Concertgoers call police action at Vets Hall a ‘massacre’

By Reese Shupe

A group of local Dead Kennedys fans believe an injustice took place last Thursday night at the Veterans Memorial Building when the concert turned into a riot. They’re calling it “The Vets Hall Massacre.”

More than twenty people who attended the concert met Sunday in the Mission Plaza to discuss what happened when police attempted to disperse the crowd. Some calling themselves “punk for peace” and others just “concerned citizens” said they have banded together to “unify the alternative music scene” and provide support for concert promoter Morris Vaughn Samuel.

Samuel is unofficially said to owe between $10,000 and $15,000 in damages to the Vets Hall.

The general feeling among the group was that the riot could have easily been avoided had the police used “clearer and calmer tactics.”

According to Brooke Bradford, a “punk for peace,” the main problem was that a clear announcement that the concert was over was not given to the crowd.

“No one heard the cops ask them to leave because the P.A. system they were using was turned off,” said Bradford.

“When everyone just stood there the police moved right in.”

Eric Anderson, also at the concert, said the crowd was not given enough time to get out.

“Once the announcement was made for us to leave, the cops waited about two minutes before going wild with their actions,” said Anderson. “They were the ones who used force and provoked hysteria,” he said, adding that the audience was never given a reason for the abrupt ending of the concert.

“If you think a group of people who came to see The Who who would walk out if someone just told them to? Over 400 people just can’t be told to leave without getting a reason,” said Anderson.

Study to examine higher education in state

By Katie Britain

The role of higher education in public universities and colleges is being examined for the first time in 25 years to meet the challenging forces that are shaping the system today.

In September, Gov. George Deukmejian signed into law Senate Bill 86, which establishes a task force to study higher education. The bill was sponsored by state Sen. Jerry Brown, D-San Francisco, who has been leading the effort to examine the status of higher education in California.

The report cited a study by the American Council on Education, which identified several areas where higher education needs to improve. These areas include faculty turnover, planning and research priorities, and the role of public service in higher education.

“Higher education needs to be more responsive to the needs of society,” said Brown. “We need to make sure that our universities and colleges are meeting the needs of the state.”

The study, which is expected to be completed by the end of the year, will be used by state officials to make decisions about how to allocate resources to higher education institutions.
No Holds Barred

Beware the politics of us and them

By Sue Harris and Kevin Cannon

Date rape story didn't point out guilty party

Editor — I am a little annoyed by the fact that many girls and all of the women in San Luis Obispo will now be required to change our entire lifestyle in order to avoid date rape.

Traveling in mobs, changing our style of dress, not flitting or just talking to one particular boy, plus keeping up our guards constantly are all being asked of us. I personally would find it difficult to be assertive and say no, when I have been brought to the point of not being able to wear what I want. I think the pointers are helpful but it seems like a rather old-fashioned notion that women are at fault behind date rape.

Instead of a scenario where a girl goes to a boy's house and finds herself over his bed, why not one with a boy who feels he has to force himself on a girl who is saying no?

The article on date rape could have instead focused on where men feel they might have this problem. It did bring up some points that I believe should be pointed out.

I realized date rapists aren't the kind of men that will read the article and immediately change their ways but it also seems a little strange to inform them of the fact that women will be discouraged from even bringing charges.

This problem shouldn't be blamed on a woman's naivete, but instead the blame should be placed where it is due and the solutions aimed in that direction also.

HOLLY KLINKEL

Editor has no right to cross police line

Editor — I am writing this letter in response to the column in the Oct. 14 Mustang Daily entitled, "Police Power Needs to Be Guided." You've got to be kidding. I would hope that someone who has become the editor of a university newspaper and is a senior at a national university would have been explained the rights of the press somewhere along the line. It's the same type of thought that created many problems during the riots of the 1960s. People went in and became part of the non-violent movement and tried to cross a police line but we cannot question their power until we establish our ability to act as responsible citizens.

In the future, stick to reporting the news and not writing what you want.
Body identified as Klinghoffer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man's body that washed up on the Syrian shore was identified Wednesday as that of 69-year-old Leon Klinghoffer of New York, the State Department said. The body was brought to Damascus from the coastal region of Tartus on Tuesday and Western diplomatic sources and a physician said it appeared to have been in the sea for at least a week before washing ashore Monday.

Ng charged in multiple murders

SAN ANDREAS (AP) — Charles Ng, the former companion of alleged mass killer Leonard Lake, was accused Wednesday of killing eight people, including a 2-year-old boy, as prosecutors launched their first steps to extradite Ng from Canada.

Investigators have linked Ng and Lake to the disappearances of at least 22 people over two years in a bizarre mass-murder case that has included video tapes of sexual torture. A physician said it appeared to have been in the sea for at least a few miles east of San Francisco, then murdered them.

The bodies at his mountain cabin.

The body was brought to Damascus from the coastal region of Tartus on Tuesday and Western diplomatic sources and a physician said it appeared to have been in the sea for at least a week before washing ashore Monday.

Ng charged in multiple murders

SAN ANDREAS (AP) — Charles Ng, the former companion of alleged mass killer Leonard Lake, was accused Wednesday of killing eight people, including a 2-year-old boy, as prosecutors launched their first steps to extradite Ng from Canada.

Investigators have linked Ng and Lake to the disappearances of at least 22 people over two years in a bizarre mass-murder case that has included video tapes of sexual torture.

Ng, 24, a former Marine and martial arts expert who often wears a Mohawk hair cut. Pre­

They've been drinkin' a little, with a Mohawk hair cut. Prelookin' for a little trouble. They Ag majors are here. There they everyone alone. Don't talk to strangers. All for you hardly know gush, "We love

We need Dice for Yahtzee

We need Band-Aids

We need Chinese checkers.

And clothing. Polyester is a

And cards. Cards to play soli­

And what about reading mate­

And what about entertain­

and we need Chinese checkers. And cards. Cards to play solitaire with in case you've the only survivor of the nuclear holocaust.

And clothing. Polyester is a miracle fabric. It will endure even after the cockroaches have kicked off. We must all wear polyester. Polyester leisure suits for men and polyester stretch pants for women. Orange polyester.

PETE

From page 2

In high school, athletes and cheerleaders were IN groups. So were Surfers, Skateboarders, New Wavers, Punks, even Gays. At Cal Poly, many students are members of clubs or cliques, each with its own prejudices, stereotypes and styles.

Nobody much wants to discuss it, but it's there. Sarcasm suspi­

The answer: Factions, groups,-clubs or cliques, each with its own prejudices, stereotypes and styles.

The end is near. Stock up your basement with condiments and libations. We need mayonnaise — lots and lots of mayonnaise. And hot dogs. And toothpaste and dental floss. Floss twice a day, three times if you have corn on the cob.

And what about reading mate­

And the Reader's Digest version of the Bible.

And what about entertain­

and we need Chinese checkers. And cards. Cards to play solitaire with in case you've the only survivor of the nuclear holocaust.

And clothing. Polyester is a miracle fabric. It will endure even after the cockroaches have kicked off. We must all wear polyester. Polyester leisure suits for men and polyester stretch pants for women. Orange polyester.

PETE

From page 2

In high school, athletes and cheerleaders were IN groups. So were Surfers, Skateboarders, New Wavers, Punks, even Gays. At Cal Poly, many students are members of clubs or cliques, each with its own prejudices, stereotypes and styles.

Nobody much wants to discuss it, but it's there. Sarcasm suspi­

The answer: Factions, groups, clubs or cliques, each with its own prejudices, stereotypes and styles.

The end is near. Stock up your basement with condiments and libations. We need mayonnaise — lots and lots of mayonnaise. And hot dogs. And toothpaste and dental floss. Floss twice a day, three times if you have corn on the cob.

And what about reading mate­

And the Reader's Digest version of the Bible.

And what about entertain­

and we need Chinese checkers. And cards. Cards to play solitaire with in case you've the only survivor of the nuclear holocaust.

And clothing. Polyester is a miracle fabric. It will endure even after the cockroaches have kicked off. We must all wear polyester. Polyester leisure suits for men and polyester stretch pants for women. Orange polyester.

PETE

From page 2

In high school, athletes and cheerleaders were IN groups. So were Surfers, Skateboarders, New Wavers, Punks, even Gays. At Cal Poly, many students are members of clubs or cliques, each with its own prejudices, stereotypes and styles.

Nobody much wants to discuss it, but it's there. Sarcasm suspi­

The answer: Factions, groups, clubs or cliques, each with its own prejudices, stereotypes and styles.

The end is near. Stock up your basement with condiments and libations. We need mayonnaise — lots and lots of mayonnaise. And hot dogs. And toothpaste and dental floss. Floss twice a day, three times if you have corn on the cob.

And what about reading mate­

And the Reader's Digest version of the Bible.

And what about entertain­

and we need Chinese checkers. And cards. Cards to play solitaire with in case you've the only survivor of the nuclear holocaust.

And clothing. Polyester is a miracle fabric. It will endure even after the cockroaches have kicked off. We must all wear polyester. Polyester leisure suits for men and polyester stretch pants for women. Orange polyester.
Husband, wife can be opposing attorneys

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Taking a cue from the revered classic, the judge in a criminal case must say it isn't automatically unethical for a husband and wife to oppose one another as prosecution and defense attorneys, a bar association said Tuesday.

The issue, portrayed fictional ly in the Spencer Tracy-Katherine Hepburn movie "Adam's Rib," was raised in the recent case of David Jackson, who was convicted of attempted rape in Tehama County community of Red Bluff and learned after his trial that his lawyer had been dating the prosecutor.

"Both the public and the defendant must not have any reason to question the fairness or objectivity of counsel involved in criminal prosecutions," the committee said in a newly released opinion. Its opinions provide guidelines for compliance with rules of legal ethics, violations of which can be grounds for discipline.

The issue was one of several that have considered the issue, the bar's Committee on Professional Responsibility and Conduct said it isn't automatically unethical for a husband and wife to oppose one another as prosecutor and public defender, though it might be more prudent to avoid the situation.

"Both the public and the defendant must not have any...

Student reps close to approval

By Lynette Wong

Nominations for student representatives for campuswide standing committees will be received today by the executive to the president — the last step before being submitted to President Baker for final approval.

The purpose of student representation is to promote open communication between the different groups on campus, said Larry Voss, executive to the President. "Representation allows feedback and communication to other components of the university. That's important. We want to have them contribute their views. If they're absent from the meetings, the committee suffers," he added.

The issue, portrayed fictional ly in the Spencer Tracy-Katherine Hepburn movie "Adam's Rib," was raised in the recent case of David Jackson, who was convicted of attempted rape in Tehama County community of Red Bluff and learned after his trial that his lawyer had been dating the prosecutor. The two lawyers have since married.

Compliance Tick...
Winning ticket lost
WHITTIER (AP) — On the first day of California's lottery, Diego Salas bought 40 chances for $40, but he says he's been sorry ever since because he misunderstood the rules and tossed out a $5,000 ticket.

The 46-year-old janitor says he bought the tickets Oct. 3, and the next day he tossed out a $5,000 ticket.

"I don't have it," Salas replied. "I didn't play," says he showed the ticket. "I don't think it was played," he said.

Salas, who works at the Friendly Hills Bowl in Whittier, 15 miles east of downtown Los Angeles, says he showed the ticket to a friend. But the friend also didn't know the rules, so he threw away all 40 tickets thinking they were losers.

His friend returned later and asked to see the ticket. "I don't have it," Salas replied.

A dig into the bowling alley contained thousands of other discarded tickets and Salas tried another way. I thought they all had to be in the same line," he said.

Despite the rules, Karson said in 1968 he won a Democratic primary for a congressional seat in Illinois while taking an anti-Vietnam stance. But he lost the election because the district was overwhelmingly Republican. "I don't think a Democrat could have been elected dog catcher there," he said.

Karson has now been completed. The Annual Audit for Fiscal Year 1984-85 for the California Polytechnic State University Foundation has now been completed. Copies for public information are available in the Foundation Executive Director's Office (Fisher Science Hall, Room 290) and the Campus Library.
By Pete Brady

El Salvadoran rebels recently attacked a Salvadoran army base, hoping to kill four Americans there training Salvadoran troops in techniques to combat rebels. The rebels are reported to have told news agencies: "We feel we should kill the Yankees who run this war."

Until a few months ago, 23-year-old Cal Poly freshman Mike Carroll was a target of those rebels. He joined the army in 1980 ("I needed a change, to grow up, to get disciplined."), was trained in Spanish, and then ended up in Green Beret training.

Carroll completed training and received the coveted Beret. He insisted that this involvement was as justified, and desirable, as a rebellion to train, assist and advise indigenous forces. They don't fight — they do. We can't even go out in the field with them," Carroll said, adding that these strict prohibitions prevented his team from evaluating how effectively the Salvadorans were being trained.

Carroll thinks rebel atrocities aren't heard about in America because the media never visit the action zones where fighting takes place, or spend time, as he did, developing relationships: and speaking with army regulars who have seen the insurgents in action.

"I felt I'd accomplished something. The insurgents are paid, fed, clothed and armed by the Russians through Nicaragua. I know that for a fact. The Salvadoran troops don't fight for their government, they fight to kill the people who've raped their sisters and mothers — who destroyed their villages."

Carroll feels he's made America a little safer for her. "People are so naive. They think Central America is on the other side of the world. They say we should get out lock, stock and barrel. I've been there and I know we're helping, not hurting."

Carroll feels he's made America a little safer for her. "People are so naive. They think Central America is on the other side of the world. They say we should get out lock, stock and barrel. I've been there and I know we're helping, not hurting."

"I'm alive," he said, with a smile.

Clockwise from top: Carroll's green beret, the coveted symbol of a Green Beret's honor: the T-shirt (purchased from a rebel propaganda postcard) worn by Carroll in El Salvador reads, "No Yankee Invader Will Get Out of El Salvador Alive!"; Carroll demonstrates field techniques.

Photos by Pete Brady
Read it all in the MUSTANG DAILY

GRAND OPENING

The Nose and Crown

A British Pub

What is a British Pub?

A pub is a sort of local, and that alone sets it apart from any other drinking establishment. It is a place where relaxation, conversation and contemplation are the order of the day. In their "local", as the English refer to theirs, a glass of "ale or lager" is as much as anywhere else in the pub, a source of relaxation, companionship and conversation. It is a form of socialization and makes a man a member of the local. The local is a, kind of a "public house", a challenging and exciting social institution.

Come red Celebrate CAL POLY'S Home Coming St An Authentic English Pub!

On The Corner Of Higuera & Osos

ENLARGEMENTS

16x20

Quality Color and B & W Enlargements from your Negatives 5 x 7 to 16 x 20 inches

WIZ

1 Hour Photo

MADONNA PLAZA 541-HOUR

COLLEGE NIGHT AT

Tortilla Flats Every SUNDAY
First 10 students free this sunday
Over 21 no cover charge

COME AND PARTY AT

SIGNATURES

FOOD & SPIRITS

DANCING Tues-Sat

COLLEGE NIGHT

Every Thursday
Happy Hour Prices All Night
3.2% Beer Drinks
1.00 Happy Hour Margaritas and More

Available at the Ice Cream Parlor in the U.U.
Graphics dept receives a typesetting system

Lynette Wong Staff Writer

The graphic communications department has recently received a typesetting system valued at $179,000.

The system, called Alphatype, is comprised of four sets of working parts: a typesetter and one phototypesetter. It was a gift donated this summer by the Alphatype Corporation, based in Michigan, said Harvey Levenson, department head of graphic communications.

"I met with their regional manager and current president and explained the nature of our program and benefits to our students and to Alphatype," he said.

Alphatype is the only font used in the graphic communications department.

Levenson said the Alphatype "allows us, through a sophisticated computer system, to produce type that 'retains the aesthetic characteristic of typography.""The technology of computer typesetting over the years has disturbed the essence," Levenson added.

A major feature of the Alphatype is that it saves time and is easier to operate because of its ability to carry out commands in the blink of an eye. "By pressing a button, the machine can set all lines of type. It eliminates a lot of keystrokes. In many instances, you're down to a single keystroke," said James Hutchinson, a graphic communications professor.

In addition, the Alphatype produces a wide variety of type faces.

"The manufacturers have been faithful of the original design. They have maintained the style," Hutchinson said.

He explained that the detailed machine can exhibit letters very precisely. "For example, if you take the little 'm', the machine can slice that into 144 equal vertical parts. If you want to alter the 'm', you can alter it by 1/100th," Hutchinson added.

Although the machine is equipped with a fine detailing feature, Hutchinson said it depends on the quality of information fed in.

Another advantage of the Alphatype is its flexibility in spacing. "Spacing is easily accomplished either with the letter itself, space between words, or space between lines," Hutchinson said.

In order to enhance the typesetter, Levenson said Alphatype plans to update it as technology advances. Within the next six months, the graphics department will acquire the Multi-Set III, which is "a central computer system that ties together all terminals directly to the phototypesetter," Levenson said.

He added the department will also receive a new computer which will show the layout of a page including type, size and position of type.

According to Levenson, the addition of the new part will increase the system's value by $75,000.

"It clearly establishes Cal Poly as a leader in this field of typesetting and typography. We plan to maintain that position through research and improvements in our laboratory," Levenson said.

Reserve Room now open all night long

By Katie Belina Correspondent

All-night studying doesn't have to be lonely, as several campus facilities remain open until the sun comes up for students who need more than a sixteen-hour day to complete assignments or computer projects.

Since Tuesday the Reserve Room at the Robert E. Kennedy Library has been open 24 hours a day and will remain open seven days a week. This allows students to use the computer terminals, printers, DeWriters and reserve service.

Rosemary Cameron, Reserve Room supervisor, said since the Reserve Room began to stay open 24-hours last fall they've had no problems. "It's been pretty quiet," said Cameron. "That last in night students aren't any problem. If anything they more or less fall asleep.

Other computer facilities that are open 24 hours are in Architecture 13, Engineering East 116, Science North 214 and the Faculty Office Building 14B.

Erhart Agriculture 203, and Science C-31 are open 8 a.m-10 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Students... THE GOOD LIFE! GO FOR IT!

At Mustang Village you pick your own lifestyle...make your own choices...live in a conveniently located student community.

- Rent from $187.50 a month
- Close to shopping... Closest student housing to the campus!
- Close to shopping... markets... churches.
- Beautiful Brand New units with kitchens, study areas. laundry facilities. swimming pool. recreation room!

See models now! Our office staff is available 7 days a week from 9 am to 5 pm. Call 805-543-4950 or stop in and see them for yourself at Mustang Village.

1 Mustang Drive San Luis Obispo CA 93401
SPORTS

MUSTANG DAILY

Sports

Spikers strive to keep winning streak alive

By Lisa A. Hooke (Staff Writer)

Coming off a big victory over a team riding high, the Poly women's volleyball team will keep its celebration of winning the National Invitational Volleyball Tournament and concentrate on two pressing engagements.

These engagements are not soccer calls, as the number two-ranked Mustangs take on Duke University tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Cal Poly's home gym.

Duke, a team never before a part of the Mustangs' schedule, presents a mystery to Poly's all-tall lineup in the National Invitational Tournament.

The Mustangs' tour game win over UCLA in the NIVT, Poly plays Duke University tonight at 7:30 p.m.,

Lynn Kessler goes low for a dig as teammates Carol Tschasar (9) and Kelly Stratford (15) look on during the Mustangs' four game win over UCLA in the NIVT. Poly plays Duke University tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Discontinued Styles

Rattan Palos & Wicker

Crips Sofas - Chairs

Old West Plants

Cracked Pots

Unravelled Wicker

Holly Hampers

Old Dry Flowers

Found Collectibles

Cricket Sandwiches

ODD BALL JUNK

Found Collectibles

Odd Ball Junk

Three Legged Chairs

Freight Smashed Goods

One of a Kind

THE GOOD, THE BAD THE UGLY

- ANDY, OOKIES, ORN EREAL ORNUITS.
- OFFICE AKES, ORN HIPS, HOOCOLATE.
- UP-0-NOODLE, RACKERS, APS, ANS.
- OSMO, LEARASIL, ASH, RACKER JACKS.
- HUNKY PEANUT BUTTER, IDER, OMTREX.
- OPPERTONE, RANBERRY JUICE, OTTAGE. HEES.

HOURS:

Monday - Friday 6-30 am - 10:00 pm
Saturday & Sunday 9 am - 10 pm

WHAT WE HAVE AT THE AMPUS STORE:

- QUALITY COFFEES

Available at the Ice Cream Parlour in the UU

DANA TANAKA/Special to the Daily
Women runners host tough Division I teams

by Andy FrokJer

Houston and UCLA will try to prevent the Mustangs from repeating their 1-5 sweep at last year's meet. The Cougars have lost to only one team this season and are coming-off a victory at the Oklahoma State Invitational, where they put four runners in the top fifteen. Tom Tellez, coach of Houston, was also responsible for coaching Olympic champion Carl Lewis.

The Mustangs, who beat the Stanford Invitational, will put their top five runners together for the first time this year, with the addition of prep superstar Polly Plumer to the team.

"It will be a race within a race."

— Coach Harter

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.

The Mustangs will also be at full strength and have added Lesley White, an All-American, to their roster. While, who has recovered from knee and hamstring injuries, led the Cal Poly "B" team to victory at the Norridge Invitational last weekend with a third place finish.

"Lesley has run well the last two weeks and we know she has the experience and competitive instincts," said Harter. "Now we have to see if she can handle the cumulative effects of training and racing."

Though Houston and UCLA will give the Mustangs stiff competition, the toughest race may be between the Mustangs themselves as they battle for spots on the regional team. The top four spots seem secure for Kacy Manning, Lori Lopez, Jennifer Dunn and JILL Blasing. The race for the remaining spots should be a hot contest between White, Noreen DeBettencourt, Sherri Minkler, Kris Katterhagen and Kathy Hildebrand.

"It will be a race within a race," said Harter. "It will determine who our top seven will be when we race at regionals."

Despite the internal competition, Harter said he wanted his team to work together as a group and use the meet to set a tuneup for the regional meet.

"It will give us a chance to get our team more right-knit. That's the kind of team we need to compete at nationals," he said.
Sports Exchange
On Monday Oct 21, everyone will have an opportunity to exchange goods in Chumash. Retail trade area exchange.
- Mark Basketball
d- Math 212
- The Cal Poly Historical Society Presents
- 54TH ANNUAL SPORTS EXCHANGE
- A Torch Song in a Concert Hall
- Friday Oct 18

SILLY! You're Friends are riding the city bus FREE with your Cal Poly ID while they're hailing a parking space. Get the scoop about the city bus, library, or cal say it's your school.Tell your friends!

Sports Exchange
On Monday Oct 21, everyone will have an opportunity to exchange goods in Chumash. Retail trade area exchange.
- Mark Basketball
d- Math 212
- The Cal Poly Historical Society Presents
- 54TH ANNUAL SPORTS EXCHANGE
- A Torch Song in a Concert Hall
- Friday Oct 18

SILLY! You're Friends are riding the city bus FREE with your Cal Poly ID while they're hailing a parking space. Get the scoop about the city bus, library, or cal say it's your school.Tell your friends!

Sports Exchange
On Monday Oct 21, everyone will have an opportunity to exchange goods in Chumash. Retail trade area exchange.
- Mark Basketball
d- Math 212
- The Cal Poly Historical Society Presents
- 54TH ANNUAL SPORTS EXCHANGE
- A Torch Song in a Concert Hall
- Friday Oct 18

SILLY! You're Friends are riding the city bus FREE with your Cal Poly ID while they're hailing a parking space. Get the scoop about the city bus, library, or cal say it's your school.Tell your friends!

Sports Exchange
On Monday Oct 21, everyone will have an opportunity to exchange goods in Chumash. Retail trade area exchange.
- Mark Basketball
d- Math 212
- The Cal Poly Historical Society Presents
- 54TH ANNUAL SPORTS EXCHANGE
- A Torch Song in a Concert Hall
- Friday Oct 18

SILLY! You're Friends are riding the city bus FREE with your Cal Poly ID while they're hailing a parking space. Get the scoop about the city bus, library, or cal say it's your school.Tell your friends!

Sports Exchange
On Monday Oct 21, everyone will have an opportunity to exchange goods in Chumash. Retail trade area exchange.
- Mark Basketball
d- Math 212
- The Cal Poly Historical Society Presents
- 54TH ANNUAL SPORTS EXCHANGE
- A Torch Song in a Concert Hall
- Friday Oct 18

SILLY! You're Friends are riding the city bus FREE with your Cal Poly ID while they're hailing a parking space. Get the scoop about the city bus, library, or cal say it's your school.Tell your friends!

Sports Exchange
On Monday Oct 21, everyone will have an opportunity to exchange goods in Chumash. Retail trade area exchange.
- Mark Basketball
d- Math 212
- The Cal Poly Historical Society Presents
- 54TH ANNUAL SPORTS EXCHANGE
- A Torch Song in a Concert Hall
- Friday Oct 18

SILLY! You're Friends are riding the city bus FREE with your Cal Poly ID while they're hailing a parking space. Get the scoop about the city bus, library, or cal say it's your school.Tell your friends!

Sports Exchange
On Monday Oct 21, everyone will have an opportunity to exchange goods in Chumash. Retail trade area exchange.
- Mark Basketball
d- Math 212
- The Cal Poly Historical Society Presents
- 54TH ANNUAL SPORTS EXCHANGE
- A Torch Song in a Concert Hall
- Friday Oct 18

SILLY! You're Friends are riding the city bus FREE with your Cal Poly ID while they're hailing a parking space. Get the scoop about the city bus, library, or cal say it's your school.Tell your friends!
REPORT From page 1 California Business Roundtable which concluded that unless a sustained effort is made, California is likely to slip behind all the other states in 'high technology'.

The effort will determine if California will remain in a healthy, competitive position in the national and world market.

For example, Silicon Valley, home to the state's computer industry, was built through the combined efforts of UC research and the efforts of thousands of engineers from the CSU system, particularly the San Jose campus, stated the report.

But the report also stated the Silicon Valley is now suffering its first major recession, yet three-quarters of the qualified San Jose students who want to go into engineering are being turned away.

The report predicted that the majority of the engineering faculty, whose average age is 55, will retire in a decade and won't be replaced if current trends continue.

For example, in 1983 the CSU system had 22 engineering vacancies, more than half of which were filled by foreign-born faculty.

Another problem is the changing marketplace will require a greater educational level in general.

Yet shortages of adequately educated employees are already showing up in the private sector. The report stated that one-fourth of the adult population in California is functionally illiterate.

The underpreparedness of high school graduates is given as the cause for workers with current skilled labor shortages, massive retraining costs and productivity problems. Safety problems are often caused by employees who can't read.

The report suggested several solutions to controlling the system for the present and the future.

The first recommendation is to put education as an important part in the strategic role in keeping the economy competitive and improved quality of life.

This affects higher education by upgrading skill-related programs at community colleges, expanding engineering facilities and faculties at state universities, and keeping the UC system at the cutting edge of research in new technologies.

The report also stated there is a need "to restore liberal, or civics, education to a central role."

This is necessary to shape a well-rounded population capable of managing cultural and technological change, future shock and greater personal responsibility.

The report suggested that the historic commitment to access to higher education needs to be reviewed.

According to the report, "human capital" must be utilized even more today than when the original master plan was developed, in order for California to be a fully effective, competitive and productive society.

The last point is in the area of education, each interdependent segment must work together for a secure and competitive future.

RIOT From page 1 According to the group, the overall atmosphere of the concert had been basically relaxed up until the time the police arrived. The only thing they said could have been viewed as violent was the "slam pit," or the area near the stage where those who wanted to slam dance went.

"The pit is just a release of aggression for some people," said Bradford. "It's optional and we all understand that what goes on in the pit stays in the pit. It's all just a matter of the violence that's going on in the world."

According to Gerri, who chose not to give her last name, the slam pit had been a positive thing the entire night.

"If a person fell down they were picked up by someone else," she said. She added there were only a few people jumping into "the pit" off the top of speakers located on the stage.

"There were only a handful of people who were causing trouble," she said. "They were the ones who should have been picked up by the police."

Alan Moore said when the owner of the sound equipment learned they were getting out of hand, an announcement was made over the PA system at the back.

"Everyone responded when the announcer asked to keep it peaceful. By the time the police came in we were all just standing and chatting for the Dead Kennedys to come on. The pit had even stopped," said Moore.

"There was no warning and absolutely no time for us to clear out because there were only two or three doors," he added.

"How are people expected to react when the police introduce themselves with a 'billy club in the back?'" asked Richard Miller.

"Maybe they were bored with just giving traffic tickets. It was a tailor-made opportunity for them to strike out at us."

San Luis Obispo Police Chief Donald Engler told a different side of the story.

"We had numerous reports of fights and of things being out of control," said Engler. "When we got there we just didn't like what we saw. It looked to be a potentially dangerous situation that we couldn't walk away from."

Engler said there is no reason to believe the police were using the concert as an excuse to strike out at Dead Kennedys fans.

"We don't need to take our aggression out on anyone," he said, adding that the police had no animosity toward the concertgoers.

While Engler did say there could have been a problem hearing the announcement asking the crowd to leave, he added that the audience should have realized that the best thing to do was disperse.

"The simple thing for them to do would have been to comply at the time. They problems could have been worked out the next day."

"What people need to realize," said Engler, "is that we couldn't have let the concert continue after what we saw. If we had walked away from it things would have been worse."

KCPR From page 1 by their elected officials. "One gets more feeling for who's in office. The call-in makes them more accessible," she said.

ASl President Mike Mendes will be the first guest on the student government segment next Tuesday, said Swanson.

Swanson said a radio program is an ideal way to obtain student input on issues. "When you use a radio talk show, you get an immediate reaction," he said, adding that mailing a letter is often a slow process. "It's very difficult to get a position to answer problems when the problems aren't right at your fingertips," he said.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA PRESENTS...

WE THE LUNK, AND WE'RE TAKING OFF!!

Electronic Engineering & Computer Science Grads: Your Bachelor's or Master's degree can qualify you to take off with Link, the high tech computer simulation company.

Link is involved in developing the next generation of simulations utilizing: advanced computer graphics and computer animation, interactive graphic display simulation used in flight training systems, high performance computer hardware and software, and advanced human factors research.

In addition, you will have the opportunity to take advantage of internship opportunities at MARCH AFB & BAP (Baldwin Aeronautics and Precision Products). For more information on Link Flight Simulation and the "Get your Degree/Got your Desk/Links to the Air Force" (Link Flight Simulation) program, contact the Career Services Office. At the conclusion of Fall Quarter, the Career Services Office will offer opportunities for employment at Link.

On Campus Interviews Will Be Held On:

November 4th

Ask Dr. Beewell!

Q. WHY SHOULD I BUY A HEALTH CARD?

A. FOR THE SERVICE WITHOUT THE BILLS!

Health cards can be purchased at the Health Center or State Cashier.

Fall Quarter Cards cost $30.00 and Annual Cards (Fall, Winter, Spring) cost $65.00—a savings of $25.00 over quarterly card costs.

Do you have a question for the ASi President or the Student Health Services? Submit your questions to Student Health Services or to the ASi President.