CSU considers Baker for chancellor position

William Douglass
Staff Writer

By the end of today the California State University is expected to name a new chancellor, and Cal Poly may be looking for a new president.

President Warren Baker has been named as one of three finalists being considered by the CSU Board of Trustees to serve as chancellor of the largest four-year university system in the United States. Trustees will interview the finalists today in Long Beach and elect a new chancellor.

The chairman of the committee to find a new chancellor, J. Gary Shansby, said the three finalists were chosen from a field of more than 600 people considered for the job. Some applied for the position and some were sought out. "President Baker was nominated by a number of people — and was well thought of," Shansby said.

State financial crisis could mean more CSU budget cuts

California State University officials are hoping tax receipts will make a 'May miracle' that will boost the state's revenue.

By Michael Belgard
Staff Writer

California is facing the worst budget deficit that any state has ever encountered, which could mean even deeper cuts for the California State University system.

Gov. Pete Wilson said last week that California will be $12.6 billion in the red if drastic steps are not taken. The state's total budget is $45 billion.

"This is a crisis situation," Steve McCarthy, CSU spokesman, said. "People tend to overuse the term crisis, but in this situation we have a real crisis on our hands."

McCarthy said that the CSU's budget already would be $400 million in the red if drastic steps are not taken. The state's total budget is $45 billion.

ASI week to aim at student involvement in its programs

Event will feature education, understanding, participation.

By Kelli Martin
Staff Writer

A weeklong event on the Cal Poly campus that includes raffle drawings, dunk tanks, a variety of bands, open forums and leadership seminars is coming soon. No, it's not Poly Royal. But this event, promoting involvement and pride in Associated Students Inc., just may fill the gap for the clubs, organizations and students at Cal Poly.

A week of education, understanding, participation and fun for students with regard to their ASI and University Union is planned for April 8 — April 13, said Kim Forrester, ASI marketing coordinator.

As opposed to past Poly Royals which focused on bringing in people from other

Well-liked CRP graduate student dies following battle with cancer

By Anne McMahon
Staff Writer

Funeral services are being held today in Compton for Cal Poly graduate student Arthur James McClain. McClain died of cancer on Friday, March 29 at San Luis Obispo General Hospital. McClain, 31, was nearing completion of the city and regional planning master's degree program in which he

Business student remembered for talent to make others feel special

By Peter Hartlaub
Staff Writer

Cal Poly student Suzanne Andrea Roberto, 23, died last week. She was a junior in the School of Business.

An end-of-the-quarter concert by rock group Living Colour drew 3,300 people to Cal Poly's Mott Gymnasium. The group, which features the vocal talents of Body Glove-clad lead singer Corey Glover, played for about an hour and a half before a sweaty and lively crowd. ASI Concerts publicity representative Brent Kato said the show was only 100 tickets away from selling out all 3,400 seats. The next ASI Concerts presentation will be Seattle's Main Attraction April 12.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Unite to battle common causes

The Gulf War showed the world the power of the United States and its allies. More amazing than the military power of the allies was the fighting power of the common citizen. The war showed how we can unite the world, for a single violent person. Normal citizens of the U.S. get off their couch, ready to join a yellow ribbon to hang a flag. It's too bad.

Some people write editors so we might actually fight for Peace. They did something besides just thinking or talking about it.

What is strange is that the common citizen would do this for a previously unheard of group of people halfway around the world who have lots of life and lots of oil. Our lives would have changed considerably if we would have let Saddam win in Kuwait's crude. But we choose to fight and that made all the difference.

Where will we decide to fight next? Will we fight where George and the media tell us to fight or will it be somewhere that directly affects us? Will we fight to educate our youth or for our environment or for our oil industries? Will we fight to stop the illegal drug trade or to solve the underlying causes of drug use? The important thing is to fight for your cause. That fight will start when you decide to do something more than think about it. Just do it.

Scott Kipp

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

NOW TELL ME WHAT YOU SEE IN THESE SPOTS...

In late March I was walking to my car parked off campus. A man followed me for about 10 minutes. At first he just made casual conversation, but later he began to verbally sexually harass me. About 20 minutes later, I drove past him harassing another woman who looked just scared and confused as I had been.

Later, the police told me other women had been harassed that day by the same man. I'm concerned that some of these women, including me, aren't playing it smart when they are out in a threatening situation like this. We cannot just laugh nervously, start crying or keep talking to someone. Our first reaction needs to be to say: "Leave me alone." We need to say it forcefully and not worry about making a scene or hurting someone's feelings. We need to stop being so nice. No one has the right to sexually harass me.

And report it. You may have a special piece of evidence the police need and the more complaints the better. Public Safety had so many complaints that the man was finally arrested if he is ever seen on campus again.

Kris Burleigh

Computer Science

If you own an adorable dog you need a degree in counseling

By Anne Buila

People are strange animals. I took my dog to the beach last quarter. Nik loves the beach. He's still a pup, eight months. Little people. Old people. Everybody loves this dog. When he hits the beach, he becomes a virtual kid magnet. He can't help it. He looks like he walked off the movie scene, one of the "101 Dalmatians." Parents usually give in to their kids and come and see the Nik dog. The little ones want to pull one of his spots off, or they want to count his spots — up to 10 and over again. And what does Nik do? He just sits there. He's lost it. He gets to check their pockets for food and lick the food and stick his d(0)g face. It's a good deal — kid to dog to kid.

The kids are OK. The kids, they play with the dog. Pet him. Talk to him. Get bored and leave. I like the kids. It's the parents. Owning this dog has lost the favor of our government? Will we fight for our environment or for our oil industries? Will we fight to stop the illegal drug trade or to solve the underlying causes of drug use? The important thing is to fight for your cause. That fight will start when you decide to do something more than think about it. Just do it.
Soviet ruble falls in dollar exchange rate

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union yielded to black market pressure Wednesday, offering more than four times more rubles cy-banc in search of better deals, depriving tourists was a tacit admission that many ternational trade.

The change in the foreign exchange rate for tourism was a tacit admission that many

ners in search of better deals, depriving Soviets of badly needed hard curren-

Soviets said the higher cost of buying dol-

will — up from 5.6 rubles per dollar to 27.6

The new rate, which comes the same

The ruble is all but worthless outside

Foreign currency exchange offices in Mos-

The ruble is all but worthless outside Soviet borders. Its artificially set rates and

Trade may dominate

Bush-Kaifu summit

TOKYO (AP) — A leading newspaper

recently ran a political cartoon depicting

President Bush as a pilot attacking Japan

with bombs marked “semiconductors.”

Immune system fights early stages of AIDS

BOSTON (AP) — The body launches a stunning counterattack in the first weeks of an AIDS infection, killing the virus by the hundreds, and learning to harness this pow-

fins, pancakes, syrup or jam,

The nuclear rocket, dubbed Project Tim-

berwind, could be used to put “directed energy” weapons in orbit to attack incoming mis-

Hill

Activists face trial for saving addicts’ lives

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Joey

Tranchina and Camille Anacastia were out-

laws, illegally swapping clean syringes for

dirty ones for addicts too poor or drug sick to

many cooksbooks have been written and there have been many recipes circulated for use of this flavorful,

scented berry, but one

cookbooks has surpassed all others in blueberry recipes.

Trade may dominate Bush-Kaifu summit

Nuclear rocket is next on Star Wars agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Star Wars

project wants to use a radically new propulsion system, a nuclear reactor, to boost anti-missile weapons into Earth orbit, according to an arms control group that opposes the idea.

The nuclear rocket, dubbed Project Tim-

berwind, could be used to put “directed energy” weapons in orbit to attack incoming mis-

kernels for details of the sudden announcement.

The state’s costs were estimated at roughly $205,000 by Patrick Ashley of the Office of

Criminal Justice Planning. About $175,000 of the total will come from $125 participant

fees.

The other training session is in San

Rafael for managers in the Employment

Development Department’s tax branch.

The conference budget is $69,700, a spokesman said.

State spokesmen defended the costs. “It’s

a tremendous training experience,” said

Ron Russell of the Office of Criminal Justice

Planning.

Officials to hold costly meetings despite debt

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Despite the looming budget deficit, state officials are planning two conferences this month in Marin and Orange county resort areas.

Costs for the meetings will run to six figures, and one includes an optional day at the Peachick Gap Golf and Country Club in

Marin County. The Sacramento Bee reported

Wednesday the larger of the two is the annual

Governor’s Conference on Victims’ Services

and Public Safety to be held at the Anaheim

Marriott Hotel one block from Disneyland on April 15-17.

The state’s costs were estimated atrough-

ly $205,000 by Patrick Ashley of the Office of

Criminal Justice Planning. About $175,000 of the total will come from $125 participant

fees.

The other training session is in San

Rafael for managers in the Employment

Development Department’s tax branch.

The conference budget is $69,700, a

spokesman said.

State spokesmen defended the costs. “It’s

a tremendous training experience,” said

Ron Russell of the Office of Criminal Justice

Planning.

Activists face trial for saving addicts’ lives

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Joey

Tranchina and Camille Anacastia were out-

laws, illegally swapping clean syringes for

dirty ones for addicts too poor or drug sick to

Many cooksbooks have been written and there have been many recipes
circulated for use of this flavorful,

scented berry, but one

cookbooks has surpassed all others in blueberry recipes.
Whole Lotta Hoopla!

Come to the corner of Osos & Higuera to R
Celebrate Woodstock's
HOUSE WARMING PARTY
at Our New Location!
APRIL 4th-7th

We're giving away a TRIP TO HAWAII
for two for a week!
Including lodging & flight!

11-AM- 4 PM THURS, FRI. 99¢
SLICES
SALADS
GARLIC BREAD
DRAFT BEER

We're giving away
FREE PIZZAS,
GIFT CERTIFICATES,
T-SHIRTS AND MORE!

Woodstock's Pizza Parlor
1000 Higuera St. • San Luis Obispo • 541-4420 • Fast, Free Delivery

Congratulations
Mustang Daily!

Winners in the 1990 Society of Professional Journalists Mark of Excellence Competition

Mustang Daily
Third Place
"Best All-Around Daily Student Newspaper"

Jason Foster
First Place
"Spot-News Reporting"

Jennifer Smith
Third Place
"Editorial Cartooning"

Leslie Morris
Second Place
"Best Newspaper Science-News Story"

Jon Rogers
Third Place
"On-Site Sports Photo"

Winners in the 1990 California Intercollegiate Press Association State Competition

Christine Kohn
First Place
"Best Newspaper Editorial"

David Beck
First Place
"On-Site Entertainment Writing"

Jennifer Smith
Second Place
"On-Site Editorial Cartooning"

Jason Foster
Third Place
"On-Site News Writing"

Leslie Morris
First Place
"Best Newspaper Science-News Story"

Jon Rogers
Second Place
"On-Site Sports Photo"

Leslie Morris
Second Place
"On-Site Copyediting"

Winners in the 1990 California Intercollegiate Press Association State Competition

Christine Kohn
First Place
"Best Newspaper Editorial"

David Beck
First Place
"On-Site Entertainment Writing"

Jennifer Smith
Second Place
"On-Site Editorial Cartooning"

Jason Foster
Third Place
"On-Site News Writing"

Leslie Morris
First Place
"Best Newspaper Science-News Story"

Jon Rogers
Second Place
"On-Site Sports Photo"

Leslie Morris
Second Place
"On-Site Copyediting"

CONTEST &
LIVE REMOTE
BY KSLY
THURS., APRIL
4TH, 7 PM

LIVE REMOTE
BY K-BEAR
SATURDAY,
APRIL 6TH,
4-8 PM

CAL PHOTO

Hot & Fresh

HITS OF THE WORLD

1000 Higuera St. • San Luis Obispo • 541-4420 • Fast, Free Delivery

4 Mustang Daily Thursday, April 4, 1991
Greeks address issue of violence in dating

By Meredith Boheman
Staff Writer

Jodi (not real name) is a col­lege freshman. She had just rushed a sorority like many of her sisters, she was excited to be a part of it. She had a few drinks and talked for a while, Jodi was having fun. Then Tom invited her to his room to show her some of his schoolwork.

Jodi never dreamed the fun would become a nightmare.

"Awareness is the biggest part of this," said Tranchina, one of a network of activists who run needle exchange programs illegally in 11 states and the District of Columbia.

"This has nothing to do with war," said Luckman, a Phi Delta Theta fraternity member representing Greeks Against Rape, who's doing a master's thesis at Yale University on the topic expected to be arrested in a pledge education program and a 24-hour rape hotline has been established by the program's 25 volunteers.

"People need to take a moral point and for most cases we investigate, alcohol was a major factor."

"Most people know some thing is wrong before they get involved and once they get too far in, it makes all that much harder to get out," he said. "One out of three women will be raped during their lifetime, and with most cases we investigate, the victim knows the person.

"Our primary concern is the well-being of the victim and to steer that person in the right direction. They have to get beyond the apprehension and fear in order to stop it from happening again."

To help students cope with the problems in violence in dating, programs are being of­fered to give advice and infor­mation on the subject.

Greeks Against Rape is a peer educational program that offers information about violence and dating to sororities and fraternities. Training is provided for greek pledges educators and a 24-hour rape hotline has been estab­lished by the program's 25 volunteers.

Jaime Luckman, a Phi Delta Theta fraternity member representing Greeks Against Rape, said defining rape and the circumstances surrounding it is a real eye opener.

"I approve of my fraternity brothers two and a half years ago with this subject and what date rape is, and nobody knows. They just don't know," he said. "I'm trying to go out and tell them because they need to take responsibility. Today, they support me 125 percent."

Luckman said that unwar­rented pressure placed on col­lege students, especially males, is alarming, but steps can be taken to prevent situations from occurring.

"I think anyone who has any sense should step in to prevent it (rape) from happening," he said. "People need to take a stand, be role models and take care of their brothers and sisters."

The Panhellenic Alcohol Policy was enacted as another preventive measure against violence in dating. The policy requires fraternities to limit alcoh­ol distribution at parties and exchanges, stop under­aged drinking and designate certain members as "sister" chaparenes during events.

"Greeks are taking responsibil­ity for themselves in terms of this policy," Luckman said. "They are really clamping down."

Kathy Bottini is the execu­tive director of the Rape Crisis Center in San Luis Obispo, a non-profit organization that of­fers low-cost services to vic­tims. She said much of the peer pressure among students is emphasized by the media and society, which perpetuates the myth of women wanting sex. "In this day and age it's very confusing and hard to deal with these pressures," Bottini said.

"You need to be clear and ex­press your feelings so you know where you're going."

The center, located at 844 One St., offers a 24-hour hotline, staffed with volunteers trained in child abuse, domes­tic violence, acquaintance rape, rape trauma and human sexuality. Speakers, arranged through the center, donate time to offer information on re­lated subjects.

The center is also sponsor­ing a seminar entitled "Sexual Assault: Comprehensive Education and Training on Sexual Assault and Crisis In­tervention." It will be held from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. every Thursday and Thursday in May.

"Date rape is harder to recover from because often it's with someone the victim knows. It is more traumatizing to overcome," Bottini said. "It can happen in many situations, not just in the greek system. We're all obligated to be aware."
WORLD

From page 3

"GATT" and "construction market" — all contentious trade issues — were discussed at the two-hour summit.

One of his jobs will be to de-emphasize those trade tensions, which have been aggravated by widespread perception in the United States that Japanese support of the allied campaign against Iraq — nearly $11 billion, but no personnel — was inadequate support of the allied campaign.

Nearly the same percentage said they were less likely to buy Japanese goods in the future.

"We found that very early on during the illness, there is a tremendous burst of virus replication that occurs in the patient," said Dr. David D. Ho.

"It was quite revealing to see it grow so quickly. That has never been formally documented for HIV.

"Then things turn around a week or two later," Ho said. "The virus replication returns to barely detectable levels. It suggests that there is something very effective in the host that can quickly control the spread of the virus. It is very important to study when we will have a lot of time and energy to pursue that effective immune response."

Another AIDS researcher, however, said something better than that immune response will be needed to fight the disease.

NATION

From page 3

Ho, until recently at the University of California, Los Angeles, is the first director of New York's Aaron Diamond AIDS Research Center, which officially opens April 16.

His work and a similar study conducted by Dr. Stephen J. Clark at the University of Alabama were published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

Together, they documented the initially overwhelming growth of the virus and then the body's spirited response in seven people who were newly infected.

All of them had gone to a hospital for sickness resulting from the initial infection. They had a variety of symptoms, including skin rashes and flu-like fever, sore throats and aches. All got better without receiving any AIDS treatment.

The researchers found that at the height of the patient's early illness, a single liter of their blood might contain 10 billion individual viruses. Levels this high are not seen again until patients fully sick with full-blown AIDS.

"They are sickest when their virus levels are highest," said Dr. David D. Ho. "They have not had time for the virus replication to take place before virus replication can take place."

Together, they documented that effective immune response is already in place before virus replication can take off, then it's quite likely that there will be a complete halt of virus growth," Ho said.

However, Dr. William Haseltine, an AIDS researcher at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute in Boston, took a more pessimistic view of the implications for vaccine development.

"This confirms that the immune system has an effect," he said. "But it means we have to do much more than that with a vaccine if we are going to protect people from infection. We have to prevent the virus from getting into people in the first place, and if it does, we have to learn how to make immune responses that are different from those that naturally occur."

We need the immune defenses eventually lose their power to hold back the virus."

One leading theory is that the virus mutates inside the body. Eventually powerful new strains emerge that can resist or evade the body's virus-hunting weapons.

Set Yourself Apart...

Next year, enjoy quiet and privacy at STAFFORD GARDENS & LAS CASITAS

DON'T BUY AN IBM...

Before you spend big bucks at El Corral for an IBM PC and you owe it to yourself to check out the Whakater AT 2000 series of IBM compatibles. They're faster and more expandable than their IBM counterparts, and they cost much, much less.

- CPU: IBM COMPATIBLE
- 5.25 OR 3.5 FLOPPY
- 386 286MS 16 HARD
- EXPANDABLE RAM 1MB
- VIDEO ADAPTER AND MONITOR INCL.
- PLUG IN SLED KEYBOARD
- FULLY EXPANDABLE: 200 watt power supply, 8-16 slots, 5 drive bays
- 1 YEAR PARTS & LABOR WARRANTY

Student Alcohol Expenditures!

(Annual Expenses in $ Billions)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Student Alcohol</th>
<th>College Libraries</th>
<th>Scholarships &amp; Fellowships</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$4.2</td>
<td>$1.7</td>
<td>$1.6</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NCADI OSAP

Cruise Ship Jobs

Hiring: Men & Women: Summer, Fall, Winter, Year Round. PHOTOSYNTH YEAR ROUND PHOTOGRAPHERS YOUR GUIDE: Incorporated. Express your FREE voice. Call Caribana Infinity P.O. Box 1046 Santa Barbara, CA 93102-1046. CTS: 805.682.4605 Ext 50922.

Sun 30.00 Perms

30.00 Sun Glitz 1228 Broad St.
San Luis Obispo, CA 93401
(805) 544-0755
App't & Various ID requested.
Film series focuses on Vietnam

By Amy H.ardon

Staff Writer

While the Gulf War is still fresh in everyone's minds, Cal Poly Arts is presenting a Vietnam War film series that will address the common issues and concerns of war.

Films will be shown every Monday of the 10-week quarter at 7:30 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium, and are open to students and the general public.

The motion picture "Hamburger Hill" will screen Monday. The 1987 release chronicles the 101st Airborne Division's assault and re-assault to dislodge Vietnamese regulars dug in on Hill 937 in Vietnam's A Sha Valley.

"The Green Berets," which screened Monday, was a positive consideration of the war, said Peter Wilt of the Cal Poly Theatre, who is publicizing the series. He said the next nine films take everyone's minds, Cal Poly Arts is that will address the common issues presenting a Vietnam War film series of the war, said Peter Wilt of the Cal lodge Vietnamese regulars dug in on the 10-week quarter at 7:30 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium, and they are open to students and the general public.

"Film Directors" that studies the film series, said it was coincidental that the Vietnam War films were made in the 70s after the war was over. At this point it seemed like it was time to go back and deal with them (the issues of the war.)" Most people have seen these films one by one, separately," but one can learn a lot about the issues of war and how war works from watching a series like this, he said.

Six sections of the "Film Directors" class are being offered this quarter. The history department is also offering a course on the Vietnam War which will study the film series. Wilt said he expects a large student turnout.

Both single-event and series tickets can be purchased at the door in Chumash Auditorium each Monday evening. Admission is $4 general admission and $3 for students and employees. For further information, call the Cal Poly Theatre Ticket Office.

"Hamburger Hill" will show this Monday evening in Chumash Auditorium.

U.U. Galerie exhibit shows change in Indian culture

By Karen Travis

Staff Writer

A photography display in the University Union Galerie documents the slow integration of traditional Native American culture into modern Western society.

"War Bonnets, Tin Lizzies, and Patent Leather Pumps: Kiowa Culture in Transition, 1925-1955: The Photographs of Horace Poolaw" is the title of this exhibit which will show until May 3.

"The best thing about Horace Poolaw's work is how there is no feeling of hatred in any of his pictures," said Galerie Director Jeanne LaBarbera. LaBarbera said Poolaw simply photographed what he saw happening, and that is what he did.

Poolaw, a Kiowa Indian, was born on the plains of Oklahoma in 1925. This was during a period of change for the Native Americans as white settlers continued to arrive to the Oklahoma Territory, and tribal practices were on the decline.

At 17, Poolaw became an apprentice to a local photographer and became one of the most prolific Native American photographers over the next 50 years. He died in 1984.

Poolaw photographed the daily life of his people when a "romanticized" version of the Wild West became fashionable in the United States. Indians quickly became favorites on vaudeville stages and in Hollywood cowboy and Indian films.

The Kiowas were swept up in this fad as seen in most of Poolaw's pictures. Events as diverse as peyote ceremonies, family picnics, games, rodeos and the daily life of young and old were Poolaw's favorite subjects.

"In one of Poolaw's photographs of the re-enactment of the Medicine Lodge Peace Treaty of 1867 we can really see some changes in the Kiowa culture," LaBarbera said. This photo had formally ended the free life of the Kiowas and confined them to reservations.

"The contrast between old and new, although subtle, can clearly be seen," she said.

"Film Directors" that studies the film series, said it was coincidental that the Vietnam War films were made in the 70s after the war was over. At this point it seemed like it was time to go back and deal with them (the issues of the war.)" Most people have seen these films one by one, separately," but one can learn a lot about the issues of war and how war works from watching a series like this, he said.

Six sections of the "Film Directors" class are being offered this quarter. The history department is also offering a course on the Vietnam War which will study the film series. Wilt said he expects a large student turnout.

Both single-event and series tickets can be purchased at the door in Chumash Auditorium each Monday evening. Admission is $4 general admission and $3 for students and employees. For further information, call the Cal Poly Theatre Ticket Office.

"Hamburger Hill" will show this Monday evening in Chumash Auditorium.

U.U. Galerie exhibit shows change in Indian culture

By Karen Travis

Staff Writer

A photography display in the University Union Galerie documents the slow integration of traditional Native American culture into modern Western society.

"War Bonnets, Tin Lizzies, and Patent Leather Pumps: Kiowa Culture in Transition, 1925-1955: The Photographs of Horace Poolaw" is the title of this exhibit which will show until May 3.

"The best thing about Horace Poolaw's work is how there is no feeling of hatred in any of his pictures," said Galerie Director Jeanne LaBarbera. LaBarbera said Poolaw simply photographed what he saw happening, and that is what he did.

Poolaw, a Kiowa Indian, was born on the plains of Oklahoma in 1925. This was during a period of change for the Native Americans as white settlers continued to arrive to the Oklahoma Territory, and tribal practices were on the decline.

At 17, Poolaw became an apprentice to a local photographer and became one of the most prolific Native American photographers over the next 50 years. He died in 1984.

Poolaw photographed the daily life of his people when a "romanticized" version of the Wild West became fashionable in the United States. Indians quickly became favorites on vaudeville stages and in Hollywood cowboy and Indian films.

The Kiowas were swept up in this fad as seen in most of Poolaw's pictures. Events as diverse as peyote ceremonies, family picnics, games, rodeos and the daily life of young and old were Poolaw's favorite subjects.

"In one of Poolaw's photographs of the re-enactment of the Medicine Lodge Peace Treaty of 1867 we can really see some changes in the Kiowa culture," LaBarbera said. This photo had formally ended the free life of the Kiowas and confined them to reservations.

"The contrast between old and new, although subtle, can clearly be seen," she said.

R.E.M.'s 10th album is not 'Out of Time'

By Patty Mena

Special to the Daily

R.E.M.'s new album Out of Time is difficult to pass judgment on.

The "longtime fan" side of me yells "Bad! It's not like their old stuff!" My realistic side says "No dui — this is R.E.M.'s 10th album! The band's changed and so has its music. Take it for what it is."

So here I go.

Out of Time is really a fine album. I stress "really" because it may take a few listen to reach that conclusion. The problem is that Out of Time lacks focus. Its songs range from the haunting, moody expressions of "Low" and "Belong" to the unfortunate bubble gum-smacking romps through "Near Wild Haven" and "Shiny Happy People."

These songs aren't bad they're just hard to listen to one after the other. In fact, Out of Time is reminiscent of their 1987 release "Deb Letter Of fame," a compilation of B-sides and outtakes. The new album has the same experimental feel and hodgepodge of styles, yet I don't think it was unintentional.

The members of R.E.M. do a lot of trading of instruments, and bassist Mike Mills finally brings his background harmonies to center stage, replacing vocalist Michael Stipe on three tracks. Also, Out of Time features former D.B. guitarist Peter Buck's sedate, dreamy mandolin.

B-52's bffest goddess Kate Pierson appears in two songs, singing duet with Michael Stipe in "Shiny Happy People" and the more tolerable "Me in Heaven."

KRS-1 from Boogie Down Productions also makes a cameo appearance in "B Rox Sus," lending a little funk to this overproduced, but un- deniably fun first track.

And speaking of cameos appearances, my only real complaint with Out of Time is that it doesn't feature R.E.M.'s classic rendition of "Word Up" by Cameo. A little humor would be comforting for those who hope R.E.M. isn't taking this new experimental release too seriously.

See R.E.M., page 9
Thursday, April 4

- Topeka will play at SLO Brewing Co. at 9:30 p.m. for a $1 cover charge.
- Oedipus Rex will play at Crest Pizza around 8 p.m. for a $2 cover charge.
- Peggy Jordan will play postmodern folk at 8 p.m. at Linnaea's. Pass the hat.

Friday, April 5

- The University Singers present their Home Concert at 8 p.m. in San Luis Obispo. Over Spring Break the choir toured Northern California. The Polyphonics will also perform in the concert. Selections will include works by Mozart, Messiaen, Brahms, Schumann, Barber, along with madrigals and vocal jazz selections. The concert will take place at Mt. Carmel Lutheran Church on Frederick Street. Tickets are $5.50 or $3.50 for students and senior citizens. They can be purchased at the Cal Poly Theatre and University Union ticket offices.
- Rhythm Akimbo is alive and well and will appear at SLO Brewing Co. at 9:30 p.m. for a $2 cover charge. Watch for the upcoming CD release on the "Drop The Joe Record Co." label!
- Kevin Doherty will sing and play the Delta Blues and ragtime at Linnaea's from 8 to 10 p.m. Pass the hat.
- Section 8 will play at Crest Pizza around 9 p.m. for a $2 cover charge.
- Rock Steady Posse will play at DK's West Indies Bar at 9:30 p.m.

Saturday, April 6

- The Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival will take place April 5-7 at the Santa Barbara County Fairgrounds. Tickets are available through Ticketmaster by calling 583-8700.

Monday, April 8

- The Santa Maria Bluegrass Festival will take place April 5-7 at the Santa Barbara County Fairgrounds. Tickets are available through Ticketmaster by calling 583-8700.

 Crafts Center Spring Classes

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Bike Repair Classes</td>
<td>M 6-9pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>T 6:30-9:30pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Th 9-12pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>W 6-9pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ceramics Classes</td>
<td>T 5-7pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>W 6-9pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Photography Classes</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>W 7-9:30pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Woodworking Class</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Toymaking Class</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silkscreen Class</td>
<td>T 6-9pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stained Glass Class</td>
<td>M 6-9pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lapidary Class</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jewelry Class</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>W 7-9:30pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CONCERTS

- Tickets: [Cal Poly, (805) 756-1421]
- Bay Area, (415) 762-2277
- Los Angeles, (213) 480-3232
- Santa Maria, (805) 582-8700
- Costa Mesa, 491-35, Oswald Civic Auditorium
- Roy Mateline, 410, Ventura Theatre

Los Angeles Area

- Los Rojas, 6-7, Kestrel's East
- Eric Johnson, 6-4, Warfield
- Nelson, 4-8, Berkeley Community Theatre
- Neil Young & Crazy Horse, 4-9, Palace
- Becker, 4-12, The Stone
- The War at Sea, 4-14, Warfield
- Edie Brickell and New Bohemians, 4-14, Zellerbach Auditorium, UC Berkeley
- Front 242, 4-15, Warfield
- Jerry Garcia Band, 4-19-21, Warfield
- Patti LaBelle, 4-25, The Stone
- Doors Live, 4-25-26, Warfield
- Ghost Town, Mr. Hyde, 4-26, The Stone
- Forbidden Danish, 4-26, Ozzie
- Steve Wintor, 5-1, Starlight
- Rusty McClee, 4-27,5-1, Warfield
- Todd Rundgren, 2nd Wind, 4-27, 5-21, Warfield
- Vote, 917, Oakland Coliseum

Sister of Mercy, 11/2, Universal Anesthetics

Palm Theatre

- 541-5161, 817 Palm, SLO
- Starts Friday

COMEDY

Traffic School

$22.00 WITH THIS AD

Includes DMV Certificate

All New!

Comedy Celebration

$ Cash for College

Over 3 Million Students Will Qualify

For College Grants & Scholarships

* Learn the quickest & easiest ways you can win both scholarships & financial aid
* Learn how to improve your chances for a Pell Grant
* Learn how to increase the amount of your Guaranteed Student Loan
* Learn how much money you are eligible to receive so you can choose the schools that best suit your true financial needs

For more information and a FREE copy of 10 Ways To Stretch Your Scholarship Chances! Fill out and mail the attached coupon TODAY! or call toll-free 1-800-475-2288 ext. 769

Send for FREE information

Name: ____________________________
Address: ____________________________
City: ____________________________ State: ______ Zip: ______
Phone: ____________________________
Mail Coupon To: A. B. Little & Associates
"Scholarship Funding Coordinators" 593 B Football Bldg., Suite 276
San Luis Obispo, CA 93405-1617

MFC 1990
Melodrama and Vaudeville in France, Vaudeville style

Sabrina Garcia
Senior Staff Writer

Amidst the hoop, huzzas and cheers of the traditional Vaudeville, a pleasing new epic adorns the stage at the Great American Melodrama and Vaudeville in Oceano.

"The Ragpicker of Paris," written by Edward Sterling and directed by Richard Sharp, revolves around the life of a poor ragpicker, Jean (Bruce Jones), homeless but happy inhabitant of Paris.

In a 1870 Paris setting, Jean talks himself out of suicide, but instead of turning suicide, Jean talks him out of it.

Ten years later, the daughter, Marie (Teresa Cartwright), a poor dress maker, works for the Baron Hoffman, who is actually the murder Garousse in disguise. Garousse invested the money he stole into fame and fortune, but now has even more problems; his daughter Claire (Lisa Mallette), a reckless girl, actually the murderer Garousse plots to do away with the unwanted child. He hires the evil Madame Potard (Suzanne Dodd) to dispose of the baby. Potard abandons the child on Marie's doorstep and the plot thickens.

At this point any further storytelling would ruin the excitement of the show.

"The Ragpicker of Part" is short and sweet and fun to watch. The audience participation is complete; no applause signs or prompting from the pianist. Set perfect reactions are heard from a previously sedated audience seemingly right on cue. When the villain appears, everyone boo and hisses; when Marie declares her love to Berville, the audience sighs.

The audience represents all ages; when Marie declares her love to Berville, the audience sighs.

The atmosphere of the Melodrama is casual and fun. The audience represents all ages, dressed comfortably, eating hot dogs and pretzel sticks.

Following the play is the "European Vaudeville Revue," a comic frieze through Europe complete with a barbershop quartet and cars girls.

"The Ragpicker of Part" in the "European Vaudeville Revue" will every Thursday through Sunday every show on Saturday until 9:30. For more information call the Main office at 489-2499.

CONCERTS
From page 8

□ Happy Banga, 4/19, Universal Amphitheatre
□ The Comedians, 4/19, The New Bohemian, 4/20, Wilton Theatre
□ The Untouchables, 4/20, Paloma
□ John Taylor, 4/20, LA County Fairgrounds
□ Patti Labelle, 4/21, Celebrity; 7/7, Universal Amphitheatre
□ Doobie Brothers, 6/15, 16, Universal Amphitheatre
□ Bobby McFerrin & Voicestra, 6/24, 25, Sal Mugra's 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, Universal Amphitheatre
□ Roger McGuinn, 4/28, Wadsworth ded almost every "college alternative" songs. Fans who can't get past "Radio Free Europe" are bound to be disappointed, but those less condemn ing will hopefully find that all is not lost. Don't cry "sell out" yet. Out of Time has far more good songs than bad — and a few in particular, such as "Country Feedback" "Low," and "Half a World Away" are enough to redeem the fact that "Shiny Happy People" will bug you more than "Stard" ever could.

R.E.M.
From page 7

Remember to set your clocks FORWARD one hour on Sunday, April 7th, or else lose one hour of sleep, and we can all thank Ben Franklin for this system of daylight savings.

Thanks a lot, Ben!
From page 7

The picture shows Kiowas dressed in traditional Indian costumes acting out the original ceremony of 1867. On the hill behind them is a line of 'Tin Lizzie' automobiles, replacing what used to be horses. Each photo, whether of Indian women, children, couples, triters or the military, tells a story, gently and honestly, of how the Kiowa people were affected by this transition. "I find a welling emotion as well as respect for Poolaw and his people in these photographs," LaBarbara said.

The Horace Poolaw project was organized at Stanford University in 1989 by his daughter Linda Poolaw. Linda Poolaw will lecture on the exhibit Friday, April 12 in room 220 of the University Union. Her lecture, as well as the exhibit, is supported by grants from Cal Poly Arts, Cal Poly English professor Steven Estes and the Horace Poolaw Photography Exhibit at Stanford.

The exhibit, is supported by grants from Cal Poly Arts, Cal Poly English professor Steven Estes and the Horace Poolaw Photography Exhibit at Stanford.

The show will be on exhibit Tuesdays and Wednesdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Thursdays, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Fridays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays, noon to 4 p.m. Admission is free.

The Princeton Ballet performed last night in the Cal Poly Theatre.
Professor Prem Pangotra said Tuesday that McClain was a "gem," someone who was nice to everyone and who always enjoyed life and wanted others to do the same.

"He suffered alone," Pangotra said. "He didn't let anybody know how sick he was."

Professor Bill Howard was the department head when McClain first applied to the master's program. He was instrumental in McClain's acceptance into the program. He had been employed by the City of Paso Robles Community Development Department since the fall of 1989, when he met feel extremely comfortable with and was thought very well of by everyone and who always enjoyed life and wanted others to do the same.

"He never let on that he was seriously ill," Howard said. "I am really sad, it's a real loss."

David Dubbink said, "I am really shocked to those who knew him be­cause he had never let on that he was seriously ill." McClain graduated from the University of Southern Califor­nia in 1982 with a degree in business management since the fall of 1989, and was enrolled since January 1989.

Professor Prem Pangotra said Tuesday that McClain was a "gem," someone who was nice to everyone and who always enjoyed life and wanted others to do the same.

"He suffered alone," Pangotra said. "He didn't let anybody know how sick he was."

Professor Bill Howard was the department head when McClain first applied to the master's program. He was instrumental in McClain's acceptance into the program. He had been employed by the City of Paso Robles Community Development Department since the fall of 1989, when he met feel extremely comfortable with and was thought very well of by everyone and who always enjoyed life and wanted others to do the same.

"He never let on that he was seriously ill," Howard said. "I am really sad, it's a real loss."

David Dubbink said, "I am really shocked to those who knew him be­cause he had never let on that he was seriously ill." McClain graduated from the University of Southern Califor­nia in 1982 with a degree in business management since the fall of 1989, and was enrolled since January 1989.

Professor Prem Pangotra said Tuesday that McClain was a "gem," someone who was nice to everyone and who always enjoyed life and wanted others to do the same.

"He suffered alone," Pangotra said. "He didn't let anybody know how sick he was."

Professor Bill Howard was the department head when McClain first applied to the master's program. He was instrumental in McClain's acceptance into the program. He had been employed by the City of Paso Robles Community Development Department since the fall of 1989, when he met feel extremely comfortable with and was thought very well of by everyone and who always enjoyed life and wanted others to do the same.

"He never let on that he was seriously ill," Howard said. "I am really sad, it's a real loss."

David Dubbink said, "I am really shocked to those who knew him be­cause he had never let on that he was seriously ill." McClain graduated from the University of Southern Califor­nia in 1982 with a degree in business management since the fall of 1989, and was enrolled since January 1989.
Japanese criticism s.r?d create a good atmosphere," said Tadamori Ohshima, a top aide to the prime minister.

The rice dispute was exacerbated last month when Japanese officials threatened to take legal action if the US continued to refuse to import Japanese rice. "We want to tame the anti-Japanese criticism and create a good atmosphere," said Ohshima.

Among the issues that could poison the atmosphere is Japan's international trade rules through which Washington sees as a way of making people uncomfortable. "They make people feel special just because they know her," Anderson said.

Anderson also remembers Roberto as a person who "had a way of making people comfortable." Anderson also said that Roberto was never afraid to show affection and always had time to listen to others. "When she said 'I love you' to someone, she meant it."
Platt confident men's tennis can repeat as NCAA champs

The second-ranked Mustangs will play Sacramento State today at 2 p.m. to try to improve on their 8-7 record.

Geoff Seratti
Staff Writer

"I have complete confidence we have the ability to win the national championship again," said Cal Poly Men's Tennis Head Coach Kevin Platt as the Mustangs prepare for the rest of the season with a record of 8-7.

Back from a three-week break from matches, the Mustangs, who are ranked No. 2 in the NCAA Division II rankings, play Sacramento State today at home at 2 p.m. The team is ranked so high because all but one of its losses have come against NCAA Division I opponents.

"What he says he hopes for a close match today. "Sac. State is pretty tough. We'll find out how ready our guys are after (spring break). I hope they come out strong," he said.

In first round of conference matches will be tougher. "Bakersfield and Portland are tough," he said.

Complementing the offense in conference matches will be tougher. "Bakersfield and Portland are tougher," he said.

Political analysts believe Kaifu is unlikely to make concessions because it comes just three days before nationwide local elections. Farmers are among the most powerful constituencies backing his Liberal Democratic Party.

Instead, Japan has indicated it will address international issues of the summit talks.

"I think both of them will agree on the need for closer cooperation on a high enough level to address the war on terrorism," said Cal Poly Men's Tennis Head Coach Kevin Platt.

The Mustangs are 5-0 in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, and they are looking to capture their third conference title in a row. Platt said his job is to make his players understand the matches won't be easy.

"The main thing is to respect the other team and think about what they can do," he said. "We're confident, but a bad loss can hurt us."

Cal Poly's individuals and doubles teams also are ranked highly nationally. In the mid-season Division II Vols National rankings the Mustangs No. 1 singles player Eric Sasao is ranked second in the country while his No. 2 Alex Hanner is ranked 19th. In doubles Sasao and Kaifu are ranked 13th nationally while the No. 2 team of Marc Oliver and Max Allman is ranked 80th.

Compared to last year's national championship team, Platt said, this year's team is not as experienced as just competitive. He said a key is to have great practices and peak at the right time.

"I feel like we are going to finish pretty strong, but you never totally know," Platt said.

Platt said it's going to take an extra effort for the national championship this year beginning the second week of May in Oklahoma. He said the matches are going to be a lot closer than last year. "I'd be surprised if the matches went as smooth as last year," he said.

Platt believes the Mustangs' 5-4 loss to UC Davis earlier this season was more of a help than a hindrance. "It made them more competitive. I'll be somewhat disappointed if we didn't win the national championship, especially if we lost it to Davis," Platt said.

Last year, the Mustangs lost 5-4 to UC Davis in the regular season but ended the Aggies for the national championship by the same score.

Gardner continues its national championship hunt on Tuesday when it travels to Los Angeles to take on unbeaten UCLA, the top-seeded men's team in NCAA Division I.
From page 1

and that deeper cuts would have a devastating effect on the system.

"There is some hope that just like the winds that bring a rain, we may have a 'May miracle' that brings revenue this summer," McCarty said. McCarty said that, while they are hoping for a higher receipt total than originally projected, they are not very optimistic that it will materialize.

Rick Ramirez, Cal Poly's budget officer, said campus layoffs could be a possibility given the fiscal situation.

"In January, this was the worse situation I have ever seen. Now it's even worse," said Ramirez. "The implications of this situation are frightening."

The next step in the state budget process will be taken by the legislature. Wilson has called a special session in May to pass a spending plan by May 1. That may be a difficult task for the bipartisan legislature to accomplish in such a short time.

State legislators are already drawing battle lines for the fight to come. Some Democrats are favoring a balance of tax hikes and spending cuts, while Republicans have declared that they will not support tax in

BUDGET

From page 1

"In January this was the worst situation I have ever seen. Now it's even worse. The implications of this situation are frightening."

— Rick Ramirez

said at a CSU Trustees meeting on March 14. "Its impact will be
"The police almost apologized obviously profound, lengthened time to degrees and larger class sizes."
McCune said that the CSU
also have to defer maintenance on facilities.

"The agreement fell to shambles before it was even completed because they did not take the problem seriously," Lee said. "The agreement will have to face drastic cuts, though he would not say what programs Wilson would like to see
cut. Shifting the responsibility for some programs from the state to the counties could be an option, Lee said. He was not pecific about what programs
would be changed.

Mrs. Soutrand will not support any tax increases," said Eric Davies, administrative assistant to Assemblywoman Andrew Soutrand (R-San Luis Obispo).

James Lee, a spokesman for the Governor's Office, blamed the problem on former Gov. Dank-jean and the legislature.

"The governor, the assembly and the senate put together a budget agreement last year that did not reflect the situation," Lee said. "The agreement fell to shambles before it was even completed because they did not take the problem seriously."

Lee said that the state budget would have to face drastic cuts,
though he would not say what
programs Wilson would like to see
cut. Shifting the responsibility for some programs from the state to the counties could be an option, Lee said. He was not
pecific about what programs
would be changed.

NATION

From page 2

"The police almost apologized
while they were arresting us, saying 'We don't have to do this, but' ..." Tranchina remembered.

San Mateo County District

Attorney John Oakes even seems the reluctant prosecutor, although he sees the case as a clear violation despite the defense of necessity argument.

"For that type of defense there has to be imminent danger," Oakes said. "They can't prove that and they can't show the noodle exchange was necessary.

There are reasonable alternatives like outreach programs.

"Those outreach programs provide bleach so drug users can wash their 'kits,' but county Health Officer Brad Gilbert said
that's not enough."

"Having a needle exchange program is just another tool we would have to prevent the spread

OF AIDS," said Gilbert, a likely defense witness. "And we need all the help we can get."

Before his arrest, Tranchina, 46, had been exchanging about 50 needles a week for two years
thoroughout San Mateo County and spending $15,000 a year of his own money.

Anacapa, 36, has worked in drug and AIDS outreach programs throughout the San Francisco Bay area for years, including several years in San Mateo County where she saw the problem grow. Activists say the counties of some 65,000 who have an estimated 2,500 IV drug users. Health officials say many of them are among the 3,000 to 4,000 residents infected with the virus that causes AIDS.

If the activists win, state legislature won't change but they believe it might discourage enforcement and add ammunition to kill the legislation.

GET CARDED AND LIKE IT !!

STUDENT ID CARD GETS YOU DISCOUNTS

$1.50 OFF ANY BURGER
1/3 LB. - CHARBROILED

$1.50 OFF ANY BEER
FEATURING - SAN LUIS LAGER

WORLDS BEST "GIANT ONION RINGS"
OLIVE TREE INN
1000 OLIVE ST SLO, CA 93405
Near Cal Poly
Corner of Santa Rosa and Hwy 101

1/2 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
2 Tbsp. sugar
4 tsp. baking powder
1 cup melted butter
1/2 cup milk
2 cups blueberries, drained and dredged in 1 Tbsp. flour

2 cups sugar
1 egg (butter, almost all the way to the top. Bake in a hot (450 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until skewer inserted in a muffin cornes out dry.

Makes 3 dozen large or 6
doz small muffins.

1 POUND - CHARBROILED

1/2 lb. - CHARBROILED
Wildflower festival

Volunteer now for the Wildflower Festival and Triathlon in Lake San Antonio May 2-5. Volunteers supporting the competing threthoven will receive a free T-shirt, lunch, dinner, a shelter and a volunteer party with live music. Bring camping gear, sanitation, food and friends. Sign up Thursdays in the U.U. or call 544-8739.

Pismo will host 10K beach run

The City of Pismo Beach will be staging the Sixth Annual Pismo Pier 10K Beach Run on Saturday, April 20. Registration and check-in time is 8 to 9:30 a.m. with start time at 10 a.m.

The run begins on the South Shoreline of Pismo Beach to a side of the Pismo Beach Pier. The run has a 10K Beach Run on Sat. April 6, 10:00am

Wildflower festival helpers needed

Charismatic mass in Paso Robles

Attend the Charismatic Healing Masses on April 7 at the Serra Rose Chapel in Paso Robles. The event will be led by Fr. Ray Roh, O.S.B. The event is sponsored by The Monastery of the Risen Christ.

Red Cross offers CPR workshop

The American Red Cross is sponsoring a Community CPR Class at the North County Office located at 415 and Spring Street in Paso Robles on Saturday, April 20 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The training program, taught by certified American Red Cross instructors, teaches essential CPR techniques that save lives. The program is self-paced and covers mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, one CPR technics and emergency procedures for choking victims.

Alcohol and drug help offered

If you think that you or someone you know might have a problem with alcohol or drugs, call French Hospital Medical Center's SUMMIT Place for information, consultation and referral. Medical and chemical use is affecting you, your family or your business, confidential help is available 24 hours a day at 543-3553 extension 111 and 1-800-323-0073. An initial appointment can be scheduled with a counselor free of charge to help you evaluate your needs and know your options.

Anthem group meets each week

The group meets on Tuesday from 4 to 5 p.m. at the Methodist Church, room 2. For more information, call 544-0394.
BARBER

From BAKER, page 1

Education and chairs its Com-mision on Women in Higher Education.

Barry Munitz is an educator turned Texas businessman. Munitz was vice president of the University of Illinois and chancellor of the University of Houston main campus. He is currently the vice chairman of Maxxam, Inc., a Texas-based Fortune 200 company in the aluminum, lumi-ber and real estate business.

Munitz has some ties to the San Luis Obispo area. He bought recently for his company's involvement in the United Savings and loan fraud. Maxxam, the company, Drexel Burnham Lambert.

Maxxam's president Michael Milken and others included in lawsuits filed against Milken was a "dealer/manager"
for Maxxam, and Drexel raised
$1.8 billion to finance Maxxam's
S&L crisis losses.

Baker has been Cal Poly president for nearly 12 years. He spent 10 years with the Univer-ity of Detroit as vice president of Academic Affairs and dean of the College of Engineering.

Shansby said the fact that Baker is the only candidate with ties to the CSU system might work in his favor. "Both of the others have experience working in California, but President Baker is the only one with CSU experience," Shansby said. "There are some advantages to that, but all three are definitely qualified.

Stan Bernstein, Cal Poly Public Affairs director, said, the administration is waiting for the trustees' decision before making plans for Baker's departure.

If Baker is appointed he will not leave immediately, Bernstein said. "It would probably be at least July before he left, and a new president would take over for the full term."

Bernstein said that although it was too early to speculate, the obvious choice for the presidency, least temporarily, is Senior Vice President Robert Koob.

Koob came to Cal Poly recently from North Dakota.

The position for which Baker is vying become open last year when then-Chancellor Ann Reynolds resigned amid controversy over a closed-door decision to give pay raises to herself and top CSU administrators.

There were also accusations of impropriety over the chancellor's lavish Bel Air house and a fleet of cars used by the CSU heads.

Shansby said trustees have sold the house and are looking for one near Long Beach. The cars were moved to a general pool for state employees.

The pay raises, which put the chancellor's salary at $190,000, were partially rescinded. The current salary for the chancellor is $150,000. However, the trustees plan to sweeten the pot for the new chancellor. Prior to today's interviews, the Board of Trustees will discuss raising the new chancellor's salary, Shansby said. "They will probably recommand a salary of $175,000."

As Cal Poly president, Baker has a $124,000 salary and use of a house on campus.

Shansby said the new chancel-cellor will negotiate a contract with the trustees outlining the length of the term and when it will begin. "Former Chancellor Reynolds was on a year-to-year contract, but the new chancellor will probably get a several-year contract," Shansby said.

In spite of the length of the contract, the Board of Trustees will review the actions of the chancellor each year, Shansby told. The chancellor heads the CSU's system of 20 campuses and 370,000 students.

Shansby said about 20 trustees will make the decision, which will be announced this afternoon. "Unless something surprising happens, then the sesion may go into the evening."

On Tuesday Baker left San Luis Obispo to meet with the Board of Trustees, headquarted in Long Beach.

Although Baker has said in recent months that he did not plan to leave Cal Poly, Shansby said Baker has indicated to the CSU that he would accept the positions. "We have reason to believe all three finalists are ready to serve as chancellor," Shansby said.