State keys may be connected with robberies

By DAN RUTHEMEYER

Keys that bear the engraving "State of California" have been used in four separate thefts on campus this quarter, and police feel that the widespread distribution of such keys in creases the possibility of theft.

Ray Berrett of the Public Safety Department said that when the number of keys on campus is considered, it is not surprising that thefts occur.

When you start thinking of the 40,000 keys that are on campus it is impossible to control the thefts, he said. Eventually there is going to be someone who loses a key.

A key to any room or building on campus, excluding El Corral Bookstore, can be obtained from the campus locksmith with the permission of a person who has been given the authority by a campus dean.

J. Hughes, the campus locksmith, said that while it is generally a dean or a department head who has the authority to issue a key, it may be possible for others to have authority.

The dean sends us lists every year of department heads and others who have the authority to authorize keys, said Hughes. Sometimes it may be a secretary who can authorize a key to be made.

Apartheid: another view

By JAN SPRAUGE

Apartheid is a problem that the black people in South Africa need to be informed about. The realities of the situation in South Africa are not informed, and the people here are not informed or they have a distorted picture.

This is happening because there is a problem with apartheid policies, and if they are to make necessary changes, the media needs to highlight violence like rioting without crediting the government for any positive steps taken. Small things like rent happen any where, said the South African student.

"I believe that whoever is in control should take action to set things right. I believe that whoever is in control should take action to set things right."

Union can keep reserves

By JULIA PRODIS

The University Union has the right to set aside funds for the construction of a recreational facility without the immediate approval of the student body. Roger Landreth, executive director of the ASI, and this allows for the possibility of a fee increase.

"It's in the student's court. It's the students' decision. It's the students' decision."

Landreth plans to have a referendum devised by Fall 1985 for the students to vote whether or not they want a recreational facility. Until that time, the $1 million in reserves can be kept intact.

According to Conway, the reason for the misunderstanding of the policy concerning this issue is that the rules for a fee increase and construction reserves are not written down in any form. As a result of the recent controversy, the Chancellor's Office will set down policies on writing concerning matters such as this.

In 1980, the University Union Board of Governors, a student body elected to set aside funds into a Building Expansion and Modification Account for the purpose of constructing a facility, was in doubt. According to Conway, the precedent is for such actions to be made with the approval and direction of the Chancellor's Office.
the number of keys. Students shouldn't be surprised at this. Over 40,000 campus keys have been issued, and with only approximately 70 buildings on campus, it's no small wonder even more equipment and come out haven't been stolen.

A key to any room or building on campus can be obtained from the campus locksmith with the permission of a person who has been 'responsible,' can issue keys to students.

Hughes, campus locksmith.

And, although we would like to think otherwise, not all students and staff who receive keys are upstanding citizens. Thus, the department's need to determine who gets a key and to define what a key is in the first place.

So, the solution to these crimes seems simple — limit the number of keys.

Daily survey on pub is too small
Editor:
I question the credibility and the journalistic professionalism of Thomas Williams and the Mustang Daily as a result of last week's article which reported the "wide support" of Cal Poly students for a pub on campus. The statistical evidence of the all-poll support is so skimpy that it could be considered non-existent. He reported that 63 percent of the students polled favored a pub on campus. He also indicated 47 percent of the students responded to the poll. And, the total number was not given.

Simultaneously reveals 296 students favor a pub. Another calculation shows the 63 percent at least constitutes 2 percent of the student population of approximately 15,000. Can anyone reasonably venture to say this figure would warrant this headline, "Survey shows wide support." The sad result of this presentation is that fully one-third of the front page and the information that was devoted to this story, especially its prominence and volume, would testify to its accuracy. This anemic argument based on the number of students responding to the poll is pure sophistry which is usually less than 2 percent of the student population is ludicrous. I urge you to question this information and demand your immediate attention.

Cathy Barone

Split graduation program wanted
Editor:

Once again the time of year is upon us when all graduating seniors begin to think about graduation, commencement and other various related activities. Among these activities is the hunt for extra commencement funds.

As early as the first or second week of Spring Quarter, ads began showing up in the classified section of the Daily, and no doubt we will be bombarded by these pleas for tickets before the quarter is over. The pain of this search is small compared to the tormenting decision about which family member must be left out due to the shortage of tickets.

I would like to propose an idea that could possibly eliminate some of these problems. This idea is not new or revolutionary and is already used by many, if not most, colleges and universities of any size. The idea is that of commuter students.

It now you have probably realized what I am referring to "split graduation" ceremonies. What I would like to propose is four separate commencement ceremonies — two in the morning and two in the afternoon — to be held in Mustang Stadium and the Main Gym. The seven schools could be divided into four "splits" and each school would have a separate ceremony in the morning and afternoon. Participants would be expected to arrive at least an hour before the commencement ceremony to participate in the ceremony. This system would ensure that each student would have a chance to participate in their respective ceremonies.

An alternate idea would be to split the present ceremony into morning and afternoon ceremonies. This option would still achieve most of the objectives and still retain many of the advantages of a four split.

Personally, as a graduating senior of 1986, I am especially interested in the ceremonies for next June. I feel that now is the proper time to begin planning these changes and that this would be a worthy undertaking for the newly elected President, Mike Mendes and the ASI Budget Committee.

I welcome feedback on this matter from all concerned parties and I also like to see this idea accepted and implemented (or rejected if the reasoning is justified) and not just simply fade away.

Wayne Ramay

Daily ignores Cal Poly sports
Editor:

Question: What is the difference between a Cal Poly student athlete and the average professional sports star? That's simple. The pro receives far more money than the Mustang Daily's journalistic attention. Is this as it should be? We think not, and would like to propose that the Daily staff re-examine the priorities of their sports coverage.

At least five newspapers available locally carry more news of professional sports. We appreciate that the Daily chooses to allocate its resources to the pursuit of campus sports.

We propose that the Daily expand its sports coverage. At least five newspapers available locally carry more news of professional sports. We appreciate that the Daily chooses to allocate its resources to the pursuit of campus sports, but why? Why are they not interested in high levels of athletic achievement to be reflected in the daily news? The entire universe is devoted to Cal Poly's own sporting endeavors. To cite several of many recent instances in which the Daily has flagrantly defaulted in its reporting duties:

The Mustang Daily Health center staff has asked me to emphasize that all of our students would welcome increased utilization of our services. I feel that this new health care system could reduce some of these problems. I believe that the Daily should alter its priorities and give our student body the coverage they deserve.

James H. Nash, Director
Student Health Services

Prof opposes "liberal" column
Editor:

Frankly, I was quite startled last week upon reading Jim Austin's clumsy attempt at journalistic sarcasm in which he denounced liberalism in America.

Today, I was even more alarmed when I read his "Kelly's articulate response." Even though I may not share Kelly's views where Mr. Austin's inconsiderate and unreasoned "mentality" is concerned, I do not see him as being representative of the student population at a distinguished university like Cal Poly.

However, Mr. Austin's opinion article still appears incredible in the context of a supposed enlightened setting. I.e. the campus of an institution of higher education within an industrialized nation in the late 20th century. Taking this into consideration, somehow Mr. Kelly's eloquent ridicule of "Reaganism" as applied to Austin-like individuals shows a certain degree of insincerity.

Lastly, I question the Mustang Daily's supposed journalistic impartiality regarding the headline they stick on Mr. Kelly's letter. "Liberal takes to the airwaves."

With the above comments in mind, I sometimes wonder if the editing of student-written letters could be improved. Next week upon reading Jim Austin's column I am quite certain that I will not be able to view the headline. 'Kelly's articulate response.' I am sure that the headline could be improved.

Uncle Rambler

Letters

Editorial Board

DISCLAIMER

The Mustang Daily encourages readers' opinions, criticisms and comments on issues. Readers' letters should be submitted at the Daily office in Room 226 of the Graphic Arts Building, or sent to Mustang Daily Letters, Box 2020, Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407. Letters should be kept as short as possible, must be double-spaced, typed, and include complete name, address and phone number. To ensure that they be considered for the next edition, letters should be submitted no later than 4 p.m. Letters received the right to edit letters for length and style and the right to withhold any correspondence from the author's name. Press release should be submitted to the Daily office at least a week before publication. The above disclaimer must be included in all releases mailed to the Mustang Daily Editorial Board.

DAILY POLICY

Letters

The Mustang Daily reserves the right to edit letters for length and style. The Daily reserves the right to withhold any correspondence from the author's name. Press release should be submitted to the Daily office at least a week before publication.
APARTHEID
From page 1
Hearing about American divorce has caused an increasing number of South Africans to black, to "become upright over losing their jobs," he said. "Nobody is going to desert, because companies in the South African farms with the system the way it is now and don't support," he said. "It is pressures of divestiture and tribal differences that have caused violent outbreaks."

His father owns a 900-acre citrus ranch, employing black South Africans as the prime labor source. "The people my father hires are treated well. They are given health and medical care, food, clothing and are allowed to live on the ranch," he said. The only problems seem centered on tribal conflicts, he said. "Often we'll have people working for us from different tribes, and they'll refuse to talk to each other, or will not relate well with each other."

The violence in the news is usually against black and black. "It's totally different in South Africa then what went on in America."

The more like the way you dealt with your American Indian population, "said the South African. "You have a group of people like the Bushmen who are primitive people with no concept of civilized ways. Laws are then necessary to enforce order for the betterment of everyone, because "it is difficult to mainstream many of the South African blacks into civilized society."

Many of the policies that people are protesting are being reformulated, he said. "It's a system that has changed."

Warnbach, an agricultural professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at Ag Building, according to the police report. After being booked on campus, Warnbach was transported to the County Jail after posting bail.

A Cal Poly professor was arrested Friday on a charge of being drunk in public and was later released from San Luis Obispo Jail after posting bail.

Robert Warnbach, 54, a natural resource management professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at 3:30 p.m. Friday after police observed him walking disoriented and unsteadily through the parking lot near the Agriculture Building, according to the police report.

Police stopped Warnbach in the parking lot and proceeded to give him a field sobriety test when Warnbach nearly fell over, said Cal Poly Investigator Ray Berrett. Police discontinued the test at that point for fear of Warnbach injuring himself, said Berrett.

By DAN RUTHEMEYER

"I think it's good to get away from South Africa for a while; it helps to see things a little more clearly," he said regarding his stay at Cal Poly. "But from what I've seen, anywhere you go in the world, races aren't integrated. The problem is not unique to South Africa; in almost all countries around the world you'll find races living separately."

"I think it's time to open his passport so he couldn't travel," he said of Warnbach. "It's more like the way you dealt with your American Indian population," said the South African. "You have a group of people like the Bushmen who are primitive people with no concept of civilized ways. Laws are then necessary to enforce order for the betterment of everyone, because "it is difficult to mainstream many of the South African blacks into civilized society."

Many of the policies that people are protesting are being reformulated, he said. "It's a system that has changed."

"It's a system that has changed."

Warnbach, an agricultural professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at Ag Building, according to the police report. After being booked on campus, Warnbach was transported to the County Jail after posting bail.

A Cal Poly professor was arrested Friday on a charge of being drunk in public and was later released from San Luis Obispo Jail after posting bail.

Robert Warnbach, 54, a natural resource management professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at 3:30 p.m. Friday after police observed him walking disoriented and unsteadily through the parking lot near the Agriculture Building, according to the police report.

Police stopped Warnbach in the parking lot and proceeded to give him a field sobriety test when Warnbach nearly fell over, said Cal Poly Investigator Ray Berrett. Police discontinued the test at that point for fear of Warnbach injuring himself, said Berrett.

By DAN RUTHEMEYER

"I think it's good to get away from South Africa for a while; it helps to see things a little more clearly," he said regarding his stay at Cal Poly. "But from what I've seen, anywhere you go in the world, races aren't integrated. The problem is not unique to South Africa; in almost all countries around the world you'll find races living separately."

"I think it's time to open his passport so he couldn't travel," he said of Warnbach. "It's more like the way you dealt with your American Indian population," said the South African. "You have a group of people like the Bushmen who are primitive people with no concept of civilized ways. Laws are then necessary to enforce order for the betterment of everyone, because "it is difficult to mainstream many of the South African blacks into civilized society."

Many of the policies that people are protesting are being reformulated, he said. "It's a system that has changed."

Warnbach, an agricultural professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at Ag Building, according to the police report. After being booked on campus, Warnbach was transported to the County Jail after posting bail.

A Cal Poly professor was arrested Friday on a charge of being drunk in public and was later released from San Luis Obispo Jail after posting bail.

Robert Warnbach, 54, a natural resource management professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at 3:30 p.m. Friday after police observed him walking disoriented and unsteadily through the parking lot near the Agriculture Building, according to the police report.

Police stopped Warnbach in the parking lot and proceeded to give him a field sobriety test when Warnbach nearly fell over, said Cal Poly Investigator Ray Berrett. Police discontinued the test at that point for fear of Warnbach injuring himself, said Berrett.

By DAN RUTHEMEYER

"I think it's good to get away from South Africa for a while; it helps to see things a little more clearly," he said regarding his stay at Cal Poly. "But from what I've seen, anywhere you go in the world, races aren't integrated. The problem is not unique to South Africa; in almost all countries around the world you'll find races living separately."

"I think it's time to open his passport so he couldn't travel," he said of Warnbach. "It's more like the way you dealt with your American Indian population," said the South African. "You have a group of people like the Bushmen who are primitive people with no concept of civilized ways. Laws are then necessary to enforce order for the betterment of everyone, because "it is difficult to mainstream many of the South African blacks into civilized society."

Many of the policies that people are protesting are being reformulated, he said. "It's a system that has changed."

Warnbach, an agricultural professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at Ag Building, according to the police report. After being booked on campus, Warnbach was transported to the County Jail after posting bail.

A Cal Poly professor was arrested Friday on a charge of being drunk in public and was later released from San Luis Obispo Jail after posting bail.

Robert Warnbach, 54, a natural resource management professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at 3:30 p.m. Friday after police observed him walking disoriented and unsteadily through the parking lot near the Agriculture Building, according to the police report.

Police stopped Warnbach in the parking lot and proceeded to give him a field sobriety test when Warnbach nearly fell over, said Cal Poly Investigator Ray Berrett. Police discontinued the test at that point for fear of Warnbach injuring himself, said Berrett.

By DAN RUTHEMEYER

"I think it's good to get away from South Africa for a while; it helps to see things a little more clearly," he said regarding his stay at Cal Poly. "But from what I've seen, anywhere you go in the world, races aren't integrated. The problem is not unique to South Africa; in almost all countries around the world you'll find races living separately."

"I think it's time to open his passport so he couldn't travel," he said of Warnbach. "It's more like the way you dealt with your American Indian population," said the South African. "You have a group of people like the Bushmen who are primitive people with no concept of civilized ways. Laws are then necessary to enforce order for the betterment of everyone, because "it is difficult to mainstream many of the South African blacks into civilized society."

Many of the policies that people are protesting are being reformulated, he said. "It's a system that has changed."

Warnbach, an agricultural professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at Ag Building, according to the police report. After being booked on campus, Warnbach was transported to the County Jail after posting bail.

A Cal Poly professor was arrested Friday on a charge of being drunk in public and was later released from San Luis Obispo Jail after posting bail.

Robert Warnbach, 54, a natural resource management professor, was booked by Cal Poly police at 3:30 p.m. Friday after police observed him walking disoriented and unsteadily through the parking lot near the Agriculture Building, according to the police report.

Police stopped Warnbach in the parking lot and proceeded to give him a field sobriety test when Warnbach nearly fell over, said Cal Poly Investigator Ray Berrett. Police discontinued the test at that point for fear of Warnbach injuring himself, said Berrett.
The essence of WOW: the first in a series of stories on Cal Poly's orientation program.

By SALLY KINSELL
Staff Writer

This is the first in a series of stories on Cal Poly's orientation program.

The essence of Week of Welcome at Cal Poly is to make new students feel comfortable in their new environment in order to succeed, the adviser to WOW said.

The orientation program involves the students in tours of the campus and San Luis Obispo, while at the same time involves them in social activities that will help them feel more at home.

Bob Walters, assistant director for the Activities Planning Center said the 3000 or more students who experience WOW each year usually adapt more quickly to their new surroundings, make friends more easily and do better in school than those students who do not participate in the program. "If the person is comfortable with their environment they can put out a much more efficient manner -- an individual who is alone in a crowd is not going to perform well," he said. Recent studies have indicated that one of the biggest factors of students dropping out of college is their inability to adapt to their environment, Walters added.

WOW has been at Cal Poly in some form for many years, but the essence of the current program has remained intact since 1972. Before that time, half the students who went through WOW went to a camp while the rest received orientation in the classroom.

Bob Walters has been adviser for WOW since 1970.

Ask one of the 3 million Americans who've survived cancer if the money spent on research is worth it. We are winning. AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY*

Spaghetti Dinner
$2.95 Spaghetti with sauce, Garlic Bread, and a salad. Sorry NO takeouts.

KROY LETTERING

$200 Free Software or Peripherals

with the purchase of an HP 150 Computer

Systems start at $1795

Computers and Peripherals limited to stock on hand.
other half remained on campus, said Walters. The camp was one of the first things he deleted when he became adviser in 1970, he said, adding that it doesn’t make sense to have a college orientation program that operates off campus.

The program is now run by the WOW Board, a group of six elected students. They are elected about a week after Fall Quarter WOW ends and are responsible for running the training sessions, making sure the week runs smoothly, doing evaluations, making any necessary changes in the program and numerous other activities.

"WOW represents a big effort on a lot of people," said Chairman Mike Benkert. "We have a lot of volunteers who participate in the program — we don’t pay anybody. They do it because they want to, they do it because they care, they do it because they had a fun time in WOW or they do it because they had a really lousy time in WOW and they don’t want to make sure someone else doesn’t.”

In addition to Benkert, the members of the board consist of Lenny Davis, Kerry Bean, John Lunsford, Mitch Moeller and Dan Balbierz. Each of them have been counselors and facilitators before. Counselors’ duties include leading the new students, or "WOWies." Facilitators train the counselors during Spring Quarter.

The members of the board said they feel very positive about the Cal Poly orientation program.

"The heart of the program is solid and it’s doing its job," said Benkert. "Each year tiny little changes occur and that’s it. I don’t think anything in the main program should be changed," added Dan Balbierz.

Fall Quarter is the most important time for WOW, with the program lasting from Sunday afternoon to Thursday night the week before classes begin. Even in this limited time new students change greatly, said Benkert.

"You see an incredible difference at the end of the week in how they act, how they appear and how they present themselves. They are so much more confident and so much more open." Kerry Bean added "when they come in they are still high school seniors — after a while they become college freshmen." About 80 percent of the new students who go through WOW are first-time freshmen.

A smaller version of WOW is offered for Winter, Spring and Summer quarters, called off-quarter WOW. Usually it only lasts for a weekend, due to lack of time, said Bob Walters. "Often the calendar dictates what we’re able to do and not able to do — it’s so restricted, there’s not much you can come up with.”

The training program for the counselors and facilitators will be explored in a second article tomorrow including interviews with current prospects for next Fall and insight into what goes on during their weekly meetings.

The WOW Board practicing a song for a Tuesday night counselor training meeting.
Poly Symphonic Band ends concert season in style

By MARC MEREDYTH

The Spring Band Concert Saturday night concluded the 1984-85 Cal Poly Symphonic Band concert series with a variet

Orchestra, the Cal Poly brass Quintet, the Cal Poly Percussion Ensemble, and the Cal Poly Saxophone Quartet.

Conductor William Johnson told the audience of about 500 that it took about two years to make the arrangements for Brandenburg to play with the Symphonic Band at Cal Poly and that he had been in San Luis Obispo since last Wednesday working with band members on the arrangement he had chosen for the concert, Concerto No. 1 in F minor, Op. 72 by Carl Maria von Weber.

The concert included the world premiere of Passacaglia, written by Cal Poly metallurgical engineering student Michael Mohn, who is minoring in music, said the piece took him about three months to write. He said Passacaglia is the name of a particular baroque style that has a continuously repeating bass theme.

A member of the clarinet section and the band's executive manager, Mohn said music will always be on the side of whatever he's doing and that he's currently working on some more pieces that will premiere next year.

After Passacaglia, the band left the stage and the Cal Poly Brass Quintet changed the tone and tempo of the concert by playing a medley of pop tunes from the last 50 years or so.

The Cal Poly Percussion Ensemble then entered wearing costumes ranging from bandanas to bright red scarves to four bow ties on one shirt. The ensemble played a fast percussion number by Vic Firth, Encore in Jazz. The piece met with applause and shouts of appreciation from the audience.

The symphonic band then returned and played the last two numbers of the concert: a beautiful piece called Sea Songs by Thomas Knox that conjured up visions of sunsets on the ocean and waves crashing against Morro Rock just prior to a light salvo of Marches On, Time Marches On, that returns every Fall—but you can beat the student housing crunch... new units are now available for the awesome Mustang—live independently, close to school and so and does the student housing crunch... that returns every Fall—but you can beat the crunch by signing up now for next year. Serious new units are now available for the awesome Mustang—live independently, close to school and so

MUSTANG DAILY CLASSIFIED ADS

Time Marches On... and so does the student housing crunch... that returns every Fall—but you can beat the crunch by signing up now for next year. Serious new units are now available for the awesome Mustang—live independently, close to school and so close to shopping.

MUSTANG VILLAGE

Inquire Today! Our office staff is ready to serve you. Call 543-4950 or drop in at 1 Mustang Drive. San Luis Obispo.

TAKE REGULAR CAL POLY COURSES

T A K E  R E G U L A R  C A L  P O L Y  C O U R S E S

IN FIVE WEEKS OF SUMMER SESSION!!

GENERAL EDUCATION AND BREADTH COURSES

HIST 204-01 SS Growth of Amer. Democracy 6/17-7/19 M-F 9:30-10:45 am
PHIL 301-02 SS Ethics 6/17-7/19 M-F 9:30-10:45 am
PHIL 302-02 SS Ethics 6/17-7/19 M-F 9:00-12:15 pm
PSY 201-01 SS General Psychology 6/19-7/26 M-F 8-9:30 am
SPC 201-01 SS Public Speaking 6/25-7/26 M-F 9:30-10:45 am
SPC 202-02 SS Principles of Speech 6/24-7/26 M-F 8-9:15 am

ELECTIVE COURSES

AE 581-01 SS Small Engine Systems 6/19-7/10 M-F 11am-1pm
AM 581-01 SS Computer Applications in Agriculture Education 6/19-7/10 M-F 1-3 pm
ASCI 581-01 SS Horse Management 6/19-7/10 M-F 7-9 am
MATH 435-01 SS Teaching Mathematics in the Elementary School 6/24-7/26 M 12:30-2pm
OH 581-01 SS Ag Teacher's Guide to Landscape Irrigation and Maintenance 6/19-7/10 M-F 9-11 am
PE 502-01 SS Advanced Seminar in Problems in P.E. 7/6-7/14 DAILY
PE 513-01 SS Evaluation of Current Studies 7/27-8/4 DAILY
PE 517-06 SS Research Methods in Physical Education 7/14-7/27 DAILY

These are all 3-unit courses offering residence credit toward degree programs. The fee is $120 per course.

SPACE IS LIMITED! ENROLL NOW AT EXTENDED EDUCATION COTTAGE 1, CAMPUS WAY, PHONE 546-2053

What is the newest most existing acupuncture health care? Certified Acupuncture

Certified Acupuncturist

care day

March 21, 1985

California Acupuncture College

7/14-7/27 DAILY

The criteria used by deans and department heads in issuing keys varies from person to person, said Hughes, with some being more liberal than others.

"It's up to the departments to decide the scrutiny of who gets a key," said Hughes. "Some are pretty tight and some are pretty loose.

The locksmith shop, which makes six to eight keys a day, has no authority in determining the number of keys issued, but is only responsible for maintaining records of requests of those who do possess the keys.

In two of the campus thefts this spring in which a key was used to gain entry, there have been a significant number of keys that could have been used to open the rooms.

There are 183 keys that will unlock the door of a room in the Science building where two Physics Department computers were stolen in late April.

These figures include all of the submaster and master keys as well as those keys made especially for the individual doors. There are 87 grand master keys that will open the rooms that were robbed and in several other buildings.

Investigator Wayne Carmack of the Public Safety Department said that because there are many keys that could have been used to commit the robberies, investigation of such crimes is severely limited.

"In some cases the number of keys just eliminates any possibility of investigation because there are so many out there," he said.

In addition to the number of keys that can unlock any one door on campus, there is also the threat that keys can be duplicated by locksmiths other than the one who made the key, said Berrett.

"I would venture to say that if you took a state key into a locksmith he would make a copy for you," he said. "We did that when I worked for the San Luis Obispo Police Department and they (the locksmiths) made the copy."

Berrett added that while there are some locksmiths who will violate the "Do Not Duplicate" message stamped on state keys, there are also those who honor the message.

"Some of the local locksmiths are members of a locksmith organization that doesn't allow such duplication to be done. These locksmiths will usually not duplicate the key," he said.

A recent case investigated by public safety involved a department that had experienced several robberies committed with the use of a key. Although public safety advised the department that the number of keys would decrease the amount of theft, the department responded with resistance.

"We gave them a recommendation and they didn't like it," said Berrett. "I think it comes down to personal feeling of security, because they like the feeling of having a key.

The issuance of keys by the campus locksmith is entered into a computer system that keeps track of all keys made and who has them.

Phone: 543-4950 or drop in at 1 Mustang Drive. San Luis Obispo.
Mustangs third tourney in NCAA

BY JANET HASERT

The Cal Poly men's tennis team, which was rated No. 1 in Division II, placed third in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament last week, beating Rollins 5-2 at Northridge to take two of its three matches in the tourney.

Four Mustang individuals were named All-America in singles and doubles.

Junior Brian Bass and freshman Paul Landry earned the title in both singles and doubles, while senior Rob Pritzlowski and junior Bob Zoller earned the All-America title in doubles.

The doubles team of Landry and Pritzlowski reached the fifth round of play, after defeating Rollins. Ferris State Metro State, UC-Davis, before losing 6-4, 2-6, 7-5 to Prevovolos and Clark of UC-Davis.

Also reaching the fifth and semi-final round, after defeating Cal State Hayward twice and Hampton once, were doubles teams of Bass and Zoller. The pair lost to Goles and Langford from Stephen F. Austin 6-3, 4-6, 7-2.

In singles play No. 4 seeded Bass, No. 13 seeded Landry, and Zoller reached the third round before losing their matches.

Two lost to Chapman and one to Cal State Hayward.
NEEDED
Graduation Tickets
Call Terry Morgan 541-3839

For a free list of all the affordable houses for rent, please contact the City of San Luis Obispo. Call 544-4444 for more information.

THREE BEDROOM HOUSE, sublet
San Luis Obispo, June 15-Sept 15, $1,250/mo, utilities included, Immediate occupancy up to September 15. For more information, please contact the City of San Luis Obispo at 544-4444.

FALL/SUMMER SUBLET
For a free list of all the affordable houses for rent, please contact the City of San Luis Obispo. Call 544-4444 for more information.

PARKING SPACE
Available in upper lot at University Ave and Hwy 101, 93405. Call 543-8545 for availability.

WANTED TO SHARE A ROOM IN TRIP TO SAN FRANCISCO August 25-September 12. Must be able to share a 3-bedroom, 2-bath apartment with a couple. Call 546-9250 for more information.

Houses for Sale
For a free list of all the affordable houses for rent, please contact the City of San Luis Obispo. Call 544-4444 for more information.

FLAT FOR RENT
San Luis Obispo downtown, $600/mo, utilities included. Call 544-4444 for more information.

HELP LOST DRUMMING PAD THURS. 865 LEFT IN RM 708 SCI. NORTH TOWARDS ADMINISTRATION BLDG. 548-1350 serene.