin as he hikes to the Mt. Everest base camp in the Himalaya Mountains of Nepal and Tibet.

By KRISTIN RONCARATI

A Cal Poly custodial worker earned the nickname of "Papa Yeti" over Christmas break when he went to the Khumba region of the two central Asian countries of Nepal and Tibet.

Thomas Shevlin, a 58-year-old custodial worker, said it was his intense enjoyment of being in the outdoors that lured him to trek 19,000 feet in elevation to the base camp of the world's highest peak, Mt. Everest.

He completed the hike not to improve anything to anyone but rather to associate with the culture of the native peoples of the Khumba region. "I really wanted to get down with the people," Shevlin said.

"Papa Yeti," became Shevlin's nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name when a Sherpa — a native to the area — came up to him, pulled on his white beard, (which he grew specifically for the trip) and called out the name. Shevlin said the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.

"The people are a rare sight to them, so the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them," Shevlin said during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the nickname during his stay in the Himalayas. He said he acquired the name translates into English as "Papa Snowman."

The natives chose the nickname because bearded people are a rare sight to them. Shevlin said that the sight of a beard was not good news to them.
The view of the Himalaya Mountains from the approach to the Mt. Everest base camp.

Former Poly graduate student finds satisfaction as playwrite

By KEVIN CANNON

A former Cal Poly graduate student has been selected out of a group of 7,000 as one of five winners of the prestigious DramaList/CBS Playwriting Contest.

Tom Strelich, who was a computer science graduate student in 1980, will receive $5,000 and have his play "Neon Psalms," produced by the Magic Theatre in San Francisco. The other prize-winning plays will be produced at theaters throughout the United States.

Professor of Theater, Michael Malkin, said that Strelich's "is extremely hard working and eminently sane," which, according to Malkin, is having the guts to be insane.

Strelich was born and raised in Bakersfield and received his Bachelor's degree from Cal State Bakersfield. He has been writing plays for seven years and in 1982 the Cal Poly Theatre presented the premiere of his third play, "Embarcadero Fugue," which went on to subsequent productions and acclaim in Los Angeles and Dallas.

Strelich tries to blend humor into his plays, and "Neon Psalms" is no exception. Strelich feels that his purpose in writing is to make people laugh. "But that isn't enough for most people," he said. "So I try to weave laughter around characters that we care about, dislike, identify with and all that. In short, I try to write a play that I'd like to go see.

Strelich has a varied background. He was born on an Air Force base and has attended several colleges. He majored in Biology, writes plays and is presently working in the computer science field in Santa Barbara. Malkin feels that "this is what makes him such a special person." He also said that Strelich "manages to pluck little things out of this insane world and make it funny." Strelich said, however, that you can't rely on your experiences alone. "I have a good memory, and for stories I see the funny aspects of things."

Acting is another of Strelich's interests; and prompted him to begin writing plays. He would change his lines during acting jobs and get the directors upset. Finally one director told him that if he thought he could do a better job, he should write his own play. Strelich took him literally and wrote, directed, designed and produced his own play. He considers himself lucky for the freedom to do that at Cal Poly. He said that "if I was at another school with a large theater department I wouldn't have had a chance to do this work."

Naturalistic plays about his own home, with underlying meanings or symbolism are Strelich's favorite topics. He hopes to one day make his living solely from playwriting. However, he said, "It doesn't pay enough," and that he just does it "for the sheer enjoyment of it.

He is delighted to be one of the five winners and has been pleased with the interpretations of the directors and designers. He is open-minded to ideas others may have about his plays.

The five theaters producing the prize winners will also be judged, and if Strelich's play wins a second time, it will be back at the Magic Theatre sometime late in the year for a second run.
Airline offers smokers free flights out of state if they throw away cigarettes

SAN JOSE (AP) — An airline that caters to non-smokers offered heavy smokers free flights out of California on Monday to condition they throw away two packs of cigarettes before boarding.

San Jose was the first place that Muse Air tried out its new promotion, although the program is expected to go on to the 10 other cities served by the 4-year-old airline. Founded by M. Lamar Muse, Muse Air is the nation's only major non-smoking airline.

"We have from time to time gotten comments from people who smoke and say they can't use our airline," said Scott Lamar. "We're basically using this promotion to get people who smoke to try our airline."

San Jose area smokers have from time to time gotten comments from people who smoke and say they can't use our airline," said Lamar. "We're basically using this promotion to get people who smoke to try our airline."

The two flights that leave San Jose each day fly about an hour to Las Vegas, which regularly costs $85 each way, and then on for about another two hours to Houston, a flight costing $170 one-way, Hamilton said.

"People go to a theater for a couple of hours and don't smoke," said Hamilton. "We'd just like to get them on board and fly us."

The first flight left San Jose at 7 a.m. and only about six, bleary-eyed smokers took advantage of Muse's offer on the 155-passenger DC-9. But then Hamilton said he didn't expect many people at that hour.

"We have plenty of seats out of San Jose, particularly at that hour," Hamilton said. "Even though the promotion is strictly on a standby arrangement, passengers shouldn't have a problem getting on a plane, he said.

Although, there's no smoking allowed. Hamilton said Muse planes offer leather seats, free drinks during the week and more legroom than its competitors.

San Jose area smokers have from time to time gotten comments from people who smoke and say they can't use our airline," said Lamar. "We're basically using this promotion to get people who smoke to try our airline."

Muse also serves Las Vegas, Nev.; Houston, Dallas, Austin; Brownsville, Midland-Odessa and McAllen, Texas; Tulsa, Okla.; New Orleans, La.; and Los Angeles.

WATSONVILLE (AP) — Five hours of testimony on alleged abuses during immigration raids in Santa Cruz County led Rep. Leon Panetta to conclude "no one, but no one, can justify the existing situation."

The testimony came at a hearing set up by Panetta and county supervisors who have received numerous complaints that the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service has harassed residents, entered homes illegally and even raided soup kitchen lines.

"They were berating me and insulting me...I was made to feel like a criminal and my only crime is that I'm a Mexican and I work in the fields," she said.

"We have the right to be treated as human beings and not like animals," said Martinez said he and his brother were handcuffed by an INS agent as they emerged from their home in the city's Beach Flats area last November.
Poly wrestlers excel in 21-team tournament

Two win second

LA MIRADA — Two Mustang wrestlers were crowned tournament champions and three others grabbed second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

Beside the five wrestlers in the first two places, the Mustangs had a fifth place finish in the team tournament, finishing behind Arizona State and Fresno State in the tournament.

The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.

Three Poly wrestlers will probably be in the top eight in the country when this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock, with the possibility of four grabbing the high ranking.

Dan Romero grabbed first at 167 pounds and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

Cesar Escudero (134 pounds), Roger Sayles (177) and Jordan Cunning (150) were second, with Romero grabbing fifth at 126 pounds.

Cunning was the only wrestler to hold the high-ranked Urban back, losing 1-3.

Poly tallied 103 and one-quarter points for the meet, followed by Cal State Bakersfield (96 1/2) in fourth and Stanford (56) in fifth. Arizona State was second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

The only challenge came in the tournament where this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock. "I think the team does." The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

"I'm very pleased with Jordan Cesar Escudero (134 pounds) and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

The team, however, has strong wrestlers, so it does well in tournament, he said. "The stronger the tournament, the better the team does."

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.

Three Poly wrestlers will probably be in the top eight in the country when this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock, with the possibility of four grabbing the high ranking.

Dan Romero grabbed first at 167 pounds and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

Cesar Escudero (134 pounds), Roger Sayles (177) and Jordan Cunning (150) were second, with Romero grabbing fifth at 126 pounds.

Cunning was the only wrestler to hold the high-ranked Urban back, losing 1-3.

Poly tallied 103 and one-quarter points for the meet, followed by Cal State Bakersfield (96 1/2) in fourth and Stanford (56) in fifth. Arizona State was second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

The only challenge came in the tournament where this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock. "I think the team does." The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

"I'm very pleased with Jordan Cesar Escudero (134 pounds) and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

The team, however, has strong wrestlers, so it does well in tournament, he said. "The stronger the tournament, the better the team does."

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.

Three Poly wrestlers will probably be in the top eight in the country when this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock, with the possibility of four grabbing the high ranking.

Dan Romero grabbed first at 167 pounds and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

Cesar Escudero (134 pounds), Roger Sayles (177) and Jordan Cunning (150) were second, with Romero grabbing fifth at 126 pounds.

Cunning was the only wrestler to hold the high-ranked Urban back, losing 1-3.

Poly tallied 103 and one-quarter points for the meet, followed by Cal State Bakersfield (96 1/2) in fourth and Stanford (56) in fifth. Arizona State was second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

The only challenge came in the tournament where this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock. "I think the team does." The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

"I'm very pleased with Jordan Cesar Escudero (134 pounds) and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

The team, however, has strong wrestlers, so it does well in tournament, he said. "The stronger the tournament, the better the team does."

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.

Three Poly wrestlers will probably be in the top eight in the country when this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock, with the possibility of four grabbing the high ranking.

Dan Romero grabbed first at 167 pounds and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

Cesar Escudero (134 pounds), Roger Sayles (177) and Jordan Cunning (150) were second, with Romero grabbing fifth at 126 pounds.

Cunning was the only wrestler to hold the high-ranked Urban back, losing 1-3.

Poly tallied 103 and one-quarter points for the meet, followed by Cal State Bakersfield (96 1/2) in fourth and Stanford (56) in fifth. Arizona State was second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

The only challenge came in the tournament where this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock. "I think the team does." The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

"I'm very pleased with Jordan Cesar Escudero (134 pounds) and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

The team, however, has strong wrestlers, so it does well in tournament, he said. "The stronger the tournament, the better the team does."

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.

Three Poly wrestlers will probably be in the top eight in the country when this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock, with the possibility of four grabbing the high ranking.

Dan Romero grabbed first at 167 pounds and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

Cesar Escudero (134 pounds), Roger Sayles (177) and Jordan Cunning (150) were second, with Romero grabbing fifth at 126 pounds.

Cunning was the only wrestler to hold the high-ranked Urban back, losing 1-3.

Poly tallied 103 and one-quarter points for the meet, followed by Cal State Bakersfield (96 1/2) in fourth and Stanford (56) in fifth. Arizona State was second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

The only challenge came in the tournament where this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock. "I think the team does." The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

"I'm very pleased with Jordan Cesar Escudero (134 pounds) and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

The team, however, has strong wrestlers, so it does well in tournament, he said. "The stronger the tournament, the better the team does."

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.

Three Poly wrestlers will probably be in the top eight in the country when this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock, with the possibility of four grabbing the high ranking.

Dan Romero grabbed first at 167 pounds and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

Cesar Escudero (134 pounds), Roger Sayles (177) and Jordan Cunning (150) were second, with Romero grabbing fifth at 126 pounds.

Cunning was the only wrestler to hold the high-ranked Urban back, losing 1-3.

Poly tallied 103 and one-quarter points for the meet, followed by Cal State Bakersfield (96 1/2) in fourth and Stanford (56) in fifth. Arizona State was second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

The only challenge came in the tournament where this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock. "I think the team does." The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

"I'm very pleased with Jordan Cesar Escudero (134 pounds) and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

The team, however, has strong wrestlers, so it does well in tournament, he said. "The stronger the tournament, the better the team does."

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.

Three Poly wrestlers will probably be in the top eight in the country when this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock, with the possibility of four grabbing the high ranking.

Dan Romero grabbed first at 167 pounds and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

Cesar Escudero (134 pounds), Roger Sayles (177) and Jordan Cunning (150) were second, with Romero grabbing fifth at 126 pounds.

Cunning was the only wrestler to hold the high-ranked Urban back, losing 1-3.

Poly tallied 103 and one-quarter points for the meet, followed by Cal State Bakersfield (96 1/2) in fourth and Stanford (56) in fifth. Arizona State was second here last weekend, pacing Cal Poly to a third place finish in the Biola Invitational.

The only challenge came in the tournament where this week’s poll is announced, said Hitchcock. "I think the team does." The Mustangs, at 8-1 in dual meets, have struggled this year because they are missing two weight classes — 126 pounds and heavyweight, said head coach Vaughan Hitchcock.

"I'm very pleased with Jordan Cesar Escudero (134 pounds) and Mark Tracey, first at 190 during the Biola Tournament, both winning four straight matches on their way to the title.

The team, however, has strong wrestlers, so it does well in tournament, he said. "The stronger the tournament, the better the team does."

The men have had a disappointing year in dual meets, scoring high in tournaments.

The team does.
New name doesn’t change Decker’s luck

Severe leg cramp keeps her out

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Mary Slaney has changed her name, but her luck remains bad.

Slaney, who was Mary Decker until marrying British discus thrower Richard Slaney Jan. 1, added another chapter to her injury-plagued running career Saturday night. She limped off the track in tears with just over two laps remaining in the women’s 1,500-meter race in the Vitalis-U.S. Olympic Invitational at the Meadowlands Arena.

At first, her injury was believed to be a severe cramp in the right calf. But Sunday, her coach, Dick Brown, said the injury might be more serious.

"I think the cramp probably caused some torn tissue," he said. "We will probably know in two or three days."

The extent of the damage will be determined after Slaney returns to her home in Eugene, Ore., and is examined by Dr. Stan James.

Slaney said the pain was so severe Sunday that she could not "put any pressure" on the foot. "It’s right in the belly of the muscle," she added. "I’ve never had a tear like this."

Slaney first felt the pain as she approached the backstretch. "On the turn, it got worse, and then I had to stop," she said.

Owner of the world indoor best of 4 minutes, eight-tenths of a second, she was on her way to breaking the four-minute barrier.

Off Slaney’s training sessions recently in San Diego, Brown had projected her time for the 1,500 as 3:59.3.

"She was even about a second ahead of that pace," Brown said, recalling having watched Slaney rip around the fast 10-laps-to-the-mile track and open a commanding lead over runner-up Diana Richburg.

"She was ... looking forward to having a big kick," he continued. "She’s so frustrated, because she was so fit."

While Slaney was nursing her injury, other competitors were regaling in their victories: Ruth Wysocki, an upset winner over Slaney in the 3,000 at last year’s U.S. Olympic Trials, overcame Olympic champion Maricica Puica of Romania in the women’s 3,000 in the impressive time of 8:49.93. Wysocki, one of Slaney’s staunchest critics since the Games, was voted the meet’s outstanding female athlete.

Ireland’s Eamonn Coghlan was named the meet’s outstanding male athlete after rallying in the closing strides to overtake Sydney Maree and win the men’s mile by three-hundredths of a second in 3:52.37, the fastest time of the indoor season. It was Coghlan’s 15th consecutive indoor victory, 13 at a mile, since 1981.

The men’s track team working out to improve on recent finishes.

Sydney Maree and win the men’s mile by three-hundredths of a second in 3:52.37, the fastest time of the indoor season. It was Coghlan’s 15th consecutive indoor victory, 13 at a mile, since 1981.

graduates:
continue your step up to excellence

EXCELLENCE! NEw FROM PETRA!

The Parable
673 Higuera St., San Luis Obispo
543-6146

BEAT THE SYSTEM

NEW FROM PETRA!

The Parable
673 Higuera St., San Luis Obispo
543-6146

campus store specials
10% OFF ALL NABISCO PRODUCTS

Have you tried Chewy Chips Ahoy, or Chocolate-Chocolate Chip Cookies? And don’t forget America’s favorite Ritz Crackers!

NEW! A Full line of Bigelow and Olde Time herb and Spice Teas. Find your favorite today!

year's U.S. Olympic Trials, overcame Olympic champion Maricica Puica of Romania in the women’s 3,000 in the impressive time of 8:49.93. Wysocki, one of Slaney’s staunchest critics since the Games, was voted the meet’s outstanding female athlete.

Ireland’s Eamonn Coghlan was named the meet’s outstanding male athlete after rallying in the closing strides to overtake Sydney Maree and win the men’s mile by three-hundredths of a second in 3:52.37, the fastest time of the indoor season. It was Coghlan’s 15th consecutive indoor victory, 13 at a mile, since 1981.
Sports

Hard work lifts new face to top of tour

Swing change makes a difference

HONOLULU (AP) — There are two factors, maybe three, Mark O'Meara said, that have propelled him to the top of the pack in pro golf. They are the teaching of Hank Haney and my own hard work.* O'Meara said after scoring a rare, second consecutive victory Sunday, in the Hawaiian Open.

And, of course, he said, there's a little bit of luck involved.

"Last year I was second five times. Some of those could have been wins," O'Meara said.

"This year, the luck is on my side," O'Meara said.

"It's been somewhat along the lines of the swing of the great Ben Hogan. I knew I needed something better. There's a little bit of luck involved," O'Meara said.

"Now, I understand the swing much better. It helped my golf game and that helped my mental attitude."

You can have the best mental attitude in the world, but if you don't have the swing, the game, it isn't going to do you any good. And you can have a good swing and a bad attitude and that won't work either.

He said his swing was patterned somewhat along the lines of the swing of the great Ben Hogan. The blushing O'Meara quickly pointed out that he, nor his swing, should in any way be compared with Mr. Hogan.

But he has had some very Hogan-like results in the past 1 ½ seasons.

Mustang Dally Tuesday, February 12, 1985

High seed upset in Players tourney

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Little-known Mike Small rode his booming serve and the brisk winds swirling to a stunning 7-5, 6-2 upset victory Monday over second-seeded Matt Wilander in the $81,800 Lipton International Tennis tournament.

The surprising triumph boosted Leach, the 1982 NCAA singles champion, into the quarterfinals of this inaugural two-week, Grand Slam-size tournament.

Wilander's Swedish Davis Cup teammate, Anders Jarryd, also was ousted — Monday, losing to 11th-seeded Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia 6-1, 6-4 in another fourth-round match. Jarryd was seeded fourth.

In women's play, No. 13 Andrea Temesvari of Hungary, shocked third-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia 6-4, 6-3 on the wind-swept hardcourts at Laver's International Tennis Resort, advancing to the quarterfinals.

Rec Sports holds wrestling

Strength will be the main issue on Thursday in the U.U. plaza. Students will have an opportunity to test their arm strength against others during a Rec Sports wrestling tournament.

This tournament will begin at 11 a.m. and is open to both men and women.

There will be various weight divisions in each category, and prizes for the champions, said Danna Canz, the coordinator of special events.

If interested in participating, Cino said signups will be taken until 10 a.m. on Thursday in the Rec Sports office.
Announcements

BECOME AN '85-'86 PEER EDUCATOR

RECRUITMENTS UNDERWAY FOR '85-'86 PEER EDUCATORS. STUDENTS INTERESTED IN BECOMING PEER EDUCATORS ARE ENCOURAGED TO CALL THE COUNSELING & ADVISORY CENTER, CALL 543-2100. RECRUITMENTS WILL BE HELD ON CAMPUS FROM MAY 16-23.

Panel Discussions & Luncheon

7:30 AD-8 30. SLO Gym - San Francisco. Learn more! All are welcome. Come call 543-2100.

A NE4$iC Pet Bible Study

TIRED OF BUYING groups welcome. For more info call 528-5784. Call 541-5436. Momfeves (keep trying)

PROFESSIONAL DANCE INSTRUCTION

Come by and see what the center can offer. Variety of hors d'oeuvres, coffee & teas. Call 543-7206 for information. For those in need of getting organized your life. Guest speaker will be our own Dave Kall.""