Rape awareness on the increase following attack

By DONALD MUNRO

More women are using the escort service and are acting with greater caution in the aftermath of the recent rape, said Investigator Ray Berrett.

"People are very aware of what happened," he said. "People are a little more leery."

The number of women using the escort service from the library and Union of① and② to the University has doubled and even tripled on certain nights, he said.

The police department has received a number of calls asking for tips and suggestions regarding safety. People calling are told not to walk alone at night, to lock door cars and to use the escort service.

Police have also received a number of calls reporting suspicious people behavior on campus, which is something that is encouraged, said Berrett.

"It's a real shame that it takes something like this to make people raise their standards."

In regards to the recent rape, Berrett explained that the reduction was precisely that -- the woman didn't voluntarily get into the pick-up truck and the assault was driving.

Instead, the man drove past her, stopped the truck and got out, waited for her to walk by and then grabbed her. She was taken near the entrance to Poly Canyon Road, where she was raped.

If she had used the escort service it wouldn't have happened," said Nick Athanasakos, who is in charge of the service for the Inter Fraternity Council. "If you use the escort service, nothing is going to happen to you."

Athanasakos added that more women have been using the escort service since the rape was publicized.

"The girls that I've been talking to have been more conscious of safety now."

A problem, however, is that many women don't take advantage of the service.

"A lot of girls don't use it for a variety of reasons," Athanasakos said. "They might be embarrassed and feel they don't have to protect themselves because they are in school."

"It's that there's it -- there's no reason to be afraid."

Just having the guys there (important) -- there's nobody who's going to try to attack a girl with an escort."

The escort service is provided Sunday through Thursday from 7 p.m. to midnight from the library and the University Union.

If a woman is in a building on campus and wants an escort, she should find a campus phone and dial 2029 for the library or 1409 for the U.U., and an escort will be sent, Athanasakos said.

Women can get financial power

By DONALD MUNRO

Investing in tax sheltered annuities and the stock market are excellent ways for women to achieve financial security, a financial planner told a Cal Poly audience Friday.

Women also have to explore the emotional myths that keep women from becoming financially powerful as they should be, Judith Martindale said.

As guest speaker for the Women's Week luncheon, Martindale discussed "Women and Money: Myths and Stereotypes."

She evoked the words of Sophie Tucker, a prominent jazz singer who once said: "I've been rich, and I've been poor -- and it is better."

That should be the philosophy of women when it comes to investments, Martindale said.

"I would never in a second tell you that money brings happiness. A person with a surplus controls circumstances -- but a person without a surplus is controlled by circumstances."

Martindale told the women that spending money on things like clothes and cosmetics is not a good way to save for retirement. "It's the same with the emotional myths."

Instead, she urged women to think about how they can invest in the future.

Investing in tax sheltered annuities is a good idea because money accumulates automatically when it is withheld every month from a paycheck. "I think the easiest way to do it is not to have to think about it."

A tax shelter also means that the temptation to spend the money that's withheld is gone because it's like it was never there in the first place, she said.

As far as achieving financial goals, Martindale told the women that the less spending they do, the more they can save for retirement. "I think they should be able to save enough to be financially independent."

"If she has a job and makes $20,000 a year, she should be able to save more than $1,000 a year."

"If she doesn't have a job and is on welfare, she should be saving in her retirement account."

"If she has $1,000 in her savings account, that's like having $100,000 in her retirement account."

"Women are able to save more than men because they don't have to pay as many expenses, such as rent and utilities."

Martindale also encouraged women to think about how they can invest in tax sheltered annuities.

"Women also have to explore the emotional myths that keep women from becoming financially powerful."

"Women have to think about how they can invest in the future and not just spend money."

"They should be able to think about how they can invest in the future."
Help out for community relations

While most Cal Poly students complain that we have a bad reputation in the community, several students are trying to do something about it. They need our help, however.

It's a busy time of the year for all students -- finals approaching, term projects due -- but plans are being made now by the ASI for an April 13 Good Neighbor Day.

It is the second year the event has been held and last year met with only moderate success. Ninety-seven percent of the 110 projects were completed by more than 70 students last year, and the ASI is hoping the event will steamroll into an established annual event, but they need student help.

In order to know how projects they can take from the community and how much to publicize, organizers need to know how many students will become involved.

Many of the projects are simple -- painting, weeding, etc. -- and a lot of skills aren't needed.

Many of the projects are done for community members who cannot do springtime household chores because of age or illness.

The Mustang Daily Editorial Board encourages students to sign up at the ASI office in the University Union, for building a good relationship between the community and school takes work, and good neighbor day is a step to show that students care about the rest of the community.

The Board would also like to thank the ASI organizers of the event for helping improve the image of students.

Letters

Former Resident Adviser tells about 'reality' of job

As a result of my frustration of trying to follow a policy my supervisor all but refused to enforce, I found it necessary to resign. After talking to former Cal Poly RA's, I found my situation was not unique. Housing supervision has consistently betrayed their RA's. Instead of the support which was constantly assured during RA training, they redirect the students' animosity of the alcohol policy unfairly toward the RA.

Applicants for RA application should be aware of the Housing Department traditionally only sacramitoriously offering the needed support to the RA itself. I recommend to anyone awarded the RA position for the next year to be prepared to counter the most frustrating experience of his or her life.

William M. Alexander

Students state views on budget issues

In the national defense expenditures while 39 percent of the students supported defense increases. They saw 57 percent of all Americans as support for non-defense increases. In the expenditure side of the 1986 budget, the students solidly opposed (over 80 percent) their national budget priorities for 1986 in Dr. Alexander's government classes. The students were asked both their own budget preferences and what they thought the preferences of all Americans would be.

The students said they oppose 70 percent in both taxes and in debt, and they thought all Americans were about equally or more opposed. On the expenditure side of the 1986 budget, the students saw themselves as holding views from all Americans.

The students say only 34 percent of all Americans as supporting President Reagan's requests

Mustang Daily

Editorial Board

Margareta Mills \nAssistant Editor

Julie Rych \nAssistant Editor

Ken Gallagher \nSenior Editor

L.Joan Seremet \nSenior Editor

James M. Hayes \nSenior Editor

Emily Taxon \nSenior Editor

Published on campus by University Graphics

Ken Graham \nManaging Editor

Christian A. Speck \nAssistant Professor

Janet Macleod \nAsst. Prof. Typing Operations

Dennis W. Connolly \nAsst. Mgr. Web Operations

Disclaimer

Advertising material printed herein serves for informational purposes. Such printing is not to be construed as an expressed or implied endorsement or recommendation by the University, the University of California Polytechnic State University, the California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, or the Mustang Daily. The appearance of advertising in the Mustang Daily does not imply endorsement of the product or service by the University, the University of California Polytechnic State University, the California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, or the Mustang Daily.

Editorial content of the Mustang Daily is written and edited by students taking courses in Graphic Arts Communications. The views expressed in the Mustang Daily are those of the students and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the editor or the views of the writer and do not necessarily represent the opinion of the student on the campus of the California Polytechnic State University. Each editorial is the viewpoint of the Mustang Daily Editorial Board.

Advertising rates on request. \nPrinted in the USA. \nCopyright 1985 Mustang Daily.

Policy

The Mustang Daily encourages readers' opinions, criticisms and comments on new stories, letters and editorials. Letters and press releases should be submitted at the Daily office in Rm. 226 of the Graphic Arts Building, or sent to: Editor, Mustang Daily, 226, Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407. Letters should be kept as short as possible, must be double spaced and must include the writer's signature and phone number. Letters containing numeric data or opinion should be signed. It is encouraged for letters and articles which are not signed. Letters should be submitted to the Daily office by 10 a.m. Editors reserve the right to edit letters for length and style and omit obvious statements. Press releases should be submitted to the Daily office at least a week before they should run. All releases must include phone numbers and names of the people or organizations involved. Unique, unsigned editorials reflect the viewpoint of the Mustang Daily Editorial Board.
Week-long 'Re-Union' plans activities, drawing

This is the second year that an open house will be held to help acquaint students with the Union. The event last year was called "Unionize" and was a great success Hitchcock said. She hopes this year's will be even more successful.

The schedule of events is as follows:

- Tuesday, March 5
  - 2 p.m. Multicultural Center.
  - 3 p.m. Recreational Sports will host a Massage class in Room 219. A small fee will be charged.
- Wednesday, March 6
  - 9 a.m. The Travel Center will be sponsoring a Travel Fair in Room 220 with representatives from travel companies and agencies.
  - 6 p.m. Recreational Sports will be holding a Massage class in Room 219. A small fee will be charged.
  - 7 p.m. Multicultural Center.
- Thursday, March 7
  - 11 a.m. University Activity. Hour with a band in the Plaza.
  - 3 p.m. University Union Advisory Board meeting in Room 220.

...continued.

Greeks help at kids' center upkeep

By MARGARET BARRETT

The Cal Poly Children's Center is being painted with help from parents and sorority and fraternity members. The least imaginative award went to the O.H. boat, which was made to look like a dragon that breathed smoke.

The Titanic award went to the Young Farmers entry, which tipped before the race began. Second place went to the four member team of Alpha Gamma Rho.

The best imagination award went to the O.H. boat, which was called "Unionize" and was a great success Hitchcock said. She hopes this year's will be even more successful.

The schedule of events is as follows:

- Tuesday, March 5
  - 2 p.m. Multicultural Center.
  - 3 p.m. Recreational Sports will host a Massage class in Room 219. A small fee will be charged.
- Wednesday, March 6
  - 9 a.m. The Travel Center will be sponsoring a Travel Fair in Room 220 with representatives from travel companies and agencies.
  - 6 p.m. Recreational Sports will be holding a Massage class in Room 219. A small fee will be charged.
  - 7 p.m. Multicultural Center.
- Thursday, March 7
  - 11 a.m. University Activity. Hour with a band in the Plaza.
  - 3 p.m. University Union Advisory Board meeting in Room 220.

...continued.

Authors

By KEVIN H. FOX

A week long celebration of the Julian A. McPhee University Union will feature special classes, speakers, slide shows, open houses and will culminate in a free dance and drawing for two free quarters of tuition.

"Re-Union is an open house to highlight the Union so the students can get a better understanding of the types of services and programs offered," said Jody Hitchcock, public relations chair for the University Union Advisory Board.

"Students are invited for the Union and they don't know about the types of services available," she added.

MILK

By KEVIN H. FOX

The best imagination award went to the O.H. boat, which was made to look like a dragon that breathed smoke.

The Titanic award went to the Young Farmers entry, which tipped before the race began. Second place went to the four member team of Alpha Gamma Rho.

The least imaginative award went to the O.H. boat, which was called "Unionize" and was a great success Hitchcock said. She hopes this year's will be even more successful.

The schedule of events is as follows:

- Tuesday, March 5
  - 2 p.m. Multicultural Center.
  - 3 p.m. Recreational Sports will host a Massage class in Room 219. A small fee will be charged.
- Wednesday, March 6
  - 9 a.m. The Travel Center will be sponsoring a Travel Fair in Room 220 with representatives from travel companies and agencies.
  - 6 p.m. Recreational Sports will be holding a Massage class in Room 219. A small fee will be charged.
  - 7 p.m. Multicultural Center.
- Thursday, March 7
  - 11 a.m. University Activity. Hour with a band in the Plaza.
  - 3 p.m. University Union Advisory Board meeting in Room 220.

...continued.
Students moving from large urban areas to attend Cal Poly think they are leaving crime behind. However, on a per capita basis, the crime rate in San Luis Obispo is roughly equal to the crime rate in metropolitan areas, said a police spokesman.

“Opportunities for crime are more existent in small towns than in large cities because people in metropolitan areas are more aware of crime and do not let themselves open to it,” explained Steve Seybold, crime prevention coordinator of the San Luis Obispo Police Department.

Because metropolitan areas have a much greater volume of crime, local media coverage consists primarily of crime reports—which creates increased public awareness of the problem, said Investigator Ray Berrett of the Cal Poly Public Safety Department.

“Students come here from areas where the crime rate is phenomenal and develop the Victim Survival Course deals with the issue of rape in such a manner that it is not offensive.”

Participating in the course role-play as victims in simulated situations that could lead to an assault. In stations situated around the campus, the "victims" encounter "muggers" asking for directions, while waiting for the bus and walking down dimly lit streets.

“We try and make the simulations as close to real life as possible, otherwise we might as well go back to the classroom,” Berrett said.

After discussing the participants' responses to being mugged, Berrett and Carmack stressed the importance of developing a planned response if such an assault were to occur.

The course is such a success that police departments from around the country are interested in implementing the program and have contacted Berrett.

“Fifty-six separate law enforcement agencies have requested the program form from all over the United States,” said Berrett. “There isn't anything like it anywhere in the country.”

Dorm Antics

HOWS THE ESSAY GOING?

WAIT A MINUTE, YOU CAN'T JUST TAKE OFF LIKE THIS, YOU'RE A FAIRY AND FAIRIES ARE SUPPOSED TO DO GOOD JUST LIKE IN CINDERELLA

OH CAN THE CORNY STUFF, IN SICK AND TIRED OF HEARING LOSERS LIKE YOU

ILL NEVER SEE ANOTHER DISNEY MOVIE AGAIN

---

Survival course offered

San Luis not free from crime

By SANDRA THORNBURGH

How's the essay going?

Students moving from large urban areas to attend Cal Poly think they are leaving crime behind. However, on a per capita basis, the crime rate in San Luis Obispo is roughly equal to the crime rate in metropolitan areas, said a police spokesman.

“Opportunities for crime are more existent in small towns than in large cities because people in metropolitan areas are more aware of crime and do not let themselves open to it,” explained Steve Seybold, crime prevention coordinator of the San Luis Obispo Police Department.

Because metropolitan areas have a much greater volume of crime, local media coverage consists primarily of crime reports—which creates increased public awareness of the problem, said Investigator Ray Berrett of the Cal Poly Public Safety Department.

“Students come here from areas where the crime rate is phenomenal and develop the Victim Survival Course deals with the issue of rape in such a manner that it is not offensive.”

Participating in the course role-play as victims in simulated situations that could lead to an assault. In stations situated around the campus, the “victims” encounter “muggers” asking for directions, while waiting for the bus and walking down dimly lit streets.

“We try and make the simulations as close to real life as possible, otherwise we might as well go back to the classroom,” Berrett said.

After discussing the participants' responses to being mugged, Berrett and Carmack stressed the importance of developing a planned response if such an assault were to occur.

The course is such a success that police departments from around the country are interested in implementing the program and have contacted Berrett.

“Fifty-six separate law enforcement agencies have requested the program form from all over the United States,” said Berrett. “There isn't anything like it anywhere in the country.”

---

Poly helps ag downunder

By TED LEWIS

A retired dean of the School of Agriculture will be spending six months in Australia as a consultant for a new college system in that country.

Dr. Howard C. Brown, dean of the School of Agriculture from 1976 to 1981 and a member of its ornamental horticulture faculty since 1945, was appointed as a visiting fellow in early February by the Victorian College of Agriculture and Horticulture.

Brown is expected to be involved in the development of curriculum and teaching methods for the new college system, which consists of six formerly independent agriculture colleges.

“The Australian's wanted someone that could understand every aspect of agriculture, and Dr. Brown is very well qualified by the death of the School of Agriculture and also a faculty member of the O.H. department for so long,” said Ronald Rogers, department head of the Ornamental Horticulture Department.

The director of the Victorian college system and the presidents of several of its individual campuses have visited Cal Poly and observed its agriculture programs during the past two years.

“Australia is still a new country,” said Rogers. The Australians that came to Cal Poly testimated that they are ten years behind.

California agriculture has always been an innovator in the field. The Cal Poly School of Agriculture faculty and students have also gained a good reputation as innovators through their knowledge and the application of their knowledge in the field of agriculture, said Rogers.

“They (Cal Poly and the Victorian College of Agriculture and Horticulture) are thinking about setting up a exchange student program between the two colleges,” said Rogers.

David Hannings, associate professor in the Ornamental Horticulture Department, will be traveling to Australia this summer to teach and help set up an O.H. Department there.

Brown expects to live and make his headquarters in Melbourne, where the Victorian College of Agriculture and Horticulture offices are located.

Brown and his wife, Betty, left for Australia last week and will begin his assignment on March 11.
Sports

Women set three records

Gymnasts set new marks on road during loss

NORTHBRIDGE - The Cal Poly women's gymnastics team broke three school records Saturday, eclipsing the school overall meet record by almost two points.

Jana Lehman broke the floor exercise (8.11) record and the team totaled 168.6, surpassing the old 166.95 mark.

Before the weekend, the Poly head coach predicted the team record would fall. "The girls were on Saturday," said Tim Rivera. "They were just ready."

The meet was against Nor­thern which is rated in the top five nationally. The Matadors won the meet with 173.90 points.

The Mustangs were shooting to break the overall record on Friday, but fell short with 166.90 points. They did, however, win the home meet before 300 over Sonoma State (153.75) and Southern Utah State (143.61).

Lehman (33.3) won the all­around on Friday, with the Mustangs Kristy Brodeur (22.29), Lisa McAllister (31.5) and Paige Allan (31.1) finishing third through fifth.

The Mustangs also dominated the floor exercise on Friday, with Lehman garbing first, McAllister second and Julie Williams third.

Paige Allan was fifth in the all-around Saturday. On the bars, Sue Cothren was second, Brodeur third. The judges were tough on Fri­day, said Rivera, but Saturday things clicked. He added the team could re-break the record.

"We had a couple of falls (Saturday)," said Rivera, "that's a couple of points right there."

Lehman finished second in the all-around Saturday, with Allan (33.7) fifth, McAllister (33.6) and Brodeur (32.9) seventh.

On the vault, Lehman was second, Cothren was third, and Paige Allan was fifth in the all-around Saturday.

The Mustangs set three records on Saturday, breaking the floor exercise record by almost two points.

Chair tossing incident will cost big ten conference

basketball court last weekend during a game with Purdue.

one-game suspension from the Big Ten Conference on posed regarding these violations. The penalties are ex­

appeal of my decision," said Big Ten Commissioner

"I have no discretion regarding the penalty to be im­

York Press - Coach Knight has advised me

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

Klingelhoffer said, "I really don't k n o w team were preparing to fly to Iowa City for the game.

Angered by the officiating, Knight, 44, hurled a chair

Critical of those officials. Knight, 44, hurled a chair national title, the team were preparing to fly to Iowa City for the game.

Critical of those officials. Knight, 44, hurled a chair

Angered by the officiating, Knight, 44, hurled a chair

in the top, six nationally, said

Rivera. "It will be tough.

Indiana basketball coach draws suspension

CHICAGO (AP) - Indiana Coach Bob Knight received a court suspension from the Big Ten Conference on Saturday as punishment for tossing a chair across the basketball court last weekend during a game with Purdue.

Knight will sit out the Hoosiers' game Sunday against

"Indiana University and Coach Knight have advised me that this penalty has been accepted and there will be no

appeal of my decision," said Big Ten Commissioner

Wayne Duke. "I have no discretion regarding the penalty to be imposed regarding these violations. The penalties are ex­

sually set forth in the conference's Sportsmanship Conduct Code," he said.

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident."

Indiana spokesman Kit Klingelhoffer said the school

"I do not penalize Knight for the incident.

"Indiana University and Coach Knight have advised me

that this penalty has been accepted and there will be no

appeal of my decision," said Big Ten Commissioner

Wayne Duke. "I have no discretion regarding the penalty to be imposed regarding these violations. The penalties are ex­

sually set forth in the conference's Sportsmanship Conduct Code," he said.
Mustangs ends up 6th in CCAA

Men beat Bakersfield for end of season win

By DAN RUTHEMeyer
Staff Writer

The men's basketball team finished its season on a winning note Thursday as it rode a 24-point performance from forward Nate Hatten to a 59-56 victory over Cal State Bakersfield.

Making four consecutive shots in the final minutes of the game, Hatten complemented the efforts of Chico Rivera, who sank six free throws in the final 31 seconds, to ensure the Mustang victory.

Rivera also made his presence felt under the backboard as he pulled down a team-high six rebounds.

Bakersfield played well enough in the first half to take a 30-26 lead over the Mustangs at the intermission.

Coming out strong in the second half, Cal Poly slowed the Roadrunner offense and gained the lead with several minutes left on the clock.

With the lead late in the game, the Mustangs refused to give up the battle and came away with the victory.

Aside from Hatten's strong performance, the Mustangs got 16 points from Rivera and 10 from freshman guard Mark Otta, who had played only sparingly throughout the season.

The Roadrunners got big games from Leonard Brown who tallied 12 points and from Michael Bryant who made good on five of his eight attempts for 10 points.

Strange wins Honda golf classic title

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) - Curtis Strange survived a double bogey and a shaky finish to claim the first extra hole when Jacobsen, who had come from six shots off the pace to force the playoff, three-putted for bogey.

Strange acquired the sixth title of his nine-year PGA Tour career with a routine, two-putt par-5 on the 18th hole to defeat Jacobsen, 2-up. He shot 73 to finish at 7-under-par 273 for the week. Jacobsen, who had come from six strokes behind with a routine, two-putt par-5 on the 18th hole to defeat Jacobsen, 2-up. He shot 73 to finish at 7-under-par 273 for the week. Jacobsen, who had come from six strokes behind to force the first extra hole when Jacobsen, who had come from six shots off the pace to force the playoff, three-putted for bogey.

 aside from Hatten's strong performance, the Mustangs got 16 points from Rivera and 10 from freshman guard Mark Otta, who had played only sparingly throughout the season.

The Roadrunners got big games from Leonard Brown who tallied 12 points and from Michael Bryant who made good on five of his eight attempts for 10 points.

Strange acquired the sixth title of his nine-year PGA Tour career with a routine, two-putt par-5 on the 18th hole to defeat Jacobsen, 2-up. He shot 73 to finish at 7-under-par 273 for the week. Jacobsen, who had come from six strokes behind to force the first extra hole when Jacobsen, who had come from six shots off the pace to force the playoff, three-putted for bogey.

Strange acquired the sixth title of his nine-year PGA Tour career with a routine, two-putt par-5 on the 18th hole to defeat Jacobsen, 2-up. He shot 73 to finish at 7-under-par 273 for the week. Jacobsen, who had come from six strokes behind to force the first extra hole when Jacobsen, who had come from six shots off the pace to force the playoff, three-putted for bogey.
Mustangs lose last game

Women finish basketball season with 9-17 record

By DAN RUTHEMEYER

Chapman College handed the women's basketball team a 79-59 defeat Thursday to close out the Mustang season at an overall mark of 9-17.

Cal Poly played Chapman tough in the first half, but the physical play of the Runnin' Panthers wore down the Mustangs as they pulled down 43 rebounds as compared to the 26 of Cal Poly.

Once Chapman had built a 10-point lead, chances for a Mustang comeback were slim. "The game was won down by 10 that was it," said Orrock. "There was no way we were going to come back against a team like them.

Adding to the second half Mustang downfall were poor calls on the part of the officials, said Orrock.

"We don't like to say the referees cost us the game, but they were bad," she said. "The other coach would probably agree they were bad calls even though a lot of them went his way.

Orrock said that the poor officiating caused the Mustangs to focus more on the fouls than on the game itself.

As a result of the many Mustang fouls, starting guards Chris Hester and Carol Mills both fouled out. Hester played only 16 minutes in the contest while Mills played 25 minutes on the floor.

Chapman was led in scoring by Sue Farmer, a 5-9 senior who scored 14 points. Farmer's nine attempts from the field and two of three from the free throw line

Orrock said that the Mustangs might have done better if Farmer had gotten the ball more often.

"We would like to have got the ball in Sue's hands more often," said Orrock. "She only had nine attempts the whole game.

With only two players using up their eligibility this year, the Cal Poly coaches are optimistic of having a better season next year.

Mustang Trish Groo makes a lay-up during Cal Poly's game.
Announcements

THE TWO CARER FAMILY

Balloons
CRAFT CENTERS BALLOONS AT EL CORRAL
M-11-123456
A GREAT Opportunity!

CAR DETAILING
It was hard to tell. A car was parked outside the house. Mother, or not. $25 for small cars and up to $30 for large cars. Please call.

CASH FOR USED CLOTHING
Milledgeville, GA 31061

PERSONAL
Congratulations—📝

Craftey Center
GROUP CLEANING
Apartments
Walking around, picking it up, and returning it to the source.

Sound on Wheels
FOR SALE 71 Honda 450 Brad 544-6811

Rental Housing

WANTED

Announcements

SEARCH FOR TRUTH
A New Cal Poly Bible Study.
Nothing but the truth... Fell free of charge.

MUSTANG DAILY
Monday, March 4, 1985

FEEL GREAT AND LOOSE WEIGHT TOO

SEARCH FOR TRUTH

FINDING THE TRUTH
School of Business Program

TUESDAY NIGHTS
Camp San Luis Obispo Clubhouse
$250-

SUDDEN DEPARTURE
Nancy's sole source of income. Applicants now accepting resumes for the position of Mustang Daily Advertising Sales Representative. Responsible for calling local clients. Their primary source of income. Applicants must be provided with a selection of testimonials to read as part of the application and interview process. This is a full-time job, and it requires. Good luck.

Ronsky Family
Found

Ronsky Family
Found

Announcements

CANE
Association of Collegiate Evangelists, you do have a desire to be an effective Christian witness on campus, is now open at Cal Poly.

LADIES NIGHT AT THE BAR

Rodeo Queen Pageant
Wednesday March 6 Madonna Inn Everyone welcome! SEE YOU THERE...