Candidate Hubbard details four-point plan
By Susan Harris

"That's subjective planning and it's illegal to do. That's personal taste," she said. To combat these "injustices," she said she designed her four-point plan.

"First, the rules must be defined. Second, one must play within the rules. All citizens need to be represented and the government must be responsive." Hub hard said the third rule. Hubbard said, is to play efficiently. "We have limited space and resources."

"I moved here because of the environment," she said. "I'm afraid of urban sprawl. Eventually, we'll all blend together like L.A." Fourth is to play fair. "Is subjective planning playing fair?" Hubbard asked.

Besides her four-point game plan, she said she has another idea for creating jobs in the community. Hubbard said she felt the council's state of mind toward students could be called "a them and us attitude."

"The definition of government is to be responsive to all the people," she said.

Hubbard said one of the reasons she moved to San Luis Obispo was because of the campus and the students.

In regard to downtown parking, Hubbard said the current council has had six years to address the issue and it was past time a solution should have been reached.

Hubbard said she hopes to bring in new ideas and plans into a council that calls "like-doers" and "like-thinkers."

"If you have five team members and the other all playing the same position, the team won't do well," Hubbard said.

Hubbard said she decided to run for council to help achieve an order and balance at City Hall.

Missing students safe in Coalinga
By Laura Rosenblum

Two Cuesta College roommates who were reported missing Friday were found safe and in good condition Saturday night at a Burger King in Coalinga, according to San Luis Obispo police.

Heather Eubanks and Shannon Taylor, both 18-year-old freshmen at Cuesta College, were reported missing by the father of one of the women Friday. They failed to call him from San Jose, where the two women were to attend a funeral Saturday.

Before they were located, Eubanks and Taylor were last seen at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Cal Poly University Union Plaza. They apparently left for the Bay Area that same evening in a green Volkswagen Jetta with personalized license plates.

"That's subjective planning" the two women had made a change of plans and did not tell anyone, said a spokesperson from the San Luis Obispo Police Department. They called their roommates at about 8 p.m. Saturday night to tell them they were in Coalinga. The roommates informed parents and San Luis Obispo police that the two women were safe.

Eubanks and Taylor live in Steiner Glen on Foothill Blvd. and both are originally from Foster City, Ca.

Incorporation is next for housing complex
By Andrea Bernard

Forming a corporation is the next step toward the establishment of a small, private student housing complex, according to a Greek system representative.

"Our first effort is to get the interested parties together," said Nick Athanasakos, ASI executive board liaison for the Greek system. "Once we have that, we can make a real, consolidated effort.

Clubs and organizations interested in the new housing complex were invited by the ASI to an Oct. 10 meeting, said Athanasakos, but the majority who attended were from the Greek system. He said ASI will continue to promote more involvement from groups other than fraternities and sororities.

"One of the groups interested in the housing complex was formed through the Cal Poly Multi-Cultural Center, according to Felipe Alvarez of the center. The group, which consists of the Latin American Student Association, Haverim and the Association of International Students.

Journals don’t usually make a lot of money, but they earn a healthy profit, and what they earn enriches their lives. At best, a journalist enjoys the invaluable, thiolistic participant in life, who can communicate feelings and find a balance in an insecure, accurate way. This participation should help the journal’s staff as a person.

But what is the truth when it concerns U.S.-Soviet relations? The twentieth century has seen continuous shifting in the balance of power throughout the world. Often the actions and intentions of countries go misunderstood or misinterpreted and result in reactionary policy based upon these faulty visions.

We each see the other as a threat to the world view that our ideologies profess. What needs to be done is to begin talking about these world views and what they want to be modified to better contribute to world peace and nuclear disarmament.

The talks in Geneva will be filled with the usual rhetoric about the need to free the world from the danger of nuclear holocaust. The professional politicians need to begin to look beyond their ideological differences to survive and find a way to the future of the world.

The main difference is one of perception. We must both begin to understand that the other way we exist. The Lambda Chi Alpha is Pi Gamma Mu, the Lambda Pi Eta is Pi Delta Phi, the Lambda Upsilon Lambda is Alpha Delta Theta, and the Lambda Sigma is Phi Zeta Alpha. The Lambda Chi Alpha is a criminal organization.

Stunts or the campus alcohol problem do not like authority figures or the campus alcohol problem. They will consider me as a highly intelligent, somewhat shy and diffident, concern that the need to deal with me as a person.

This was apparent in the older student’s relationship with President Ronald Reagan. He reminded me of that university president a convertent target for malcontents who don’t like authority figures or the campus alcohol problem. They will consider me as a highly intelligent, somewhat shy and diffident, concerned student. The future will be a difficult one for all U.S. presidents.

The sole purpose of a university is to join teachers and students who can communicate feelings and find a balance in an insecure, accurate way. This participation should help the journal’s staff as a person.

Humphrey the whale close to finishing journey home

RIO VISTA, Calif. (AP) — Humphrey the wayward whale, all 40 feet and 90,000 pounds of him, was gleefully reported Sunday morning swimming well south of the Rio Vista Bridge — nearing his own home outside the Golden Gate.

"Cross your fingers and toes!" whooped Pipon Barrett, director of the California Marine Mammal Center. "Humphrey's three miles south of the bridge" in the Sacramento River.

As a flotilla of scientists prepared to remove their all-out search effort, the Army, Navy and Coast Guard joined the party with their boats to keep Humphrey from drifting into the waters of delta sloughs.

The bridge was called a "critical" barrier to the efforts of
to get the huge humpback, an endangered species, back to the Pacific where he belongs.

With his position Sunday,
Humphrey was closer to San Francisco Bay and the open sea than he's been in two weeks.
While migrating south to Mexico for the winter, the behemoth made a wrong turn into the bay and kept going into the delta.

Poly spikers have tough week on volleyball courts

By Lisa A. Hook
Sports Editor

A brief moment as the top is better than none at all.

For the Cal Poly women’s volleyball team, the week was too fast and brought with it a new experience for the Lady Mustangs — called losing.

In the beginning of last week, Cal Poly became the number one ranked women’s volleyball team in the nation, with a school-record 16-match winning streak and a perfect 7-0 in league play.

Thursday in Stockton everything changed, as the Mustangs saw their streak end and their perfect record devoured by the hungry Tigers of University of the Pacific.

The eye of the Tiger haunted Poly throughout five sets in a 18-16, 14-16, 16-14, 10-15, 15-9 victory for the striped felines, as a Mustang win over UOP two weeks ago in the semifinals of the NIVT was soon forgotten.

Pacific, ranked fourth in the Tachikara Coaches’ poll and second in the National Collegiate Athletic Association poll, now owns a perfect 6-0 record in league and a 21-3 overall mark.

Saturday, the clocks were turned back and the Lady Mustangs gained an hour but lost a volleyball match. The University of Southern California Trojans arrived on their white horses to gallop past the Mustangs 15-8, 15-5, 15-10. This marked the first three-set defeat this season for Cal Poly, as its other two losses against Brigham Young University and UOP went the full five.

In the UOP match, Poly fought to stay alive, but in the fifth game the Mustangs had an 8-7 lead and watched as Pacific hit the floor, as Poly posted a .165 hitting mark and UOP a .170. The Trojans proved to be the better team.

Against the Trojans, the Mustangs looked a little flustered, either over the October heat wave or the fact that the UOP loss would not go away. A number nine-ranked Trojan team.

“We were out of it, and UOP proved to be the better team,” said Mike Wilton, head coach of the Lady Mustangs. “We fought back at certain times, but not hard enough.”

Poly setter Carol Tschuah fired 19 kills in 48 attempts, while immunes Kelly Strand and Ellen Bagalski combined for 32 more. Strand also hit the floor with 18 defensive digs and Dede Bodnar set up 56 assists for a .295 assist percentage.

Hitting percentages for both teams were nothing to grow over, as Poly posted a .165 hitting mark and UOP a .170. The Tigers were also awarded 11 service aces to Poly’s four.

came into the match with a 14-7 overall record and left San Luis Obispo with a quick win, but most of all a big psychological boost.

In the first set against USC, the 2,168 anxious fans saw their Lady Mustangs fall behind, never to catch up until the ninth point of the third and final game. By the third game, the crowd was hungry and began a "Beat USC" chant, and Poly began its first comeback of the night from a 2-9 deficit to a 10-9 lead. This lead would only hold for seconds, as the Trojans mixed up their hitting game to cap the next six points for a 15-10 win.

"We just got our tails kicked tonight, and the balls were falling on our side of the court where they shouldn't have been," said Wilton. "USC was ranked number two in pre-season, and they are a well coached team—we made some basic mistakes and got our clocks cleaned."

The most noticeable difference in the Mustang attack was from the back line in the serving department. Poly would work hard to win a crucial sideout, only to lose the advantage to a service error. The Mustangs ended the hot night with a cold total of 18 service errors and .192 team hitting percentage compared to the Trojans' .304 mark.

"Some bright spots in Poly's effort did not show up on the statistic sheet, but on the court itself. Mustang reserve Claudia Hemmersbach came in to spark the Mustangs to their comeback in the third set, and Vera Pendergast wore out her uniform with 13 digs to add to seven kills for a .429 hitting mark. Poly setter Bodnar had 31 assists for a .307 assist percentage, and Keister came through with 15 defensive digs.

In a previous match-up with USC, Poly won in four 10-12, 15-12, 15-4, 15-10, but the Trojans were without their starting setter Kim Ruddins. Ruddins was a member of the United States Olympic Team in 1984, and returned healthy at Saturday night after nursing a knee injury. Tracy Clark, who leads the nation with 3.6 kills per game and 229 kills on the season, provided the Trojan force with 13 rockets against the Mustangs.

Cal Poly now posts a 18-3 overall mark and a 7-1 record in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, and leads the nation in kills per game with 17.3.

Soccer team still has a shot in league

By John Baker

The men's soccer team is back in the race for the CCAA championship after defeating Cal State Dominguez Hills 1-0 Saturday night in Mustang Stadium.

After a tie with first place Chapman College on Wednesday night, the Mustangs still have a chance at getting to first place in league if Cal State Northridge beats Chapman this Saturday. Poly's league record now stands at 4-2-1.

The Mustangs gained the upper hand against Dominguez Hills in the first 13 minutes of play as Jeff Reisdorf scored from five yards out. Cal Poly dominated play but couldn't put any shots in the goal as the Dominguez Hills' goalkeeper made some good saves.

Both teams played rough and the referees gave out several yellow penalty cards to each team.

In the second half Dominguez Hills desperately tried to come back, but the Cal Poly defense held tough. There were many fouls in the second half by Dominguez Hills players, who were getting frustrated because of their inability to score.

The Mustangs will travel to Cal State Northridge for a Wednesday match, and will then return home Saturday to play Cal Poly Pomona in a 7:30 p.m. contest.
Fun run will offer prizes for costumes

By Lisa A. Houk, Mustang Daily

Running shoes are usually judged by who can finish first, but the recreational sports Halloween Fun Run will also give awards to the best costumes.

"We want everyone to sign up early so they can plan their costumes and we can organize things ahead of time," said Stephanie Sliger, coordinator of rec sports special events.

The fun run is 2.8 miles long, not quite five kilometers, but the emphasis is on having a good time not coming in at the best time, said Sliger.

The course turns on Via Carta, turns left on Pinnacles Road and winds around the Swine Unit, and reverses back to South Perimeter Road towards the finish line in the U.U.

The fun run includes four divisions, with awards and prizes for the top finishers in each. The top five runners in both the men's and women's divisions will receive awards, and prizes for the wheelchair division will also be given.

A special division called the "centipede" will feature at least four runners running connected together. One other added attraction in the centipede is that all four runners have to represent a theme.

"Last year the centipede winners had a 'pool' theme — they wore caps, goggles, life preservers and were connected with buoys and a pool line," said Sliger.

Sign ups are today and Tuesday at the rec sports office and in the U.U. Plaza. The entry fee is $5 for Cal Poly students, faculty and staff, and $6 for all others. These fees include a "fun run" T-shirt, or entries can subtract one dollar, said Sliger. "So get your running shoes and costumes out and sign up now."

Mustangs win

The Cal Poly football team triumphed over the Matadors of Cal State Northridge Saturday night, 37-21. The Mustangs boosted their record to 1-1 and overall mark to 3-4. Poly went into the conference game with a healthy backfield for the first time since the season opener against North Dakota State. Complete details in Tuesday's sports section of the Mustang Daily.
Housing

Students, plans to establish an international house.

Alvarez said the house will provide foreign students a place to stay when they first arrive at Cal Poly. “This will introduce them to student life and community life here in San Luis Obispo,” he said, adding that the house will serve as a special lodging for guests who come to Cal Poly from around the country and world. “This will save a lot of clubs a lot of money,” said Alvarez, explaining that usually visitors to the campus stay in motels in town with their lodgings paid by the clubs or organizations that sponsor them.

The idea for a corporation came from the realization that “one entity speaking with one voice” would better the chances of the housing proposal being heard, said Walter Lambert, coordinator of Greek affairs. “It was decided last spring quarter that in order to get President Baker’s and the chancellor’s approval for the housing we needed one group to make a proposal. This would give us one last shot to get some land,” said Lambert.

The corporation would first consider buying a piece of land located north of Highland Drive off Highway 1, said Athanasakos. “It is the largest piece of land and the closest to campus. It would allow room to expand more than the number involved in the project now.”

Athanasakos said other land options are being considered if the first choice isn’t approved by the board of trustees.

The corporation would be relatively simple in form, according to Athanasakos. Once all interested parties are together, lawyers will be contacted to draw up bylaws, a board of directors will be formed and filing fees paid.

Los Angeles (AP) — The foreman of the Los Angeles County grand jury says he will ask for a special investigator to reopen an inquiry into the death of actress Marilyn Monroe.

“Those who think the case is closed are mistaken,” said Sam Cordova, who made the request Saturday.

Cordova said the jury needs an impartial investigator, not a special prosecutor. "The investigation has been handled by the Los Angeles County district attorney, but that state’s top law enforcement official is now county attorney. That man was a witness in the Monroe death case. The inquiry needs to be handled by a special prosecutor who has no connection to the case,” said Cordova.

Van de Kamp is the state’s chief law enforcement official. He is also a former district attorney who handled the Monroe case.

The investigation into the death of Monroe, who died in her Brentwood home of a self-inflicted overdose of barbiturates on Aug. 5, 1962, is one of the most publicized cases in recent history.

The request was introduced by Supervisor Michael Antonovich, who received a letter from author Robert Slatzer claiming to have taped interviews suggesting a cover-up in her death.

Monroe death may be examined

Los Angeles County grand jury says it will ask for a special investigator to reopen an inquiry into the death of actress Marilyn Monroe.

There is enough evidence to substantiate a special prosecutor to work with the grand jury on the investigation, said Sam Cordova, who made the request Saturday.

A full investigation has never been done by the grand jury," he said. “People have not testified under oath. This should have been done a long time ago. It should have been done in 1962.”

That year, the last time Marilyn Monroe was in Los Angeles County, she was found dead in her hotel room of a drug overdose. The investigation was handled by the Los Angeles County district attorney, but that state’s top law enforcement official is now county attorney. That man was a witness in the Monroe death case. The inquiry needs to be handled by a special prosecutor who has no connection to the case," said Cordova.
