Central American students tell of region's turmoil

By KRIS REHER

Central America is important, Rodriguez said. "It's important for peace in Central America and El Salvador that both students and American people contribute to the support of condemnation of the regime of Duarte by words and communication -- it's the only way we can stop the bleeding of the people."

An FFA member gets into the convention spirit Sunday night in the University Union as a fellow future farmer looks on. The event, which brought more than 1,100 high school students to the Cal Poly campus, concludes Tuesday morning.

Writer, director presents work

First student play premiers

By SUSAN EDMONSON

After only three weeks of rehearsal, the first of nine student-directed plays will be performed tonight in Room 272 of the Music Building. The cast of "Stickmen in Bans," is not only student-directed, but also student-written. The play, written and directed by Christopher Inserra, a speech communications senior, begins at 5 p.m. and admission is $2.

Inserra cast "Stickmen in Paris" just three weeks ago. "I have a really great cast. I got lucky," he said. "If you give them a spark, creative people can do wonders. It's almost like I'm plagiarizing them."

Inserra was friends with most of the actors before the play was cast. "It makes it hard because I'm one of the gang. I have to go and play with the game a while then I have to be Mr. Director. The directing part isn't as much of a passion to me as the writing was. Actually, my first idea was to have somebody else direct it."

Inserra let the actors experiment a lot with the script and their blocking. "I knew I wanted the play to be funny so I went from there," he said. "After 12 days of rehearsal, I still laugh during parts of it."

"Stickmen in Paris" was submitted last quarter as Inserra's senior project and he now has higher aspirations for the play. "I've been sending in manila folders trying to get published. That's my main concern -- trying to get published. If I don't, I'll have to find a real job," he said.

"I think you're not a writer until you get published," Inserra said.

Local fraternities and sororities kick off their Greek Week (this weekend) by participating in various sporting events. Greek Week will continue through Sunday.

Delta Tau fraternity is leading in the men's competition and Alpha Epsilon Phi is in first place in the women's events.

Points are given to the top finishers in each event and the fraternity and sorority with the most points at the end of the week will receive a sweepstakes award.

In the triathlon the girls started at Crandall Gym and swam forty laps. They then biked 6.2 miles around campus and finished the event at Crandall after running 1.1 miles.

All the finishing sororities were clocked at under an hour.

Bicycle races were held at Cuesta College. The bike race consisted of a man-woman team each completing three laps. Theta Chi took first place for the fraternities, while Alpha Sigma Phi took first place for the sororities.

Competition got underway with the fraternities, their little sisters and sororities playing in a double elimination volleyball tournament. Delta Tau won first place for the fraternities, and Alpha Phi won first place for the sororities.

The women's triathlon took place Friday, with Sigma Kappa winning first place. A trophy was given in this event instead of points because it was a trial event. Points will be given up next year's Greek Week.

In the track and field events, the Jacks defeated Cal Poly with a marked time of 2:45.6, and Gamma Phi Beta took first place for the sororities with a marked time of 4:27. Points for the bicycle event were the same as the volleyball competition.

The wrestling competition in Crandall Gym on Sunday, Delta Tau won first place, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed second in this event.

The fraternities and sororities will continue competing in various events throughout the weekend. Wednesday is Greek Sing, one of the major events of Greek Week. It will take place in Chumash, Auditorium at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 with proceeds going to the Special Olym...
Opinion

Our voices are again being heard

The voices of American college students have once again been heard by those with the power or position to do something about a grave social problem.

Not since the Vietnam War protests in the '60s and '70s have our opinions and issues reached America's involvement in Vietnam ten years ago; our current concern revolves around apartheid in South Africa.

The students at the University of California at Berkeley started off the wave of protests and demonstrated successfully, calling for changes in United States policy toward the white minority rule, and lack of basic rights for the majority black and colored populations.

The time has now come for them to take notice of the situation. Several officials in California, including Gov. George Deukmejian, have discovered that several of the companies in which they hold personal investments have large investments in South Africa. Most of the officials have stated intentions to divest their money from those companies.

Deukmejian has said that this divestiture is a good way to begin to battle the terrible situation in that country. The voices of we students, even all of us here at Cal Poly, are growing campaign for change. The voices arc not going unnoticed.

United States Senator, Alan Cranston (D-California), has come out in praise of today's students and their "conscience and courage." He has said that we are "way ahead of Congress in acting against South Africa — and President Reagan even isn't out of the starting blocks."

We have made an impact, one that need not stop. We also need to keep our eyes and ears open for new and compelling concerns that we may continue to be active, caring and vocal advocates of the human condition.

Letters

SHAC makes health proposal

Editor

Have you ever seen one morning newspaper, such as the San Francisco Chronicle, retaining the services of their own cardiologist? Not since the Vietnam War protests in the '60s and '70s have our voices been heard, and yet our voices are once again being heard. The Health Center offers an excellent staff of doctors and personnel, yet we are often confused by the administrators and the services they provide. The Health Plan is a mandatory fee, and would be collected with tuition. The Health Center-provided services for less money per year, or verrifying of such commercial ventures by the Journalism Department or our opinions and feelings been so successfully presented.

J.D. Thomas

Reader defends Profs' position

Editor

Reader defends bowling alley

Editor

This is in response to a letter in your May 3 issue. In response to Professor Scriven's statements on abortion left me confused and at a loss for words. Now that she has written another article, I hope that she will better clarify her position. I agree that Rec Sports needs some renovation and improvement, but the writer believes to exist. He does not believe that there is an extreme rightist, and he feels viewpoints should not be flexible in individual cases. I believe the writer should justify and support each statement and their own personal views.

I hope that the writer will better clarify his thoughts and ideas on this sensitive issue, and I hope that the writer will better clarify his ideas. For instance, he supports the idea of the 'sacrifice of life to improve the quality of life,' with the example of World War II during which many lives were lost for the benefit of future generations.

The writer made two broad yet unquantifiable statements. I wonder what ramifications were behind his words. He claimed that having a viewpoint for each individual case is "Why?" Yet throughout the letter there is no explanation of the meaning or implicit agreement. This writer creates a complex system which means "different" or "unique." Then should not an argument be made on the basis of not being differently and uniquely, unlike others. I believe that an argument should be treated from one standpoint only?

The writer challenged Prof. Scriven to take a stand on what he feels is right and wrong," which Professor Scriven has already done. I believe that the intent of the letter was to ask Professor Scriven to choose between the two extremes of abortion. The writer believes that he has the guts to take a stand on the issue, and the writer condemned those who fail to take an extreme left or right viewpoint. Yet throughout the letter, there are absolutely no indication of any position, an absolute absence of anything which leads me to question the assurance in the validity of what the writer believes to be the "right" side of abortion.

I do not believe that Professor Scriven has "no guts." I commend him for the effort and time he has given toward the development of his position on this very delicate issue. He apparent -you put considerable thought into this idea. For instance, he sup-

Our voices are again being heard

The voices of American college students have once again been heard by those with the power or position to do something about a grave social problem.

Not since the Vietnam War protests in the '60s and '70s have our opinions and issues reached America's involvement in Vietnam ten years ago; our current concern revolves around apartheid in South Africa.

The students at the University of California at Berkeley started off the wave of protests and demonstrated successfully, calling for changes in United States policy toward the white minority rule, and lack of basic rights for the majority black and colored populations.

The time has now come for them to take notice of the situation. Several officials in California, including Gov. George Deukmejian, have discovered that several of the companies in which they hold personal investments have large investments in South Africa. Most of the officials have stated intentions to divest their money from those companies.

Deukmejian has said that this divestiture is a good way to begin to battle the terrible situation in that country. The voices of we students, even all of us here at Cal Poly, are growing campaign for change. The voices are not going unnoticed.

United States Senator, Alan Cranston (D-California), has come out in praise of today's students and their "conscience and courage." He has said that we are "way ahead of Congress in acting against South Africa — and President Reagan even isn't out of the starting blocks."

We have made an impact, one that need not stop. We also need to keep our eyes and ears open for new and compelling concerns that we may continue to be active, caring and vocal advocates of the human condition.

Letters

SHAC makes health proposal

Editor

Have you ever seen one morning newspaper, such as the San Francisco Chronicle, retaining the services of their own cardiologist? Not since the Vietnam War protests in the '60s and '70s have our voices been heard, and yet our voices are once again being heard. The Health Center offers an excellent staff of doctors and personnel, yet we are often confused by the administrators and the services they provide. The Health Plan is a mandatory fee, and would be collected with tuition. The Health Center-provided services for less money per year, or verrifying of such commercial ventures by the Journalism Department or our opinions and feelings been so successfully presented.

J.D. Thomas

Reader defends Profs' position

Editor

Reader defends bowling alley

Editor

This is in response to a letter in your May 3 issue. In response to Professor Scriven's statements on abortion left me confused and at a loss for words. Now that she has written another article, I hope that she will better clarify her position. I agree that Rec Sports needs some renovation and improvement, but the writer believes to exist. He does not believe that there is an extreme rightist, and he feels viewpoints should not be flexible in individual cases. I believe the writer should justify and support each statement and their own personal views.

I hope that the writer will better clarify his thoughts and ideas on this sensitive issue, and I hope that the writer will better clarify his ideas. For instance, he supports the idea of the 'sacrifice of life to improve the quality of life,' with the example of World War II during which many lives were lost for the benefit of future generations.

The writer made two broad yet unquantifiable statements. I wonder what ramifications were behind his words. He claimed that having a viewpoint for each individual case is "Why?" Yet throughout the letter there is no explanation of the meaning or implicit agreement. This writer creates a complex system which means "different" or "unique." Then should not an argument be made on the basis of not being differently and uniquely, unlike others. I believe that an argument should be treated from one standpoint only?

The writer challenged Prof. Scriven to take a stand on what he feels is right and wrong," which Professor Scriven has already done. I believe that the intent of the letter was to ask Professor Scriven to choose between the two extremes of abortion. The writer believes that he has the guts to take a stand on the issue, and the writer condemned those who fail to take an extreme left or right viewpoint. Yet throughout the letter, there are absolutely no indication of any position, an absolute absence of anything which leads me to question the assurance in the validity of what the writer believes to be the "right" side of abortion.

I do not believe that Professor Scriven has "no guts." I commend him for the effort and time he has given toward the development of his position on this very delicate issue. He apparent -you put considerable thought into this
By JAN SPRAGUE

The effects of the Vietnam War didn't lessen the number of people who enrolled in ROTC, said Robinson. In fact, he said, it may have increased.

"By joining ROTC, you put off active service for four years," said Robinson. "Vietnam put our country in an awkward position. Everyone wanted to blame the Army for our involvement in Vietnam, but we were, and still are, in a position to carry out the policies of our elected officials."

Protesters, who had definite misgivings about the military on campus tried to bomb and burn the ROTC building at UC Berkeley, said Arleigh Williams, the Dean of Student Affairs at Berkeley from 1964 to 1970.

"I don't think there's ever been a board with as much talent as this one," said Cabot, Allman Moore, a 21-year-old political science major. Yet even at Cal Poly, ROTC was the target of surrounding U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Robinson said he does remember "some people here who directed their displeasure with our national policy through demonstrations." But he feels people have now had time to put Vietnam into historical perspective.

"In the calm, rational environment today, people realize Vietnam was not the Army's fault," said Robinson.

Most of the students had difficulty in formulating arguments either side of the debate, said Hawthorne. The class did come up with several reasons why ROTC should or should not be allowed on campus — and several why it should. One issue was whether public facilities should be used for military activities.

"ROTC on campus is a symbol of the university's complicity with the military establishment and an implicit condoning of institutionalized aggression to achieve national goals," said Dr. Hawthorne. One of conclusions of the class was that ROTC should be confined to private campuses where there is a choice of whether it should be supported.

Other students argued that ROTC was a way to pay for a college education.

"I won an ROTC scholarship after attending basic class at Fort Knox, Kentucky," said Kari Knapp, a physical education major who joined ROTC in her sophomore year. The scholarship pays for schooling, supplies and a $1000 monthly allowance.

Knapp said that since joining ROTC she has decided on a career in the Army's medical service corps. "Working for the Army is more secure than some kind of teaching job," said Knapp.

"Those who put down ROTC because it supports the military establishment are way off base," said Cabot. Allen Moore. "A large portion of people at Poly support the military industrial complex in one way or another, most, are not aware of the role they play.

"Even during the complacent times that exist on most college campuses today, there is a hesitancy to admit that the 'march' between the military and university life is perfect. On Feb. 18 of this year, the ROTC building at the Berkeley campus was burned to the ground.

"The building was a total loss," said Ray Colvig, public affairs director at UC Berkeley. "The Nimitz Library and the memorial room were destroyed.

"It remains a mystery," said Colvig. "ROTC has been a target in the past, but this came as a surprise. Of course ROTC was unpopular with students concerned about being drafted and the American role in Southeast Asia. But it's changed a great deal — who would have thought this would have happened?"

"In 1952, ROTC was brought to Cal Poly by President Julian McPheen, creating a "marring" between the university and the Army," said Robinson. Cal Poly is not a land grant campus and ROTC has never been a requirement for all Kentuckians.

"Economic incentive and guaranteed employment are two reasons why Dr. Daniel Hawthorne, a Cal Poly psychology professor, said ROTC accepts role with changing times

UltraSwim Anti-Chlorine Shampoo

$4.50 8 oz.

Bello's Sporting Goods

since 1945

866 Monterey/Street
San Luis Obispo 543-2197

Time Marches On... and so does the student housing crunch...

that returns every Fall— but you can beat the crunch by signing up now for next year. Spacious units are now available for the awesome Mustang— live independently, close to school and close to shopping.

Call 543-4950 or drop in at 1 Mustang Drive, San Luis Obispo.
Chicken Ala Parmagiana $3.95 with Coupon
Tuesday Special March 12 only
Save $2.90 Boneless breast of Chicken with Italian Sauce and Mozzarella Cheese, Spaghetti, Salad and Garlic Bread

OFF CAMPUS STUDENTS
Buy the 4-LUNCH PLAN!

EVEN BEFORE YOU PACK UP, YOU COULD PICK UP THE AMERICAN EXPRESS CARD.

Who says you can't take it with you? After four years of college, you've got a lot of things. And one more could be the American Express Card. Because if you're a senior and you've accepted a $10,000 career-oriented job, you could get the American Express Card. That's it. No strings. No gimmicks. (And even if you don't have a job right now, don't worry. This offer is still good for 12 months after you graduate.)

But there's a way that American Express can show that we believe in your future. And as you graduate and go up the ladder, we'd like to come along. The Card is great for business. It can help you begin to establish your credit history. And in a little less serious vein, the Card can be a lot of fun. Use it for vacations, for a night on the town, or just a little shopping.

So call 400-528-4800 and ask to have a Special Student Application sent to you. Or look for one on campus. The American Express Card. Don't leave school without it.

Career Opportunities with Kmart
Contact the Career Planning and Placement Center
Evening Meeting May 8 7:00 p.m.
Engineering West room 205
All Business and Liberal Arts Students Invited.

Jewelry Sale!
For two days only.
May 6-7 9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.
up to 50% off!
A bit hard to find but well worth the effort

By LINDA REIFF

He's probably the last one to arrive and the last one to leave the Cal Poly campus everyday. He's hard to catch in his office, but easy to find at almost any student activity. And when one does find him, he's usually swamped by students, requesting his signature, asking for advice, or thanking him for his help.

The man who is an integral part of many students' lives and activities is Walt Lambert, coordinator of Greek Affairs.

In addition to his responsibilities for the fraternities and sororities, Lambert is the advisor to the Inter-Fraternity Council, Panhellenic Greek Week Committee, Order of Omega, ASI Films Committee and Pep Band.

"I love it," Lambert said about his fast-paced position. "I enjoy working with people — I always have. Everyday's different." As he speaks, Lambert's common grin competes for attention with his silver-white hair.

There's a continuous parade of students in and out of his office. "I'm constantly signing Form 81's," he said. "Any club that wants to hold an activity must fill out a form 81. And I don't just sign them, I have to ask a lot of questions.

"I also have Greeks in and out of here all day long, with problems ranging from dealing with the city to roommate problems over a boyfriend," Lambert said.

The day is very diversified. Lambert said he completely enjoys the position he's held for the last three years. His love for the job ties in with his philosophy on life. "If you don't love your job and going to work everyday, you should be looking for something else."

Lambert isn't looking for something else. "There was no job description when I started. At first I was just responsible for IFC," Lambert said. Lambert also shaped his first job with the University. Before becoming coordinator of Greek Affairs, Lambert headed the off-campus housing program. He built that program up for seven years.

Kathy Lewis, assistant coordinator of Greek Affairs, said he works really well with students. "He's easy going, understanding and always has good advice."

Lewis said Lambert is always looking out for someone, but doesn't over-step his bounds. "He's more like a friend than a father," she said.

Mike Pisenti, IFC president, said, "He's really easy to work with, he's real student-oriented. He understands everything that happens."

Lambert has a three-part plan to his success with students. "First, you have to enjoy being with students. You also almost have to become one of them. Next, you have to remember that you're in a service mode. I'm here to serve and help you. Without the students, I wouldn't have a job." His voice is loud and sure, like a professor lecturing on his favorite subject.

And finally, Lambert said a bit softer, "You have to be understanding and not get irrationaled, upset or impatient." The people who work with Lambert think highly of him, and he has a great deal of admiration for them.

"I think they (Cal Poly students) are super. They're obviously intelligent, maybe a little spoiled at times, but just when I think they're not going to come through, they always do," Lambert said.

"The hardest part about my job is when I have to step in and..."

Please see LAMBERT, page 6

BE SMART
GET FREE TESTING
PREVENT TAY-SACHS DISEASE
a fatal childhood genetic disorder
TESTING AT CAL POLY
Wednesday, May 8 1985
UU 220 9 am-1pm
Sierra Madre 4pm-7pm
A simple 5 minute test will enable you and your relatives to have healthy, unaffected children.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL: 546-1335

University Graphic Systems

Controller

University Graphic Systems

A salaried part-time student position, minimum of 15 hours per week.

The controller is responsible for all UCG financial operations. These include compiling and interpreting financial data from division managers and reporting necessary figures to the Foundation business office. Maintains the UCG computer inventory system and acts as office manager. Prepares the annual budget and handles all purchase requisitions and subsequent receipt and payment. A working knowledge of accounting is essential. This is a one-year position, starting in June, 1985.

Submit Resume and cover letter to Dave Oslund, General Manager, Graphic Communications Room 211b by Friday, May 10, 1985.

For further information, contact Rebecca Williams, Controller or Dave Oslund, General Manager, at 546-1140.

A Student Enterprise of the Graphic Communications Department

Nice... Quiet... Comfortable

Valencia

Now Accepting Fall Reservations

- Two-story townhouse apartments
- 3 bedrooms, 1 ½ bathrooms
- Completely furnished
- All utilities included (except cable-TV and telephone)
- Within easy walking distance to Cal Poly
- Within one block of two shopping centers

555 Ramona Drive • San Luis Obispo, CA 93401
805/543-1450

OPINIONS WANTED!!!

Bowl...and all those with opinions on the proposed conversion of the bowling alley into a fitness center.

Open Forum

May 9, 3pm
Room 220 U.U.
Sponsored by

UUAB
LAMBERT

From page 5

"It's important to become an authority figure," Lambert said.

Lambert believes the best remedies for problems are to take something negative and turn it into something positive. For example, Lambert recalled a fraternity that had gone against hazing rules. He put that fraternity on probation and made them do a community service project. He also had the other fraternities review their programs and revise any problems they might have. Lambert said the biggest problems facing the Greek System now are city relations and housing.

"They need to have a place, called their own Greek Row," he said.

Greeks are stereotyped. A lot of it they bring upon themselves, but there are many things that are more often overlooked," he said.

Lambert said the Greeks are blamed for the majority of the parties in town, but cited the recently passed San Luis Obispo noise ordinance as proof that Greeks aren't the only partiers. "It's the real culprit of our problems. Eighty to 90 percent of our problems are alcohol-related," he said.

Besides these issues, Lambert views the college experience as very positive. "One day I was in a ditch, digging dirt, it was 100 degrees outside, and I said to myself, 'What in the hell are you doing here?' I climbed out, quit, and went to college," Lambert said.

He reflected on his own experience, "One day I was in a ditch, digging dirt, it was 100 degrees outside, and I said to myself, 'What in the hell are you doing here?' I climbed out, quit, and went to college." Lambert said that move paid off. Another that has been invaluable has been his work at Cal Poly.

"My job is so rewarding. It's rewarding to watch young people grow and mature. Probably the thing I enjoy the most is the creativity and energy these students have. It never ceases to amaze me," he said as he shook his head.

Lambert doesn't mind the long or odd hours. "When they come back and say 'thanks for teaching me this or that,' well, that makes it all worthwhile."
Sports

More tracksters qualify nationally

Men both score points in league meet and qualify

By KIM MILLER

The men's track team scored points in the first round of conference championship events, while other team members qualified to compete in national competition at a separate meet last weekend.

The California Collegiate Athletic Association championships span two weeks. The decathlon competition was held May 3 and 4, with three Mustangs placing fourth, fifth and sixth. The remainder of the season is scheduled for May 10 and 11 at the Cal State Los Angeles campus.

Allen Aubuchon, a hammer thrower, Greg Genovese, decathlete, and Todd Cramer, a pole vaulter scored seven points for the Mustangs during conference competition.

Coach Tom Henderson said, "These points are critical as the points in league scoring events will determine who qualifies for the NCAA meet."

Aubuchon's closest competitor was Alex Villanueva of Pomona, who scored 10 points in the first day of competition.

Aubuchon's best event was the 1500 - he finished a full minute behind his teammates. Henderson said that Aubuchon's attitude proved he could do anything. He finished the decathlon with life-time bests in the 100 meters, 12.1, long jump 19'2 3/4", High jump 5'5 1/4", ran the 400 meters in 59.4, 110 hurdles in 16.7 and threw the discus 135'9".

Genovese was the only Mustang competitor trained in the decathlon to compete this weekend. He logged personal bests in the shot put, 35'8 1/2", in the pole vault, 12'11 1/4", but lost several hundred points in the long jump when he ran through the pit on his first attempt.

Cramer's 12'9 1/4" mark turned out to be the only fair jump of his three tries and Genovese is a 20 foot jumper.

Damon Shows, Steve Fisher, Weightman Jim Halter, Victorino's Pete Christie and Todd Cramer, a pole vaulter scored seven points for the Mustangs during conference competition.

SPEND A BUCK IN JERSEY DERBY

Derby winner may not go after Triple Crown

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Imagine your favorite baseball team winning the pennant easily and then boldly announce that instead of going on to the playoffs and World Series, it will play in some other tournament that has little or no importance.

Nothing, right?

Well, it is pretty different from having the brain trust of Spend A Buck suggest that the Kentucky Derby winner might not show up for the Preakness in two weeks, preferring to run in the Jersey Derby nine days later.

The Jersey Derby?

We're talking Triple Crown here and they're talking Jersey Derby. It sounds awfully far-fetched, but that's what the burgeoning payoffs of the horse racing industry have created.

The glamour of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont Triple Crown trifecta has been reduced by the efforts of other tracks to grab center stage with huge bonuses. And the whole formula is further complicated by ballooning stud fees.

The Breeder's Cup routinely headlines a program of $1 million races. Other purses have grown, as well. Now, the new Garden State Park has added three $1 million bonus races and has won the Triple Crown dream might mean to their colt, trainer Cam Gambolati said. "But the whole thing is what is best for the horse."

So, his strategists must weigh the extra $2 million payoff for the Jersey Derby against what a Preakness triumph and keeping alive the Triple Crown dream might mean to their colt, though, he must pass on the Preakness because to run in both in less than 1 ½ weeks would be a brutal grind for this 3-year-old.

Sure, the tradition of the Triple Crown weighs on the decision," trainer Cam Gambolati said. "But the whole thing is what is best for the horse."

There are two factors - the time in between races, 14 days (between the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness) or 23 days (between the Preakness and the Belmont) because to run in both in less than 1 ½ weeks would be a brutal grind for this horse.

The California Collegiate Athletic Association championship conference at Cal State Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, at the Nick Carter Track Complex, the Mustangs and is now ranked first in the CCAA. Damon Shows, Steve Fisher, Kevin Pratt and Erik Josephson race a 41.16 with the national qualifying mark set at 41.40.

Coach Tom Henderson said that the team tied with UCSB in a rare automatic photo timed (Acutrack) finish.

"This year I plan on winning the relay and the CCAA title," said Henderson.

The team qualified at the Poly Royal Invitational, but due to failure of the Acutrack system, no official qualifying time could be recorded. Josephson went on to finish second in the 100 meters, 10.8, and fourth in the 1500 meters in 3:43.98.

Weightman Jim Halter was the other big scorer of the day. "He continues to chop away at the 4-year-old world record of 50.7," said Henderson. Saturday Halter threw a five-foot personal best of 19'4 1/4". "The mark moves Halter into sixth in the NCAA national rankings and is tied at sixth in the CCAA conference as this division has eight of the top 10 throwers in the nation in the hammer throw."

Eight women went to the Saturday meet, and those who haven't qualified for the NCAA competition will be given a final chance this weekend at the California Collegiate Athletic Association conference at Cal State Los Angeles.

Women on fast road to fourth championship

BY DAWN YOSHITAKE

One wish came true over the weekend at the University of California at Irvine for the Cal Poly women's track team. Qualifying for the nationals was Jill Ellingson who ran 2:37.17 for the mile last weekend.

Gladdes Prior, who ran a season best with a time of 4:20.73 in the 1500 meters, had previously qualified for this year's national competition.

Tresnie Gibbs also ran a season best with 2:53.68 in the 800 meters.

Taking a lifetime best were Kat Manning with 4:47 in the 3000 meters and Danielle Sharkey with a jump of 5'7 1/2 for the triple jump.

Dennis Berenson won the javelin with a throw of 163-6."

For A Great Perm

Vicito's

544-4400

OSOS STREET SUBS

SANDWICHES AND SPIRITS

open 10 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

LARGE SOFT DRINK OR ONE 10¢ BEER WITH ANY SIZE SANDWICH (one coupon per sandwich)

COUPON at 1060 Osos St. 541-0955

PersonALIZED EXPRESSIONS

custom wedding sets the GOLD CONCEPT

734 Higuera St.

SUNDAY SWAP MEET

Sun. & Sat. 5:00, 7:00, 9:00

Coastal Pool Center has replacement Barbeque parts and Barbeques.

Coastal Pool Center

265 Pacific SLO 543-9308
Typing

- The Bowling Alley's future is at quitting. All are welcome to voice your opinion at 3:00

- SHRAE/AIR COND CLUB MEETING
  For more info, call 416-2476
  Tues May 7 at 7:00 SCI E-26
  AMBDA SIGMA HONOR SOCIETY MTG
  For more info, call 461-5878
  Tues May 14 at 7:00 SCI E-46

- AFRICAN RELIEF
  We're excited about spending Thursday, May 2, raising funds for a scholarship to a student from Africa. Proceeds for AFRICAN RELIEF under the Gold

- Call TYPING-25 yrs campus experience to 541-4780

- TYPING: 3741-4780, Spring Benedict and Electrons is on Tuesday.

- SLOW OUT PARTY!!!
  SPRING BREAK, SAT May, 2-5 pm, a free to ROYAL POLYN, 720 S 10th St.

- OH Majors
  ALL CLASSMATES ARE INVITED TO THE 1ST MEETING OF THE 85-86 OFFICER ELECTIONS.

- Announcements
  CORONATION BANQUET PHOTO
  At Val on Monday, April 22.

- OH Majors
  THE LAST CLASS MEETING WILL BE TUESDAY, APRIL 23 AT 12:30

- Events
  BATTLE OF THE BROTHS: Food, music, and fun.
  lounge, May 1st, 6-8, Sat.
  LIFE UNDER THE SOVIET RULE: An American student garners personal account.
  Discussion and Q&A

- Philadelphia Women's Conference Contest
  Open to all in attendance.
  Winners will be awarded by industry sponsors to the 6 best entries.
  Entries must be submitted by May 9th in the ML building.
  Contest deadline is May 15th.

- VIDEO DANCE 100 PRIZES!!!
  Chum, Tha 'Mal, 8pm, Fri

- LOST OLD CHAIN WITH 2 CHARMs
  It was lost in Gym 4-22-85
  Lost in Gym
  Contact: X2273

- LIVING ROOM: Must sell
  Woman will sell all living room furniture.
  Contact: X2273

- CHEAPEST IN TOWN:
  Girard driver local deli driver for building materials yard.
  Full time and part time.
  Contact: X52273

- Gibson Guitar
  1972 L8S. $300 or OBO
  Contact: X2273

- Roommate wanted for summer
  Female student desired.
  Contact: X2273

- For Rent
  2 BDRM $125/mo/per person
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273

- Roommates
  2 Female roommates needed to share room for summer
  Female roommate
  Contact: X2273