Fit and trim: student readies heifer for show at Poly Royal

Jon Leonard works from one end to the other as he prepares the heifer to be shown at Poly Royal. Leonard and friend are part of a cattle fitting class, where students learn how to highlight the strong points and tone down the weak points of the animals. This is accomplished by rinsing and clipping the heifer, ewe or pig before competition and then positioning the animal's body in a favorable way in the show ring. Students enrolled in the class include those preparing to become agriculture teachers and those who just want to try something new. See story, page 4.

HOLLY HAVERTY/Mustang Daily

Student athletes get help in adding classes

By David Eddy

While many people struggle to add classes each quarter at Cal Poly, student athletes can sometimes be given high priority on add lists. Student athletes who have extra-ordinary problems in scheduling a class can get a memorandum from the office of Educational Services which requests professors' consideration in assigning them high priority on an add list.

Educational Services Associate Dean Donald Coats said the memorandum has been available as a last resort to both athletes and non-athletes for more than a year. Coats said the memo is used infrequently because only about 1 percent of students compete in athletics, and of these only 10 percent have trouble scheduling classes. "The numbers are almost insignificant," he said.

Many athletes have had problems getting a full schedule of classes, Coats said. This is crucial for the athletes, he said, because they must take at least 12 units in order to compete at the intercollegiate level. Athletes who participate in team sports are most severely affected, said Coats, because they must practice with their teams at specific times. If a class is only offered at 8 a.m. and 3 p.m., the athlete would have to get the 8 a.m. class, which may be difficult, said Coats.

Men's basketball coach Ernie Wheeler said late afternoon classes can be a problem, especially because so many labs are scheduled at that time. Although none of his players have used the memo, Wheeler said it serves an important function. "I think the thing that people forget is that athletes represent the university." Head football coach Jim Sanderson said about six of his players have used the memo. He said it has helped, but the situation is quite different from past years when athletes had priority in scheduling classes. Sanderson said, "It's such a difficult procedure; it's almost not worth it.

Before Computer Assisted Registration was instituted six years ago, Coats said athletes could go through registration before much of the rest of the student body. Coats has suggested that athletes be given priority on add classes. See ATHLETES, back page.

Computers on the way

By Chris Barks

The University Union will purchase a computer system this month for approximately $110,000 with funds from ASI and U.U. accounts.

Currently, the U.U. leases a system from the Cal Poly Foundation to handle its accounting and payroll procedures, said Todd Randak, purchasing agent for the U.U.

The Foundation has informed the U.U. that beginning July 1, the cost of leasing their computer system for one year will rise from 5 to 8 percent. Randak said. Furthermore, that increase would continue in the future years.

"Those bloody Americans say they don't have a civil war," muttered Taher Gubbia, a U.S. diplomat here estimated 100 people were killed in the attack on Tripoli, and doctors said the dead included Libyan leader Col. Muammar Khadafy's adopted baby daughter.

The vengeful Libyans, through their state radio, called for strikes against American targets "wherever they may be.

In its first retaliatory attack, Libya claimed to have destroyed the U.S. maritime navigation station on Italy's tiny Lampedusa island, 175 miles north of here. But U.S. officials said two missiles fired from a ship or warplane fell short.

In Washington, White House spokesman Larry Speakes described the U.S. air assaults on Libya as a "hit-and-run" blow at a remote U.S. Coast Guard station in Tripoli and the eastern city of Benghazi as a successful blow against command centers for Libyan-sponsored terrorism. "We have sent the message to Khadafy," he said.

But in Tripoli, where many private homes were damaged, it was clear the raid also left civilian casualties.

"Those bloody Americans say they don't have a civil war," muttered Taher Gubbia, a U.S.- sponsored terrorism. "We have sent the message to Khadafy," he said.
Editorial
Beware of Lyndon LaRouche candidates

Lyndon LaRouche, madman of the United States, contends that the queen of England leads the worldwide drug ring, Henry Kissinger takes all his cues from the Kremlin, and the International Monetary Fund is responsible for the spread of AIDS.

LaRouchians appeal to what at first seem to be mainstream America values — the need for a strong national defense, concern about the AIDS epidemic and condemnation of drug traffickers. But from there, attitudes range wildly from anti-Semitism to avowed racism to paranoia of KGB assassinations.

Once an avowed Marxist and leftist activist in the 60's, LaRouche has turned so far right that even the conservative Heritage Foundation has called his organization one of the most bizarre cults in history.

LaRouche organized the National Democratic Policy Committee backing candidates to infiltrate elections across the country, many running on the traditional Democratic party ticket. The most startling LaRouche victory was the capture of the Democratic nominations for Illinois' lieutenant governor and secretary of state in March. In 1980, San Diegans nominated the head of the Ku Klux Klan as their Democratic candidate for congress (though he lost the general election.)

LaRouche and his followers are frightfully successful because they are tricky and hide their extremist viewpoints until after the election.

In California, Democratic officials show 25 LaRouche candidates running for offices in the Democratic primaries ranging from state Assembly to local congresswoman, Leonard Berman, has a LaRouche candidate, Arthur Dunn, running against him.

One can only learn from this to be aware and informed about any candidate in any election. So, today, when you cast your vote for Cal Poly's ASI presidential candidate ...
Gov. Deukmejian signs farm bill
SACRAMENTO (AP) — A tax-break bill for farmers plagued by business losses was signed by Gov. George Deukmejian on Tuesday, two years after he vetoed two similar measures. The measure, SB55 by Sen. Henry Mello, D-Watsonville, will allow farmers who suffer net operating losses to carry them over to subsequent years for state income or corporate tax purposes if they cannot use all of the loss in one year as deductions offsetting taxable income.

Deukmejian vetoed two similar bills in 1984, but the Republican governor said the 1986 measure would be less costly to the state. "While the subject is the same, it's quite a different bill," he told reporters.

The 1984 legislation bill would have cost the state treasury $70 million over three years. The cost of the one measure is $27 million over three years, according to state officials.

AT&T divests from South Africa
NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has agreed to cut its limited business ties to South Africa, but will continue to provide basic long-distance telephone service to that country, the company confirmed Tuesday.

AT&T, although a giant in the United States, has no plants or sales offices in South Africa. The move is important mainly for its symbolic value, according to financial analysts and activists against South Africa's racial policies.

AT&T plans to phase out purchases of precious metals from South Africa, cut off computer sales and refuse to provide special long-distance services such as international 800 dialing, spokesman John Geoghegan said.

The company will announce the measures at its annual meeting Wednesday in San Francisco, he said. The steps were negotiated with a group of five employees at AT&T's Bell Laboratories in New Jersey.

Coke was it, but now it's gone
By Sally Klasell
Supervising Editor

It's a crime of caffeine ... a soda pop thief has hit the campus.

Eugene Pace, an Irvine lawyer and president of the Golden Beverage Co., said he plans to reintroduce a new and improved brew with revamped labels at a beer wholesalers convention in San Diego on Wednesday.

Pace said the label on each bottle features a photograph of a woman whose clothing can be scratched off. Golden Beverage even has developed a special refrigeration will not let the label inadvertently peel off.

Pace said he bought the rights to Nude Beer last year from a group headed by William Boam, a Tustin, Calif., businessman. Boam has said he got the idea in 1979 when he went into a store to buy a six-pack of beer and a Playboy magazine.

In a 1983 interview, Boam said, "Going nude, having fun and drinking beer really go hand in hand." Boam's dream was met by a rush of international publicity, which included strident criticism that the product was offensively sexist. Ultimately, Boam's concept fell flat because of poor sales.

Pace, one of Boam's backers, said he hopes to avoid the same pitfalls.

Investor unveils his plan for Nude Beer

IRVINE (AP) — One of the investors in an unsuccessful venture to sell Nude Beer, which features models with scratch-off bikini tops, has unveiled plans to market the suds again.

Eugene Pace, an Irvine lawyer and president of the Golden Beverage Co., said he plans to reintroduce a new and improved brew with revamped labels at a beer wholesalers convention in San Diego on Wednesday.

Pace said six-packs should reach most stores in Southern California within six weeks. If successful, Pace said he plans to expand into Arizona and Nevada.

Pace said the label on each bottle features a photograph of a woman whose clothing can be scratched off. Golden Beverage even has developed a special label so that condensation from refrigeration will not let the label inadvertently peel off.

Pace said he bought the rights to Nude Beer last year from a group headed by William Boam, a Tustin, Calif., businessman. Boam has said he got the idea in 1979 when he went into a store to buy a six-pack of beer and a Playboy magazine.

In a 1983 interview, Boam said, "Going nude, having fun and drinking beer really go hand in hand." Boam's dream was met by a rush of international publicity, which included strident criticism that the product was offensively sexist. Ultimately, Boam's concept fell flat because of poor sales.

Pace, one of Boam's backers, said he hopes to avoid the same pitfalls.

By Sally Klasell
Supervising Editor

It's a crime of caffeine ... a soda pop thief has hit the campus.

Eugene Pace, an Irvine lawyer and president of the Golden Beverage Co., said he plans to reintroduce a new and improved brew with revamped labels at a beer wholesalers convention in San Diego on Wednesday.

Pace said six-packs should reach most stores in Southern California within six weeks. If successful, Pace said he plans to expand into Arizona and Nevada.

Pace said the label on each bottle features a photograph of a woman whose clothing can be scratched off. Golden Beverage even has developed a special label so that condensation from refrigeration will not let the label inadvertently peel off.

Pace said he bought the rights to Nude Beer last year from a group headed by William Boam, a Tustin, Calif., businessman. Boam has said he got the idea in 1979 when he went into a store to buy a six-pack of beer and a Playboy magazine.

In a 1983 interview, Boam said, "Going nude, having fun and drinking beer really go hand in hand." Boam's dream was met by a rush of international publicity, which included strident criticism that the product was offensively sexist. Ultimately, Boam's concept fell flat because of poor sales.

Pace, one of Boam's backers, said he hopes to avoid the same pitfalls.
Students can prepare for showing animals with help from class

By Norma Condley

Every spring quarter Cal Poly students get into the spirit of Poly Royal by acquiring hands-on experience by working with beef cattle, sheep or pigs.

Through one of three different animal-fitting classes which are open to all majors, students get a break from their normal routines and learn the techniques of preparing and showing an animal for the Poly Royal Showmanship Contest. They are not only competing for showmanship awards, but also a grade and two units of college credit.

As the beginning of the quarter each student picks out one animal to groom and train until Poly Royal. It's a chance to learn how to handle the animal and gain its trust.

The cattle-fitting class usually has the highest enrollment, and this year is no exception with 119 students. "We try to start everyone at zero in this class. It makes no difference if a student has experience with showing cattle or not," said Mike Hall, an animal science professor who has been instructor to the class for 12 years.

Showmanship is basically the fitting and showing of animals to their best advantage by highlighting the strong points and toning down the effect of their weaker points. This is achieved through several techniques which include clipping the animal's hair and positioning the animal's body in a favorable way in the show ring.

"This is a good class because it gives students confidence. It helps take the fear of large animals out of people and is a good break from the routine of normal classes," said Hall.

Many types of students enroll. Some are preparing to become agriculture teachers and want more experience with show animals. Others are not from an agriculture background and want to try something new and many are experienced show-people interested in the spirit of competition.

"I like being around animals and heard the beef unit had a good program. I come up between classes and in my spare time to work on my heifer," said Gordon Hoskins, animal science major.

Julie Perkins, a business administration major, said, "I usually show something every year. I enjoy being with the animals and I've learned more about clipping cattle."

About 35 students are enrolled in the sheep-fitting class this spring. According to Rob Rutherford, animal science professor, there's a very high level of experience in the advanced classes this year. "Some of the toughest showmanship in the state of California should be represented at Poly Royal," said Rutherford.

Cynthia Sheppard demonstrates techniques she has learned for showing her pig, Technicolor, for Poly Royal.
Cal Poly student housing residents have different opinions regarding campus eating establishments: some can't live with them and some can't live without them. By spring quarter, almost all are ready to protest tonight's Beef 'O' Brady, also known as last night's Walnut Cheddar Loaf.

Some resident hall students, however, have found creative alternatives to dorm food, despite the stringent rules governing cooking in the residence halls.

Jeff Sauer, coordinator of student development at the Housing Office, said no cooking is allowed in student rooms, other than very minimal exceptions. "Cooking is prohibited," he said, "and therefore hot plates, blenders, electric skillets, wire coils and toasters are not permitted."

Sauer said these appliances are both fire and health hazards.

According to the Resident Hall Handbook, one-piece popcorn poppers and one unit coffee pots are the only cooking appliances that are allowed. Small coffee pots, hot plates, as they are often called, are used to boil water.

The rule is not nearly as limiting as it sounds, however.

Students have come up with some clever ways to satisfy their cravings without breaking any of the rules. Sauer offered examples such as students cooking macaroni and cheese in their hot pots and making frozen yogurt pies in their freezers.

Alan Razee, a senior speech communication major and resident adviser for Yosemite Hall, said he has heard of people cooking eggs on hot air popcorn poppers.

Students place a piece of aluminum foil over the part where the air shoots out. When the hot air blows on the bottom of the foil, he said, it heats up like a frying pan.

"Cooking is prohibited," Razee said, "and therefore hot plates, blenders, electric skillets, wire coils and toasters are not permitted."

Sauer said these appliances are both fire and health hazards.

Students are advised to have a stack of paper towels handy when attempting this and any other "creative" recipes for the first time.

Other alternatives Razee has heard of include students hard boiling eggs in their hot pots and bringing fresh fruit back from Farmers Market on Thursday nights to make fruit salad.

Donna Kessler, a Tenaya Hall resident and biochemistry senior, said she had a roommate who took a can of ravioli and floated it in a hot pot to heat it up.

The can had to be floated, she said, so that the contents wouldn't fry and her coffee wouldn't taste like spaghetti.

Kessler said she has also heard of people making grilled cheese sandwiches with their irons. They just wrap the sandwich with aluminum foil and then iron it on both sides. Some even put butter in the foil to brown the bread. It really works and it's good, Kessler said.

Andrew Hahn, a junior mechanical engineering student who lives in Muir Hall, has a unique opportunity for an occasional alternative to the Dining Hall.

His next-door neighbor is in a cut-of-the-month club, he said, so he gets most, says, in him which is delivered in fry, ice, and "sandwiches, they had a big ham which they barbecued outside of the building.

"It was great," Hahn said. "We had it along with sourdough bread."

Carolyn Hurwitz, assistant health educator at the Health Center, suggested wrapping a hamburger patty in aluminum foil and cooking it with an iron, using the same principle that was used to make grilled cheese sandwiches.

She also suggested dropping frozen and instant foods into hot pots, such as jello. For variety, she said, try adding fresh fruit to the jello.

Steaming foods is also popular, Hurwitz said. Just about anything can be steamed in a hot pot by punching holes in aluminum foil and putting a little water in the bottom.

Foods she suggested steaming include vegetables, chicken, beef, rice and hot dogs.

There are also simple things students can make in their rooms which require little preparation, Hurwitz said, such as dipping raw vegetables in sour cream mixed with a dry soup mix. Also, if a refrigerator is in the room, students can keep luncheon meats to make sandwiches.

Students can make things in their residence hall kitchens as well.

Though the kitchens are used primarily to make birthday cakes, Muir Hall residents have been known on occasion to use their kitchen facilities to create a meal dear to their hearts... Tater Tot Casserole.

This special dinner was brought to Muir Hall by resident Matt Matter, a junior business major, all the way from the dining commons at Cal State Sacramento where Matter lived in the dormitories his freshman year.

The story began when he relocated to San Luis Obispo. He was starving, he said, and remembered how wonderful the Tater Tot Casserole used to taste back in Sacramento.

Matter phoned the dining commons and got the recipe. It served around 120 people though, he said, so he had to cut the recipe down.

To recreate Muir Hall's famed recipe, students can brown some meat along with onions and celery, layer this with Tater Tots and cream of mushroom soup, add some grated cheese on top and then bake.

The above recipe is just one example of Cal Poly ingenuity in action. With a little creativity, a hot pot and access to the resident hall kitchens, the possibilities are endless.
Oil glut made air strike on Libya possible

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The U.S. air strikes on Libya would have been impossible without the world oil glut that has reduced the possibility of Middle East oil boycotts against the United States, former Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said Tuesday.

However, he warned representatives of 10 oil-producing states hit hard by fallen oil prices, increasing U.S. dependency on foreign oil is sowing the seeds of another energy crisis that could throw the nation's defense policies into disarray.

He noted that the only U.S. ally that supported the bombings was Britain, the only European country except Norway with its own oil supply.

Reagan to continue fighting terrorism

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan pledged on Tuesday to continue the fight against terrorism, saying the U.S. bombing attacks in Libya were "but a single engagement in a long battle."

Reagan, addressing about 100 executives making up the American Business Conference, said U.S. pilots who carried out Monday's attack "spoke to the outlaw Libyan regime the only language Colonel (Moammar) Khadafy seems to understand."

But, he added, "yesterday the United States won but a single engagement in a long battle against terrorism."

"We will not end that struggle until the free and decent people of this planet have eliminated the scourge of terror," he said.

Describing terrorism as "the preferred weapon of weak and evil men," Reagan said, "Yesterday we demonstrated once again that doing nothing is not America's policy. It is not America's way."

The president said U.S. policy is to use force as a last resort. Speaking of Libya, he said, "the choice is theirs" on whether to continue terrorist activities.

"We do not underestimate the brutality of this evil man, but Colonel Khadafy ought not to underestimate either the capacity or the legitimate anger of a free people," he said.

Los Angeles (AP) — President Reagan's decision to bomb Libya was a "courageous and determined act" that will send a strong warning to countries that support terrorism, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said.

The attack, prompted by a nightclub bombing that killed an American soldier in West Germany, represents "the first definite step in the fight against international terrorism," Kissinger said.

Kissinger said that since the hijacking of a TWA airliner in 1985, acts of terrorism have increased throughout the world and have been designed to make America appear helpless to respond.

Reagan's action Monday against the North African nation was "right," Kissinger said. "It was strong enough without being excessive."

Kissinger said he expected no action from the Soviet Union except for public protest, adding that the reaction of Arab leaders would be relatively muted.

"Of course they will protest," Kissinger said. "However, most of the Arab leaders I have known think (Libyan leader Moammar) Khadafy is quite mad."

Most of California's Republican officeholders lauded the attack, but at least one Democrat denounced it.

Rep. Robert K. Dornan, a conservative Garden Grove Republican known as "B-1 Bob," said Khadafy himself should be a target for retaliation.

"I am never going to be able to rest comfortably until that man is in prison or dead. I hope we get Khadafy in his bunker tonight," Dornan said.

"All Americans should rally around President Reagan in bipartisan support for the action against Libya," San Francisco Mayor Dianne Feinstein, a Democrat, said.

But strong opposition was registered in a statement issued by the Oakland office of U.S. Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, a Democrat who is a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

"I oppose the bombing of Libya by U.S. military forces. I firmly believe that it will contribute nothing to halting terrorism, but fear it will only contribute to the rampant escalating cycle of violence in the Middle East," Dellums said.

Save $20 to $45

$15 OFF
ALL 10K GOLD
$30 OFF
ALL 14K GOLD
$40 OFF
ALL 18K GOLD

GRADUATED SAVINGS GETS EVEN BETTER . . .
One was only, save on the gold ring of your choice. Stop by your college bookstore for specific time, date and place. Save even more. Bring in this coupon and get an additional $5.00 off ring price.

APRIL 14-18, 25-26 9:30 - 4:30
$5 OFF JOSTENS $5 OFF
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING per purchase.

El Corral Bookstore

Kissinger lauds Reagan for air attack on Libya

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Reagan's decision to bomb Libya was a "courageous and determined act" that will send a strong warning to countries that support terrorism, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said.

The attack, prompted by a nightclub bombing that killed an American soldier in West Germany, represents "the first definite step in the fight against international terrorism," Kissinger said.

Kissinger said that since the hijacking of a TWA airliner in 1985, acts of terrorism have increased throughout the world and have been designed to make America appear helpless to respond.

Reagan's action Monday against the North African nation was "right," Kissinger said. "It was strong enough without being excessive."

Kissinger said he expected no action from the Soviet Union except for public protest, adding that the reaction of Arab leaders would be relatively muted.

"Of course they will protest," Kissinger said. "However, most of the Arab leaders I have known think (Libyan leader Moammar) Khadafy is quite mad."

Most of California's Republican officeholders lauded the attack, but at least one Democrat denounced it.

Rep. Robert K. Dornan, a conservative Garden Grove Republican known as "B-1 Bob," said Khadafy himself should be a target for retaliation.

"I am never going to be able to rest comfortably until that man is in prison or dead. I hope we get Khadafy in his bunker tonight," Dornan said.

"All Americans should rally around President Reagan in bipartisan support for the action against Libya," San Francisco Mayor Dianne Feinstein, a Democrat, said.

But strong opposition was registered in a statement issued by the Oakland office of U.S. Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, a Democrat who is a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

"I oppose the bombing of Libya by U.S. military forces. I firmly believe that it will contribute nothing to halting terrorism, but fear it will only contribute to the rampant escalating cycle of violence in the Middle East," Dellums said.

A forum on SEXUALITY
"How do I deal with my sexual feelings, desires and wants?"

7-9pm April 17th
University Christian Center
1408 Foothill Blvd
544-4434

2 1/2 Times Better
60 New trail mix flavors including Gummy Worms, Yogurt Clusters, Granola Gone Nuts and Deep-Fried Purple Monkey Mix at the CAMPUS STORE
Open 'till 10 pm
7 days a week
Americans happy, British more reserved

LAKENHEATH, England (AP) — Joyan Tnibiano, wife of a U.S. Air Force sergeant stationed here, stood at the fence around Lakenheath base on Monday but it was continuing takeoffs and landings by F-111s and F-15s.

The exercise wound down at the base, was subdued. Her 14-year-old daughter Clarie had gone to school frightened to tears, she said, "Maybe we don't understand it, but it does frighten us," said the 38-year-old Englishwoman.

Tripoli's pride and Arnold's misgivings reflected the differing sentiments of many Americans and Britons over the U.S. bombing raid on Libya.

Thirty hours earlier, 18 F-111s had taken off from the Suffolk countryside base on their 4,600-mile round-trip. By 8:52 a.m., 16 of the sleek khaki-and-green jets were back. One had made an emergency landing in Spain and another was unaccounted for, according to the U.S. Defense Department.

The people of Lakenheath have learned to live with the constant drone and scream of warplanes at Lakenheath and neighboring Mildenhall bases. Over the weekend there were increased green jets were back. One had just made the situation worse," said Nigel Starnes, 24.

This prompted Libyan claims that another attack was being prepared. Libya was threatening retaliation against those, like Savory, who abetted the bombing.

One of them was "to the firing line."

The doctor said identified Khadafi's wounded sons as 3-year-old Kamil and Sehuh, aged 4½.

The raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

"He's certainly 100 percent Americans. We hope for his safe return."

"He is a very kind human being," said his mother, Bernice Savory, who remembers the raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

"If he's still here, stand at the fence and his crew in the waters off that African nation. "All of us are immensely proud of him," said Richard J. Kruger, Lorence's stepfather.

"I'm protesting against what Americans. The customs are very similar. But we do go about things a bit differently. We like the avenue of law and order and diplomacy."

At the main gate of the base, which is the headquarters of the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing, two local men mounted a lonely protest in the drizzle.

"I'm protesting against what the Americans did last night. I am a pacifist. I don't agree with terrorism or Khadafi but I don't see that he (Reagan) has accomplished anything. He has just made the situation worse," said Nigel Starnes, 24.

Military police, armed and wearing combat gear, checked all cars entering Lakenheath base.

Savory, who remembers the raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

"If England did have any misgivings reflected the differing sentiments of many Americans and Britons over the U.S. bombing raid on Libya."

"He is a very kind human being," said his mother, Bernice Savory, who remembers the raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

The raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

"I'm protesting against what Americans. The customs are very similar. But we do go about things a bit differently. We like the avenue of law and order and diplomacy."

At the main gate of the base, which is the headquarters of the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing, two local men mounted a lonely protest in the drizzle.

"I'm protesting against what the Americans did last night. I am a pacifist. I don't agree with terrorism or Khadafi but I don't see that he (Reagan) has accomplished anything. He has just made the situation worse," said Nigel Starnes, 24.

Military police, armed and wearing combat gear, checked all cars entering Lakenheath base.

She wondered aloud about her feeling of pride and added, as she gazed across the runway: "I've been going through a whole mix of emotions all morning — anger at (Libyan leader Col. Muammar) Khadafi, and anger at the European public and politicians for saying we're the bad guys."

Kadafi's baby daughter killed in raid

OAKLAND (AP) — Capt. Paul F. Lorenzo, weapons officer on the Air Force F-111 fighter-bomber that vanished during the raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

Lorence, 31, and the pilot, Capt. Fernando L., Ribas-Dominico, 33, of Puerto Rico, disappeared Monday during a raid on targets in Libya. Government officials said a search was being conducted for the American F-111 fighter-bomber that vanished during the raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

"All of us are immensely proud of him," said Richard J. Kruger, Lorence's stepfather.

"He's certainly 100 percent Americans. We hope for his safe return."

"He is a very kind human being," said his mother, Bernice Savory, who remembers the raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

The raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

"I'm protesting against what Americans. The customs are very similar. But we do go about things a bit differently. We like the avenue of law and order and diplomacy."

At the main gate of the base, which is the headquarters of the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing, two local men mounted a lonely protest in the drizzle.

"I'm protesting against what the Americans did last night. I am a pacifist. I don't agree with terrorism or Khadafi but I don't see that he (Reagan) has accomplished anything. He has just made the situation worse," said Nigel Starnes, 24.

Military police, armed and wearing combat gear, checked all cars entering Lakenheath base.

Kadafi's baby daughter killed in raid

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — The U.S. bombing raid on Libya killed the 15-month-old daughter of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafi and seriously wounded two of his young sons, doctors said Tuesday.

Dr. Mohammad Muafaa, director of pediatrics at Fatah University Hospital, said he was summoned to the Khadafi family compound about an hour after the pre-dawn U.S. bombing raid.

The doctor said identified Khadafi's wounded sons as 3-year-old Kamil and Sehuh, aged 4½.

The baby girl, Hana, died of a brain hemorrhage about two hours after he arrived, Muafaa told reporters at a news conference.

Hana, who was adopted about three months ago and was Khadafi's eighth child, was buried before nightfall, Muafaa said.

"He is a very kind human being," said his mother, Bernice Savory, who remembers the raid on Libya, was "100 percent American" and his family hopes for his safe return, his stepfather said on Tuesday.

"I'm protesting against what Americans. The customs are very similar. But we do go about things a bit differently. We like the avenue of law and order and diplomacy."

At the main gate of the base, which is the headquarters of the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing, two local men mounted a lonely protest in the drizzle.

"I'm protesting against what the Americans did last night. I am a pacifist. I don't agree with terrorism or Khadafi but I don't see that he (Reagan) has accomplished anything. He has just made the situation worse," said Nigel Starnes, 24.

Military police, armed and wearing combat gear, checked all cars entering Lakenheath base.

Kadafi's baby daughter killed in raid

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — The U.S. bombing raid on Libya killed the 15-month-old daughter of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafi and seriously wounded two of his young sons, doctors said Tuesday.

Dr. Mohammad Muafaa, director of pediatrics at Fatah University Hospital, said he was summoned to the Khadafi family compound about an hour after the pre-dawn U.S. bombing raid.

The doctor said identified Khadafi's wounded sons as 3-year-old Kamil and Sehuh, aged 4½.

Hana, who was adopted about three months ago and was Khadafi's eighth child, was buried before nightfall, Muafaa said.
Tired of sharing a bedroom?
In need of a quiet and mature student environment?

WOODSIDE GARDEN APARTMENTS is now accepting applications for the June 86-87 Contract for residence.

Contact our office at 200 N. Santa Rosa St., SLO, 544-7007 for more information

Get two sets of quality Kodak color prints for the price of one when you bring in any size Kodak color film for developing and printing by Kodak. Offer runs April 7 to April 25.

LIVESTOCK
From page 4
Kelly Anderson, animal science professor and instructor to the swine-fitting class, said signs are put up to announce the fitting classes, but a lot of students hear of them by word of mouth.

"I have a couple of students who have absolutely never worked with a hog. It's a neat experience for them. Some are from areas that didn't have ag programs," said Anderson.

Joey Cabassi, an agricultural business management major who's showing a pig for Poly Royal said, "It's an interesting class because you get to learn a lot. You get to see what goes on before a show and get really involved with the animals.''

Beef instructor Mike Hall summed up what these classes are all about.

"The most important thing is to get involved and spend at least the minimum time working with your animal. ... You get out of this class what you put in, and it requires effort," said Hall.

PDQ’ Resumes
THE $39.95 ALTERNATIVE
Penny Saves Quick
Tintype
544-9789 • 2226 Beebe Street
Mustangs hit well, beat Westmont 22-8

By John Grennan
Staff Writer

The Mustangs rapped out 20 hits en route to a 22-8 romp over visiting Westmont College Monday night in a non-league baseball game.

Poly's Marc King hit a two-run homer in the first inning and finished up the night going three for five with three RBIs. Joe Ramsey also had a good night at the plate going three for four with two walks and three RBIs.

The Mustangs built an 11-2 lead after two innings to make things easy for winning pitcher John Berringer. Berringer left in the seventh inning after giving up a grand slam to Westmont's first baseman Doug Davis. On the night Berringer gave up five hits, walked five and struck out nine.

The win boosted the Mustang's overall record to 13-15. The team travels to UC Riverside this weekend for three league games.

Wheelen coast to team win

The Cal Poly Wheelen rode home with an overall team victory at Santa Maria last weekend.

On Saturday, the riders fought cold and drizzly weather on the 11-mile per lap road race to place four Wheelen in the top 10 spots in category A.

Tony Ward finished the six-lap, 66-mile race in second place behind a Dartmouth rider. Jim Neu placed fourth and Sheldon Smith and Craig Anderson finished sixth and seventh respectively.

Ward staged an early break away only five miles into the race with a Stanford rider and a Dartmouth rider. Eventually the Stanford rider dropped off and Ward held on to take second place.

COUPON

CREST 14th Anniversary
$2.00 off any Large or Giant 1 item PIZZA
one coupon per customer
Expires 4/20/86
The Crest
Stamp of Quality Pizza
179 N. Santa Rosa St, SLO
544-7330

COUPON

Get A Running Start On Your Fall Housing...

- Closest off campus housing to Cal Poly
- Security and Comfort
- Pool, recreation and meeting rooms
- All reserved parking
- Five laundry facilities
- Creekside balconies
- A place to study
- Convenient to banks and shopping centers

Whether you want to build your body or just take off a few extra pounds, we can help you look your best.

JOIN DURING OUR SPRING SPECIAL

3 MONTHS
$62.95
or 6 months
$109.00

One Mustang Dr, SLO 543-4950

KINKO'S
Open early. Open late.
543-0771

NOW TAKING RESERVATIONS
FOR FALL & SUMMER

MUSTANG VILLAGE

3546 S. Higuera, SLO 541-5180

REAL DEALS.

Sold

Whether you're having a garage sale, catching up on online work, or selling a home or car; you'll find great deals on copies of Kinko's on the weekends.
The Cal Poly Rodeo "Team came back from the Saturday and Sunday rodeo at West Hills College sending tremors through Coalinga with strong third placings for both the men's and the women's teams and first place in the men's all-round.

Nolan Twisleman, a junior agricultural management major, was the star of the weekend, easily a clear first in the men's all-round.

The men's all-round consists of any two events of the competitor's choice. Twisleman came away from the team roping with 30.9 seconds and steer wrestling with 10.2 seconds.

Competing members of the men's team included Wade Santos, Twisleman, Steve Nimeyer, Bob Smith, and Jeff Sparrowk.

Wendy Kaufman, Poppy Phillips, and Jodi Hedstrom made up the women's team.

Working with warm and windy weather and a dry arena, the team continued to show performances that have made them four-time national champions.

"The rodeo team is one of the only Cal Poly sports teams that has produced national champions," said Alan Reff, member of the Rodeo Club.

Lassen College came away with first place for the men's competition with 313 points, while host West Hills landed second with 275 points. The Cal Poly team netted 240 points for third and Hartnell ended up fourth with 140 points.

Merced College was a clear first for the women's competition with 280 points, West Hills second with 165 points and Cal Poly third with 110 points.

Other Cal Poly members shining last weekend were Doug Turner who wrapped up first place for the calf roping with 25.5 seconds. Jeff Sparrowk and Blair Wheittley doubled up to win the team roping with 22.3 seconds, and Jodi Hedstrom roped first for breakaway roping with 8.4 seconds.

WHEELMEN

From page 9
"It was a suicide move that worked," said teammate Sheldon Smith.

Andres Eulau outgunned a Santa Barbara rider at the finish to win the 35-mile category B event. Greg Leston finished second for the Wheelmen and Tim Hyland came in ninth.

In the novice race five Wheelmen placed in the top 10: Jeb Thornburg finished second, Lance Hardy in third, Jeff Johnson placed fourth, Angelo Guinasso took fifth and Mike Rauchger came in 10th.

A crash in the women's event took out most of the Cal Poly riders — two of them in ambulances — but Elizabeth Strangio still managed to finish third. Rhonda Shaw and Janet Hall placed sixth and seventh respectively.

In the criterium event Sunday, Stanford dominated the Wheelmen in category A, with the best Poly finish by Randy Armstrong in eighth place.

Robert Enzerink won the category B competition with Mike Benne, Tim Hyland and Jeff Finn also finishing in the top 10.

Elizabeth Strangio finished second in the women's event. Rhonda Shaw and Danielle Micheletti finished ninth and 14th respectively.
THURSDAY NIGHT AMATEUR HOUR
APRIL 17 8PM SAN LUIS LOUNGE
REFRESHMENTS WILL BE AVAILABLE
SPONSORED BY AS SPECIAL EVENTS
WANTED: 30 Overweight people serious about losing 10 lbs in 30 days. 100% guaranteed.
Ticket Stubs Available at the U.U. Office
Art & Design Exhibit "New Movies" Apr.
2-5 Tue U. Gallery, Library

THERAPY PET MAJISAGE
TREAT YOURSELF OR A FRIEND, REDUCE TENSION, THERAPY "PAIN"
BODY THERAPY 540-1016

DEPENDABLE YAMAHA 175 ENDURO
QUICK, CLEAN, FUN 540-5878, HONDA 635-C80 Ruma. 800-5878
Never used. Condition: Excellent

DECREASE $2000 543-4006 AFT. 1PM.

CONDO $2400 543-4006 AFT. 1PM.

RIDE DIFFICULT Servicing. Soler, pork-Tlko aottting, 21/2 bath. Redwood and glaaa contov

DEPENDABLE YAMAHA 178 ENDURO
QUICK, CLEAN, FUN 540-5878, HONDA 635-C80 Ruma. 800-5878
Never used. Condition: Excellent

FLUF 12 SPEED. INCLUDES LOCK, PUMP, EXTRA WHEELS, EXCELLENT COND. $195 FIRM
Greg 540-3782

R I L P HORIZON 4DR, HBACK EXC.
CONDO $2300 543-4860 APT. 1PN.

CHEAP RENTAL 1 or 2 F rm 540-5878

MALE ROOMMATE NEEDED FOR SHARED APARTMENT. Male roommate

SPRING TIME! SPRING BREAK! CARAVANS

ASSOCIATION FOR YOUTH.

FER MODELS TO FUTURE.

THERMA-GRILL BY BEKES.

HOMES WITH A LARGE PRICE THEN

Cruise SHIPS. AIRLINES, HIRING!
ATHLETES

From page 1

the CAR form, but he said the problem with the idea is that other campus groups would demand similar consideration.

Athletes are given priority at registration on most campuses in the California State University system, Coats said.

Political science professor Reginald Gooden said although he has yet to face the problem, he doesn’t think the memo would prejudice him in favor of the athlete. Gooden said an athlete’s situation sounds similar to that of students who work their way through school. He said of the memo, “It would sensitize me to the fact that athletes too have some constraints.”

Coats emphasized that Educational Services will attempt to solve the scheduling problems of all students, providing they have exhausted all other possibilities.

“If you’ve done everything you can, we’re going to help you out,” he said.

LIBYA

From page 1

educated English professor outside the ruins of his house.

The raid’s repercussions rippled through the Mediterranean and beyond. •

In Britain, which Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher allowed to be used as a base for the U.S. attack, opposition leaders assailed her decision. Anti-Arab demonstrations demonstrated outside U.S. diplomatic missions in West Germany, Greece, Austria and Cyprus.

• The Arab world denounced the military strike. Even U.S.-supported Egypt, generally hostile to Libya, expressed “alarm and strong resentment.”

At an OPEC meeting in Geneva, Libya’s petroleum minister called for an oil embargo against the United States. At 8:55 p.m. Tuesday and again a half-hour later, salvos of anti-aircraft fire echoed over the Libyan capital, but there was no sound of warplanes or other indication of a new U.S. attack. Occasional explosions and repeated bursts of apparent machine-gun fire could be heard from various quarters of the capital.

At about 10 p.m. (3 p.m. EST), the Libyan radio said American planes had struck Tripoli again and four had been shot down. But in Washington, Pentagon spokesman Robert Sims denied it.

Earlier in the day, Tripoli state radio said Libyan forces destroyed a U.S. facility on Libya’s island of seven-mile-long Lampedusa, where 30 Coast Guard and Navy personnel run a LORAN-C electronic navigation station.

Coast Guard spokesman Nicholas Sandifer in Washington indicated that two missiles were seen “landing in the water” near the shore. He said there were no casualties on the island, which has a population of 4,000. In Rome, Italian officials said a motor launch fired on the facility from four miles away.

After the American strike, the Libyan radio declared that “the hour of unity and revenge has struck” and called on Arabs in neighboring states to attack Americans and European targets.

The official Libyan news agency said Arab ambassadors were summoned to the Foreign Ministry here and urged to have their countries take “practical action” against the United States and Britain, where the F-111s that took part in the bombing run are based.

Reagan administration officials said U.S. military and diplomatic installations around the world were put on alert against possible terrorist attack.

COMPUTERS

From page 1

to occur in each subsequent year, because of Foundation cost-of-inflation predictions.

In five years of leasing the Foundation system with what Randak said was a “conservative 5 percent yearly increase” in cost, the U.U. would have paid an estimated $121,167. The new computer system will be paid for in installments spread over five years and will cost $113,400, Randak said.

Randak said the U.U. business staff is excited about having a system superior to the one owned by the Foundation. Presently, the Foundation system uses a system called the Interactive Fund Accounting System (IFAS II). The system purchased by the U.U. will use IFAS IV, the most up-to-date program available. Besides handling accounting and payroll operations, the new system will computerize the Ticket Office in the U.U. Randak said the computer will have displays of all facilities on campus to show what seats are available in a particular show. The computer will then print tickets while the customer waits, he said. The system will also handle campus U.U. scheduling.

The new system should be up and running by June 1, but the U.U. will continue to utilize the Foundation system for an additional three months for universi ty fiscal auditing purposes during the changeover, Randak said.

Beginning Our fifth year...

as the leading housing facility off campus. We offer:

• Closest off campus housing to Cal Poly
• Pool, recreation and meeting rooms
• Creekside balconies
• All reserved parking
• Convenient to banks and shopping centers
• Security
• Comfort
• A place to study
• Five laundry facilities

Stop by and see us during Poly Royal Weekend!

Hours:
Fri, April 25 9am-5pm
Sat, April 26 9am-5pm
Sun, April 27 9am-5pm

U.S. will use IFAS IV, the most up-to-date program available. Besides handling accounting and payroll operations, the new system will computerize the Ticket Office in the U.U. Randak said the computer will have displays of all facilities on campus to show what seats are available as a particular show. The computer will then print tickets while the customer waits, he said. The system will also handle campus U.U. scheduling.

The new system should be up and running by June 1, but the U.U. will continue to utilize the Foundation system for an additional three months for universi ty fiscal auditing purposes during the changeover, Randak said.

Beginning Our fifth year...

as the leading housing facility off campus. We offer:

• Closest off campus housing to Cal Poly
• Pool, recreation and meeting rooms
• Creekside balconies
• All reserved parking
• Convenient to banks and shopping centers
• Security
• Comfort
• A place to study
• Five laundry facilities

Stop by and see us during Poly Royal Weekend!

Hours:
Fri, April 25 9am-5pm
Sat, April 26 9am-5pm
Sun, April 27 9am-5pm

U.U. will use IFAS IV, the most up-to-date program available. Besides handling accounting and payroll operations, the new system will computerize the Ticket Office in the U.U. Randak said the computer will have displays of all facilities on cam pus to show what seats are available in a particular show. The computer will then print tickets while the customer waits, he said. The system will also handle campus U.U. scheduling.

The new system should be up and running by June 1, but the U.U. will continue to utilize the Foundation system for an additional three months for universi ty fiscal auditing purposes during the changeover, Randak said.

Beginning Our fifth year...

as the leading housing facility off campus. We offer:

• Closest off campus housing to Cal Poly
• Pool, recreation and meeting rooms
• Creekside balconies
• All reserved parking
• Convenient to banks and shopping centers
• Security
• Comfort
• A place to study
• Five laundry facilities

Stop by and see us during Poly Royal Weekend!

Hours:
Fri, April 25 9am-5pm
Sat, April 26 9am-5pm
Sun, April 27 9am-5pm

U.U. will use IFAS IV, the most up-to-date program available. Besides handling accounting and payroll operations, the new system will computerize the Ticket Office in the U.U. Randak said the computer will have displays of all facilities on cam pus to show what seats are available in a particular show. The computer will then print tickets while the customer waits, he said. The system will also handle campus U.U. scheduling.

The new system should be up and running by June 1, but the U.U. will continue to utilize the Foundation system for an additional three months for universi ty fiscal auditing purposes during the changeover, Randak said.