Forum participants contest use of empty space

U.E.C. will ask certified public accountant to sort through bowling alley and fitness center costs

By Marianne Biasotti

Although little was resolved at the bowling alley/fitness center open forum Tuesday, one point was clear — 7,600 square feet is being wasted in the University Union while students need more facilities.

About 50 people attended the forum, led by members of the University Union Student Committee, which will decide how space that used to be bowling lanes is to be used. Those in attendance included pro-bowling alley, pro-fitness center and pro-"let's use this space for something else." students.

U.E.C. member Tony Celebriini said the U.E.C. is bringing in a certified public accountant from San Luis Obispo to straighten out the various cost estimates presented so far. The CPA will project cost to re-open the bowling alley as a money-making venture and verify the bowling alley's financial status the year it closed (1984-85) and do a cost analysis of the proposed fitness center, which was denied approval last month by the CSU Chancellor's Office.

"Hopefully we'll get all the facts straightened out after the CPA reports to us," said Celebriini.

"A lot of people were confused when the bowling alley was first cut out," said a pro-bowler. "Now people want this to continue and it's driving us and students want it with us." She suggested the bowling alley be operational until students can decide what they want to do with that space.

Pro-bowling advocate Todd Reinart said the fitness center was only meant to be used for three years until the recreational facility was built. The estimated cost of $325,000 would go toward a temporary facility that will generate no revenue. He said it makes sense to re-open the bowling alley, since a senior project showed the alley could make a $10,000 profit in two years if it was promoted and managed properly.

Chip Wall, also pro-bowling, said the fitness center is an interim measure which is short-sighted because of the future construction of the recreation center. Bowling Specialists, Inc., a bowling alley contractor based in Northridge, estimated it would cost $33,000 to re-open the bowling alley.

"The bowling alley already exists, and re-opening it would cost 10 times less than the fitness center," Wall said.

Besides financial comparisons, students cited other reasons to keep the bowling alley open.

"We have national winners on our bowling team, and the lack of support from the school makes me upset," said Jim Gallegos, a team member who placed in all events at a Berkeley tournament last weekend. "Our team has so much potential!"

"We have national winners on our bowling team, and the lack of support from the school makes me upset," said Jim Gallegos, a team member who placed in all events at a Berkeley tournament last weekend. "Our team has so much potential!"

Stephanie Dias, also a team member, said people forget bowling is recreational as well as social. "Anyone can participate, it doesn't matter whether you're

Drug tests are hard to avoid

Career Symposium speakers tell of industry's problems

By Cindy McAndrew

Since drug testing is a factor many applicants must face when applying for a job, the facts of drug screening were discussed Monday at a Career Symposium workshop.

The workshop featured a panel of professionals, who covered the industrial, medical and legal aspects concerning alcohol and drug screening in the workplace.

John Colangelo, manager of college operations at Northrop, said $26 billion to $33 billion is spent on drug and alcohol abuse a year. He said companies are losing money because of loss of production and efficiency due to employee drug abuse.

According to Colangelo, in a nation-wide study, 5-10 percent of the U.S. population tested positive in one type of drug test or another. The research was drawn from all types of companies in urban and suburban cities.

Colangelo said applicants at Northrop are required to go through a drug-screening process. He said 40 percent of the people who apply for blue-collar and assembly jobs are rejected because of a positive drug test result.

"It is essential to the quality of life to eradicate this problem," said Colangelo.

Three angles of attacking alcohol and drug abuse

Notetaking service near approval

By Kristi Penniman

Cal Poly students may soon be able to hire someone to take notes for them if they can't make it to class, according to the chairman of the new notetaking task force.

Chairman Nelson Chen said the ASI administrative committee is developing a plan to provide professional notetakers for general-education classes, especially those with high enrollment. Students could purchase a quarterly subscription for $16 to $20 depending on the number of units, or use the service for daily notes for about $3, said Chen.

"The object of the program is to provide supplementary notes to students who, for any reason, can't come to class," said Chen.

"They should be well-organized and easy to read and memorize," said Chen.

Chen said he thinks students will continue to attend classes and use the service as a backup. "We want to encourage in-class cutting classes, and I don't believe that's going to happen," he said.

Chen suggested professors use strict attendance policies in classes where the service is offered.

The notetakers would primarily be seniors and graduate students majoring in the subject of the class. Chen said they would

Notetaking service nears approval

By Kristi Penniman

Cal Poly students may soon be able to hire someone to take notes for them if they can't make it to class, according to the chairman of the new notetaking task force.

Chairman Nelson Chen said the ASI administrative committee is developing a plan to provide professional notetakers for general-education classes, especially those with high enrollment. Students could purchase a quarterly subscription for $16 to $20 depending on the number of units, or use the service for daily notes for about $3, said Chen.

"The object of the program is to provide supplementary notes to students who, for any reason, can't come to class," said Chen.

"They should be well-organized and easy to read and memorize," said Chen.

Chen said he thinks students will continue to attend classes and use the service as a backup. "We want to encourage in-class cutting classes, and I don't believe that's going to happen," he said.

Chen suggested professors use strict attendance policies in classes where the service is offered.

The notetakers would primarily be seniors and graduate students majoring in the subject of the class. Chen said they would

Notetaking service nears approval

By Kristi Penniman

Cal Poly students may soon be able to hire someone to take notes for them if they can't make it to class, according to the chairman of the new notetaking task force.

Chairman Nelson Chen said the ASI administrative committee is developing a plan to provide professional notetakers for general-education classes, especially those with high enrollment. Students could purchase a quarterly subscription for $16 to $20 depending on the number of units, or use the service for daily notes for about $3, said Chen.

"The object of the program is to provide supplementary notes to students who, for any reason, can't come to class," said Chen.

"They should be well-organized and easy to read and memorize," said Chen.

Chen said he thinks students will continue to attend classes and use the service as a backup. "We want to encourage in-class cutting classes, and I don't believe that's going to happen," he said.

Chen suggested professors use strict attendance policies in classes where the service is offered.

The notetakers would primarily be seniors and graduate students majoring in the subject of the class. Chen said they would

Notetaking service nears approval

By Kristi Penniman

Cal Poly students may soon be able to hire someone to take notes for them if they can't make it to class, according to the chairman of the new notetaking task force.

Chairman Nelson Chen said the ASI administrative committee is developing a plan to provide professional notetakers for general-education classes, especially those with high enrollment. Students could purchase a quarterly subscription for $16 to $20 depending on the number of units, or use the service for daily notes for about $3, said Chen.

"The object of the program is to provide supplementary notes to students who, for any reason, can't come to class," said Chen.

"They should be well-organized and easy to read and memorize," said Chen.

Chen said he thinks students will continue to attend classes and use the service as a backup. "We want to encourage in-class cutting classes, and I don't believe that's going to happen," he said.

Chen suggested professors use strict attendance policies in classes where the service is offered.

The notetakers would primarily be seniors and graduate students majoring in the subject of the class. Chen said they would
Mustang Daily
The newspaper for Cal Poly.
Since 1916

Floyd Jones, editor
Kim Holwegner, managing editor
Matt Weiser, opinion page editor
Elnear Ramos, art director
Anna Cekola, spotlight editor
Jim Hawkins, insight editor
Dawn Jackson, lifestyle editor
Darrell Miho, photo editor
Kevin Cannon, ass. photo editor
Grant Shaffer, illustrator
Peggy Yerna, general manager
Nishan Havandjian, faculty adviser

Editorial

A man-made star of peace on the horizon

On Monday, Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev announced a plan to withdraw all Russian troops from Afghanistan by March 1989. On the same day, the United States launched and orbited a $250 million "Star Wars" experiment.

Both of these issues are closely tied to future nuclear arms reduction. A key to realizing this reduction is continued Strategic Defense Initiative research.

Star Wars is a key bargaining chip in the search for world peace. Star Wars is a guarantee of peace. When we make it clear that we will make warfare utilizing intercontinental ballistic missiles obsolete, because it will destroy these missiles in space before they can reach any target. Even if Star Wars is never finished, the threat of its implementation is enough to force negotiation among the world’s leaders.

In addition, Reagan’s offer to share SDI technology with the Soviets only attests to the system’s defensive nature. If both superpowers had SDI shields in place, the earth would be protected from nuclear holocaust both practically and ideologically. If there was no way for ICBMs to hit, then nuclear war would be impossible and there would be no need for our nations to fight for nuclear supremacy.

The importance of SDI as our strongest bargaining tool should not be sacrificed either, simply because the Russians seem to be making a sacrifice by removing troops from Afghanistan. For all the benefits this appears to bring to the world, it has most likely been done as a self-serving and symbolic gesture. We cannot assume Gorbachev is withdrawing for the sake of world peace.

We cannot assume he will comply with the Strategic Defense Initiative research.

There are various impacts that are readily seen as a result of intensified growth, especially in the unincorporated cities of the county which are expanding land, development, and subdivision. Not only is this damaging to our economy, it also threatens the existence of any real open space.

Secondly, the infrastructures of the rural towns are being strained to keep up with all this growth. This results in water shortages and sewer problems. (Presently the case in Los Osos).

Increased traffic and congestion also impact growth. The many more motors running are not only felt annoyingly by residents who travel, but also pose health hazards as the county’s air quality significantly deteriorates.

Finally, and so importantly, with the division and development of lands, we are damaging and destroying roadside, working, and natural communities that house wildlife.

In conclusion, to our 'hands-off' approach it is evident that growth in San Luis Obispo County is the most talked about issue.

The sprawl of buildings is extending farther in every direction, as the patches of open land become smaller.

Maria Brouse

Perspective on growth

One of my favorite things to do is to climb Bishop’s Peak, dangle my feet over the top rock, and take in the vista.

To the northeast and south lie the cities of San Luis Obispo, nestled in green, rolling hills. Straight across, Mt. San Luis Obispo looms tall, while open agricultural land speckled with farm houses stretches to the horizon. If I were to perch myself in the northwest I can see the remaining five sisters leading their course to the open sea. It is a beautiful place we live in, and as the winds rush past and against my face I feel incredibly alive.

However, my bliss is fading. Change is occurring everywhere. I see clear war would be impossible and there would be no need for the majority of Americans?

Lastly, Reagan’s speech wasn’t meant to provide information; instead it was meant to continue his brainwashing. He did not (nor has he ever) discuss the real issues, but gave a one-sided, closed-minded piece of propaganda consisting of misleading information and outright lies.

Perhaps as a start we can finally end the destruction in Central America.

Editor: Friday’s editorial blasted ABC, CBS and NBC for refusing to broadcast President Reagan’s last plea to Congress for approval of the Strategic Defense Initiative program. The general idea was that if the public had been more informed by this speech, then the close vote defying the Contra aid might have been reversed.

It seems to me the American public has been privy to more than enough propaganda from the Reagan Administration on why he supports the Contras. Despite the Contra assistance program polls consistently show that we disapprove of this policy. Before this move last week, hundreds of people gathered to protest Contra aid, including hundreds of people right here in good old San Luis Obispo. Isn’t it obvious that Congress has finally voted by the majority of Americans?

Lastly, Reagan’s speech wasn’t meant to provide information; instead it was meant to continue his brainwashing. He did not (nor has he ever) discuss the real issues, but gave a one-sided, closed-minded piece of propaganda consisting of misleading information and outright lies. Perhaps as a start we can finally end the destruction in Central America.

Joe Clarke

Editor:

Regarding your editorial (Feb. 9) about Reagan’s last-minute attempt to gain support for Contra aid, the three major networks didn’t give the right people an opportunity to voice their opinion. The people do have a “right” to tax dollars spent, but knowing how and why the president “wants to spend” their money” is a responsibility. Anyone who watches the evening news has to be aware of the possibilities of this not being read in the paper could not possibly have been unaware of the president’s position. For weeks the passage of the Contra aid bill and its margin of support has been a topic of debate. The media has not kowtowed to him. If he wants the microphone, let him pay for it.

Myles O’Reilly

Letters to the editor

Editorial exchanges

Editor: Friday’s editorial blasted ABC, CBS and NBC for refusing to broadcast President Reagan’s last plea to Congress for approval of the Strategic Defense Initiative program. The general idea was that if the public had been more informed by this speech, then the close vote defying the Contra aid might have been reversed.

It seems to me the American public has been privy to more than enough propaganda from the Reagan Administration on why he supports the Contras. Despite the Contra assistance program polls consistently show that we disapprove of this policy. Before this move last week, hundreds of people gathered to protest Contra aid, including hundreds of people right here in good old San Luis Obispo. Isn’t it obvious that Congress has finally voted by the majority of Americans?

Lastly, Reagan’s speech wasn’t meant to provide information; instead it was meant to continue his brainwashing. He did not (nor has he ever) discuss the real issues, but gave a one-sided, closed-minded piece of propaganda consisting of misleading information and outright lies. Perhaps as a start we can finally end the destruction in Central America.

Letters to the editor

Editor: Friday’s editorial blasted ABC, CBS and NBC for refusing to broadcast President Reagan’s last plea to Congress for approval of the Strategic Defense Initiative program. The general idea was that if the public had been more informed by this speech, then the close vote defying the Contra aid might have been reversed.

It seems to me the American public has been privy to more than enough propaganda from the Reagan Administration on why he supports the Contras. Despite the Contra assistance program polls consistently show that we disapprove of this policy. Before this move last week, hundreds of people gathered to protest Contra aid, including hundreds of people right here in good old San Luis Obispo. Isn’t it obvious that Congress has finally voted by the majority of Americans?

Lastly, Reagan’s speech wasn’t meant to provide information; instead it was meant to continue his brainwashing. He did not (nor has he ever) discuss the real issues, but gave a one-sided, closed-minded piece of propaganda consisting of misleading information and outright lies. Perhaps as a start we can finally end the destruction in Central America.
Company that leaked toxic cloud has history of problems

ANAHEIM (AP) — Stelan Co., which leaked a cloud of toxic gas last week, has a history of citations for unreported chemical leaks, officials said.

The Anaheim City Attorney's office fined the company $5,000 last year for failing to report two chemical leaks in late 1986, Fire Marshal Mike Doey said Monday.

The leaks were acknowledged by company officials after another release in January 1987 was reported by a company security guard, Doey said.

The South Coast Air Quality Management District also sought criminal prosecution of the company for illegal visible emissions in the January 1987 chemical release, said district spokesman Ron Ketcham.

But the case was dropped when the City Attorney's office levied a fine for the other leaks, he said.

The company, which makes detergent blends and chemicals for industrial-strength soaps, now faces a maximum $25,000 fine because of last Thursday's toxic gas leak, which air-quality officials called "a public nuisance."

48-hour volleyball spree earns Hospice money were snoozing or coming home

Club was working up a sweat for night last weekend, a Cal Poly from a party in the middle of the ment and raised over $600 for groups in a volleyball tournacounseling patients dealing­ with a terminal disease, and their families.

"When we were playing we lost

all track of time; it was really fun

but we got delirious," said Kim

Veitch, who played for 16 hours straight and finished at 10:30 a.m. Sunday. "Everyone was so tired and crashed every couple of hours. At points I thought I was going to die."

Circle K President Ken Sawyer, who coordinated the event and devoted 26 hours of playing time said it was the midnight

mini-game that gave him his secound wind after he had played all day. "I preferred playing after midnight with the quiet and cool breeze — it's the best time to play. People really got into it at that late hour."

Bork blames Sen. Kennedy for engineering his rejection

GROVE CITY, Pa. (AP) — Robert H. Bork came out swinging in his first public appearances since resigning from the U.S. Court of Appeals, saying Sen. Edward M.

Kennedy "painted a nightmare of fascist repression and attributed it to me."

Bork said Monday night that his rejection by the Senate for a seat on the U.S. Supreme Court was engineered by the Massachusetts Democrat in "a long-planned and carefully calculated assault by a selfish politician."

Bork addressed more than 2,500 cheering students at

Grove City College, a conservative Presbyterian school known for a 1984 Supreme Court decision narrowing federal influence over private colleges.

The conservative jurist said he left the District of Columbia appeals bench so he could speak without restraint about the politics surrounding the Senator's

58-42 vote against him on Oct. 23.

"Even for a campaign, it is serendipitous in mendacity, brutality and intellectual vulgarity," Bork said.

In addition to taking naps, Vice President Chuck Donlon day said he was able to play until 3

a.m. because he had a good feeling knowing he was helping others.

"If people tried community service they'd feel good and want to do it more often. In Circle K

you're around people who care about others."

Boudet having fun and raising money for Hospice, Donlon said the tournament was a good way for the Kiwanis family to meet together. It includes the Key

Club and Builders, the high school and junior high chapters.

Among the 16 groups were members of the San Luis Obispo

Kiwanis Club, Circle K clubs from USC and Cal State Long

Beach and Key Club members from Arroyo Grande and Cabrillo high schools.

"There is a good relationship between Kiwanis and students —

we try to show up for their events and offer our support. They remind us what it's like to be young," said Rob Crutenden, Bay Osos Kiwanis chapter member and Cal Poly alumnus.

Crutenden added that Hospice was an important part of the two-day event because it's a way

We refer you to our advertisement and return it to Wm

Randolph's. Be ready to perform on Feb. 11th, 18th or the 25th and possibly go to the finals on March 3. The evening of your performance you'll have five minutes to prove the choreography in the cases. The writer and first names up will go to the finals on March 3. You'll be judged on the audience response and by the panel of judges of the tournament. Good luck to all the performers.

Don't forget to bring your friends and you'll be bathed in your hands! The grand prize winner will get a paid gig at Bob Zany's Comedy Outlet, a Sierra Summit ski trip for two, and more. So enter now!

See CIRCLE K, page 6

Crisis in South Africa"

"Crisis in South Africa"

with

Dr. Leonard Jeffries Jr.

Chair of the Dept. of Black Studies, City College of New York

Chumash Auditorium

Thurs., Feb. 11 7:00 p.m.

$3.50 Students $4.00 General

Presented by A.S.U. & ASI Speakers Forum

"Crisis in South Africa" with Dr. Leonard Jeffries Jr.
Colangelo said testing applicants for drugs will help companies. Northrop has an employee assistant program that helps employees with drug and alcohol abuse. He said a counselor meets with family members and the employee with the problem. Colangelo said this helps the employee face and "grapple" with the problem.

The problem with drug testing, however, is that results are not always accurate. Dr. David A. Bershardt, medical director at French Hospital's Summit Place for drug rehabilitation, said urine screening is an imperfect science used for testing drugs. He described drug testing as "finding a needle in a haystack."

Bershardt said there is more than just one method for testing the urine sample for alcohol or drugs. All drugs are not treated the same and as a result there is a problem with a high false-negative rate. This means some people with drugs in their system are not being detected. "Drug testing is a crude attempt to catch alcohol and drug-abuse people," said Bershardt.

Despite imperfections, there is legally nothing an applicant can do if an employer requires a drug test. "The screening and testing of drugs is ambiguous," said Jan Duffy, a Cal Poly business administration professor. "We are not sure if it is legal right now or not."

There is no legislation that prohibits drug testing on a large scale, according to Duffy, also a practicing attorney in San Luis Obispo. She said employees do have the option of filing an application if they refuse to take a mandatory drug test.

Duffy said the Constitution implies a right to privacy. This only applies to government or quasi-government employees. In California's constitution, the right to privacy is still too new to determine how flexible it will be concerning drug testing.

She said random testing is unfair and is not legal in some courts. Colangelo said if persons apply for a military or defense job and have ever associated with a drug user, they will not be hired. He said the reason for this is because the military is very straightforward and will only ask yes or no questions.

Duffy said if the applicant is a rehabilitated drug abuser, it is considered handicapped and has special rights when applying for a job, whereas a person who has associated with drug users has no rights.

The Ninth Annual Career Symposium included several other workshops on interviewing, course writing and how to dress for success, plus 80 business and corporate representatives to answer questions. The Career Symposium was sponsored by Cooperative Education and the Career Placement office.

NOTE FROM PAGE 1

For page 1

be able to provide more organized and accurate notes. He hopes to pay the notetakers between $6 and $7 per hour.

Chen said the task force is working on a proposal to submit to the administrative committee and to the Academic Senate. He said he doesn't foresee any problems in passing the plan. "I talked to a representative from the Academic Senate and it shouldn't be a problem," said Chen.

Part of the planning process includes interviewing other campuses with similar programs. UC Davis has had such a program, called Classical Notes, for 12 years. "Ours is doing really well. We have over 60 classes we take notes for," said Chris Delfino, a worker at Classic Notes.

At first UC Davis had a problem with students buying a subscription, then copying the notes off for their friends, said Delfino. "We switched to red paper until we break even. Then we'll go back to white because we're a non-profit group."

Chen said the task force is pushing to implement the program during spring quarter but it may take longer. "We may try it in one or two classes (spring quarter) to see how it goes but most likely it won't start until fall," he said.

Delfino said the task force is pushing to implement the program during spring quarter but it may take longer. "We may try it in one or two classes (spring quarter) to see how it goes but most likely it won't start until fall," he said.
AIDS understanding: The next step in Peer Health Education

By Shannon McFarlin
Staff Writer

Cal Poly's Peer Health Education program is doing its best to keep up with the times. Beginning in the fall, the program will offer AIDS education at the Health Center.

Replacing the Sports Health program, the AIDS Education program is expected to be more widely received as one of the six peer health education services offered at the Health Center.

The AIDS Education program will sponsor workshops on campus about preventing risky behavior, what to do when a friend has AIDS, and signs and symptoms.

"This is just the beginning of a much-needed program," said Caroline Hurwitz, a peer health educator. "Too many people are in the dark about AIDS." Hurwitz said the removal of the sports health program won't have much effect on the peer health education system.

"Sports Health isn't used very much because it is seen as a duplication of the Rec Sports program," she said.

The main focus of the Sports Health program is to prevent injuries caused by training and exercise, especially running and aerobics. Hurwitz said that when AIDS Education takes over in the fall, the issues dealt with by Sports Health will most likely be covered by the Nutrition program.

The main scope of the Peer Health Education program is to prevent illness or poor health, and increase the level of overall wellness among Cal Poly students.

Educators are volunteer Cal Poly students who offer workshops, information and counseling on six different topics.

This week is Love Carefully Week, and it is sponsored by the Peer Health Education Program. Speakers will be on campus to talk about and promote safe sex, intimacy in relationships, communication in relationships and AIDS avoidance.

The week is run by the sexuality program of the Peer Health Education system. The sexuality program was formed to provide information on contraceptives, sexuality and relationships, preventing unplanned pregnancies, sexually-transmitted diseases and healthy relationships.

Birth-control information sessions are offered for individuals, couples or small groups.

Cheri Eplin, a sexuality educator for two years, said, "The great thing about this group is that we are peers as opposed to professionals, which makes students feel more comfortable talking to us." She also said that since the main cause of ignorance is lack of education, the program serves to educate on topics not taught in school.

According to Hurwitz, the most popular and well-received program is the Alcohol and Drugs program.

Its main purpose is to promote responsible drinking and to help distinguish the difference between alcohol use and abuse. Health educators try to increase recognition of the physical, emotional and social effects of alcohol and other drugs.

Services on this topic include workshops on positive partying and non-alcohol lifestyles, and one-on-one counseling for students with alcohol- or drug-related problems.

The program also puts on Alcohol Awareness Week in conjunction with the Housing Department. During this week guest speakers come to the campus and the health educators sponsor "mocktail" parties, with no alcohol, so people can see that it is possible to have fun without alcohol.

The Lifestyle Wellness program aims to teach the importance of balancing the social, physical, spiritual, emotional and intellectual parts of life.

Lifestyle Wellness educator Susie Scannell said: "Out of all the programs, I think this one has the most opportunity because it covers a broader range of topics. There is more room to explore different ideas and put them into action."

Topics dealt with by this group include stress, stress management and wellness evaluations. The stress-management self-help clinic is an individualized program of a taped stress-reduction session. Lifestyle Wellness educators also help with personal stress-management plans.

Wellness physicals are offered and include a routine exam — blood pressure, height and weight — and a health-risk appraisal. The health-risk appraisal evaluates areas of a certain lifestyle and gives areas of strength and weakness along with suggestions for improving and extending physical wellness and lifespan.

Wellness counseling is also available for students who want to assess their own wellness and ways to improve in different areas.

There is also a Nutrition Education program that offers workshops on eating in residence halls, dietary needs of the athlete, nutrition for women and men, nutritional myths, weight loss, preventive health care and eating disorders.

In the Dining Hall there is a nutrition network that includes a board with nutritional information, and educators available for questions on Wednesday nights.

The last program the peer health educators concentrate on is Oral Health. They work in the Health Center oral-health clinic, assisting dentists and giving advice on brushing and flossing.

Workshops are held on campus for wisdom teeth and smokeless tobacco, and at elementary and pre-schools on brushing and flossing.

The Oral Health program is not very well-received, according to Assistant Health Educator Gary Kelman. But, he said, "Students need to start making decisions about their teeth now if they don't want complications to result later.

Another special program offered by the Peer Health Educators is the Wellness Decathlon. The Wellness Decathlon is an on-campus health fair put on twice a year that measures different areas of wellness. Events include blood pressure, dental and anemia screening, social roulette, body-fat composition and intellectual trivia.

Almost all these services are free to students with a health card.
ONE DAY ONLY!
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10TH
10 AM - 11 PM *

-EXTRA-

20% OFF

EVERYTHING IN STOCK!
NOTHING HELD BACK!

TAKE 20% OFF
CURRENT PRICES
ON ALL REGULAR
PRICED ITEMS!

TAKE 20% OFF
SALE PRICES ON ALL SALE ITEMS!

DURING SALE 2 ITEM PRICING
NOT IN EFFECT.

ATHLETIC SHOES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STYLE</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>PRICE</th>
<th>SALE</th>
<th>SAVINGS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Special Group</td>
<td>Columbia</td>
<td>85.95</td>
<td>63.95</td>
<td>22%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ATHLETIC APPAREL

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STYLE</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>PRICE</th>
<th>SALE</th>
<th>SAVINGS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nike Warmups</td>
<td>99.99</td>
<td>23%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

EXERCISE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STYLE</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>PRICE</th>
<th>SALE</th>
<th>SAVINGS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nike Warmups</td>
<td>99.99</td>
<td>23%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CAMPING

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STYLE</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>PRICE</th>
<th>SALE</th>
<th>SAVINGS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kelty 20°</td>
<td>99.99</td>
<td>50%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Owning the Sky

To fly is one thing. To fly with the Marine Corps is something else. They’ll show you the meaning of wings. From the wings of the F-18 Hornet to the wings you wear as a Marine aviator, this is flying at its best. And your ticket to fly is your college diploma. If you’d like to be up there, contact your local Marine Officer Selection Officer: 1-800-MARINES.

Call Captain Nally collect for an immediate interview:
(213) 294-3738

CIRCLE K

From page 1
organization for the Kiwanis, which made February Hospice Month.

“I’m here because I believe in Hospice and what they’re doing,” said Russ Brown, a volunteer for the organization and former dean of students at Cal Poly.

Hospice is a nationwide movement that started locally 11 years ago. It serves San Luis Obispo County, where it counsels 20 families. Trained volunteers make in-home visits to dying people and their family members and hold counseling sessions in the Higuera office for families.

“Hospice is helping people to deal with death, which is a strange thing in this society,” said Stephan Lamb, Hospice president-elect and Cal Poly associate director of housing.

Cal Poly has its own death-related support group stemming from Hospice called Full Circle, which meets weekly.

Also involved in Hospice are students in Elaine Holder’s Psychology of Death class.

COPELAND’S SPORTS

962 Monterey
San Luis Obispo, 543-3663
HOURS: Mon-Fri 9:30-6, (Thurs till 9) Sat 10-7, Sun 10-6

The Gold Concept

A Very Romantic Valentine’s Sale

Make your Valentine’s Day special for someone you care about and surprise them with a romantic gift. We’re only open February 11, 12 & 13. We’re not open on Valentine’s Day.

Own the Sky

To fly is one thing. To fly with the Marine Corps is something else. They’ll show you the meaning of wings. From the wings of the F-18 Hornet to the wings you wear as a Marine aviator, this is flying at its best. And your ticket to fly is your college diploma. If you’d like to be up there, contact your local Marine Officer Selection Officer: 1-800-MARINES.

Call Captain Nally collect for an immediate interview:
(213) 294-3738

Marines

We’re looking for a few good men.
Campus Clubs

JOIN THE NEW HEALTH
EDUCATION CLUB
Health Education Reps now available on the IUU 671-6100. CALL THE OFFICE AT 543-3771.
Learn more about current health trends and reach other students on important health-related issues. Network by making valuable contacts with professionals in the community.
OPEN TO ALL MAJORS
LORIS GREAT ON YOUR RESUME
Applications due by Feb 12 at 4PM
pick up at HEALTH CENTER X1211

ProFESSIONAL SKI TUNING
WHEN YOU ARE READY TO GET THE MOST
out of your equipment.
SANDSPER For ADV Of MED
THERE'S A SPECIAL FEATURE MOVIE
FOR THE THERAPIST

Surfboard Repair Professional.
Sponsored by Poly FMA.
Free delivery call 544-2798

Valentine's Day Gifts

SURFBOARDS
All Events are at the House
Contact Rec Sports for more info.

Cal Poly Events

ARE YOU PAYING FOR YOUR CHECKING?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

Are you paying for your checking?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

Are you paying for your checking?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

The deadline for Mustang Daily Classifieds is February 6th.
Applications are due by Feb 12 (FRI)
OPEN to ALL MAJORS
with professionals in the community
Network by making valuable contacts
with professionals in the community.
OPEN TO ALL MAJORS
LORIS GREAT ON YOUR RESUME
Applications due by Feb 12 at 4PM
pick up at HEALTH CENTER X1211

Professional Ski Tuning
WHEN YOU ARE READY TO GET THE MOST
out of your equipment.
SANDSPER For ADV Of MED
THERE'S A SPECIAL FEATURE MOVIE
FOR THE THERAPIST

Surfboard Repair Professional.
Sponsored by Poly FMA.
Free delivery call 544-2798

Valentine's Day Gifts

SURFBOARDS
All Events are at the House
Contact Rec Sports for more info.

Cal Poly Events

ARE YOU PAYING FOR YOUR CHECKING?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

Are you paying for your checking?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

Are you paying for your checking?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

The deadline for Mustang Daily Classifieds is February 6th.
Applications are due by Feb 12 (FRI)
OPEN to ALL MAJORS
with professionals in the community
Network by making valuable contacts
with professionals in the community.
OPEN TO ALL MAJORS
LORIS GREAT ON YOUR RESUME
Applications due by Feb 12 at 4PM
pick up at HEALTH CENTER X1211

Professional Ski Tuning
WHEN YOU ARE READY TO GET THE MOST
out of your equipment.
SANDSPER For ADV Of MED
THERE'S A SPECIAL FEATURE MOVIE
FOR THE THERAPIST

Surfboard Repair Professional.
Sponsored by Poly FMA.
Free delivery call 544-2798

Valentine's Day Gifts

SURFBOARDS
All Events are at the House
Contact Rec Sports for more info.

Cal Poly Events

ARE YOU PAYING FOR YOUR CHECKING?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

Are you paying for your checking?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

Are you paying for your checking?
Henke video

Valentine's Day Gifts

The deadline for Mustang Daily Classifieds is February 6th.
Applications are due by Feb 12 (FRI)
OPEN to ALL MAJORS
with professionals in the community
Network by making valuable contacts
with professionals in the community.
OPEN TO ALL MAJORS
LORIS GREAT ON YOUR RESUME
Applications due by Feb 12 at 4PM
pick up at HEALTH CENTER X1211

Professional Ski Tuning
WHEN YOU ARE READY TO GET THE MOST
out of your equipment.
SANDSPER For ADV Of MED
THERE'S A SPECIAL FEATURE MOVIE
FOR THE THERAPIST

Surfboard Repair Professional.
Sponsored by Poly FMA.
Free delivery call 544-2798

Valentine's Day Gifts

SURFBOARDS
All Events are at the House
Contact Rec Sports for more info.
SPACE

From page 1

"If you look at what people want, then you say they don’t want either," Martin said.

"We have to make a decision. That lamp may no longer be useful," he said.

The university should review all ultraviolet light systems on campus for safety and need, he said.

---

SALES COORDINATOR

SEUNSES GENETICS INC.

A fast growing international vegetable seed company located in Hollister, CA

Dias added that the U.U. had a good job promoting SPACE before it was closed. Dias spoke about his hope that the University of San Jose State, which "is probably the best university in the state," said Rick Johnson, assistant director of Rec Sports.

If you take away the fitness center fund, then you not be able to do Plan S.

"Our program is being threatened every more by the Mustang Lounge project. I’d like to propose the delay of that project," said Palen.

The university should review all ultraviolet light systems on campus for safety and need, he said.

---

"Vision With Care."

You want to keep the personal appearance. It gives to your social yre health and appearance. You appreciate our friendly staff, expert guidance in frame and contact lens selection, and affordable fees.

Derek L. Coombs, O.D.
Doctor of Optometry

San Luis Obispo, CA 93401
543-4777

---

Electrolysis

Permanent Hair Removal

"SERVING SLO COUNTY SINCE 1955"

Pat Wilson

3 LOCATIONS

SAN LUIS
543-7771
ATASCADERO
466-4953
PASO ROBLES
238-4609

---

CALFORNIA PRISON ASTRONOMY PROJECT

www.cprap.org

"If you look at what people want, then you say they don’t want either," Martin said.

"We have to make a decision. That lamp may no longer be useful," he said.

The university should review all ultraviolet light systems on campus for safety and need, he said.

---

COUPON

$20 Per Day

With This Coupon and Your Valid College ID.

Nevada Basic Entry Only

Adult All Day Ticket

Express 5 1/8

Also at:

---

COUPON

"TCB BY" The Country’s Best Yogurt

The Country’s Best Yogurt

Happy Hour BY

The Country’s Best Yogurt

CBY1/2 Off

Any menu item in the store.

Just show your college ID.

Every Monday and Wednesday.

Monday is Happy Hour at 11-1 p.m.

SLO

1313 Broad St. Downtown. SLO (next to DK’s)

phone 549-8809

---

BURNS

From page 1

but said he feels Cal Poly’s lab is sanitary enough without converting the lamp.

Van Acker said he ordered the report from Cal OSHA to determine whether the ultraviolet systems on campus had been reviewed.

He agreed with Vance that the university should review all ultraviolet light systems on campus for safety and need, he said.

---

COUPON

$5 OFF

One Electrolysis Treatment

good for initial visit only

---

FREE CONSULTATIONS

THE ONLY PERMANENT HAIR REMOVAL METHOD

Serving SLO County Since 1989

3 LOCATIONS

SAN LUIS
543-7771
ATASCADERO
466-4953
PASO ROBLES
238-4609

---