Baker announces plan for drastic budget cuts

By Kelli Martin

By 10:55 a.m. Thursday, the board was informed of changes being made on a bill which would establish a Cultural Relations Committee on campus.

During last week’s meeting, board members felt uncomfortable and represented, which they thought implied women and disabled students, and several members also had a problem with the term because it denied white students the opportunity to become part of the community, unless they were already involved with ASI. The only positions on the committee that are available to students at large are four spaces designated to ethnically underrepresented students.

During last week’s meeting, board members felt uncomfortable and represented, which they thought implied women and disabled students, and several members also had a problem with the term because it denied white students the opportunity to become part of the community, unless they were already involved with ASI. The only positions on the committee that are available to students at large are four spaces designated to ethnically underrepresented students.

Douglas Ito, ASI director of the School of Engineering and co-writer of the bill, said the suggestions the board gave last week were being looked into.

"We will have an updated version (of the bill) ... and some of the things we’re looking into are the addition of two more members at-large, representing the student populace, and a more clear definition of what an ‘underrepresented’ student is," said Ito.

An updated version of the bill will be presented to the board by the ASI Board of Directors at the June 5 meeting.

ASI discusses cultural relations, leadership

By Kelli Martin

By 10:55 a.m. Thursday, the board was informed of changes being made on a bill which would establish a Cultural Relations Committee on campus.

During last week’s meeting, board members felt uncomfortable and represented, which they thought implied women and disabled students, and several members also had a problem with the term because it denied white students the opportunity to become part of the community, unless they were already involved with ASI. The only positions on the committee that are available to students at large are four spaces designated to ethnically underrepresented students.

Douglas Ito, ASI director of the School of Engineering and co-writer of the bill, said the suggestions the board gave last week were being looked into.

"We will have an updated version (of the bill) ... and some of the things we’re looking into are the addition of two more members at-large, representing the student populace, and a more clear definition of what an ‘underrepresented’ student is," said Ito.

An updated version of the bill will be presented to the board by the ASI Board of Directors at the June 5 meeting.

Students react to academic losses

By Tracy Condron

By William Douglass

Students potentially displaced by the proposed budget reductions could get their chosen degrees before the programs are phased out or be allowed to transfer to a similar school or program, Baker said at a press conference yesterday after he announced the proposed cuts to faculty and staff.

"The university will accommodate students already enrolled in the ill-fated programs. Here is how we will do that: Students who are currently enrolled in the School of Agriculture will be allowed to finish their educations at Cal Poly and the ill-fated programs will either be allowed to transfer to a similar school or program," Baker said.

By Jim Schmidt

The Cal Poly staff and faculty unions responded to President Warren Baker’s speech Thursday by saying they are not receiving equal representation in the budget reduction process.

Jim Conway of the California Faculty Association (CFA) and Bernice Glinski of the California State Employees Association (CSEA) held a press conference in the University Union following the speech.

Conway and Glinski made four points about the budget reduction proposal.

• The situation is being blown out of proportion.
• The CFA is not getting the information needed to understand the situation.
• Layoffs can be avoided through negotiations.
• Employee organizations have been excluded from the decision-making process of budget reductions.

In his speech, Baker said, "The proposed cuts were reasonable"

Potentially displaced students can stay

By Jim Schmidt

Students already enrolled in the ill-fated programs will either get their chosen degrees before the programs are phased out or be allowed to transfer to a similar school or program. Baker said at a press conference yesterday after he announced the proposed cuts to faculty and staff.

"The university will accommodate students already in the ill-fated programs. Here is how we will do that: Students who are currently enrolled in the School of Agriculture will be allowed to finish their educations at Cal Poly and the ill-fated programs will either be allowed to transfer to a similar school or program," Baker said.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rapists should be castrated

Yet another campus rape has taken place. My deep sympathy goes to the woman when the scum violated. There can be few things more devastating.

I wish to address what we as society should do about this type of behavior. Only through well-aimed effort can the existing lenient penalties for rape be changed.

What I suggest is effective and just — testicular castration. Technology exists to positively identify a rape suspect from physical evidence and such analyses can be 100 percent accurate. I can hear bleeding hearts may object with arguments of "cruel and unusual punishment." Well, "the punishment ought to fit the crime." It is important that the woman be properly identified and that a suspect from physical evidence is positively identified with her victim’s wellbeing. For example, eight rapes were rape-related last year, but unfortunately this year's statistics were withheld. I wonder why. What about the rapes that go unreported? No one will know about those rapes except for the victims.

We applaud Delta Theta’s attempt to rectify the situation at hand, but what’s done is done. Should any of you want to know your reputation?

Do you think we or anyone else cares about your reputation? And what about your so-called "unhurt victim?"

Do you think she cares?

Michael Dichtig
Missionary

Mustang Daily

COMMENTARY

Co-eds should open their minds

By Marcell Rodin

About a month Don Ryujin, a Cal Poly polygamist, was talking to the mustang editor on campus. He is taking a provocative talk about the subject of American society. Americans have a prototype which doesn't include blacks, Hispanics and Orientals. He said that he and his students are writing a paper on this subject.

Ryujin further stated that racism is an integral part of American culture. He said that Americans have a prototype which doesn’t include blacks, Hispanics and Orientals. He said that the prototype message in American society is that minorities had better stay in their places. He said that American society hasn’t really changed that much in the last 25 years and that since Dr. Strauss gave his memorable lecture.

Americans, more and more, continue to idealize progress which in their designation regards bigger as better. They continue to believe in the democratic dogma that what the Pentagon feels is best for the world is indeed the best. They continue to exhibit their brand of chauvinism of believing that Americans are superior to everyone else in the world. They continue to extol their Puritan ethic despite all the lip service given to our relaxing sexual mores. And they continue to show utter lack of respect for the law.

In reflecting on Don Ryujin’s talk and comparing it to the lecture by Dr. Strauss, I realized that American society hasn’t really changed that much in the last 25 years and that since Dr. Strauss gave his memorable lecture.

After attending this university for two years, I feel that the condemnation of female students at Cal Poly do indeed show a prejudice toward older students and even older teachers.

In my very first year I enrolled in, one female student in her late 20s referred to the instructor as "old." She then went on to infer that he wouldn’t be an inspiring teacher because of his age. She dropped the class.

I completed the class and found this professor to be a warm, caring and knowledgeable teacher. I subsequently chose him to be on my thesis committee.

In my attempt to establish some type of social life here, I have gone to many functions, including club meetings and events. Along with the other male students who have been to these, I have felt unreflectable at those that I person. I feel like the "odd man out." The women are not as friendly on the surface, but show no interest in getting to know me.

These Cal Poly females can’t conceive what it would be like to go out with an older, mature man. It just isn’t in their repertoire. They present themselves as narrow-minded and again in their dating preferences.

Understandably, we are living in the 90s and this is not the freewheeling 60s. Times have changed. In this day and age, it is necessary to be more cautious in your actions. Nevertheless, does this necessitate regressing in your social mobility and in closing your minds to certain people because they don’t fit the prototype of the type of man a young college woman should be going out with?

See OPINION, page 4
U.S attorneys admit past ties with Noriega

MIAMI (AP) — Manuel Noriega fed the CIA secrets on the Panama Canal negotiations and embroiled important U.S. intelligence operations, the government confirmed in a classified narrative released Thursday.

Prosecutors strongly denied that U.S. authorities approved the drug trafficking that led to the deposition Panamanian leader's indictment.

The government's account was contained in a partially censored 31-page response to the defense's request for secret U.S. documents.

Prosecutors agreed Noriega supplied the United States with secrets about his own country, while serving as Panama's intelligence chief.

Rehis indicate slow U.S. financial recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers, lacking any appreciable increase in incomes, cut back their spending 0.1 percent in April, the government said Thursday in a report that cost further doubt on anything better than a sluggish recovery from the recession.

Analysts said two other reports—a slight increase in new home sales in April for the third month in a row and a slight decline in new claims for unemployment benefits for the second straight week in mid-May—also suggested a slow turnaround in the economy this summer.

"There's a strong indication in the latest numbers that the recovery is going to be quite weaker than normal," said economist David Jones of Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., a New York securities firm.

Mental health adviser seeks presidential bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Eugene Smith, a mental health consultant from South Lake Tahoe whose only political experience is in one month stint on a New Hampshire school board, announced Thursday that he is running for president.

Smith, 62, is seeking the Democratic nomination on a pledge to win the support of voters through a grassroots campaign. He became the second announced Democratic candidate, following Sen. Paul Tsongas, D-Mass.

"With a pure and true grassroots approach to this campaign, we not only feel it's realistic, but we feel we can win," said Smith.

Panel discusses personal effects, reality of AIDS

Along with Walsh, Health Educator Donna Darmody of Cal Poly's Health Center and a couple who lost their son to AIDS also spoke.

Darmody said that 169,355 people have been diagnosed with AIDS in the United States. During April 1991, 2,952 cases of AIDS were newly reported. In the same month, 1,793 AIDS-related deaths occurred.

San Luis Obispo County reported that 447 people have tested positive for the AIDS virus, Darmody said, and 90 See AIDS, page 4

START '91

... on its way

Become an Active Part in START '91!

Student Volunteers Needed

Get involved! All you need to know is what you've learned in the past year or two

• Talking with faculty members
• Using the Cal Poly Catalog and Schedule of Classes
• Learning by doing

Program Dates:

School of Liberal Arts July 8-9
School of Business July 1-2
School of Science and Math July 11-12
School of Engineering I July 22-23
School of Engineering II July 25-26
School of Arch, Engr, and Envir. Design July 15-16
School of Science and Math July 11-12

Call x2301 or x5070 to sign up by June 4, 1991

Training Dates: you will be asked to attend one.

Session I

June 6, 1991

5-7 pm

Bus. Bldg., rm 208

UU 220

DON'T DESPAIR!

TRY THE

MUSTANG

SALE!

Unbeatable low prices on selected Cal Poly clothing, gear reading books, school supplies and more.

Save up to 75%! Shop early for the best selection.

Open Evenings Mon. thru Thurs. 'til 7:00 pm.
AIDS

From page 3 people were actually diagnosed with AIDS. Fifty-two people in San Luis Obispo County have died from AIDS.

Even in the face of those statistics, Walsh emphasized that the disease is preventable. Prevention, he said, can be exercised in a number of ways.

"The solution to the threat of AIDS relates to our behavior, and our behavior relates to our sense of ethics. That is what needs to be developed," he said.

Walsh also said he feels that students should be willing to get tested, which is something that few actually do.

"Dental continues to exist," Walsh said. "People think, 'It's not our problem' or 'It won't happen to me.'"

For sexually-active persons, Walsh said, maintaining long-term, monogamous relationships is the safest way to avoid AIDS, when "two people are in a relationship and love each other enough to remain faithful."

Walsh also addressed the issue of caring for AIDS patients.

"There is a lack of commitment to care," he said. "We need to be more compassionate and understanding. We can't enter this half-heartedly."

Jaime Ford, president of the local AIDS Support Network, urged people to get tested for AIDS. He said the biggest problem with the disease is that people are aware of AIDS but they are not acting on their awareness.

The AIDS Support Network in San Luis Obispo provides services for AIDS victims and their families such as recreation, support groups, and counseling.

Wednesday's AIDS awareness presentation was organized by four students in Steve McDermott's Small Group Communications class. The students were assigned to do a project that would be socially significant.

One of those students, Val Williams, a speech communications junior, explained the motive behind the idea of the project.

"Our goal was to try to change people's attitudes and behaviors toward AIDS and the whole AIDS issue. We focused on what people could do to combat AIDS, such as testing and changing sexual behavior," he said.

OPINION

From page 2 I'll close with a statement from Shakespeare: "Our doubts are traitors and make us lose the good we oft might win by fearing to attempt."

Might some of these preppie Cal Poly co-eds make an attempt at trying something new in their lives, they might discover that there is a whole new realm of relationships, a whole new realm of experiences out there for them to discover by spending sometime with men who have lived life and who have much richness of experience to share.

As an added bonus, they may discover that older men aren't so quick to the draw in regard to sexuality and that they tend to appreciate a woman more for her uniqueness rather than primarily toward AIDS and the whole AIDS issue. We focused on what people could do to combat AIDS.

As an added bonus, they may discover that older men aren't so quick to the draw in regard to sexuality and that they tend to appreciate a woman more for her uniqueness rather than primarily toward AIDS and the whole AIDS issue. We focused on what people could do to combat AIDS.
CONFERENCE

From page 1

the School of Professional Studies will either be continued through other schools or eliminated altogether.

Baker said students currently enrolled in programs slated for elimination will be transferred to one of the other six schools.

The proposal calls for ornamental horticulture, animal sciences and journalism to be reorganized by reducing the size of the departments or by consolidating them with others.

Baker said journalism may be consolidated with the speech communications department. He said the changes will not affect the student newspaper and radio station.

Baker also outlined cuts for the physical education department, calling for a 40 percent reduction of P.E. activity courses.

Baker said racquetball, tennis and handball classes may be the first to go.

"P.E. activity classes are not required classes for any major," Baker said. "That was one of the reasons they were subject to a greater reduction."

The criteria for deciding which programs should be cut was the program's relevancy, quality, resource requirements, program demand and program overlap, according to the budget cutting recommendations made by a committee of 14 faculty members representing each of the seven schools.

CFA

From page 1

program could result in the reduction of approximately 75 faculty and administrative positions, and 16 staff positions."

Conway said unions in general are not able to get the basic information on the budget. "Questions about where funds have been used have gone unanswered," he said.

"We've had no discussion whatsoever," Glinski said. "We've been kept out completely. The chancellors and trustees have told the president that they must cooperate with the bargaining committees.

"We have not been allowed representation on any committee. They (Baker and Vice President for Academic Affairs Robert Koob) don't believe in unions on this campus. They'd like to see us disappear," Baker said, "Based upon the

GREAT DENTAL PLAN
ONLY $4.75 PER MONTH
Smile Saver Agency
1-800-343-9174

ALASKA
SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
Earn $5,000 Per Month
No Experience Necessary.
Male or Female
For Employment Program Call
Student Employment Services
1-206-298-3691 ext. 14

Where Else Can You Get All Of This?

- Fully furnished apartments
- Weight room with free weights and universals
- Free aerobic classes 5 days a week
- Heated pool
- Computer room with IBM compatibles
- Carports available
- Competitive pricing
- 33%/mo. or $163/mo.-shared

Valencia
555 Ramona Drive SLO, CA (805) 543-1450

SPECIAL SYMBOLS
ONLY $2.00 extra!!!!

Circle symbol of choice

Classified Advertising Policies

All advertising copy and materials are subject to acceptance by the Mustang Daily Business Manager. The Business Manager reserves the right to reject all or any portion of the copy or art submitted at any time prior to publication, even if material has previously been accepted or published.
Drop down the hole to visit 'Alice' at Cal Poly's theatre

By Karen Travis Staff writer

When Lewis Carroll first conceived the story of a young girl named Alice who tumbles down a rabbit hole into a wonderland of nonsense, he never could have imagined its long-term effects.

Now, 129 years later, the story and her adventures in Wonderland is coming to San Luis Obispo June 1-2 through the eyes of Lori Silvaggio, artistic director of San Luis Obispo Civic Ballet Company.

Although the original version of 'Alice in Wonderland' consists of adult themes, including some violence and death, Silvaggio said her version is different.

"Our ballet is more of a story of a little girl who encounters many bizarre, illegal things," Silvaggio said. "The characters represent real people that all children and adults meet throughout life.

"In a way, we are all Alices, because we have always wanted to please who can be bizarre things," she said.

Tami Ewing, an instructor for the Civic Ballet Company, said this phenom is amplified by some of the story's characters. "Characters like the frightening uncle and the Mad Hatter sound like they are talking intelligently when really they are making no sense at all," Ewing said.

"In Silvaggio's ballet, young Alice encounters all of the same fantasies found in Carroll's version," Ewing said.

After falling into the seemingly bottomless hole, Alice will meet the Lobotomies, the Cheshire Cat and the famous White Rabbit.

"Our White Rabbit is being played by the energetic Hered Huftield," Ewing said. Huftield said she will be the only real White Rabbit at the Civic Ballet Company when she was 11.

"Now she's 15, and just outstanding," Ewing said.

In addition, the ballet will feature Lisa Freeman-Deyo of the Los Angeles Chamber Ballet, Freeman-Deyo, one of Silvaggio's first students, will play the role of the Caterpillar.

Ewing said Silvaggio is "excited to have Freeman-Deyo return."

The role of Alice has been double-cast and will be performed by 10-year-old Jacque Carnahan and 11-year-old Jennifer Paris.

"Jacque and Roxanne are the youngest girls in the ballet," Silvaggio said. "They're extremely talented and have a very high level of quality of naturalness and readiness," she said.

All of the costumes have been designed and constructed by Judy Freeman of San Luis Obispo. Freeman has been in charge of costumes since the Civic Ballet started.

"The costumes are beautifully detailed," Ewing said. "They are very colorful and appropriate for the ballet, from the bright red lobsters to Alice's traditional blue dress and white pinafore."

Ewing said this production of "Alice in Wonderland" will be different than the average ballet.

"Alice will be a speaking ballet," she said. "I chose my performers for their dancing as well as their acting abilities, and I think the audience will be very impressed with the job they did."

Ewing also said the music is more contemporary in Silvaggio's ballet, ranging from Greg and Prokofiev, as well as Beethoven.

All of the proceeds will benefit construction of the new San Luis Obispo County Performing Arts Center.

Performance of "Alice" will be on Saturday, June 1, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. and on Sunday, June 2, at 2 p.m. at the Cal Poly Theatre.

After both matinee performances these in a Mad Hatter's 'To Party' will be held for the entire afternoon on the theater patio in front of the box office.

Tickets are $12.50 for adults $8 for children, senior citizens and students. They are as well sold in the Public Affairs Office and Ticket Office. Tickets also can be charged by phone at 756-1421, and on a walk-in basis at the Dance Shop at 1023 Morro St. in San Luis Obispo.

"Dress Circle" ticket may be purchased for the Saturday evening performance for $50. This includes a champagne and dessert reception at the Visits Grande Restaurant, and seating in the first 10 rows of the theater.

From page 1 will be restructured and reduced in size. The two-year technical program also will be phased out, and the horseshoeing program will be eliminated.

In the School of Engineering, the engineering technology programs will be reorganized and reduced in size.

The outlined proposals will be called a 20-percent reduction in the fund balance, tenured or tenure-track faculty.

"This is a double-edged sword," Baker said. "It's a very colorful and appropriate for the ballet, from the bright red lobsters to Alice's traditional blue dress and white pinafore."

Approximately 75 faculty and administrative positions also could be eliminated. Most of these cuts will be fall- and part-time lecturer positions. Baker said these cuts will be carefully analyzed and constructed.

Baker also outlined several nonacademic reductions. The Public Affairs Office is being closed, resulting in a reduction of the number of people in the building. The university will be combining Facilities Administration and Business Affairs under a single vice-president level administrator, a position that will be held by Academic Affairs. blank.

Also, Ewing said the music is more contemporary in Silvaggio's ballet, ranging from Greg and Prokofiev, as well as Beethoven.

All of the proceeds will benefit construction of the new San Luis Obispo County Performing Arts Center.

Performance of "Alice" will be on Saturday, June 1, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. and on Sunday, June 2, at 2 p.m. at the Cal Poly Theatre.

After both matinee performances these in a Mad Hatter's 'To Party' will be held for the entire afternoon on the theater patio in front of the box office.

Tickets are $12.50 for adults $8 for children, senior citizens and students. They are as well sold in the Public Affairs Office and Ticket Office. Tickets also can be charged by phone at 756-1421, and on a walk-in basis at the Dance Shop at 1023 Morro St. in San Luis Obispo.

"Dress Circle" ticket may be purchased for the Saturday evening performance for $50. This includes a champagne and dessert reception at the Visits Grande Restaurant, and seating in the first 10 rows of the theater.
from page 6 are good opportunities for students to start doing things they haven't done," he said. "a lot of students won't have that opportunity anymore." allston also expressed concern that some faculty members might be paid off.

"it's too bad faculty they (the administration) are (determining how to cut faculty) by the time they've been here. some of the best teachers are the newer ones."

the proposed budget cuts aroused greater apprehension in other students, however. "i'm afraid we'll lose kcp and mustang daily," said journal senior pam dayton. "we will lose our hands-on work."

the reduction of space and restructuring proposal for the journalism department has disappointed students who feel the journalism department was just "making its mark."

i just think it's really sad. we already don't get the same benefits as the technical majors, and we're trying so hard to make a name for ourselves," said journalism senior kristin stone.

one positive comment came from a graduating senior who, for obvious reasons, wasn't affected. "i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen.

on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.

"i'm happy to be graduating, getting my degree and getting on my way," industrial technology major jim aberer said. aberer was relieved that with the budget reductions and the proposed restructuring of the it department he won't be around to see it happen. on the brighter side, felt this was a time for the student body to pull together and support departments that will feel the effects of the budget reductions.

with the proposed idea of restructuring the ornamental horticulture program with the landscape architecture program, "we're concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration is "making its mark."

i'm afraid we'll lose KCPR for obvious reasons, won't be affected," said journalism senior Warren leiter. faculty members are concerned, too. the proposed plan to phase out recreation administration was not well-received.
From page 1

In other discussion, the Board considered a resolution which recommends development of a successful leadership program next year.

The resolution states that the ASI Board of Directors Committee completed an analysis of successful leadership programs across the nation. It states that the student population is projected for a growth of more than 20,000 into the next century and that the majority of students have not fulfilled their leadership potential. The resolution recognizes that the void has been left in the area of leadership programming by the removal of the Winners in TVain program last quarter, due to ASI's decision to end funding. The resolution states that the university has a responsibility to offer students a chance to develop leadership skills.

In the bill, the School of Agriculture, the Student Affairs Staff Development Committee and the Housing Department expressed their support for leadership programming.

Shawn Reaves, ASI vice president of finance, said, "without a fee increase (to help establish a leadership program), I don't know how you're actually going to pay for it."

In response, ASI vice chair Brett Berridge, author of the resolution, said that he had left the details somewhat flexible and that the decision would be left up to the board. He also said it (the feasibility of the program) depends upon what kind of support the program receives from the other schools of Cal Poly. The board will also be voting on this resolution during the final meeting of the year on June 5.

Congradualations
Grads!
Let us be the first to give you a present
Keep in Contact
Opportunities Service of San Luis Obispo
David A. Schulu, O.D.
Contact Lens and Unique Eyewear
778 Marsh Street, SLO 543-5200
Contact Lens Disinfection System
Free! Gas Permeable
David A. Schulu, O.D.
Free AOSEPT
Disinfection System
Contact Lens Disinfection System
Free AOSEPT
Disinfection System

Your last chance for extra credit before graduation.

All you have to do is take a field trip to our dealership and get us your student I.D. driver's license and proof of a job after graduation. Chances are, you'll be eligible for up to 60 months'financing on any new Nissan! with no money down and no payments for 60 days.

Now, this extra credit can't improve your grades. But it can certainly get you out of school in a hurry.

No money down. No payments for 90 days

MINI VAULT STORAGE
Individual vaults, "7'x7'x8"
Clean, Secured Warehouse
Convenient location (close to downtown)
Call for Rates
Sandercock Transfer & Storage 543-6163
"Serving San Luis Obispo Since 1873"

PARTY LINE.
Call Subway for a GIANT PARTY SUB.
You tell us how long you want your PARTY SUB-and we'll make it
THE PERFECT WAY
TO FEED A GRADUATION PARTY!
*Advance notice required
793 Foothill
Foothill Plaza
543-3399
185 Higuera
Higuera & Madonna
541-0855

DIAMOND BACK
SCHWINN

PROUD SPONSOR OF THE CAL POLY WHEELMEN!!!