Spiderman...

Mustang Village hit by financial troubles

By Michael Belgard
Staff Writer

Bankruptcy hasn't changed Mustang Village much.

Representatives of the student housing complex say that although the financial situation is a mess, things at Mustang Village are still neat and tidy for the tenants.

On January 15 of this year, Mustang Village Inc., filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy. A Chapter 11 bankruptcy filing is a request for debt reorganization.

President Manager Jack Manning said that Mustang Village declared bankruptcy because owner Al Cain defaulted on an $11.5 million loan he took out on the property with Western Federal Savings and Loan in 1986.

“Usually refinancing is possible, but the current situation does not allow it,” Manning said. “S&Ls usually back real property, but they’ve been crushed by the S&L crisis.”

In the meantime, Mustang Village has filed for bankruptcy to seek protection from its creditor. “We filed for protection under Chapter 11 so the institution (Western Federal Savings and Loan) we owe could not take over the property and ruin it,” Manning said.

“They know nothing about running an apartment complex,” Manning said.

See MUSTANG, page 12

Former Frank Lloyd Wright apprentice to speak at Poly

By Tracey Adams
Staff Writer

One of America’s most respected contemporary architects, E. Fay Jones, is coming to Cal Poly.

Jones is appearing at the Cal Poly Theatre today at 5:15 p.m. as part of the School of Architecture and Environmental Design’s (SAED) Distinguished Visiting Lecturers Series.

Jones will speak on “Organic Architecture and the Role of Historical Models.” Organic architecture is architecture considered in harmony with its site and surroundings in terms of design and materials.

The role of historical models involves the importance of looking at historical precedents to help find the qualities needed for good organic design.

“Jones will discuss his own work, as well as in the masters in the field of architecture,” said Dean of Architecture G. Day Ding.

Jones serves as an apprentice under Frank Lloyd Wright, recognized as the world’s leading proponent of organic architecture.

See JONES, page 9

Crop team wins contest

By Gabrielle Friedly
Staff Writer

A team of four crop science students placed first in the 1991 National Agricultural College Teachers Association Crops Judging Conference last month.

Teams representing eight universities from throughout the United States competed at Cal Poly Pomona on April 13.

Brenda Smith, a Cal Poly crop science professor, said the contest is designed to test the knowledge of students in several categories. Smith coached the team along with her assistant, E. Fay Jones, who will speak at Poly Theatre today.

“Jones will discuss his own work, as well as past masters in the field of architecture,” said Dean of Architecture G. Day Ding.

Jones will speak on “Organic Architecture and the Role of Historical Models.” Organic architecture is architecture considered in harmony with its site and surroundings in terms of design and materials.

The role of historical models involves the importance of looking at historical precedents to help find the qualities needed for good organic design.

“Jones will discuss his own work, as well as in the masters in the field of architecture,” said Dean of Architecture G. Day Ding.

Jones serves as an apprentice under Frank Lloyd Wright, recognized as the world’s leading proponent of organic architecture.

See JONES, page 9

Round ’em up and head ’em out this weekend

By Meredith Rehrman
Special to the Daily

This weekend cowboys and cowgirls will realize their dreams when Cal Poly hosts the 40th annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association meet, one of the largest rodeos in the country.

Cal Poly’s rodeo team hosts the 40th annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association meet, one of the largest rodeos in the country.

Two reporters brew up their opinion of SLO’s best coffee shops.

See RODEO, page 12

Madden returns...

Ex-Raider coach John Madden’s Celebrity Golf Classic begins today at the San Luis Bay Inn Golf Course. Read about it on...

Page 4

Arts and Entertainment

Two reporters brew up their opinion of SLO’s best coffee shops.

Page 5

Friday weather:

 Mostly sunny.

High: mid 60s to low 70s

Low: mid 40s

winds n.w. 15-25 mph

4 ft. seas, 8 ft. n.w. swells

See RODEO, page 12
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Speak out to save Poly's lawn

Recently, Mr. Inchausti mourned the destruction of plants in the path of construction. First, the "uprooting" of the new Faculty Office Building is still there, and most of the trees that were cut for that building site were pruned with heavy rust infections which would have had to be removed soon.

As a member of the Cal Poly Landscape Advisory Committee, it seems that others care what is happening to the landscape in a campus context. The Landscape Advisory Committee is a subcommittee of the Campus Planning Committee, has members from ASI, Plant Operations, and the Department of Biological Sciences, Ornamental Horticulture and Landscape Architecture. Our committee worked diligently for a change in the plans for the addition to the Business Administration and Education Building, because we wanted to save the large, beautiful trees in the 3 acre lawn. Most of the trees in the construction yard have been roped off. Three palms were transplanted from the lawn to a courtyard by the building. Even so, with the drought, compactation from heavy equipment, pedestrians and others care what is happening about the fate of the trees in the 3 acre lawn. As important as our efforts to save trees is, there is, however, the need for student, staff, faculty and alumni to speak out if they are interested in keeping "green space" in the campus core. Consider the future effects of the Performing Arts Center, Recreational Sports Physical Education Event Center and parking necessary for these huge facilities.

I am concerned about the loss of "green space" and the lack of a landscape master plan for Cal Poly, let President Baker and the Landscape Committee hear from you.

Shirley Sparkling
Bio Sci prof

Give information to Poly Phase

First of all, I would like to thank Mustang Daily for running an article on April 29 on the theft of $1,900 worth of books from our office. The Poly Phase Club would like to ask anyone with information relating to the 100-plus books stolen to call Crime Stoppers at 543-STOP. A cash reward is available for any tip leading to the recovery of the books.

Most likely, the books were stolen from building 40 across from the Health Center during spring break, sometime between Friday of finals week and Sunday morning before spring classes began. Or the books could have been taken from our U. C. location on Sunday evening before spring classes began. All books are identified by our inventory stamp on the inside cover.

Ryan Koontz
Poly Phase press

MUSTANG DAILY

Editor's Note: The Spanish translation of this column appears on page 3, followed by a recipe for Spanish rice.

Cal Poly M.E.Ch.A. will be hosting its annual Cinco de Mayo festival on Sunday, May 5, on Dexter Lawn from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. The festivities will kick off today during U.U. hour. Included in the festivities will be traditional dances, food, Aztec dances, theater and poetry readings.

Many mistakenly believe this day to be the Mexican Independence Day, but Cinco de Mayo marks the anniversary of the French defeat by Mexican troops in Puebla in 1862. In order for people to fully understand and appreciate the meaning of this Mexican national holiday, we will provide an explanation of the battle won by the Mexican people.

After many years of war, Mexico was in chaos. Its treasury was bankrupt and its countryside in despair. Benito Juarez, the president at this time, suspended payment of foreign debt for two years to bring stability to the economy.

Great Britain, France and Spain, outraged by this decision, decided to arm a united military expedition to collect their payments. In January 1862, forces from the three countries seized the port of Veracruz. Great Britain and Spain withdrew when they realized that the French wanted more than just payment of their debt. Napoleon III of France believed that the French troops would be welcomed by the Mexican people. Instead, the Mexican forces engaged the French in a bloody battle for control of the city of Puebla, which cost many lives for both sides. The Mexican forces completely repelled and humiliated the French troops on Cinco de mayo, 1862.

This victory marked the beginning of Mexico's courageous struggle to remain an independent nation. The history books credit this victory to the great Mexican generals, Ignacio Zaragoza and Porfirio Diaz, and tend to forget the brave countrymen who fought with no guarantee of reward. Their only motivation being their love for Mexico.

After the victory in Puebla, Napoleon Bonaparte III benefited by exploiting ethnic and class divisions among Mexicans. French troops resumed their invasion on March of 1963, once again attacking the city of Puebla. Repelled, the French surrendered the city, beginning a two month long siege. The Mexican forces surrendered the city by the middle of May 1963.

Mexican conservatives accepted a new monarch, Ferdinand Maximilian of Habsburg. Napoleon saw this as the opportunity to establish power within Mexico by expanding French commercial and cultural influence in Latin America.

As the French advanced towards Mexico City, President Benito Juarez gathered his liberal forces and relocated in San Luis Potosi to re-establish his army. From 1864 to 1867, Mexico continued resistance. These three years of battle led to a final victory for Mexico.

On May 15, 1867, Maximilian surrendered to the Mexican General Espejo. He was executed and Benito Juarez again became president.

We wish to share the tradition of this 188-year-old celebration with the Cal Poly community. M.E.Ch.A. strives to gain community involvement and share the culture of the Mexican people. We would like to give thanks to Student Academic Services and ASI for their support throughout our preparation for the Cinco de Mayo festivities.

M.E.Ch.A.

By Mardonio Reyna and Roberta Lewis

M.E.Ch.A. shares the traditions, background of Cinco de Mayo

The Cinco de Mayo festival will be held on the lawn of the new Faculty Office Building on Sunday, May 5, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Included in the festivities will be traditional dances, food, Aztec dances, theater and poetry readings.

Many mistakenly believe this day to be the Mexican Independence Day, but Cinco de Mayo marks the anniversary of the French defeat by Mexican troops in Puebla in 1862. In order for people to fully understand and appreciate the meaning of this Mexican national holiday, we will provide an explanation of the battle won by the Mexican people.

After many years of war, Mexico was in chaos. Its treasury was bankrupt and its countryside in despair. Benito Juarez, the president at this time, suspended payment of foreign debt for two years to bring stability to the economy.

Great Britain, France and Spain, outraged by this decision, decided to arm a united military expedition to collect their payments. In January 1862, forces from the three countries seized the port of Veracruz. Great Britain and Spain withdrew when they realized that the French wanted more than just payment of their debt. Napoleon III of France believed that the French troops would be welcomed by the Mexican people. Instead, the Mexican forces engaged the French in a bloody battle for control of the city of Puebla, which cost many lives for both sides. The Mexican forces completely repelled and humiliated the French troops on Cinco de mayo, 1862.

This victory marked the beginning of Mexico's courageous struggle to remain an independent nation. The history books credit this victory to the great Mexican generals, Ignacio Zaragoza and Porfirio Diaz, and tend to forget the brave countrymen who fought with no guarantee of reward. Their only motivation being their love for Mexico.

After the victory in Puebla, Napoleon Bonaparte III benefited by exploiting ethnic and class divisions among Mexicans. French troops resumed their invasion on March of 1963, once again attacking the city of Puebla. Repelled, the French surrendered the city, beginning a two month long siege. The Mexican forces surrendered the city by the middle of May 1963.

Mexican conservatives accepted a new monarch, Ferdinand Maximilian of Habsburg. Napoleon saw this as the opportunity to establish power within Mexico by expanding French commercial and cultural influence in Latin America.

As the French advanced towards Mexico City, President Benito Juarez gathered his liberal forces and relocated in San Luis Potosi to re-establish his army. From 1864 to 1867, Mexico continued resistance. These three years of battle led to a final victory for Mexico.

On May 15, 1867, Maximilian surrendered to the Mexican General Espejo. He was executed and Benito Juarez again became president.

We wish to share the tradition of this 188-year-old celebration with the Cal Poly community. M.E.Ch.A. strives to gain community involvement and share the culture of the Mexican people. We would like to give thanks to Student Academic Services and ASI for their support throughout our preparation for the Cinco de Mayo festivities.

By Mardonio Reyna and Roberta Lewis
China consumers face hike in grain, oil prices

BELG/NG (AP) — Shoppers grumbled today as they began paying higher prices for grain and edible oils, but most were more resigned than angry. A 27 percent increase in grain prices and a 160 percent rise in oil prices took effect on May Day. It was the first time in 25 years that Chinese consumers had to pay higher prices for wheat, rice and corn and products made from those grains.

But workers are getting a 6 yuan ($1.13) increase in their paychecks that is intended to balance the boost in grain prices for most people.

See WORLD, page 11

Analysts skeptical of latest economic gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's gauge of future economic activity rose a moderate 0.5 percent in March, but the second straight monthly gain left private economists far from convinced the end of the recession was at hand.

Many analysts believe the economy won't recover until the second half of 1991, which would surpass the 11-month average length of post-World War II downturns. The recession began in July.

"I still don't see anything in the general economy that would sustain a recovery," said Robert Bruno, an economist with Nikko Securities in New York.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A woman and baby were killed and two other people suffered burns in an apartment firebombing believed to be retaliation for a fatal gang shooting there just hours earlier, police said Wednesday.

The fire killed a 38-year-old woman and an 11-month-old girl. A young man suffered leg burns and a 10-year-old boy suffered cuts and burns on his hands, said Fire Department spokesman Jim Wells.

The injured were sent to County-USC Medical Center.

The fire broke out at the Pueblos housing project on East 53rd Street shortly before 11:30 p.m. Tuesday and was extinguished in 20 minutes.

An incendiary device was thrown at or into the building, police Sgt. Terry Barclay said.

Cal Poly M.E.Ch.A. presenta festival anual de Cinco de Mayo

By Mardonius Reyna

Special to the Daily

Editor's Note: The English translation of this column appears on page 2.

We would have to give the people of California a "C" on their legal knowledge," said Bar President Charles B. Vogel.

Disturbingly, 53 percent could not provide an explanation of the translation of this column appearing in the Los Angeles Times. Muchos erroneamente creen que este dia es el dia de la independencia de Mexico. Pero Cinco de Mayo nacil el aniversario de la derrota Francesa por tropas Mexicanas, en Puebla en 1862. Que la gente comprenda y aprecie el significado de este dia festivo, proveremos una explicaci6n de esta historia ganada por el Pueblos Mexicanos.

Después de muchos años de guerra, México se en

COMIDA, pasa a la pagina 4

L.A. gang's fire bomb kills woman and baby

State presents festival annual de Cinco de Mayo

By Mardonius Reyna

Special to the Daily

Editor's Note: The English translation of this column appears on page 2.

We would have to give the people of California a "C" on their legal knowledge," said Bar President Charles B. Vogel.

Disturbingly, 53 percent could not Where's King Arthur?

In the Old and New Testament club.

Roberto Adames, an architectural engineering junior, rolls out a table in the U.U. for the "Studies Thursday, May 2, 1991 Mustang Daily"

Bookstore

A A O A A S

D A Y

MAY 12

L O T S  O F

M O M

HANS HESS/Mustang Daily

Gi aü urt: 1 . 4 ^ 1 i C A ,  A .  A A A n c ia y España para estabilizar la economía.

época suspendió el pago a las deudas extranjeras por dos años

ing, McNeil said.

militar para cobrar sus pagos. En of equipment, field repairs, pueblo desesperado. Benito

decidieron formar una expedición

viene de la pagina 3

deudas. Napoleón III de Francia

creía que las fuerzas francesas

darían bienvenidas por la gente

de la ciudad de Puebla, que costó

tormenta de 1863, una vez más atacando de aquella guía por el control de la ciudad de Puebla, que costó

y recobró. El fue ejecutado y Benito Juárez volvió muy bien por el control de la ciudad de Puebla. Rechazados, las fuerzas Mexicanas

invasión. Estas continuas batañas llevaron a México la victoria. El 15 de Mayo de 1867,

Maximiliano se rindió ante el general Escobedo. El fue

en la preparación de estas activities.

¡Que Viva Mexico!

Las festividades empezarán hoy durante U.U. Por favor vengan y apóyenos.

The following recipe is by Bill

Moughan.

Arroz Estilo Mexicano

1 cup long grain white rice
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 cups water
1/2 chopped onion
1/2 chopped green pepper
1 large tomato, chopped
10 chopped olives

olive oil

Sauté peppers and onion in one to two tablespoons olive oil

three minutes. Add chopped tomato and sauté for three more minutes. Add the two cups water, diced olives and stir in the pepper/onion sauté.

Bring to a boil, cover and reduce heat to low. Cook for 15 to 20 minutes, until water is absorbed.

Set the rice aside for five minutes and stir gently before serving.

Muchas gracias Mama Martinez.
Singing the brews in SLO coffee bars

By Karen Travis and Amy Reardon
Staff Writers

America has seen a boom in the specialty coffee industry in the past decade. Espresso bars and European style coffee shops can be found on downtown corners in every city. In Seattle, the coffee capital of the United States, specialty coffee shops are in their prime. “You can find espresso bars on every street corner. They are definitely the hot new wave of the future!” said Matt Goldfain, media consultant for Coffee Bean International in Portland, Oregon.

Even our own SLO-town has seen an increase in coffee shops in recent years. San Luis Obispo’s first coffee shop, the Koffee Klatsch, opened about 11 years ago. Coffee bars Linnaea’s and Rudolph’s soon followed, spawning the most recent openings of Caffe Affair, Capiccino Express, the Coffee Merchant and others.

So we went in search of the best place on San Luis Obispo so you, our most esteemed readers, could experience San Luis Obispo’s coffee at its best.

But right from the start we knew we couldn’t pick just one.

Whether you’re looking for a place to find a morning caffeine fix, a late night study break, Sunday brunch, entertainment or lively discussion, San Luis Obispo has got it all.

Here’s what we found out…

• Linnaea’s, 1110 Garden St. It was easy to see why the popular Linnaea’s has won New Times’ “Best of SLO” award for the last three years in a row. Right when we walked into the cafe, we saw it was busier than other coffee bars, with people laughing and talking. The garden had tables and chairs to accommodate a large overflow from the inside seating. Also outside was a small stage which is often frequented by poets, musicians and folk singers.

Linnaea’s employee Mike Moore, who said he can remember when Linnaea’s location used to be a warehouse, said that since Linnaea’s opened as San Luis Obispo’s first real coffee bar in 1984, “it’s been the most popular.” He said the reason for this is simply because “this is an active town.”

• Caffe Affair, Capiccino Express, the Coffee Merchant and others. The desert city famous for its beautiful desserts can be found on every street corner. In downtown, the coffee capital of the United States, specialty coffee shops are in their prime. “You can find espresso bars on every street corner. They are definitely the hot new wave of the future!” said Matt Goldfain, media consultant for Coffee Bean International in Portland, Ore.

Many times this depends on how the coffee beans are roasted. “Aromatic and flavor differ depending on how long beans roast. Dark beans, such as French roast beans, have been roasted longer and therefore are a bit more bitter in flavor,” Goldfain said. “But Peak Roast beans, which are light roasted beans, have a more balanced, aromatic flavor.”

The medium roast espresso beans are preferred for espresso beverages for their aromatic, spicy flavors.

“Espresso is essentially a process of brewing the coffee quickly and under pressure,” Goldfain said. It is basically a dark roast coffee that is not ground. Espresso variations are enhanced by adding steamed milk, chocolate or even ice. Goldfain said every coffee has unique beans, and therefore no certain roast or brand of coffee is better than another. “It’s a personal opinion,” Goldfain said. “Experiencing your beans is the only way to find your favorite coffee.”
A Kiss Before Dying" dyes an extremely slow, painful death

By Peter Hartlaub

Staff Writer

You know you're sitting through a bad movie when you start rationing your licorice. After watching 10 minutes of "A Kiss Before Dying," I found myself saving my popcorn and Red Vines so I'd have something pleasant to do during the rest of this painful movie.

"A Kiss Before Dying," starring Matt Dillon and Sean Young, is an incredibly contrived and predictable thriller by the makers of "Fatal Attraction." Young plays Ellen Carlsson, a heiress to the copper fortune of her father (Max Von Sydow). She falls for Jonathan Corliss (Dillon), who also happens to be the love in the shower.

The movie takes almost no time to fall into a pattern: Corliss and Carlson do something happy together while ominous music! Corliss strangles someone else who learns of his shady past. Repeat.

Great! Who needs acting or a plot when you can have such a cornucopia of sex, strangulation and ominous music?

Young and Dillon deliver their lines devoid of reality or emotion, and the direction by James Deardan leaves big holes in the story while leading us along a path we know we're about to take. Predictability is not in the definition of a good thriller.

Call me old-fashioned, but when I go to a movie, I like to be entertained. Probably the most entertaining part of this one was when the director meaningless cut to a TV showing a basketball game where he sings and plays piano.

The movie ends up loking like a comic book with breasts. All told, it was a very sad moment in the trend of facial hair on-screen. I'm sorry. I'm a '90s equal rights kind of guy, but there's something unjust about starting the trend of facial hair on-women. I should've left the movie right there on principle alone. I was half-expecting to see Matt Dillon's character enter the next scene with breasts. All told, it was a very sad moment in movie-making history.

My final criticism of "A Kiss Before Dying" is that it lacks entertainment. The scenes are short, and the dialogue is that of people who don't see each other every day. The couple doesn't fight at all before they are married, but they fight horrendously after. It ends up looking like a comic book trying to be a serious drama. I don't recommend this movie, but I'll suggest a less painful alternative. KISBY anchorman Rick Martel has a traveling lounge act where he sings and plays piano. The cover charge is less than the movie, and no doubt even Rick can put on a better show than the one you'll sit through if you see "A Kiss Before Dying." Just bring lots of popcorn and double up on the licorice.

COFFEE

From page 5

The best drinks and because the cafe's atmosphere exudes "homeness, a hometown feeling," Moore said. "The same people keep coming back.

The crowd at Linnasa's is varied, from the Berkeley-type crowd to children with their parents. It is often a meeting place for study groups, clubs and friends. As we spoke with Moore, a few customers even slipped behind the counter to place their dishes in the sink.

Linnasa's serves the greatest selection of coffee beverages in downtown San Luis Obispo. Our taste test results: Linnasa's coffee is delicious.

Moore said Linnasa's cycles different types of coffees, they don't have specific beans available at specific times. However, he did say Linnasa's usually goes for the stronger coffees.

A specialty offered by only Linnasa's is a cardamom espresso called "blisscafe." Blisscafe is poured over ice and then cream or ice cream is added. Moore said he serves blisscafe "addicts" regularly.

Iced drinks are also available at Linnasa's. Moore said these. See COFFEE, page 8.

DEAD SHOW

From page 5

Dead. The crowd didn't get to see Santana and the Dead play a really rocking song together. Saturday's crowd was lucky, however, because Santana didn't play anything with the Dead on Saturday.

B r u c e H o r n s b y played keyboards for the Dead all weekend and did a tremendous job. Hornsby's precise keyboard playing on Sunday contributed heavily to a captivating version of "Spanish Heart," which opened the second set. The covered turf of the Silverdome must have been stamped flat by the sea of people dancing to a roasting version of "Truckin," which highlighted the first part of the second set.

The second set was broken into two parts by the Drama/Space portion of the show. This extended song begins as a drum solo and transforms into a psychedelic barrage of sounds created by drummer Mickey Hart.

These sounds eventually mimicked the sound of loose change rolling or falling onto itself and was intermixed with excerpts from a Frank Sinatra song, giving the Drama/Space section a humorous Las Vegas theme.

The show ended with roasting renditions of Chuck Berry's "Round and Round," followed by "Sunshine Daydream" and "Box of Rain.

The Mojave Desert sun scorched the concert-goers as they enjoyed the six-hour show. Fortunately, proper but weather facilities were provided. Many fans danced during the entire show under showers mounted along one sideline of the football field.

Venders sold snow cones and sodas to parched fans, and water was available for those who didn't mind leaving their seats.
CALENDAR

Sunday, May 5

- A Shakespeare series of films on video will be hosted by the San Luis Obispo City/County Library. "MacBeth" will kick off at 6:30 p.m. Other films to show include "Midsomer Murders: High Tide Dream" on May 20 and "Julius Caesar" on June 5. The films are produced by B&B and Time-Life Films and the showings are free. For more information, call 549-5783.

Wednesday, May 8

- Paintings by Josephine Crawford will be on exhibit from May 8 until June 6 in the University Union Art Galerie. The exhibition is called "Greeks," and features Cal Poly students as subjects. An artist's reception will be held May 8 from 4-7 p.m. in the galerie.

- The motion picture "Casualties of War" will show at 7:30 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium at Cal Poly. Michael J. Fox refuses to join Sean Penn in his brutal treatment of a Vietnamese woman (Thuy Thuy Le). The 1989 film directed by Brian DePalma is his first real-life horror story about five soldiers on a reconnaissance mission, who kidnap a Vietnamese girl, then rape and murder her. Tickets are $4 ($3 for students) and credit cards are available at the door.

ongoing...

- The Cuesta College Art Galerie is hosting the Institute of American Art Art Exhibition 1991 through June 19. The college's Art Galerie, located in the library.

- The photographic exhibition E.A.R.T.H. is being shown in the Kanner Library. The exhibition is the end of May. The exhibition is a culmination of photographs by art and design senior Juli Beilen while in Costa Rica on a project with the School of Agriculture. The "Normal Heart" will be performed at the PCPA Theatrefest from May 8-19. The play explores the complex and private indifference to the AIDS epidemic, while telling the story of the transforming power of love. The action takes place in New York City in the early 1980s. There, a writer finds many of his friends are dying of AIDS. Though determined to help his friends, he struggles with the hostility, apathy and political manipulations of others. Tickets are $9 and $13. For more information, call 922-8313 or (800)221-9469.

- Photographs by Native American Horace Poolsaw are on exhibit in the University Union Galerie until May 8. The exhibition is called "War Bonnets; Tin Lizzies, and Patent Leather Pumps: Kwosa Culture in Transition, 1923 to 1955."

- The Great American Melodrama and Vaudeville is performed at the PCPA Theatre. "The Normal Heart" will be performed at the PCPA Theatrefest from May 8-19. The play explores the complex and private indifference to the AIDS epidemic, while telling the story of the transforming power of love. The action takes place in New York City in the early 1980s. There, a writer finds many of his friends are dying of AIDS. Though determined to help his friends, he struggles with the hostility, apathy and political manipulations of others. Tickets are $9 and $13. For more information, call 922-8313 or (800)221-9469.

- "Dance Spectrum" is being performed at Allan Hancock College from May 1-4. Shows start at 8 p.m. and there is an 8:30 p.m. matinee May 5. For tickets or more information, call 922-8313 or (800)221-9469.

LABOR MANAGEMENT IN THE 90'S A Student Awareness Forum

May 3, 1991 1-3pm Cal Poly Theatre "Looking forward: Current trends, forecasts and strategies in the supply of trained labor for the construction industry."

Panelists from:
- Morley Construction, Federal Mediation & Conciliation Service and Council of Carpenters

CONCERTS

- Simple Minds, 6/15, Warfield
- Steve Winwood, 5/31, Warfield
- Grateful Dead, 6/1, LA. Memorial Coliseum
- The Alarm, 6/1, Concord Pavilion
- Emmylou Harris, 8/16, Ventura Concert Theatre
- Michael J. Fox refuses to join Sean Penn in his brutal treatment of a Vietnamese woman (Thuy Thuy Le). The 1989 film directed by Brian DePalma is his first real-life horror story about five soldiers on a reconnaissance mission, who kidnap a Vietnamese girl, then rape and murder her. Tickets are $4 ($3 for students) and credit cards are available at the door.

Los Angeles area

- Steve Winwood, 5/3, Shoreline
- Emmylou Harris, 8/16, Ventura Concert Theatre
- Michael J. Fox refuses to join Sean Penn in his brutal treatment of a Vietnamese woman (Thuy Thuy Le). The 1989 film directed by Brian DePalma is his first real-life horror story about five soldiers on a reconnaissance mission, who kidnap a Vietnamese girl, then rape and murder her. Tickets are $4 ($3 for students) and credit cards are available at the door.
COFFEE

From page 6 which come in all different shapes and sizes, are really popular when the weather warms up.

Linens also serves homemade breads and lots of decadent desserts.

Linens prices run about average for coffee shops in San Luis Obispo (prices at all the shops run about the same).

If you're looking for a place to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!

- Rudolph's Coffee and Tea Co., 670 Higuera St.

Rudolph's is a combination coffee bar, coffee specialty shop and gourmet store. Rudolph's sells traditional coffee, mocha, latte, espresso and hot chocolate concoctions as well as about 35 different kinds of coffee beans, including a variety of decaf-flavored blends. The bins that hold Kona macadamia nut, cinnamon hazelnut, mocha java and gourmet store. Rudolph's picks four coffees to hang out and try some wonderful coffee concoctions, even get something to eat too, we have to suggest Linens as top of the line!
CROP SCIENCE

From page 1

several individual events. The test categories included grading crop quality, identification of common crop pests and diseases, identification of fertilizer deficiencies, agricultural mathematics, and identification of implements, Smith said.

As a team, the students also evaluated two field situations, problems that would occur in crops farming. The individual scores and the team evaluation were added to pick the winner.

In one event, the team had to identify specific crops, weed plants, and soil crusts. Smith said, "One member of the team, crop science senior Mark Qualls, said, "The plant and seed (identification) was the hardest category. We were asked specific details of 120 different plants."

The team made up of Mark Qualls, a crop science senior, Curt Leathers, Mike Albaugh and Paul Scheid — all crop science seniors — began studying last January for the contest. One alternate, Larry Moir, a crop science senior, was also allowed to compete in individual events, but his scores were not figured in the overall team results.

"It took a lot of time. The last two weeks before the contest, we studied 25 hours per week," Qualls said.

"Studying for the test was actually enjoyable. The material applies to classes we take at Cal Poly," Scheid said.

Scheid added, "This is only the second team we have sent to the conference. Winning the contest will improve the image and give recognition to the crop science department."

The team's next contest will be held Nov. 14 and 15 in Kansas City, Mo., and Chicago, Smith said. They are sponsored by the Chicago and Kansas City Boards of Trade.

"This contest will require a lot more studying," Qualls said. "We will study all this quarter, take a break for summer and hit it real hard fall quarter."

JONES

From page 1

Jone's career has included both architectural practice and teaching. He has taught at the University of Arkansas and the University of Oklahoma and the American Institute of Architects University of Oklahoma and the University of Chicago and Kansas City Boards of Trade.

The team was sponsored by the Chicago and Kansas City Boards of Trade.

"This contest will require a lot more studying," Qualls said. "We will study all this quarter, take a break for summer and hit it real hard fall quarter."

February 25, 1991

BY TRAVIS SWAFFORD

Staff Writer

The Cal Poly women's tennis team traveled to Ojai last weekend for the largest tennis tournament in the United States.

The Ojai Collegiates play host to tennis players ranging from 10-and-under beginners to NCAA Division I university players.

Cal Poly had players in the Independent Collegiate and the Invitational Collegiate Divisions.

In the Independent bracket, each school is guaranteed placement of two singles and one doubles team, while placement in the Invitational bracket is based on selection by tournament organizers.

Debbie and Tracy Matano competed for Poly in singles and doubles in the Independent bracket.

The Matano sisters had their greatest success in doubles where they cruised through the competition to reach the finals. In the finals, however, the combination of Donna Ewine and Cindy Hurley proved too strong for the sisters they fell 6-4, 6-2.

Tracy advanced to the quarterfinals where she lost 6-4, 6-3 to Ann O'Shea from the University of Idaho.

Debbie made it to the third round before losing 6-2, 6-4 to Cal State Bakersfield's No. 1 player, Alison Bruhn.

In the Invitational Bracket, Vicki Kanter and Erin Green competed in singles and doubles.

Kanter beat UC Irvine's Cory Crigger 6-3, 6-2 before falling to Division I player Emma Woodhouse of Stanford 6-2, 6-2. Green also fell in the second round, to Ellen Wallner of UC Berkeley 6-1, 6-3.

Kanter and Green fell in doubles 6-3, 6-3 to Marlo Caruth and Kylie Johnson, from the University of Arizona.

Head Coach Kevin Platt said he was especially pleased with the Matano sisters' performance in doubles play.

This weekend the second-ranked Mustangs will travel to the Division II national championships at UC Davis. They will play in the team tournament May 4-5, then the individual tournament May 6-9.

In team competition, the Mustangs will first face Stephen's College. Stephen's College were invited and Davis' coach was in charge of the selection committee. Platt felt that the coach may have been the deciding factor in the selections.

"Things aren't always fair when you reach this level," said Platt. "The girls are very upset. Hopefully this will motivate them in the singles competition."

W o o d s t o c k ' s

Women’s tennis prepares for nationals at Ojai tournament

Women’s tennis prepares for nationals at Ojai tournament

W o o d s t o c k ' s

Women’s tennis prepares for nationals at Ojai tournament

by Travis Swafford

February 25, 1991

Cal Poly Daily Thursday, May 2, 1991

9

By Travis Swafford

Staff Writer

The Cal Poly women's tennis team traveled to Ojai last weekend for the largest tennis tournament in the United States.

The Ojai Collegiates play host to tennis players ranging from 10-and-under beginners to NCAA Division I university players.

Cal Poly had players in the Independent Collegiate and the Invitational Collegiate Divisions.

In the Independent bracket, each school is guaranteed placement of two singles and one doubles team, while placement in the Invitational bracket is based on selection by tournament organizers.

Debbie and Tracy Matano competed for Poly in singles and doubles in the Independent bracket.

The Matano sisters had their greatest success in doubles where they cruised through the competition to reach the finals. In the finals, however, the combination of Donna Ewine and Cindy Hurley proved too strong for the sisters they fell 6-4, 6-2.

Tracy advanced to the quarterfinals where she lost 6-4, 6-3 to Ann O'Shea from the University of Idaho.

Debbie made it to the third round before losing 6-2, 6-4 to Cal State Bakersfield's No. 1 player, Alison Bruhn.

In the Invitational Bracket, Vicki Kanter and Erin Green competed in singles and doubles.

Kanter beat UC Irvine's Cory Crigger 6-3, 6-2 before falling to Division I player Emma Woodhouse of Stanford 6-2, 6-2. Green also fell in the second round, to Ellen Wallner of UC Berkeley 6-1, 6-3.

Kanter and Green fell in doubles 6-3, 6-3 to Marlo Caruth and Kylie Johnson, from the University of Arizona.

Head Coach Kevin Platt said he was especially pleased with the Matano sisters' performance in doubles play.

This weekend the second-ranked Mustangs will travel to the Division II national championships at UC Davis. They will play in the team tournament May 4-5, then the individual tournament May 6-9.

In team competition, the Mustangs will first face Stephen's College. Stephen's College were invited and Davis' coach was in charge of the selection committee. Platt felt that the coach may have been the deciding factor in the selections.

"Things aren't always fair when you reach this level," said Platt. "The girls are very upset. Hopefully this will motivate them in the singles competition."

Women’s tennis prepares for nationals at Ojai tournament

Women’s tennis prepares for nationals at Ojai tournament

Women’s tennis prepares for nationals at Ojai tournament

black and white film

processed fast!

We can print your B&W film overnight - in by 6 p.m., out by 11 a.m. Come in and check out our full line of B&W services at-
The U.U.'s Bishop Lounge was transformed into a mini performance hall Tuesday night as guitar music, singing and a film kicked off Cal Poly's first annual Mexican Heritage Month Film Series.

Traditional folk ballads, called "corridos," were sung by David Sanchez, a professor from Cal Poly's University Center of Teaching and Learning. Each Tuesday night, from 7 to 9 p.m. during May, a film and brief lecture will be presented in U.U. room 208.

Drivers needed to help patients

Drivers are needed to aid cancer patients. More are needed for the American Cancer Society and transportation program. Helpers will drive patients to doctors' appointments on an as needed basis. The volunteer specifies days and times of availability and determines when and where they are willing to drive. If you can help provide this vital service in our community or would like more information, please call the American Cancer Society at 543-1481.

Christian group sponsors race

Central Coast Youth for Christ/Campus Life present their second annual run-walk for youth on Saturday, May 25 from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Mission Plaza in San Luis Obispo. Participants will run or walk the 1/4 mile trek around the Mission. The funds raised by the participants and sponsors will be used to make available trained staff to implement the Campus Life Summer Youth Ministry Program.

Please call now at 544-3000 to sign up or mail your donations to youth for Christ, P.O. Box 1667, San Luis Obispo, Ca. 93406.

SLO La Fiesta holds parade

Applications are now available for the La Fiesta Parade, Arts & Crafts fair and Window Decorating Contest. The theme for this year's historic event is "La Fiesta de Nuestra Herencia — The Celebration of Our Heritage." The week of Fiesta will be celebrated May 14 to 19, 1991 with the parade scheduled on May 18 and the arts and crafts fair on May 18 and 19. Applications can be picked up at the La Fiesta office and the SLO Chamber of Commerce. For additional information please call the La Fiesta office at 543-1710.

Supported journal workshop held

Support Group Network, a nonprofit organization, has rescheduled the postponed mini-workshop "Introduction to the Self: A Guided Journal Workshop" for May 8 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Community Room in the San Luis Obispo City/County Library on the corner of Palm and Oso Streets.

You will learn techniques designed to enhance your personal growth and community. Mourinho will conduct the event. You will develop skills that are used to create a healthy relationship with one's SELF, heal relationships, childhood wounds and past losses, and to use your intuition and higher power.

The cost of the workshop is $10 per person. No one denied admission due to lack of funds. Please call the Support Group Network office at 541-1122 for more information.

Scholarship for law students

The Women Lawyer Association of San Luis Obispo County is pleased to offer a $500 scholarship to a law student entering any year of hi /her law school.

The successful applicant will be selected based upon response to a written application and interview. Applications must be received by May 15 that is law office of Wilson and Wilson located in San Luis Obispo. The Women Lawyers Association has been a successful applicant to possess a demonstrated commitment to San Luis Obispo County. The association, founded in 1981, promotes women in the legal profession and community.

Direct questions regarding scholarship applications forms can be directed to Ana Tellez on Wednesday from 5:30-7:30.

Amnesty Int'l meetings held

Amnesty International. The Cal Poly chapter of the worldwide human rights organization holds meeting Wednesday evenings from 6 to 7, Monday nights in the Math building, room 152. For more information, call Clarins at 543-3205. All are welcome.

Women share unity, feelings

Come and share with other women. Discover that the experiences of women are universal and understood by others. Experience strong feelings, share and understand.

A demonstration for Women's consciousness-raising will be held on Sunday, May 5 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Women's resource center located at 1160 marsh Street in San Luis Obispo. For more information contact Susan at 549-8354 or Cathie at 995-0945. The event is sponsored by the women's Advisory Committee of the National Organisation for Women.

Donate items for training center

The Achievement House is a work training center for handicapped adults. Part of our training (and income source) is a thrift store which receives donations from the public. Cal Poly students leaving the area are asked to please not throw away items that they can't take home. Instead, why not donate your clothing, household goods, good furniture, etc. to the Achievement House Bargain Store? They have a pick up service that will go the designated areas. For further information, call 543-0383 and ask for Pat at extension 125.

Watch a movie, sing corridos, play guitar — all this and more will be featured Thursday night at the Women's Resource Center located at 1160 marsh Street in San Luis Obispo.

Guided journal workshop held

Support Group Network, a nonprofit organization, has rescheduled the postponed mini-workshop "Introduction to the Self: A Guided Journal Workshop" for May 8 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Community Room in the San Luis Obispo City/County Library on the corner of Palm and Oso Streets.

You will learn techniques designed to enhance your personal growth and communication. Mourinho will conduct the event. You will develop skills that are used to create a healthy relationship with one's SELF, heal relationships, childhood wounds and past losses, and to use your intuition and higher power.

The cost of the workshop is $10 per person. No one denied admission due to lack of funds. Please call the Support Group Network office at 541-1122 for more information.

Scholarship for law students

The Women Lawyer Association of San Luis Obispo County is pleased to offer a $500 scholarship to a law student entering any year of hi /her law school.

The successful applicant will be selected based upon response to a written application and interview. Applications must be received by May 15 that is law office of Wilson and Wilson located in San Luis Obispo. The Women Lawyers Association has been a successful applicant to possess a demonstrated commitment to San Luis Obispo County. The association, founded in 1981, promotes women in the legal profession and community.

Direct questions regarding scholarship applications forms can be directed to Ana Tellez on Wednesday from 5:30-7:30.

Amnesty Int'l meetings held

Amnesty International. The Cal Poly chapter of the worldwide human rights organization holds meeting Wednesday evenings from 6 to 7, Monday nights in the Math building, room 152. For more information, call Clarins at 543-3205. All are welcome.

Women share unity, feelings

Come and share with other women. Discover that the experiences of women are universal and understood by others. Experience strong feelings, share and understand.

A demonstration for Women's consciousness-raising will be held on Sunday, May 5 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Women's resource center located at 1160 marsh Street in San Luis Obispo. For more information contact Susan at 549-8354 or Cathie at 995-0945. The event is sponsored by the women's Advisory Committee of the National Organisation for Women.

Donate items for training center

The Achievement House is a work training center for handicapped adults. Part of our training (and income source) is a thrift store which receives donations from the public. Cal Poly students leaving the area are asked to please not throw away items that they can't take home. Instead, why not donate your clothing, household goods, good furniture, etc. to the Achievement House Bargain Store? They have a pick up service that will go the designated areas. For further information, call 543-0383 and ask for Pat at extension 125.

Women share unity, feelings

Come and share with other women. Discover that the experiences of women are universal and understood by others. Experience strong feelings, share and understand.

A demonstration for Women's consciousness-raising will be held on Sunday, May 5 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Women's resource center located at 1160 marsh Street in San Luis Obispo. For more information contact Susan at 549-8354 or Cathie at 995-0945. The event is sponsored by the women's Advisory Committee of the National Organisation for Women.

Donate items for training center

The Achievement House is a work training center for handicapped adults. Part of our training (and income source) is a thrift store which receives donations from the public. Cal Poly students leaving the area are asked to please not throw away items that they can't take home. Instead, why not donate your clothing, household goods, good furniture, etc. to the Achievement House Bargain Store? They have a pick up service that will go the designated areas. For further information, call 543-0383 and ask for Pat at extension 125.

Women share unity, feelings

Come and share with other women. Discover that the experiences of women are universal and understood by others. Experience strong feelings, share and understand.

A demonstration for Women's consciousness-raising will be held on Sunday, May 5 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Women's resource center located at 1160 marsh Street in San Luis Obispo. For more information contact Susan at 549-8354 or Cathie at 995-0945. The event is sponsored by the women's Advisory Committee of the National Organisation for Women.

Donate items for training center

The Achievement House is a work training center for handicapped adults. Part of our training (and income source) is a thrift store which receives donations from the public. Cal Poly students leaving the area are asked to please not throw away items that they can't take home. Instead, why not donate your clothing, household goods, good furniture, etc. to the Achievement House Bargain Store? They have a pick up service that will go the designated areas. For further information, call 543-0383 and ask for Pat at extension 125.
From page 3
"From the government's point of view, such (price) reforms are necessary," said a young govern­ ment official. "But from a per­ sonal point of view, you shouldn't do it so that my standard of living goes down." He and others agreed the ac­ tual increases were not substantial, but worried about the trickle-down effects.

"Chicken will go up because running costs are up," said a man in his middle thirties. "But from the government's point of view, it's a success. They've raised the price of chicken, which is what they wanted."

Other responses were: the in­ troduction to the original Con­ stitution (18.4 percent); any bill involving personal rights that Congress passes (12.8 percent); a message of rebellion from the founding fathers to the British king (9.3 percent); and don't know (4.8 percent).

Everyone was alarming, 48 per­ cent of those questioned did not accept the presumption of in­ nocence — a fundamental fea­ ture of the American judicial sys­ tem, which holds that a defen­ dant is innocent until proven guilty.

"That's a scary statistic," said Vogel, "because it means that someone is guilty before they have even gone to court."

Jerry Rice and Marcus Allen, an unmatchable duo, starred in the biggest fund-raising effort of the Madden tournament. "The auction is one of the liveliest events of the Madden Classic," Sanderson said, "It's a great time for everyone."

In terms of planning, Sunder­ son said he was more comfortable at this point than he has ever been.

"Everything is under control," he said.

The Madden tournament is the biggest fund-raising effort put on by the athletic develop­ ment department each year, he added.

On Friday, the second round of golf will be played at Black Lake Golf Course.

In addition to Madden's tour­ nament, his wife Virginia began her own tournament in 1988 to benefit women's athletics at Cal Poly.

This one-day tournament will take place at the Tangerine Golf Course in Arvada Beach.
From page 1

"They're just out to make money.

Mustang Village's attorney, James LeRoy Jr., is optimistic about the chances that the financial situation of the complex will improve.

"One of the things we are looking at is to renegotiate the loan, including extending the term all using the same institution," LeRoy said. However, Western Savings no longer has control over its loan on Mustang Village.

The Phoenix-based S&L failed in the midst of the S&L crisis in 1989 and was placed under the control of the Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) in Washington, D.C. Later that year, the RTC, established under the Financial Institution Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act of 1989, takes control of S&Ls' assets in order to preserve the deposits and banking services of its customers, RTC spokesperson Felisa Neuringer said.

Neuringer said many of Western Saving's assets had been sold to Bank of America in May 1990.

She did not know if the loan on Mustang Village was included in the sale.

Neuringer said when defaulted loans are not sold off by the RTC, the corporation would first try to work the loans off.

If that was not feasible, she said the RTC would choose to foreclose on the property.

In mid-February Mustang Vil­lage plans to bring in the bankruptcy filing through the mail by the federal tenants who are not being told about the bankruptcy because Mustang Village's financial situation has not changed, and there would be no problems in getting their security deposits back," Manning said.

However, legal and consumer experts disagreed with the prac­tice of not telling prospective tenants about a housing com­plex's financial situation.

"Given the nature of a Chap­ ter 11 filing, I think they may have an ethical duty rather than a legal duty to notify potential tenants," said attorney Greg Jacobsen.

Susan Fisher, a consumer ad­ viser with the California Depart­ ment of Consumer Affairs, said, "Their business practices leave something to be desired." Fisher said.

Jacobsen said all tenants at Mustang Village due to file a bankruptcy court in Los Angeles, Manning said. The Notice simply informed tenants that the owner had filed for protection via Chapter 11, and the notices were given in accordance with court procedures.

But he also said that prospec­tive tenants should not be scared away because of the bankruptcy filing.

"People shouldn't shy away," Manning said. "It should be a reason for students to come, because now everything is closely monitored by the bankruptcy court.

Manning said that so far sign-ups for next year have been down.

"We have more sign-ups (so far) for the 1991-92 lease period than any other (spring) in Mustang Village history," he said.

Manning said that "students wouldn't know we were in bankruptcy by living here.

Manning said that Mustang Village would have spent a million in the past year to repair, maintain and joint parts of the complex.

He also said normal services have not been affected.

"They have been going on as usual," he said.

Staff Writer Cindy Lee con­ tributed to this report.