Cal Poly Week of Welcome Seeks Organizations for Fall Community Service Projects

SAN LUIS OBISPO — More than 3,000 new students will begin their Cal Poly careers by giving back to their new community as a part of the Week of Welcome's ninth annual Days of Service. This year, to allow more students to serve, WOW will host two service days — Saturday and Monday, Sept. 15 and 17, from 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. both days.

WOW is seeking additional organizations for service work in or near San Luis Obispo. The goal of WOW's Days of Service is to support the community, enrich a student's college experience and provide opportunities allowing students to make a difference in service. WOW commonly works with nonprofit organizations to help with a variety of projects, including gardening and yard work, planting and restoration, office work, sorting contributed goods, cleaning, and working with clients. Students will be working with various service projects both on and off campus.

"More student leaders have requested to partake in Days of Service this year," said Bryanna Lindgren, a WOW Executive Board member and Campus and Community Relations Committee co-chair. "We are hoping to accommodate all the groups in making a positive impact on the community. We are excited to have so many students eager to participate in Days of Service."
