Two Poly administrators will retire in September

By Jim Schmidt

Two Cal Poly administrators with 85 years of combined experience have recently announced their retirements.

Executive Dean of Facilities Administration Douglas Gerard and Vice President for Business Affairs James R. Landreth will leave Cal Poly on Sept. 28.

With Cal Poly’s budget about to be cut, speculation is that the two offices will be merged into one single unit to create efficiency, said Executive Assistant to the President Howard West.

“This is an appropriate time for me to leave as things are going to be slowing down due to budget restraints,” Gerard said. “Considerations will need to be made on campus growth that will take three or four years to study. It is a good time for a new person to step in to carry the program through,” he said.

Gerard said that he will be making more than his current salary of $85,752 once he retires. Because of his many years at Cal Poly, he will receive about $90,000 per year from a California State University retirement fund.

Landreth will leave Cal Poly after 35 years of service. As vice president for Business Affairs, Landreth has been in charge of fiscal operations, budget planning, procurement/support services, public safety and housing and conference services.

Landreth also worked at Cal Poly Pomona from 1959 to 1962.

Landreth said that his stipend from the CSU retirement fund will be slightly less than his current salary of $96,500.

Gerard and Landreth plan to stay in San Luis Obispo after retiring. They also said they would continue to offer their services to Cal Poly on a volunteer or contractual basis.

La Fiesta celebration hits streets of San Luis Obispo

By Shea Roberts

Dating in the streets with mariachi music and brightly-colored costumes will set the scene for San Luis Obispo’s 51st annual La Fiesta celebration this week.

Kicking off the week of festivities Wednesday at the SLO Elks Lodge is the traditional burning of “Zozobra,” or “Old Man Gloom,” with a variety of events and activities for the La Fiesta Costume Breakfast Friday in the Mission Plaza. Several downtown restaurants will prepare special Mexican dishes from their menus. Participants in the costume contest will be judged for authenticity and creativity in a variety of categories.

“Saturday’s community concert is aimed for lost gold treasures were all put on hold this weekend for adventurer-researcher Jay Morrison.”

Thrill-seeking grad is a real life ‘Indiana Jones’

By Tracey Adams

Dreadful boat trips, solving the earth’s environmental problems and searching for lost gold treasures were all put on hold this weekend for adventurer-researcher Jay Morrison.

The former Cal Poly mechanical engineering student came to Cal Poly Friday as the guest speaker at the School of Engineering’s awards banquet at Embassy Suites Hotel. Morrison graduated from Cal Poly in 1984.

The title of the banquet was “Adventures in Engineering,” and Morrison seemed to be an expert in the category.

“This guy is Indiana Jones in the flesh,” said Kim McGrew, a close friend of Morrison’s.

School of Engineering Dean Peter Lee said Morrison has lived most of his life as an adventurer.

Some of his experiences include a trans-Atlantic crossing by sail on a 100-year-old, 125-foot-long Baltic Trader and a year at Amundsen-Scott South Pole Station, Antarctica, as a facilities engineer.

Morrison’s favorite expedition was crossing the Drake Passage at the souther tip of Chile in a row boat.

“It was a 14-day crossing of a 625-mile body of water that is considered the roughest ocean in the world,” Morrison said.

He and three others crossed the ocean in a self-designed, self-built, four-man rowboat.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AKA sets the record straight

After reading the May 9 article about Delta Sigma Theta, we wondered why there was even the slightest mention made about the other African American sororities existing at Cal Poly.

As members of the first African American sorority, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., we were not only surprised to see mention of our organization in the article, but we were even more surprised to see that again "someone" had their facts mixed up.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. was founded in 1908 and established a chapter, Lambda Nu, at Cal Poly on May 21, 1977. After being declared inactive in the late 1980s there has been a reini tiation of Alpha Kappa Alpha activities at Cal Poly.

There are seven Alpha Kappa Alpha women here at Cal Poly who have been working hard to maintain the high standards that Alpha Kappa Alpha women are known for.

As the source of information about Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., I would suggest that only AKA women know AKA business. They have been working with us the next time we are to be mentioned.

In closing, we would like to welcome Delta Sigma Theta back to campus to support those students, including the African American sorority, Alpha Kappa Alpha.

Affirmative action teaches people to help themselves

By Glenn G. Galang

Hearing recent arguments against affirmative action leaves me because it stirs up emotions for many people who feel that they or people they know have been offended negatively because of it. This leads them to believe that the underrepresented students on campus are here because of unfair "favoritism" and their ethnicities which perpetuates the "us vs. them" attitude.

Affirmative action is often misunderstood. On the surface, its goals at educational institutions are to create a student population whose ethnicity, gender, economic status and other characteristics reflect that of the entire state of California. Many people on the other side see this as "reverse discrimination." This may be true if racial equality already existed in our society and if underrepresented people were not historically oppressed and excluded from participating in society. Unfortunately, reality has oppressed ethnic minorities, and racial equality still does not exist. Affirmative action is a form of offsetting these harsh realities.

Let us take a look at another point of view. If these students who are admitted through the aid of affirmative action are "inferior," why are many of them still here? They should have flunked out long ago. Besides, many factors go into the dropout rates of all students.

One main factor that keeps students from doing well is the social factor. Many students of underrepresented ethnicities who drop out do so because of the lack of feeling that they belong or are welcome here at Cal Poly. Many pursue their studies at other universities where they feel more comfortable.

I admit that many students who are aided by affirmative action are not all academically prepared for the rigors of Cal Poly, but is that their fault? Is it because there are programs on campus to support those students, including the Minority Engineering Program, Student Academic Services, Disabled Student Services and Summer Institute, as well as the many cultural clubs on campus who provide welcoming and supporting academic, social, and cultural atmosphere such as SHPE, PCE, MECHA, AASU, CHA, RBDA and more. However, funding for certain programs has been decreasing which makes it more difficult for these organizations to help students achieve academic success.

We all agree that education should be im proved starting at the primary and secondary levels, but until all the public California schools receive equal funding, what is going to happen to all the students currently enrolled in different elementary and high schools? Are we going to deny them the proper education that they fully deserve but have been deprived of? Their parents are taxpayers also and this university is a public institution. Everyone who wants an education to better himself should be given that chance.

Many say that the community colleges are the place for those students who are not yet ready for real universities. That would be fine if the community colleges had the adequate funding to provide their students with proper education and counseling. However, they don't which is why only 5 percent of community college students go on to four-year universities. If we say that their place is in the community colleges, we are perpetuating the educational and economic barriers that exist between people of different racial and economic backgrounds. This will hurt society in the long run because society will then have a population of undereducated people who will be dependent on welfare in order to survive. Who is providing this welfare? We are.

The ultimate goal of affirmative action is to help people help themselves so that they will become more self-sufficient. All they need is the extraudge. If we don't support affirmative action programs, we are ultimately hurting ourselves.

Abortion figures jump after Romania lifts ban

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Nearly 1 million abortions were performed in Romania in 1990, the year after a ban was lifted following the ouster of Communist dictator Nicolae Ceausescu, health experts say.

That amounts to three abortions for every birth, the officials said Saturday.

Speaking at a two-day conference on sex education, the Romanian health experts said the government would try to reduce the number of abortions by sharply raising the fee, and by introducing sex education in schools.

Ceausescu was obsessed with increasing Romania's population of 23 million. During his regime, contraception was unknown and abortion, with few exceptions, was prohibited.

Baker: Saudi interest in peace talks is key

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agreement by Saudi Arabia, the wealthiest of the Arab nations, to join Mideast peace talks may be the spark the United States needs to jumpstart Arab-Israeli negotiations.

Saudi Arabia, the wealthiest of the Arab nations, announced Arab-Israeli negotiations.

Saturday by Secretary of State James A. Baker III, could provide a carrot for Israel to join negotiations and be a moderating influence on the Jewish state's most important Arab neighbor.

Grads protest Bush's vows about civil rights

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — President Bush vowed to black college graduates on Sunday to vigorous fight discrimination and said it is his economic agenda, including free trade with Mexico and a cut in the capital gains tax, that offers "every American ... a fair chance to pursue his or her destiny."

Baker drew some murmurs of protest in a commencement address at predominantly-black Hampton University, though he sought to wrap his initiatives in the mantle of civil rights.

"They do not divide people along race or class lines," he said. "They give everyone a shared stake in everyone else's success."

Dozens of the 1,053 graduates raised clenched fists at the end of his address, in protest of his veto last fall of a job discrimination bill. Many others sat silently.

Mother charged with murder of invalid son

DENVILLEPORT, Iowa (AP) — A mother of eight spent Mother's Day in jail in lieu of $1 million bail after being charged with first-degree murder in the death of her 5-year-old invalid son, who police said had been denied care.

Regina Akrig, 35, was arrested Saturday after police found the body of Mark Allen Akrig in an upstairs bedroom. The boy had died sometime earlier that day, police said.

The boy, who had cerebral palsy, was "totally emaciated" and his body weighed less than 10 pounds, said police Lt. Don Schaefer.

Pole alleged Ms. Akrig, a single mother charged with murder of invalid son.

Air pollution increases death rate, experts say

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Exposure to air pollution in American cities accounts for 60,000 deaths annually and increases the risk of death among the elderly and people with lung and heart diseases, researchers said Sunday.

"If we as a nation can focus on reducing emissions, we can save more lives and tax-payers' money than with any other single effort to reduce toxic exposure in the environment," said Dr. Douglas Dockery, associate professor of environmental epidemiology at the Harvard School of Public Health.

Dockery studied air pollution and causes of death for the years 1973-1980. Results were presented Sunday at the American Lung Association International Conference.

tasting summer fruits. Besides tasting great, they have a lot to offer as far as nutrients are concerned. Strawberries, papaya, kiwi and cantaloupe provide Vitamin C. Papaya, cantaloupe and mangoes provide beta-carotene (a form of Vitamin A). These vitamins promote healthy skin, teeth, bones and stimulate your immune system. Fruits and vegetables have no cholesterol and are low in calories, fat and sodium.

Other treats of the season are summer vegetables. Artichokes, asparagus, sugar snap peas, green beans, squash and tomatoes are at their very best. They provide nutrients such as beta-carotene, Vitamin C and Vitamin B complex and contain fiber which aids digestion and lowering cholesterol levels.

Filling up on fruits and vegetables during the summer will not only help you to feel your very best, but will also help you look your best, giving a healthy glow and improved energy. Another benefit is that one third of the water your body needs each day can be supplied by eating fruits and vegetables.

Another benefit is that one third of the water your body needs each day can be supplied by eating fruits and vegetables.

The California Department of Health Services recommends eating five servings of fruits and vegetables combined per day. One serving equals 1/2 cup fruit juice, or 1/4 cup of dried fruit. By replacing some of your high-fat snacks with fruits and vegetables, you will see the difference that small changes can make.

Small changes now will influence your future health by reducing your risk of developing cancer, hypertension, heart disease and diabetes. Think before you eat! Take charge of your health now by taking advantage of the summer’s most refreshing and nutritious treats. And since the weather is definitely getting warmer, why not feel good about yourself when you trade in your winter sweater for a tank top?

Baseball sweeps Dominguez Hills

By Rob Brockmeyer

In the last month of the baseball season, three teams have been in first place in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, but none of them has been able to hold on to it. This time, Cal Poly holds the top spot and no one is going to take it away.

The Mustangs swept three weekend games from Cal State Dominguez Hills and wrapped up at least a tie for the CCAA title. Cal Poly has won 10 of its last 11 conference games. The wins gave Cal Poly a 18-11 conference record (26-20 overall) and eliminated Dominguez Hills from postseason play. Cal Poly Pomona (18-12) dropped out of first when it lost two of three weekend games against UC Riverside (17-12).

The Highlanders and the Mustangs replayed the washed-out March 15 game on Sunday, but the results were not known as of press time. If Cal Poly wins the game, it will have sole possession of first place. But if the Mustangs lose, they not only will have to share the title with UC Riverside and Pomona, they must wait to see if they make the playoffs.

Dominguez Hills from Cal State Pomona (18-12) dropped out of first place in CCAA, but still may not make playoffs. Spectators line the streets of San Luis Obispo's historic downtown to watch the train of colorful floats, marching bands, dancers and equestrian units. Parade chairman Fred Peterson said the parade will begin at Carmel Street and proceed up Marsh Street to Osos Street. An awards ceremony for the parade competition will follow at the Mission Plaza.

Mathis said the parade draws a large crowd, usually 30,000 to 40,000 people. "I have seen more of an interest this year," Mathis said. "I wonder if people will be more interested this year because there is no Poly Royal. Both have long-standing traditions within this community, and I know people were disappointed to see it (Poly Royal) come to an end."
