Dukakis campaign signs disappearing

By Jeff Blizzard

More than 200 "Dukakis for President" signs were stolen from front yards of city residents last week as part of an organized effort, said the Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee Friday.

At a press conference, Chairman John Lybarger said the number of signs stolen, which was more than is usually over or destroyed in an entire campaign, has lead him to believe it is part of a concerted effort.

Campaign signs are kicked over or destroyed, Lybarger said, but are usually left in the front yards.

The Central Committee is offering a $350 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone who destroyed or stolen Dukakis yard signs.

The county Republican Party has not used yard signs this election.

"We're incensed that people are not only coming on our property, but denying us our freedoms," Lybarger said.

The county Republican Party had not joined forces with county Democrats in denouncing the sign thefts.

"We're hoping Republicans will join us in condemning this, so far they haven't," Lybarger said.

Blakely wants option to State Water Project

By Jeff Blizzard

The challenger to incumbent Supervisor Carl Hysen for the Board of Supervisors 5th District seat said the county should consider alternatives to solve its water problems instead of joining the State Water Project.

David Blakely, a 1974 Cal Poly graduate, spoke Thursday at an informal gathering in the University Union. Nine people attended the speech.

The 5th District includes part of San Luis Obispo County, part of the Southern part of Atascadero, Pozo and Santa Margarita.

Blakely is a social science teacher at Atascadero Junior High School, and lives in Santa Luis Obispo.

"As a society, we have to deal with the fact that we are running out of water," Blakely said.

The State Water Project calls for a coastal extension of the California Aqueduct from the Sacramento River.

"We need to pursue all the options available to us — not just the State Water Project," Blakely said.

Supervisor Hysen is on record as being strongly supportive of the State Water Project.

Blakely called it the most controversial issue of the campaign because San Luis Obispo County is suffering from a drought.

"At this point, I am not for or against the State Water Project," Blakely said.

Blakely believes the best solution would involve transporting water from Lake Nacimiento in order to satisfy county needs.

He said the county is entitled to 1,800 acre-feet of water from the lake.

A pipeline would have to be built from the lake to the county to transport the water.

Blakely is concerned that the pipeline could create environmental problems. He also said that if the county hooked into the pipeline it would have to contend with bigger and more powerful aqueduct subscribers, such as Los Angeles County.

"I think there will be some BLAKELY, page 3

Poly student assaulted

Police seek alleged rapist

By Yumi Sera

San Luis Obispo police are seeking a man who allegedly raped a Cal Poly student early Friday morning at Mustang Village.

The 18-year-old female resident of Mustang Village was swimming with friends at the Village pool. At about 1:30 a.m., her friends left, and she was assaulted shortly afterwards, said Steve Seybold, crime prevention coordinator for San Luis Obispo.

He expressed disappointment that the Democrats would say anything about the State Water Project.

"I absolutely do not support or believe in the State Water Project. Blakely is a social science professor, was driving on Bishop Street Saturday, Oct. 8 at midnight.

He saw two men, both about 20 years old, carrying Dukakis signs, he reported at the press conference.

Brodie stopped his car and asked the men what they were doing.

The men told him they were taking signs. With them were being paid to do it, he said.

The men told Brodie they were being paid by a "friend" to take the signs. Brodie said he thought the men were referring to Vice President Walter Mondale.

Poly students’ copter featured on public TV

By J.W. Mephall

Cal Poly’s human-powered helicopter will be shown tonight on national television.

The helicopter will be featured as part of the Public Broadcasting System’s one-hour program, “Discover: The World of Science.” County subscribers to Sonic Cable TV can see the program on station KCET, channel 8.

Cal Poly students have been working on the human powered helicopter project, Da Vinci II, since 1981. So far, their aircraft has not left the ground. But, representatives from the American Helicopter Society believe that the Cal Poly team is the closest to success of any group working on human-powered helicopters.

Da Vinci II, the students’ second helicopter — built last year — will be the subject of tonight’s broadcast.

Da Vinci II project manager, Scott Lawrowd, said the project team was filming testing the helicopter in the gym, working in the hangar, and trying to get the craft into the air during a March flight attempt at Long Beach.

The helicopter is currently being re-designed and rebuilt after suffering severe damage in that attempt.

Lawrowd said that the film crew spent five days with the Da Vinci II project. The hours of video footage, he said, will be edited into a 15 or 20 minute segment.

No one on the Da Vinci project is known exactly what will be featured on the show tonight. Other broadcast times for the segment are: Thursday Oct. 20, at 8 p.m. on KQED; Saturday Oct. 22, at 7 p.m. on KCET; and Sunday Oct. 23, at 4 p.m. on KQED.

History prof struck down by bicyclist

By Bruce Sutherland

A history instructor was taken to Sierra Vista Medical Center after being hit by a bicyclist Friday afternoon between the Electrical Engineering and Graphic Arts buildings.

Professor Barbara Hallman, 59, was walking up Poly View Drive towards Via Carta at about 3 p.m. when she was struck from behind by a student bicyclist.

"It was terrible," Hallman said. "After he hit me, he fell on top of me. I'm shocked nothing was broken.

Hallman was taken to the emergency room by paramedics and treated for cuts and bruises. She was released later that day.

A witness, who requested anonymity, compared the incident to an auto accident.

Special Olympics brings smiles, tears to Cal Poly

By Suzy Wallace

Staff Writer

The brightly colored banners on Mott Field waved a welcome to special Olympians Friday at the annual Special Olympics Team Tournament Day.

More than 200 athletes visited Cal Poly for a day of competition and fun organized by People with Disabled Limitations, a recreation administration class; Student Community Services; Special Olympics; and the San Luis de Tolosa Kiwanis Club.

Vicky Sacksteder, area director of Special Olympics for San Luis Obispo County, said, "We just started out this morning. Today gives the athletes a time to have fun. They're all registered Special Olympian athletes and they work hard," Veitch said. "There are 430 Special Olympic athletes in the San Luis Obispo County but for the tournament day not everyone chooses to come," said Sacksteder, adding that there are other activities going on.

Cal Poly student Heidi Jones, a first time volunteer, led aerobics for ninety minutes. "I loved it! They really tried and it was neat to motivate them. I teach aerobics and this was really different. I'd do it again!" Jones said.

The team tournament day, now the Fall Sports Reunion, began as an Easter egg hunt at Santa Rosa Park more than 10 years ago.

"We had two basketball teams that could never compete against each other except on the day of the Easter egg hunt, so it became a hunt and basketball (game), and then we decided to have other people play softball and it just grew," said Sacksteder. "Now the Special Olympics has really emphasized correct sports training so we use this day to combine recreation and correct sports."

The task of organizing a day of basketball, softball, floor hockey, wheelchair relays and numerous informal games is never overwhelming to Sacksteder, who has been with the program since 1968, because, "the good times far outweigh the bad."

Cal Poly volunteer Katy Thielke is another of the 50 volunteers. She attended the event "to show enthusiasm and help the athletes have a good time."

With the banners, the excitement and the smiles mixed with a few tears and frustrations, the spirit was truly Olympic and the aim of fun and relaxation was clearly met as one athlete said, "I'm here 'cause it makes me feel good!"

thing in the Environmental Impact Report," Blakely said, "which would affect looking up with the State Water Project."

In addition, Blakely said the county should increase conservation measures as the best way to solve the county's water shortage.

"For example, thousands of gallons of water could be saved if county health inspectors checked leaky toilets and faucets at restaurants, he said. Also, stricter measures should be enforced for landscape projects.

"As a supervisor, I think we should take a lead in conserving water in landscape projects," Blakely said.

Blakely said he also feels the county should give incentives to county residents who make extra efforts to conserve water.

The Board of Supervisors would have to work closely with county farmers if stricter water measures were to be enforced since farmers use 80 percent of the county's water supplies, Blakely said.

Crops that use less water and drip-irrigation, he said, are two other ways farmers could conserve county water.

Blakely, who supports slower growth in the county, said if the rate of growth could be controlled, then the infrastructure of a city could be controlled.

"The problem is controlling the rate of growth," Blakely said. "I don't want to control water to control growth."

In Santa Margarita, he wants to negotiate with the owners of the 17,000-acre Santa Margarita Ranch for permanent open space. That would allow agriculture to still be viable while allowing the already divided parcels of land to be developed.

Blakely wants separate spaces for vineyards, orchards, grazing and crop lands that would not be developed.

"I hope the people of San Luis Obispo County are more in sync with my views than the views of Carl Hysen," Blakely said.

Art and reason

When Mark and I decided to spend the weekend at his mother's house, I never imagined I would be walking into a mouse's nightmare. There were cats everywhere.

Cat plaques, cat statues, cat clocks, even a cat mat. I couldn't begin to duplicate her collection of kitty litter if I spent a year at a garage sale. Conspicuously absent, however, was a real cat. Strange, I thought, and began to fear that a weekend with cat woman could be a lot less than purrfect.

But then she came home, and Mark introduced her. She was dressed surprisingly well—no leopard pants. In fact, you could say she was the cat's meow, but I'd rather not.

She offered me a cup of Dutch Chocolate Mint. Now that was something I could relate to. Then she brought it out in the most beautiful, distinctly unfeline china I'd ever seen. As we sipped, I found out that Mrs. Campbell has my same weakness for chocolate, loves the theater as much as I do, but, incredibly, never saw "Cats." So Mark and I are taking her next month.

Diversity of careers than almost any other professional background you can think of.

- Our scientists, engineers, and technicians in every branch of science are working hands-on with technologies beyond the commercial state of the art.
- Individuals who majored in humanities, liberal arts, business administration, languages, and fine arts are pursuing varied, dynamic, and active careers with CIA.
- Computer scientists, data base specialists, librarians, editors, and communications engineers keep a pipeline of international information flowing and devise the means of storing it in some of the most secure systems ever created.
- Human resources specialists, logistics engineers, psychologists, accountants, lawyers, doctors, teachers, and many other CIA professionals support the all important administration of our world-wide organization.
- Other resourceful men and women — from all kinds of backgrounds — have chosen to take on the special challenges and rewards of serving as operational case officers around the world engaged in the collection of intelligence.

Exciting Careers For Exceptional Individuals

All these unique individuals working together make up the CIA. Together we serve our special mission of keeping the nation's top policymakers supplied with the intelligence needed for national security. There is no organization quite like the CIA.

But the man and women who comprise this singular organization are as diverse as the country we help to safeguard. We come from all races, creeds, and family backgrounds. What we all have in common is a special drive and determination that has led us to a career where we can do something positive in the world. Many of the jobs we do also exist outside the CIA; but they're not the same anywhere else. The nature of the organization and its mission adds something special to whatever career path you choose.

How Can You Picture Yourself In The CIA?

Have you got what it takes? All applicants must be US citizens with a highly developed sense of honesty and personal integrity. Because of the important nature of CIA careers, our application process requires medical and psychiatric exams, a thorough background investigation and a polygraph interview. All this takes time, so apply early.

Find out how your chosen career field could be enhanced by the special career challenges and rewards of a CIA career.

Poly runs well ahead of Division II teams

By Anthony M. Romero

The 12th Annual Cal Poly SLO Invitational welcomed over 50 teams Saturday, and Nebraska felt right at home as the race started in an unturned corn field, and the Cornhuskers captured individual honors in the men’s and women’s races.

Jacques VanRenburg won the men’s Invitational race at 24:23, over a five mile course while fellow Cornshucker Sammie Renn covered the three mile trail at 17:28 to win the women’s race. Nebraska finished second to the Reebok Aggies in the men’s meet, and to UCLA in the women’s competition.

Cal Poly men’s coach Tom Henderson said the Invitational started with about eight teams at its inception, but has flourished into one of the premiere races in the country.

“This Invitational brings a lot of recognition to Cal Poly, and attracts strong Division I teams, as well as Independent teams such as the Reebok Aggies who are one of the best running clubs in the U.S.” Henderson said.

Despite this rigorous competition, the men’s team placed third behind three Division I teams, and the Reebok Aggies whose team consists of independent runners.

The Mustang’s placed their top five runners in the top fifty. Steve Neubaum placed 11th, Tim Haywood finished 21st and finish behind Poly’s top runner Chris Craig stepped in 19th.

Neubaum said he was also looking forward to training for the nationals, but coach Henderson said he wants to concentrate on conference and regional races first.

The women’s cross-country team is also gearing up for the nationals which are only three meets away.

Olivia Stoltenberg placed 11th, Noreen DeBettencourt said that the team did really well, “Notre Dame is a tough team. The race started out fast and we didn’t know what to expect. But we prepared really well for the team meet.”

DeBettencourt is a middle distance runner who favors a fast start. This enabled her to place 21st and finish behind Poly’s Patti Almenlariz, who placed 19th.

DeBettencourt said that the Poly team likes to key each other off as a pack. And the lady runners did just that with Pauline Moshley finishing 28th, Melanie Hiat 30th, and Jill Hollman anchoring the pack in 39th place.

In the open races, Cal State Hayward won the women’s open while Sacramento State won the men’s event.

Special to the Daily

The Cal Poly Football Mustangs ambushed the Cal Lutheran Kingsmen, whipping them 42-6 at Mustang Stadium Saturday.

It was no contest from the start. Cal Poly’s runningback Todd Henderson scooped 58 yards for the first of his two scores in the game’s opening series.

A few minutes later Poly quarterback Tom Sullivan showed good scrambling ability connecting on an off-balance throw putting Poly on Cal Lutheran’s 12-yard line. Henderson scored a few plays later putting Poly up 14-0 with the first quarter barely half over.

The Mustangs used a blitzing defense and kept quarterback Jim Bess scrambling for time to pass. The pressure was relentless, and Bess went to the birds.

Lutheran’s only bright spot on the field came on the next few series and then put Poly ahead 21-0.

The second half opened with Lutheran looking confused on defense. Sullivan had plenty of time to throw and connected with receiver Rick Lineweaver for a big gain. However, the Mustangs were stopped on a fourth-and-five at the Lutheran seven yard line when Poly went for the touchdown instead of a field goal.

The Kingsmen changed quarterbacks replacing Bess with freshman Tim Zeddies. Zeddies had a rude welcoming from the Poly defense and was pounded to the turf. He was rattled and his playing showed it. The Lutheran offense was out to lunch with Zeddies at quarterback.

Following a punt, Sullivan hit Terry Cole with a bomb for a 42-yard touchdown. In two plays the Kingsmen were stopped on a fourth-and-five at the Lutheran 28, Cal Lutheran 6.

The icing on the cake came on the last play of the game when Poly wide receiver Damon Shows stole a touchdown pass from a Lutheran defender on the goal line, making the score Cal Poly 42, Cal Lutheran 6.

Tedd Henderson was 10 yards shy of his third straight 100 yard game as he gained 90 yards on 13 carries with two touchdowns. Sullivan was 7 of 13 for a whopping 228 yards with 2 touchdowns. The Mustangs offensed racked up 460 yards, as the defense held Cal Lutheran to 151 total offensive yards. Tom Carey led the defense with 11 tackles and three and a half sacks. Carey was followed by Terrill Brown and Chris Dunn who each recorded 5 tackles.
SSF forms debut winter quarter

By Ron Crawford

When Computer Assisted Registration falling to the wayside, so has its counterpart, the familiar blue and white CAR form.

CAPTURE is the official registration system now, and the new SSF (Student-Schedule-Fees) form is the accompanying document.

The SSF is more efficient than the CAR sheet, said Thomas Zuur, manager of student data systems.

Zuur said the biggest change is that all holds must be cleared and fees paid 10 days prior to scheduled registration time to guarantee access to CAPTURE.

Registration priorities will be published in the winter class schedule.

Since handicapped students always have first priority they should pick up their SSF forms first and pay their fees at least 10 days before Nov. 5, Zuur said.

He said SSF forms will be available from major departments Wednesday, Oct. 19.

If there is a discrepancy in their current schedule (it will be listed on section A of the three-section form), the student will then need to go to the records office to correct the error," Zuur said.

Section B contains the demographic information including permanent and local addresses, birthdate, and sex and ethnic identity.

If there is a discrepancy, Zuur strongly suggest the student clears it up with the records office as soon as possible.

Envelopes for mailing sections B and C will be in the winter class schedule and across from the Cashier's Office.

"It must've been like being hit by a car," the witness said. "The bicyclist came around the corner and rode right over her. Afterwards, he (the bicyclist) seemed more upset than she was."

The bicyclist, whose name was unobtainable before press time, was not injured.

Hallman said she has been careful of bicyclists throughout her 15 years of teaching at Cal Poly. "There should be a special pedestrian lane or something" to separate walkers and bikers, she said.

The first time the signs were stolen it appeared as if the thieves had been casing her yard for a while before taking the signs, Scott-Cliff said. The second time, a motorcycle rider came onto her front yard, broke the signs and left tire tracks on her lawn.

The last time it happened, Scott-Cliff said, the carload of people who destroyed the yard said the people she had high school students probably never voted before.

As an alternative to telling her parents, Scott-Cliff said she helped the students put up the signs in other people’s yards.

“Somebody has organized these young, one-time or never-before voters in a concerted effort,” Lybarger said.

In addition, Lybarger said the San Luis Obispo Police have been slow to respond to the sign thefts even though Brodie had given them license plate numbers of both cars.

Brodie said police had told him they had gone to the house of one of the drivers, who denied any involvement.

Sgt. Steve Miller said a person called Sunday, Oct. 9 at 12:58 a.m. with a report of a BMW with signs in it and the car’s license number. Miller said the person who called “didn't say anything about witnessing the sign being stolen. Police are urging city residents to report any witnessed sign thefts.

This is a sign of how well Commonwealth will work for you

And with Commonwealth working with you, you may suddenly see this sign all over town. Because we process mortgages fast.

We work fast. In fact, we're so fast, we've even got a 30-day loan approval guarantee - we approve it in 30 days or the origination fee is free. And, after a home buyer signs our application, we'll lock-in his rate for 60 days at no charge.

We keep you informed. We're also one of the few companies offering computerized tracking. So your Commonwealth loan officer can tell you - at anytime - what stage the approval is in.

Call us - you'll be sold, too. The next time your client needs a mortgage, take a look at the services, the products and the people of Commonwealth Mortgage. You'll be sold, too.

Student body card or evidence of employment with Cal Poly will entitle you to a reduced discount fee, which will enable you to save up front costs.

Does Stress Slow Weight Loss

Stress may have a large impact on your ability to lose weight. For example, if you are a busy executive, your schedule may cause you to eat irregularly. This erratic eating leads to serious overeating at night, when your energy needs are at their lowest, which can cause you to gain weight.

At Diet Center, learning to eat on a schedule is an important part of our Program. This instruction, when combined with all of the other aspects of Diet Center's complete weight-loss program, makes it possible for you to lose weight quickly and to keep it off forever. In fact, on the Diet Center Program you can lose 15 to 25 pounds in just six weeks. Call today for a free consultation and find out how controlling stress can put you in control of your life.
