High-speed collision on campus

Two Poly students injured

By Susan Lynn
DAILY INVESTIGATIVE EDITOR

Police on Sunday continued to investigate a high-speed collision on Grand Avenue across from the Cal Poly Theatre which left two vehicles totaled and their drivers hospitalized.

Police said they believe the Thursday night accident may have involved alcohol.

The drivers, both Cal Poly students, were identified in a police report as freshman Brandon Wong and junior Matthew McCain. Police and hospital officials said neither was in serious condition, although both vehicles were totaled in the head-on crash.

According to police, Wong is under investigation for causing the accident. McCain is not suspected of any fault.

Police said they retrieved a 40-ounce bottle of malt liquor from the back of Wong's Toyota sports car. There was only a small amount of alcohol left in the bottle, said Public Safety Officer Bruce Miller.

Miller, who is in charge of the accident investigation — said the speedometer on Wong's Toyota was stuck at 70 mph. According to the police report, Wong had drifted into the opposite lane while speeding northbound onto campus.

Miller, who arrived within a minute of the collision, said he was surprised the two drivers were alive.

"It's a miracle that both of them weren't killed instantly," he said. "They hit off-center and the vehicles were able to spin past each other. If it had been a head-on, I don't think either would have survived."

Miller said he checked Wong first because McCain was visibly conscious.

"Wong was slumped over the wheel and I thought he was dead," Miller said. "I checked to see that he was breathing, and had a strong pulse."

Both vehicles were damaged badly enough to trap their occupants. Miller said McCain's leg was caught between the crumpled floor and dashboard of his Jeep pickup. He said the man was "on the edge of panic."

"He wanted to get out of the car, and he couldn't," Miller said. "We couldn't get him out of the car. A resident advisor came and talked to him and kept him in good shape until the paramedics could get him out of the car."

Andreas Fischer, a resident advisor in Tenaya Hall, said he helped calm McCain until the fire trucks arrived from San Luis Obispo.

"He wanted to get out of the car, and he couldn't. We couldn't get him out of the car. (A resident advisor) came and talked to him and kept him in good shape until the paramedics could get him out of the car."

American Heart Association walkers invade Cal Poly to raise money for research

By Larry Matheny
FUNDRAISER REPORTER

"We've already raised $1500 for the American Heart Association," said Todd Christensen, who helped organize the event during his senior year at Cal Poly.

The walkers began at 8 a.m. and walked seven miles to the campus. The walkers were divided into six groups, each led by a staff member.

"We've had a lot of support," said Christensen. "We've already raised over $1500."

NATIONAL SERVICE: Details are slowly emerging about how plan will work

From page 1
Lutrin said the 1993 act will give $4,725 to a student who completes a year of full-time service or two years of part-time service. The funding can be in the form loan forgiveness or credit toward higher education. While working, a student will earn a $7,500 stipend plus health care and any needed child care, Lutrin said.

"Students can participate before, after or while going to school," she said.

National service performed by students must be aimed at education, the environment, human-interest or public safety, according to Lutrin. Students will work to improve situations in these areas.

"Schools will hire Cal Poly students into the program to teach and get credit or forgiveness," she said.

Lutrin said the act was developed from the National and Community Service Act of 1990. Cal Poly got $26,000 last year to run a program centered on that act.

With 1990's act, the school received money to fund projects for clubs and other groups, Lutrin said.

"Construction management majors had a senior project last year (funded by the 1990 act)," she said. "(They) renovated two lower-income apartments into a HeadStart center.

According to a summary of this year's national service act, the 1993 act is the same in concept as 1990's, except students who serve will earn money.

Many Cal Poly students aren't aware of the new national service program.

"I haven't heard of it," said Jeff Gurian, an aerospace engineering freshman. After he learned what it was, he said he supported it.

"Finding time for it might be hard," Gurian said.

Those who have heard of the program also were concerned about finding time to participate.

"It's a pretty good idea," said Mike Murphy, a senior in agricultural business. "If I needed it I would do it."

Sheila Green, a business senior, said if she was supporting herself she would probably consider doing it.

"I wouldn't take off for a whole year, though," Green said.

CRASH: Miraculously, no catastrophic injuries in on-campus collision

"Honestly, I would be upset too if I was in his situation," Fischer said. "I'd say he was upset about the fact that somebody involved him in an accident."

Wong was admitted to Sierra Vista Regional Medical Center and treated for major facial injuries, but no broken bones, police and hospital officials said. He was discharged Sunday.

McCain was treated and released early Friday morning at French Hospital. Hospital officials said his injuries were minor, and he was not admitted.

While many in the crowd that assembled after the accident complained about rescue workers arriving too slowly and lamented the lack of a Cal Poly fire department to respond more quickly, Miller said that the response time was actually much less than bystanders estimated. He said time seemed slower to people unaccustomed to these kinds of situations.

According to the San Luis Obispo Fire Station's official log, the first unit left Station Two, on Chorro Street near Foxhill Boulevard, approximately four minutes after the accident. The log said the engine arrived at the scene four minutes after it left the station.

When the engine got to Cal Poly, an ambulance was already on the scene, according to Station Two captain Tom Zeuliger.

Miller added the Cal Poly Fire Department never had the equipment needed to extract the drivers from their cars. In this situation, he said, having a department on campus would have meant a longer wait before emergency treatment. He said if Cal Poly had an engine to respond, the needed equipment would not have been called until Cal Poly crews arrived and determined that they could not do the job themselves.

"We've never had much interaction with the local fire department, but the inter-agency cooperation was terrific," Miller said. "They did a marvelous job. Everybody did."

RUSSIA: Moscow erupts with violent clashes between hard-liners, Yeltsin forces

Meanwhile in Moscow, it was just another Sunday for most of the city's 10 million residents. Many Muscovites ignored the violence in the center of the city and crowded into outdoor bazaars.

Young couples and children strolled under the golden trees lining the Kremlin embankment, oblivious of the vicious street fighting at the Parliament building a few miles away.

Hundreds join in walk to benefit cardiac research

By Julia Statzeny
Daily Staff Writer

Cal Poly's Mott Gymnasium filled with more than 330 eager walkers Saturday at the start of the American Heart Association's annual American Heart Walk. The San Luis Obispo version of the nationwide 5K-walk required the help of more than 70 volunteers and raised more than $17,800 for the association.

Contributions for this year's walk were up more than 63 percent over last year's totals. Funds raised by the event will be used to provide research and education about heart disease and leading a healthy lifestyle, according to event organizers.

"It's a big family and community thing," said American Heart Association worker Melissa Morrison.

Approximately 45 athletes from Cal Poly's Athletic Department — dressed in matching Poly and Community Together T-shirts — volunteered to be course marshals. They helped set up and made sure everything ran smoothly along the walking course.

Many of those lined up to start the course Saturday said they were excited about the event.

"I'm excited about the walk and getting a fat-burning workout at the same time," said Cal Poly graduate Penny Lentz, 35.

"It's a good reason to get up on Saturday morning," agreed Cal Poly nutrition club member Jennifer Kolkowski.

Some called this weekend's event the best one yet in San Luis Obispo.

"I think this is the best American Heart Walk we have ever done," said walker Catherine Bybee, 73.

Others said they were disappointed that not enough people attended.

"It's a good cause but there should be more people from the community out here," said home economics junior Christine Wood.

Readers outraged at Daily’s blatant ‘racism’

After reading today’s Mustang Daily and the article regarding the Crazy Man logo of the Ski Club, and reflecting upon the issues involved, we have come to the unfortunate conclusion that the policies of the paper are in and of themselves racist. Is not the paper printed with black letters upon white paper?

Where are the Hispanic colors? Where are the Asian colors? How can you let this hypocrisy exist any longer?

While admittedly the Daily has color photos in its Wednesday edition, is that really representative of the diversity of humanity? The words and print are black on white. We think this matter of blatant racism should be looked into.

Daily article in error

The Daily’s coverage of the campus watch in last Tuesday’s edition was commendable. There are, however, three inaccuracies that need to be corrected.

One, while the process we encountered provided abundant opportunity for calculation and creative thinking, it was never held in my view to be a “game.” Quite the opposite is true.

Two, the comments I made during an open session of the ASI board meeting are not accurately described by the word “heckling.” I provided a well-mannered, specific reference to documented events we encountered during our working relationship with the administration and ASI.

Third, I have never been, and am currently not, a firefighter.

Despite the somewhat rocky road of getting the program established, the only thing that ultimately matters is that the issue of student safety is now being recognized and addressed.

Despite our well-publicized differences, I must agree with ASI President Marquem Pires: We have all learned from the process and it’s time to move on.

FIRE: Nasty blaze in Los Padres National Forest appears to be approaching containment after weekend flare-ups

Fire crews lit backfires on the eastern edge of Michael Jackson's Neverland Ranch Sunday, attempting to starve a westward-marching spot arm of the wildfire. Case said officials also were keeping their collective eye on the northwest edge of the blaze where flames had come within a quarter-mile of the Zaca Lake Ranch. Structures at the ranch are the only ones presently endangered.

About 160 of the personnel are from San Luis Obispo-area California Department of Forestry (CDF) and California Conservation Corps (CCC) installations, according to Forest Service spokesman Mark Johnson.

Johnson said the CCC units provide a great service around the fire crews' base camp, cleaning up trash and bringing juice to returning firefighters. "They've really been helping out," Johnson said.

Eight people have been injured in the fire so far. Injuries have ranged from bee stings to sprained ankles.

Women’s soccer downs Pomona

By Carl Brundin
Special to the Daily

The Cal Poly women’s soccer team continued its domination in Mustang Stadium Saturday night with a 1-0 win over Cal Poly Pomona.

The Mustangs, ranked 16th in the nation, improved their record to 6-4 in a hard-fought battle with the Broncos.

After a scoreless first half, the second half became physical with both teams feeling often. After a yellow card warning and a hard foul for tripping were issued to the Broncos, the Mustangs pushed the ball into Bronco territory and Kristen Leonti scored her third goal of the year.

That goal, combined with the solid play and four saves by freshman goalie Kristina Grigaitis, was all the Mustangs needed to stay undefeated at home. The Mustangs have yet to allow a goal against them at home.

Cal Poly Head Coach Alex Crotzer praised Grigaitis and the performance of the Mustangs’ defense.

"The defense helped out Kristina (Grigaitis), who is playing very well as a freshman," Crotzer said.

Crotzer also commented on the women’s home winning streak.

"We are playing good against some very good teams at home," said Crotzer. "The nice crowds are a plus."

The Mustangs will try to extend their home streak on Wednesday when they take on CSU-Chico at 7 p.m. in Mustang Stadium.

Pomona without its best four forwards, the Mustangs were still too much for them at home.

"The defense helped out Kristina (Grigaitis), who is playing very well as a freshman," Crotzer said.

Crotzer also commented on the women’s home winning streak.

"We are playing good against some very good teams at home," said Crotzer. "The nice crowds are a plus."

The Mustangs will try to extend their home streak on Wednesday when they take on CSU-Chico at 7 p.m. in Mustang Stadium.

The National League West pennant came down to the last game of the 24-week season. Essentially, the preceding 141 games meant as much to the final standings as a single rubber in the American market.

The two teams finished the season with the same wins, whether the teams recorded three shutout slaughters or 17 come-from-behind victories, with the same wins, whether the teams recorded three shutout slaughters or 17 come-from-behind victories, for making some exiting baseball this weekend.

In between body slamming my little nephew and a couple power naps, I watched the Giants and Dodgers shutout slaughters or 17 come-from-behind victories, with the same wins, whether the teams recorded three shutout slaughters or 17 come-from-behind victories, for making some exiting baseball this weekend.

The rare event that two teams finished the season with the same wins, whether the teams recorded three shutout slaughters or 17 come-from-behind victories, with the same wins, whether the teams recorded three shutout slaughters or 17 come-from-behind victories, for making some exiting baseball this weekend.

"Running backdrop! Brian Fitz has been hurt all week," offensive coach John Pettas said. "We used him in limited action. But Jordan filled in nicely!"

Cal Poly completed their scoring as assault with 20 points in the fourth quarter. The Mustang defense forced the Cowboys to commit three turnovers in a row in the fourth quarter. Their defense then dominated the Cowboys in the final four minutes of the game.

Freshman Jacques Jordan rushed for 66 yards and two scores, including a 40-yard scoring romp near the end of the second quarter.

The Mustangs will be on the road against Oregon State in their final two games.

"We're getting better every week. We're pleased overall," Pettas said. "But, we began to find some weaknesses. We were getting some linebackers on our receivers and we exploited them."

"Our leader, Lyle Satenich said that his team was able to control the game," I liked that we scored 50 points and how we played good defense.

"But, we still need to improve our tackling," he added.

The Cal Poly offense has outscored its foes 156-19 in their last two games.

The Mustangs host CSU-San Francisco Saturday at 7 p.m. for Hall of Fame weekend.

Cal Poly's women's volleyball team got better and better as this weekend progressed, finishing its road trip with one win and two losses.

On Friday, the Mustangs never really got going. They lost straight sets 2-15, 10-15, 6-15 to Santa Clara University, last year's West Coast Conference champion. Only one Cal Poly player, senior Andrea Loomis, made it into the double digits in the kill category with 10.

On Saturday, Cal Poly's scorebook looked a bit better as they won one game in their match against CSU-Sacramento. However, the Mustangs still lost to the Hornets for the first time in their six pairings 15-9, 15-9, 15-7. Sophomore Jennifer Kaylor led the team with 14 kills and six blocks while senior Andrea Loomis led the team in digs with 12.

However, Cal Poly ended the weekend on a high note with a win against Hofstra 10-15, 15-9, 16-14, 9-15, 17-9. It was the first time the Mustangs matched up against the Flying Dutchwomen from Hempstead, N.Y. Kaylor led the team with 16 kills, freshman Trisha Pollara led in digs with 16 and junior Natalie Stinnett led in blocks with eight.

"We didn't meet up to the challenge," head coach Craig Cummings said about the weekend's two losses. He said the team deserves credit for pulling out a difficult win against Hofstra.

"We won a tight match," he said. "And we got out of a rut."

"Our level of play still needs to continue up," he added. "But we're getting back some confidence."

Cal Poly will be on the road again this week as they face CSU-Northridge Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Mustangs outscore opponents 116-19 in last two games by Jeff Miller

With revenge over last season's collapse against Sonoma State still on their mind, Cal Poly used a 49-0 half to jump all over the Cougars, 53-13 Saturday.

Cal Poly actually gained 321 yards in total offense. However, turnovers severely hurt them.

Long scores aided Cal Poly greatly. Midway through the first quarter, the Mustangs hit tight end Jeff Redcliffe on a 70-yard touchdown pass to start all scoring to start the second half. He then threw 27-yard touchdown pass to Joe Wade and Ryan Steen within 16 seconds.

Also, Jen Pock caught a 65-yard pass from backup Poncho Bertaina. Jordan's 49-yard touchdown scamper late in the second half designated another blowout win for Cal Poly.

Cal Poly's Mike Fisher: 10-26-1-183, 3 TD

Cal Poly's Jacques Jordan: 10-86, 1 TD

"Loong scores aided Cal Poly greatly. Midway through the first quarter, the Mustangs hit tight end Jeff Redcliffe on a 70-yard touchdown pass to start all scoring to start the second half. He then threw 27-yard touchdown pass to Joe Wade and Ryan Steen within 16 seconds."
