Money for Poly in proposed budget

$7 million for Rec Center needs OK from legislature

By Leslie Morris
Staff Writer

Gov. George Deukmejian approved $7.3 million in his budget for the $13 million Cal Poly Rec Center Wednesday.

The money must now be approved by the Legislature and signed into law by Deukmejian. The project is needed because of overcrowding and special events, she said.

Soooodgrass, coordinator of Rec Sports, said the governor's priority list to be appropriated the money, she said. The governor's priority list to be

"We're two years behind," she said.

The new center will provide facilities for recreational sports, physical education instruction and special events, and is needed because of overcrowded existing facilities.

"We're cramped everywhere," Soooodgrass said. "Student access to facilities is limited to evenings, and in places like the weight room, people have to wait in line to get in."

There are currently 120 basketball teams and 80 volleyball teams participating in intramurals, so games are regularly played until midnight. There is very little free time in the gym, Soooodgrass said. Booking must be made a day in advance for the six racquetball courts and there are often six people to a lane at the pool.

The 100,000-square-foot center will be located between the Health Center and Mott Gym. State funds will pay for the gymnastics room, weightroom, three labs and P.E. offices. Student funds will pay for nine racquetball courts, a 50-meter outdoor pool, a weight room, an exercise/dance room, Rec Sports offices and a multi-purpose gymnasium with basketball and volleyball. See REC CENTER, page 7

Dairy processing plant may get help from state

By Brandon Engle
Staff Writer

Cal Poly's dairy and animal science departments have been included in Gov. George Deukmejian's state budget. If approved by the legislature, the departments would share more than $200,000.

"The governor's budget includes $167,000 for preliminary planning money for a new dairy products processing plant," said Eugene E. Starkey, head of the animal science department.

The animal science department would receive $82,000 for department growth. Cal Poly's existing dairy products processing plant would be used by the food science department when the new facility is completed.

"Even if we get the money we're still four or five years down the road before we would have a new building," said Starkey.

As part of the California State University's budget process, Cal Poly officials first submitted the money request to Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds and her staff, who presented the request to the CSU Board of Trustees. The Trustees then approved the budget for all 20 state universities. It was then submitted to the governor and his financial advisers.

The money must next survive legislative scrutiny and win Deukmejian's final approval in June before it can be used for the new facility.

"We don't have the money yet, but this is an important step," said Starkey.

Prof calls civil rights an issue for everybody

By Karen Kendzor
Staff Writer

While racism and sexism remain alive 22 years after the burial of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., the vision of King has died, said a Cal Poly political science professor.

"By vision I mean an idea that has some dimensions to it for the future," said Professor Phil Fetzer. "I don't hear anybody articulating that today."

King, for instance, took the push for community service with him to his grave. "So few people of this generation see it as a likely way to go after graduation," said Fetzer.

A political-social activist in the mid-1960s, Fetzer has been witness to the eyewitness of change. The civil rights movement was an issue of change.

"Student access to facilities is an issue of change. The civil rights movement was an issue of change," said Fetzer, but today it goes beyond black rights to include women, the physically disabled and senior citizens.

"People need to begin to recognize that it is everybody's issue," said Fetzer. "These are human rights, not just civil rights."

Fetzer was a strong supporter of the civil rights movement through his involvement with the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, an alternative party to the regular Democratic Party. In Mississippi, he said blacks have historically been excluded from participation.

Fetzer said mental images of the social injustice characterizing the era remain imprinted in his mind. He remembered talking to one black woman who picked cotton for a living 10 hours a day for only $3.

Families were extremely religious, said Fetzer. They justified their hardships by believing "they were all sent by God to do this," he said.

The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party eventually stepped out of existence. The crowning success of that aspect of the civil rights movement, however, came with the adoption of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

"The power of all those who showed up at the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party was an issue for everybody," said Fetzer. They justifi ed their hard- ships by believing "they were all sent by God to do this," he said.

As part of the California State University's budget process, Cal Poly officials first submitted the money request to Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds and her staff, who presented the request to the CSU Board of Trustees. The Trustees then approved the budget for all 20 state universities. It was then submitted to the governor and his financial advisers.

The money must next survive legislative scrutiny and win Deukmejian's final approval in June before it can be used for the new facility.

"We don't have the money yet, but this is an important step," said Starkey.

Rental fraud, SLO-style...

A Poly student, in search for winter housing, loses $1,200 to a person posing as an apartment manager.

Call it: "Something"

That's what Cartoonist Scott Fujawa told us. His new weekly strip starts this issue.

Sec REC CENTER, page 7

Sec FETZER, page 5
If you were asked whether or not you held some racist perceptions, your answer, according to the results of the recent poll, would probably say no. But does this mean it? Most people feel they are subject to the biases of racism, but do you think you are? The weight of the Boston police force was brought down on Mission Hill, and black men were stopped throughout the city. It is said that the people in Boston are not stupid, and they don't tend to be more radically dissenionary than people elsewhere.

Racism is a powerful thing. Not only did the police and the white community kill in that line behind the story, but the supposedly objective and liberal media were more than willing to believe the story and disseminate it in the media. The problem is not difficult to fathom. The media in general and the major media corporations are bastions of racism and the solidarity of the student-faculty community needs to be, and is, from time-to-time interpreted as discriminatory or biased. In the face of stereotypes and our differences — we are a university, a community of individuals who have the responsibility to treat each other with respect, with understanding and with a community of purpose — a university that must defend human dignity and promote freedom of expression.

Making the next time you see a minority on television or in the newspaper and ask yourself if you feel comfortable seeing him in that context. Context is stereotypical, or is it just the way you want to see it?

Terry Lightfoot is managing editor for Mustang Daily.
Let the buyer beware: Poly student loses $1,200 to fake SLO apartment manager

By Marianne Biasotti

Increased university enrollment has some students scrambling to find a roof over their heads that neither leaks nor costs a fortune.

A first-time student recently lost a small fortune while looking for housing the week before winter quarter. Still homeless, 19-year-old freshman Troy Bennett gave $1,200 dollars in cash to a supposed "manager." Now he may need to make those repairs himself.

Neither Bennett nor his friend accepted a refundable deposit of $300. He and his friend left to talk it over. They decided to take this apartment without looking at the others on their list. They went back and were told, "You guys are pretty cool — I guess we can throw out the list."

Bennett pulled out his checkbook and Mark asked for a certified check or cash because he needed to make those repairs quickly and switch over the rent. The only rental agreement was a piece of paper signed by both parties which listed the first and last month payment of $450 and a refundable deposit of $300.

The week will close with a march from Avila Pier to the gates of Diablo Canyon Nuclear Power Plant on Sunday, Jan. 21.

The idea for Create Peace Week was developed in 1985 by Cal Poly Students for Social Responsibility and San Luis Obispo Physicians for Social Responsibility in celebration of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday. In recent years, events that have drawn capacity crowds have included a Star Wars debate and a Joan Baez concert.

During the past six years a number of groups have become involved. This year a resolution by Mayor Ron Dunn was passed that officially recognized Create Peace Week in the city of San Luis Obispo. A similar resolution was passed in San Luis Obispo County.

Cal Poly Psychology and Human Development Professor Linden Nelson said expanding the number of groups involved leads to a broader definition of peace.

"Peace means more than not fighting some enemy," Nelson said. "It means a sense of security. As long as there is poverty in the world there is a threat of war." See PEACE WEEK, page 5

LET'S TALK TURKEY.

Monday January 22

at The Placement Center

At Louis Rich a major subsidiary of Oscar Mayer/Phillip Morris, we enjoy a world wide reputation for pure quality. This market acceptance and our continued dominance and growth in the processed meat field has created exceptional opportunity. And, we invite quality individuals with majors/degrees in Ag Eng, Ag. ME, EE, Ind. Tech., Food Science, Animal Science or Business to sit down with us and talk about a future with Louis Rich. Please contact your placement office today, to schedule a time to meet with our recruiter on campus.

Monday, January 22nd at The Placement Center. Or, for more information, please send all inquiries to: Louis Rich Co., Attention Personnel, P.O. Box 1339, Tulare, CA 93275

Hot Facts from Louis Rich

CALL 544-9259 • 544-9260 • 541-TIRE TODAY!

252 Higuera Street, San Luis Obispo Hours: Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-7 p.m. • Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m.
Rent

From page 3

had ever rented before. Bennett’s friend, whose father is a landlord and the more knowledgeable of the two, said the written receipt looked all right. Bennett withdrew $1,200 in cash, gave it to Mark and went home to the Bay Area.

Bennett was surprised to return the first day of school and meet the real landlord as he walked into the apartment. After a simultaneous “What are you doing here?,” Bennett realized the landlord knew nothing about the situation and that it was a former tenant who had taken off
with his money.

Real estate Mike McNamera had
for years been renting to
students for more than 20 years.
His apartment, McNamera said,
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.

McNamara said paying in cash
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.
McNamara Realty owns more than 100 units in San Luis Obispo and has been renting to
students for more than 20 years.

“It was his first time away from home, he didn’t know how to go about renting an apartment
and he got taken,” McNamera said. “It pisses me off to see people get ripped off like that.”

He said it really disturbed him
to see this happen to a student,
especially on his property.

McNamara said students can do many things to protect themselves and can look for warning signs about a possible
rent fraud, such as:
• Never pay in cash.
• Look for an official manager’s
  phone number which was listed in the report, and SLO Officer R.

“Maybe I was a little naive — I had never been out in the real world before,” Bennett said. “I should have trusted that little voice inside me that told me to leave the first time.”

What upset Bennett the most,
besides possibly not getting his money back, was that Mark was not a student.

“Just graduated — you wouldn’t think another student
would do that.”

The police are investigating
the report, and SLO Officer R.
Barba said it could be considered
a grand theft felony if convicted.

“Bennett might have to sue to get his money back, he said, but in the meantime his friend said
he’ll give him half of what he lost
since they were renting together.

Don’t be afraid to ask questions. McNamera said students can do many things to protect themselves and can look for
warning signs about a possible
rent fraud, such as:
• Never pay in cash.
• Look for an official manager’s
  phone number which was listed in the report, and SLO Officer R.

“Maybe I was a little naive — I had never been out in the real world before,” Bennett said. “I should have trusted that little voice inside me that told me to leave the first time.”

What upset Bennett the most,
besides possibly not getting his
money back, was that Mark was not a student.

“Just graduated — you
wouldn’t think another student
would do that.”

The police are investigating
the report, and SLO Officer R.
Barba said it could be considered
a grand theft felony if convicted.

“Bennett might have to sue to get his money back, he said, but
in the meantime his friend said
he’ll give him half of what he lost
since they were renting together.

The landlord knew nothing about
the situation and that it was a former tenant who had taken off
with his money.

Real estate Mike McNamera had
for years been renting to
students for more than 20 years.
His apartment, McNamera said,
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.

McNamara said paying in cash
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.
McNamara Realty owns more
than 100 units in San Luis Obispo and has been renting to
students for more than 20 years.

“It was his first time away
from home, he didn’t know how
to go about renting an apartment
and he got taken,” McNamera
said. “It pisses me off to see
people get ripped off like that.”

He said it really disturbed him
to see this happen to a student,
especially on his property.

McNamara said students can
do many things to protect themselves and can look for
warning signs about a possible
rent fraud, such as:
• Never pay in cash.
• Look for an official manager’s
  phone number which was listed in the report, and SLO Officer R.

“What upset Bennett the most,
besides possibly not getting his
money back, was that Mark was not a student.

“Just graduated — you
wouldn’t think another student
would do that.”

The police are investigating
the report, and SLO Officer R.
Barba said it could be considered
a grand theft felony if convicted.

“Bennett might have to sue to get his money back, he said, but
in the meantime his friend said
he’ll give him half of what he lost
since they were renting together.

The landlord knew nothing about
the situation and that it was a former tenant who had taken off
with his money.

Real estate Mike McNamera had
for years been renting to
students for more than 20 years.
His apartment, McNamera said,
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.

McNamara said paying in cash
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.
McNamara Realty owns more
than 100 units in San Luis Obispo and has been renting to
students for more than 20 years.

“It was his first time away
from home, he didn’t know how
to go about renting an apartment
and he got taken,” McNamera
said. “It pisses me off to see
people get ripped off like that.”

He said it really disturbed him
to see this happen to a student,
especially on his property.

McNamara said students can
do many things to protect themselves and can look for
warning signs about a possible
rent fraud, such as:
• Never pay in cash.
• Look for an official manager’s
  phone number which was listed in the report, and SLO Officer R.

“What upset Bennett the most,
besides possibly not getting his
money back, was that Mark was not a student.

“Just graduated — you
wouldn’t think another student
would do that.”

The police are investigating
the report, and SLO Officer R.
Barba said it could be considered
a grand theft felony if convicted.

“Bennett might have to sue to get his money back, he said, but
in the meantime his friend said
he’ll give him half of what he lost
since they were renting together.

The landlord knew nothing about
the situation and that it was a former tenant who had taken off
with his money.

Real estate Mike McNamera had
for years been renting to
students for more than 20 years.
His apartment, McNamera said,
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.

McNamara said paying in cash
was Bennett’s biggest mistake.
McNamara Realty owns more than 100 units in San Luis Obispo and has been renting to
students for more than 20 years.

“It was his first time away
from home, he didn’t know how
to go about renting an apartment
and he got taken,” McNamera
said. “It pisses me off to see
people get ripped off like that.”

He said it really disturbed him
to see this happen to a student,
especially on his property.

McNamara said students can
do many things to protect themselves and can look for
warning signs about a possible
rent fraud, such as:
• Never pay in cash.
• Look for an official manager’s
  phone number which was listed in the report, and SLO Officer R.

“What upset Bennett the most,
besides possibly not getting his
money back, was that Mark was not a student.

“Just graduated — you
wouldn’t think another student
would do that.”

The police are investigating
the report, and SLO Officer R.
Barba said it could be considered
a grand theft felony if convicted.

“Bennett might have to sue to get his money back, he said, but
in the meantime his friend said
he’ll give him half of what he lost
since they were renting together.
and usage in San Luis Obispo. Another issue the Peace and Environmental Network is concerned about is global warming. Becker said the issue has always been a focal point for the group.

“We are grateful that the rest of the nation is catching up with us,” she said. “We (as a nation) need to be more careful.”

This is the first year Create Peace Week has been officially sponsored by the Peace and Environmental Network.

The group, which meets monthly, is composed of organizations including Beyond War, Students for Social Responsibility and San Luis Obispo Mothers For Peace. The coalition is open to any group, said Becker. She estimates that at least 14 groups are active in the network.

Becker said the community’s response to Peace Week has been gratifying.

“We’re fortunate to live in a community that’s starved for this information, that wants to improve its knowledge of what’s happening in the world,” she said. “We wouldn’t get the same response if we lived in a big city where people have lots of access to this information.”

The Peace and Environmental Network works throughout the year to educate the community and support social awareness groups.

“We can stop killing each other,” said Becker, “but keep killing our environment and we will kill ourselves.”

---

HANG GLIDING CLUB

Hang Gliding Fly-In

Class II Jan. 27 & 28

Class III Feb. 3 & 10

Location: Guadalupe Sands

only $79

Equipment and Lessons included

DON’T MISS OUT!

There won’t be a better deal for a long time to continue or begin your lessons.

U.S. Hang Gliding Association Ch. 5199

805-962-8999

---

SCORE BIG WITH A 6-FOOT PARTY SUB!

Score Big on Super Bowl Sunday!

Bring in this ad for $10 OFF any 6-Foot Party Sub. (Feeds 25-35 people)

Please order 24 hrs in advance. Small deposit required.

793 Foothill Plaza 158 Higuera & Madonna

543-3999 541-0855

Not valid with other offers. Expires: 2/14/90

---

COPELAND'S SPORTS

JANUARY SPORTS KICK OFF!

Basketball Shoes

29.99

BASKETBALL

RUNNING

New Balance

Hiking

TROOP

L.R. Gutfreund

Women's Ch. 0159

65

SPORTSWEAR

Special Pricing on Polartec Jackets

Special Pricing on Hammer Pants

SPECIAL

SPECIAL

Special Pricing on Skiwear

14.99

16.99

69.99

24.99

50% Off

25% 50%

SKIS - BOOTS

50% Off

25% Off

---

Mustang Daily Friday, Jan. 12, 1990

PEACE WEEK

From page 3

Professor Nelson will give a lecture and video presentation on myths about the U.S.S.R. and prospects for peace Tuesday, in Chumash Auditorium at 11 a.m.

Some other issues to be presented during the week will include the clean-up of the Casmalia dump near Santa Maria, and water conservation.

---

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

however, unless awareness of human rights is heightened, said Fetzer. For example, Cal Poly has already made a turn in the right direction.

“The white majority gets a very distorted view of life in California, which is going to be majority black, Hispanic and Asian in a decade or so,” he added.

Although Cal Poly has already made a turn in the right direction by organizing a Civil Rights’ Day in May, Fetzer said, “We’re still light years away from what made a turn in the right direction.”

“I say is a good healthy society. ’’

Day in May, Fetzer said, “We’re majority black, Hispanic and whites on campus.

Asian in a decade or so,” he added.

“People have lots of access to this information. ’’ where people have lots of access, said Becker. She said this information, that wants to improve its knowledge of what’s happening in the world,” she said. “We wouldn’t get the same response if we lived in a big city where people have lots of access to this information.”

The Peace and Environmental Network works throughout the year to educate the community and support social awareness groups.

“We can stop killing each other,” said Becker, “but keep killing our environment and we will kill ourselves.”

---

GLIDING HANG CLUB

For a long time to continue or begin your lessons.

There won’t be a better deal for a long time to continue or begin your lessons.

U.S. Hang Gliding Association Ch. 0159

805/543-6514

---

Borhís Awards

“Your Personal Recognition Store”

---

Sixty Minutes May Save You Hours

Senior Project & Term Paper Clinics – Winter 90

Kennedy Library  Room 202

School Session

Agriculture Tuesday, Jan. 16, 10:10-11 am

Architecture & Environmental Design Wednesday, Jan. 17, 3:10-4 pm

Business Wednesday, Jan. 17, 10:10-11 am

Engineering & Industrial Technology Thursday, Jan. 18, 3:10-4 pm

Science & Mathematics Tuesday, Jan. 16, 3:10-4 pm

Liberal Arts Tuesday, Jan. 23, 10:10-11 am

Art & Design Tuesday, Jan. 23, 3:10-4 pm

English, Journalism, Speech Tuesday, Jan. 24, 3:10-4 pm

History, Social Science, Pol.Sci. Tuesday, Jan. 24, 3:10-4 pm

Professional Studies & Education Tuesday, Jan. 24, 10:10-11 am

Graphic Communication Wednesday, Jan. 24, 10:10-11 am

Home Economics, P.E. & Recreation Tuesday, Jan. 30, 10:10-11 pm

Liberal Studies, Psychology & General Session (All Schools) Tuesday, Jan. 30, 10:10-11 pm

Human Development General Session (All Schools) Tuesday, Jan. 30, 3:10-4 pm

For Further Information Call the Reference Department - 756-2649

---

COPELAND'S SPORTS

962 Monterey

San Luis Obispo 543-3663

Mon-Wed 9:30-6, Thurs-Fri 6-9, Sat 10-7, Sun 10-6
Politics in Asia

Speaker examines future of U.S./Far East relations

By Jena Thompson

Staff Writer

The shape of the Pacific Rim in the next quarter century sits at the crux of what could cause World War III, said the executive director of the National Bureau of Asian and Soviet Research.

Richard Ellings spoke in the University Union Wednesday night about change in United States policy concerning economical and political intricacies and where it stands in relation to East Asia.

"Twenty years ago, my peers felt the profit motive and capitalists guarding their markets drove the United States," Ellings said, of which one result was the Vietnam War.

"Now they say the United States never paid attention to economics," he said.

The importance of economics in the United States could replace security, and the United States might not switch its priorities fast enough.

Questions of security and economics depend on each other, he said, especially in regard to Japan.

In the post-World War II era, the United States helped maintain stability in East Asia. After four decades, the economic relationship between the United States and Japan shifted to a politically unsustainable and dangerous crisis.

The idea of a coalition with people who hate each other replaces the idea of peace.

"Korea, the 'hot spot' of East Asia, compares to a cross between Stalinist Russia and Pharaoh Egypt," Ellings said.

If North Korea continues to stagnate and South Korea continues to boom, North Korea can either change its ways, attack or become a footnote in history.

Besides the Korean issue, the stability in East Asia hinges on the four powers of China, Japan, United States and Soviet Union.

The importance of economics in the United States could replace security, and the United States might not switch its priorities fast enough.

Questions of security and economics depend on each other, he said, especially in regard to Japan.

In the post-World War II era, the United States helped maintain stability in East Asia. After four decades, the economic relationship between the United States and Japan shifted to a politically unsustainable and dangerous crisis.

The idea of a coalition with people who hate each other replaces the idea of peace.

"Korea, the 'hot spot' of East Asia, compares to a cross between Stalinist Russia and Pharaoh Egypt," Ellings said.

If North Korea continues to stagnate and South Korea continues to boom, North Korea can either change its ways, attack or become a footnote in history.

Besides the Korean issue, the stability in East Asia hinges on the four powers of China, Japan, United States and Soviet Union.
From page 1 of the document:

"Students want more facilities and I'm sure we are springs up all over the country on university campuses because of high levels of interest in sports, she said. At Cal Poly, more than 35 percent of the students participate in Rec Sports programs.

Snodgrass said she expects participation to double when the new center is available and said the center will bring in a lot of people from the athletic clubs in high levels of interest in sports, she said.

"We welcome everyone!"
What if the Soviet Union weakened? If things get bad at home, the Soviets could always go to war. Other deep and abiding concerns with the powers in East Asia have to do with the unpredictability of China and its many political problems with unclear direction. "The students' flirtation with downing their leaders without a lot of experience in democracy expressed itself in symbols of students crushed by tanks," said Ellings. He said it takes more than the passing of the old guard to make a huge political difference in China — they must dedicate themselves to territorial integrity and the importance of being united. Ellings pointed out the importance of U.S. policy in stabilizing East Asia.

For a cleaner planet, recycle this paper

ELLINGS

From page 6 said.

If the Soviet Union lost military power in East Asia, shock waves would pass throughout the region, he said.

Sports Calendar

Friday, January 12

- Men's basketball vs. CSU Northridge at 8:05 in Mott Gym.
- Swimming vs. CSU Los Angeles at 3 p.m. in Los Angeles.
- Gymnastics vs. So. Utah State in Cedar City, Utah at 7 p.m.

Saturday, January 13

- Women's basketball vs. CSU Los Angeles at 5:45 p.m. in Mott Gym.
- Men's basketball vs. CSU Los Angeles at 8:05 p.m. in Mott Gym.
- Swimming — The swim team will be at the UC Berkeley Invitational Jan. 13-15.

GIVE YOUR SWEETHEART, FRIEND OR EVEN YOUR ENEMY A VALENTINE IN OUR SPECIAL PERSONAL EDITION OF THE DAILY CLASSIFIEDS FEBRUARY 14TH. USE OUR FORM IN THIS ISSUE, OR LOOK FOR OUR "RED" ORDER FORM IN THE GRAPHIC ARTS BUILDING ROOM 226 OR THE INFORMATION DESK IN THE U.U. WITH EACH AD, YOU WILL AUTOMATICALLY BE ENTERED INTO A DRAWING FOR A $25 GIFT CERTIFICATE FOR DA VINCI'S RESTAURANT.

Deadline: Wednesday February 7th

Mustang Daily Valentine's Classified Order Form

YOUR MESSAGE

Special "HEART FRAME" up to 5 words boldface ONLY $5

Circle Symbol of Choice

Special Symbols

Only $2.00 EXTRA with your minimum 2-line ad at our regular rates

Classification Advertising Policies

All advertising copy and materials are subject to acceptance by the Mustang Daily Business Manager. The Business Manager reserves the right to reject all or any portion of the copy or art submitted at any time prior to publication, even if material has previously been accepted or published.

Make Checks Payable To Mustang Daily

18pt stops here↓ 14pt stops here↓ All caps stops here↓

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33

For a cleaner planet, recycle this paper

Sports Calendar

Friday, January 12

- Men's basketball vs. CSU Northridge at 8:05 in Mott Gym.
- Swimming vs. CSU Los Angeles at 3 p.m. in Los Angeles.
- Gymnastics vs. So. Utah State in Cedar City, Utah at 7 p.m.

Saturday, January 13

- Women's basketball vs. CSU Los Angeles at 5:45 p.m. in Mott Gym.
- Men's basketball vs. CSU Los Angeles at 8:05 p.m. in Mott Gym.
- Swimming — The swim team will be at the UC Berkeley Invitational Jan. 13-15.

GIVE YOUR SWEETHEART, FRIEND OR EVEN YOUR ENEMY A VALENTINE IN OUR SPECIAL PERSONAL EDITION OF THE DAILY CLASSIFIEDS FEBRUARY 14TH. USE OUR FORM IN THIS ISSUE, OR LOOK FOR OUR "RED" ORDER FORM IN THE GRAPHIC ARTS BUILDING ROOM 226 OR THE INFORMATION DESK IN THE U.U. WITH EACH AD, YOU WILL AUTOMATICALLY BE ENTERED INTO A DRAWING FOR A $25 GIFT CERTIFICATE FOR DA VINCI'S RESTAURANT.

Deadline: Wednesday February 7th

Mustang Daily Valentine's Classified Order Form

YOUR MESSAGE

Special "HEART FRAME" up to 5 words boldface ONLY $5

Circle Symbol of Choice

Special Symbols

Only $2.00 EXTRA with your minimum 2-line ad at our regular rates

Classification Advertising Policies

All advertising copy and materials are subject to acceptance by the Mustang Daily Business Manager. The Business Manager reserves the right to reject all or any portion of the copy or art submitted at any time prior to publication, even if material has previously been accepted or published.

Make Checks Payable To Mustang Daily

18pt stops here↓ 14pt stops here↓ All caps stops here↓

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33