Housing, traffic, growth top SLO’s mayoral race agenda

By Karen Kendoor

MAYORAL candidates Allen K. Settle and incumbent Ron Dunin will be sitting at opposite ends of the table Nov. 6 when San Luis Obispo voters enter the voting booths.

Voters will weigh the issues of housing, traffic, growth and water to tip the scales in favor of one of the candidates.

"Cal Poly projects an increase of 400 students next year," Dunin said. "There will be no room for natural growth."

Dunin said the answer to this is to build more housing that would be acceptable and affordable from the standpoint of the student.

Dunin also strongly supports a Greek Row. He'd like to begin a local Greek Alumni Committee to address itself strictly to establishing a Greek Row.

"The enthusiasm of the students... to start a Greek Row would sort of dissipate because students would graduate," Dunin said. "If we have a body like that, there will be a continuity."

Dunin also supports plans for a Greek Row whether it be at the airport, as proposed, or not.

"Under no circumstances, however, am I planning to pressure those who already have a house in the city to move out there," said Settle. "That's simply unfair."

Settle also approves of less expensive group housing such as married-student housing, dorms for freshmen, handicapped housing and housing for visiting faculty.

Traffic congestion also falls hand-in-hand with overcrowding problems. Settle classified traffic circulation into three categories. First, he said, modified traffic plan is needed to permit traffic to run smoothly through downtown.

Second, the street system should be modified to discourage trucks from going through residential neighborhoods.

And lastly, the flow of traffic from such streets as Santa Rosa and Broad should be dispersed so it doesn't flow through the residential neighborhoods.

Settle said he favors expansion of the Salinas Dam in San Miguel at the northern tip of the county, a series of groundwater wells to be kept on line as a backup reserve and live-stream diversion during the winter months.

He does not advocate trucking in water from other areas.

Dunin agreed the water situation is serious, but not an emergency.

"With conservation and the groundwater program, we will prevent the emergency," Dunin said.

Groundwater will supply approximately 4,000 acre-feet. This will account for half the city's water supply, Dunin said. The other 50 percent should be supplied by yearly rainfall.

Like Settle, Dunin also supports diverting streams and expanding the Salinas Dam as backup plans. Dunin would also like to use desalinization and recycled water for landscaping.

"I think we should never again be held hostage to such bad planning so far as the water supply is concerned," Dunin said.

Men impress at Humboldt invite

By Rob Lorenz

On a hilly course at Humboldt State University, Jim Sorensen of Cal Poly's cross country team was looking to leave Dennis Pfeifer of Humboldt State in the dust. But Pfeifer was looking to do the same.

So the two proceeded to kick toward the finish line. From one mile out. Sorenson and Pfeifer finished in identical times, but Sorensen got the win by out-leaning Pfeifer at the tape. After running a full 10-kilometer course, Sorensen got the win, and the course record of 31:43, by a split-second.

The win was a forecast of things to come for the Mustangs on Saturday. Five Cal Poly runners finished in the top 10 on the course that will host the Western Regionals in November.

In cross country scoring, a team's score is determined by the top five finishers from each team. With Cal Poly's top five runners placing in the top 10, the Mustangs easily won the team title with a total of 27 points. The closest team to Cal Poly was Nevada-Reno, which totaled 63 points.

Coach Tom Henderson said the most important aspect of the race was that the Mustangs ran effectively as a team. He said running as a team will be the single most important factor in the success of the season.

Tim Campbell took third place for the Mustangs, coming in less than a minute behind Sorensen and Pfeifer. Steve Neubaum and Scott Peterson took sixth and seventh place for the Mustangs, and Mike Parrot rounded out the scoring for Cal Poly by coming in 10th.

Freshman Scott Hempel also had an impressive showing for the Mustangs, taking 12th in a time of 32:58.

On an entirely different course in an entirely different part of the state, Hempel's twin brother Matt was busy leading the Mustang's "B" squad to a win at Westmont College on an 8,000-meter course.

The "B" team won the meet over Point Loma, Westmont College and Southern California College with a point total of 34.

Gridders suffer season's 1st loss

By Rob Lorenz

About a year ago, Cal Poly and Angelo State staged a low-scoring, defensive struggle at Mustang Stadium that ended in a 15-8 Mustang victory.

On Saturday the Mustang football squad traveled to San Angelo Texas to face Angelo State again, but this time the results were entirely different.

Offense was the order of the day as the two teams combined for a total of 65 points, with Angelo State getting the better end of the deal with a 45-20 victory over the Mustangs.

Angelo State scored the game out of reach with a second-quarter 21-point outburst, and never looked back. The Rams took a 35-13 lead into halftime and coasted to the win, adding to their point total with a touchdown in the third quarter and a field goal in the fourth. Cal Poly, meanwhile, could only muster a single touchdown in the second half on a 12-yard pass.

Hello! I'm Milt Souza, owner of Atascadero Food 4 Less. After 25 years in the grocery business, it is a pleasure to bring this new and exciting way to shop to our community.

At Food 4 Less, we are committed to bringing you the lowest possible prices on quality meat and produce as well as the name brand grocery items you are used to seeing in other markets.

There are no membership fees, and you don't have to buy big quantities of an item to enjoy the low everyday prices. You're invited to shop 24 hours a day.

My goal with Food 4 Less is to make it your "Biggest Little Store" in San Luis Obispo County. I have hired over 100 employees from our community and we're always ready to provide you with the fast, friendly service that you deserve.

We combine the "mom and pop" philosophies with the warehouse concept—you have the best of both worlds.

- The lowest every-day grocery prices in the county
- No membership fees, everyone's welcome
- Open 24 hours, 7 days a week
- No size or minimum buying, Buy 1 can or 1 case, same low price per can
