Turmoil deepening in Moscow

Yeltsin rolls in tanks to wage battle with hard-liners

Associated Press

A column of at least 40 armored vehicles rolled into central Moscow Sunday, bringing the Russian president, Boris Yeltsin, closer to what looks like his last stand against conservative forces who want to take over the country. Yeltsin ordered the troops into the streets to stop them. Yeltsin is not expected to survive his attack.

President Clinton said the United States must not waver in its support for Yeltsin as his battle against conservative forces erupted into violence in Moscow's streets.

In Moscow, a spokesman for the office of National Service in Washington, D.C., said, "They can probably begin work in summer." Zindler said. "They can probably begin work in summer.

Crews from the California Department of Forestry battled flames of the Marre Fire throughout last week. The fire is raging miles south of San Luis Obispo in the Los Padres National Forest.

Fire's glory days appear over

Staff and wire reports

The end may be in sight for a brush fire in the Los Padres National Forest which had consumed 37,000 acres by Sunday afternoon, fire officials said.

U.S. Forest Service spokesman Gary Little said the fire was 75 percent contained, and could be fully contained by Tuesday evening. Little said fire crews expected to have the fire under control by Friday night.

This news comes a day after the blaze escaped earlier defense lines set up by the 2,500 firefighters on the scene.

The fire, which started on Friday, consumed 37,000 acres by Sunday afternoon, and firefighters were currently working to contain it.

High-speed collision on campus

Two Poly students injured

By Susan Lyons Daily News-Argus Editor

Police on Sunday continued to investigate a high-speed collision on Grand Avenue across from the Cal Poly Theatre which left two vehicles totaled and their drivers hospitalized.

Police said they believe the Thursday night accident may have involved alcohol.

The drivers, both Cal Poly students, were identified in a police report as freshman Brandon Wong and junior Matthew McCain. Police and hospital officials said neither was in serious condition, although both vehicles were totaled in the head-on crash.

According to police, Wong was under investigation for causing the accident. McCain is not suspected of any fault.

Police said they retrieved a 40-ounce bottle of malt liquor from the back of Wong's Toyota sports car. There was only a small amount of alcohol left in the bottle, said Public Safety Officer Bruce Miller.

Miller, who is in charge of the accident investigation, said the speedometer on Wong's Toyota was stuck at 70 mph. According to the police report, Wong had drifted into the opposite lane while speeding northbound onto campus.

Miller said Wong, who arrived within a minute of the collision, was the first to arrive.

"The car was so badly damaged that it couldn't be moved," he said. "They hit off-center and the vehicles were a total write-off."

Both vehicles were damaged badly enough to trap their occupants. Miller said McCain's leg was caught between the crumpled floor and dashboard of his Jeep pickup. He said the man had "no serious injuries.

Miller said he checked Wong first because Wong was visibly concussed.

"Wong was slumped over the wheel and I thought he was dead," Miller said. "I checked to see that he was breathing, and had a strong pulse.

Clinton's comments came about two hours after Yeltsin's state of emergency was declared.

Clinton said he was confident Yeltsin will survive. See RUSSIA, page 2

NATIONAL SERVICE: Details are slowly emerging about how plan will work

Lutrin said the 1993 act will give $4,725 to a student who completes a year of full-time service at two years of part-time service. The funding can be in the form loan forgiveness or credit toward higher education. While working, a student will earn a $7,500 stipend plus health care and any needed child care, Lutrin said.

"Students can participate before, after or while going to school," she said.

National service performed by students must be aimed at education, the environment, human-interest or public safety, according to Lutrin. Students will work to improve situations in these areas.

"Schools will hire Cal Poly students into the program to teach and get credit or forgiveness," she said.

Lutrin said the act was developed from the National and Community Service Act of 1990. Cal Poly got $26,000 last year to run a program centered on that act. With 1990's act, the school received money to fund projects for clubs and other groups, Lutrin said.

"Construction management majors had a senior project last year (funded by the 1990 act)," she said. "(They) renovated two lower-income apartments into a HeadStart center.

According to a summary of this year's national service act, the 1993 act is the same in concept as 1990's, except students who serve will earn money.

Many Cal Poly students aren't aware of the new national service program.

"I haven't heard of it," said Jeff Gurian, an aerospace engineering freshman. After he learned what it was, he said he supported it.

"It's a pretty good idea," said Mike Murphy, a senior in agricultural business. "If I needed it I would do it."

Sheila Green, a business senior, said if she was supporting herself she would probably consider doing it.

"I wouldn't want to take off a whole year, though," Green said.

CRASH: Miraculously, no catastrophic injuries in on-campus collision

"Honestly, I would be upset too if I was in his situation," Fischer said. "I'd say he was upset about the fact that somebody involved him in an accident."

Wong was admitted to Sierra Vista Regional Medical Center and treated for major facial injuries, but had no broken bones, police and hospital officials said. He was discharged Sunday.

McCain was treated and released early Friday morning at French Hospital. Hospital officials said his injuries were minor, and he was not admitted.

While many in the crowd that assembled after the accident complained about rescue workers arriving too slowly and lamented the lack of a Cal Poly fire department, construction management majors had a senior project responding more quickly. Miller said that the response time was actually much less than bystanders estimated. He said time seems slower to people unaccustomed to these kinds of situations.

According to the San Luis Obispo Fire Station's official log, the first unit left Station Two, on Chorro Street near Foothill Boulevard, approximately four minutes after the accident. The log said the engine arrived at the scene four minutes after it left the station.

When the engine got to Cal Poly, an ambulance was already on the scene, according to Station Two captain Tom Zeulner.

Miller added the Cal Poly Fire Department never had the equipment needed to extract the drivers from their cars. In this situation, he said, having a department on campus would have meant a longer wait before emergency treatment. He said if Cal Poly had an engine to respond, the needed equipment would not have been called until Cal Poly crews arrived and determined that they could not do the job themselves.

"We've never had much interaction with the local fire department, but the inter-agency cooperation was terrific," Miller said. "They did a marvelous job. Everybody did."

Meanwhile in Moscow, it was just another Sunday for most of the city's 10 million residents. Many Muscovites ignored the violence in the center of the city and crowded into outdoor bazaars.

Young couples and children strolled under the golden trees lining the Kremlin embankment, oblivious of the vicious street fighting at the Parliament building a few miles away.

Hundreds join in walk to benefit cardiac research

Cal Poly's Mott Gymnasium filled with more than 330 eager walkers Saturday at the start of the American Heart Association's annual American Heart Walk. The San Luis Obispo version of the nationwide 5K-walk required the help of more than 70 volunteers and raised more than $17,800 for the association.

Contributions for this year's walk were up more than 63 percent over last year's totals. Funds raised by the event will be used to provide research and education about heart disease and leading a healthy lifestyle, according to event organizers.

"It's a big family and community thing," said American Heart Association worker Melissa Morrison.

Approximately 48 athletes from Cal Poly's Athletic Department — dressed in matching Poly and Community Together T-shirts — volunteered to be course marshals. They helped set up and made sure everything ran smoothly along the walking course.

Many of those lined up to start the course Saturday said they were excited about the event.

"I'm excited about the walk and getting a fat-burning workout at the same time," said Cal Poly graduate Penny Lentz, 35.

"It's a good reason to get up on Saturday morning," agreed Cal Poly nutrition club member Jennifer Kolkowski.

Some called this weekend's event the best one yet in San Luis Obispo.

"I think this is the best American Heart Walk we have ever done," said walker Catharine Bybee, 73.

Others said they were disappointed that not enough people attended.

"It's a good cause but there should be more people from the community out here," said home economics junior Christine Wood.

Readers outraged at Daily’s blatant ‘racism’

After reading today’s Mustang Daily and the article regarding the Crazy Man logo of the Ski Club, and reflecting upon the issues involved, we have come to the unfortunate conclusion that the policies of the paper are in and of themselves racist. Is not the paper printed with black letters upon white paper?

Where are the Hispanic colors? Where are the Asian colors? How can you let this hypocrisy exist any longer?

While admittedly the Daily has color photos in its Wednesday edition, is that really representative of the diversity of humanity? The words and print are black on white. We think this matter of blatant racism should be looked into.

Rush: Just a childish game or a fat guy on TV?

It’s “rush” time again, the campus is littered with sandwich boards and flyers covered in greek letters. Many of these include messages such as “priest, integrity, athlete, gentlemen, strength in brotherhood, the American flag, and rush. All these bring into mind questions the signs and flyers don’t answer.

Pride in what? An organization which excludes people on a subjective and financial basis? Is it groups that have integrity, or is it individuals? Can joining make me a better athlete? Don’t individuals have strength in and of themselves? Isn’t it illegal to put the flag on advertisements? Rush...isn’t he the fat guy with the talk show?

Please help with parking problem

I am writing this editorial on behalf of all the handicapped students who, like myself, are in wheelchairs. The extra-wide handicapped parking spaces, such as the two in front of the Everhart Ag. Circle double doors, were expressly marked off for students and staff members who really need the extra access space.

I drive a two-door Olds 88 and my car door is five feet wide. If an extra-wide parking space is not available to me I have no way of getting out of my car and into my wheelchair. Many handicapped drivers are not aware that they can park in any parking spaces on campus. This includes staff, visitor, and even loading and unloading parking spaces for as long as they find it necessary.

Please, handicapped students and staff members, if you do not need the extra-wide spaces will you kindly be so considerate as to park in any other available parking spaces.

Daily article in error

The Daily’s coverage of the campus watch in last Tuesday’s edition was commendable. There are, however, three inaccuracies that need to be corrected.

One, while the process we encountered provided abundant opportunity for calculation and creative thinking, it was never held in my view to be a “game.” Quite the opposite is true.

Two, the comments I made during an open session of the ASI board meeting are not accurately described by the word “heckling.” I provided a well-mannered, specific reference to documented events we encountered during our working relationship with the administration and ASI.

Third, I have never been, and am currently not, a firefighter.

Despite the somewhat rocky road of getting the program established, the only thing that ultimately matters is that the issue of student safety is now being recognised and addressed.

Despite our well-publicized differences, I must agree with ASI President Marquam Piros: We have all learned from the process and it’s time to move on.

The wilderness area poses a difficult challenge for fire crews because a lack of roads makes it inaccessible to heavy machinery, she said.

Fire crews lit backfires on the eastern edge of Michael Jackson’s Neverland Ranch Sunday, attempting to starve a westward-marching spot arm of the wildfire.

Case said officials also were keeping their collective eye on the northwest edge of the blaze where flames had come within a quarter-mile of the Zaca Lake Ranch. Structures at the ranch are the only ones presently endangered.

About 160 of the personnel are from San Luis Obispo-area California Department of Forestry (CDF) and California Conservation Corps (CCC) installations, according to Forest Service spokesman Mark Johnson.

Johnson said the CCC units provide a great service around the fire crews’ base camp, cleaning up trash and bringing juice to returning firefighters.

“They’ve really been helping out,” Johnson said.

Eight people have been injured in the fire so far. Injuries have ranged from bee stings to sprained ankles.

Women's soccer downs Pomona

With 1-0 victory, team maintains undefeated record at Mustang Stadium

By Carla Brand

Special to the Daily

The Cal Poly women's soccer team continued its domination of Mustang Stadium Saturday night with a 1-0 win over Cal Poly Pomona.

The Mustangs, ranked 16th in the nation, improved their record to 6-4 in a hard-fought battle with the Broncos.

After a scoreless first half, the second half became physical with both teams feeling often. After a yellow card warning and a hard foul for tripping were issued to the Broncos, the Mustangs pushed the ball into Bronco territory and Kristen Leonti scored her third goal of the year.

That goal, combined with the solid play and four saves by freshman goalie Kristina Grigaitis, was all the Mustangs needed to stay undefeated at home. The Mustangs have yet to allow a goal against them at home.

Cal Poly Head Coach Alex Crozier praised Grigaitis and the performance of the Mustangs' defense.

"The defense helped out Kristina (Grigaitis), who is playing very well as a freshman," Crozier said.

Crozier also commented on the women's home winning streak.

"We are playing good against some very good teams at home," said Crozier. "The nine crowds area plus.

The Mustangs will try to extend their home streak on Wednesday when they take on CSU-Chico at 7 p.m. in Mustang Stadium.

At General Mills, you won’t find our people sitting behind desks from nine to five. Instead, you’ll see them on the plant floor solving problems and working with all levels of our organization. Our environment is self managed and encourages individual excellence through teamwork. For over half a century, General Mills has remained the food industry leader by responding to the needs of the marketplace with innovative products and services. Today, our people continue to challenge the status quo and share in our success as individuals and as a team.

Recruitment at Cal Poly will start this year for positions at our Lodi, California plant. Serving as one of the largest production and distribution facilities in General Mills. You will find many challenging intern, co-op, and career opportunities. We invite you to come by Monday evening for pizza and drinks, to meet Bob Wheeler, Lodi’s plant manager, and David Kapic, Cal Poly alumnus. Find out why General Mills is known as the Company of Champions.

General Mills is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

VINTAGE RUSH
The National League West pennant came down to the last game of the 24-week season. Essentially, the preceding 141 games meant as much to the final standings as a single ruby in the American market.

In the last two games of the season the games finish season with the same win, whether the teams recorded three straight wins, four or 147 wins from behind victories, for some making existing baseball this weekend.

In between body slamming my little nephews and a couple power sadness watched the Giants and Dodgers games intensely. I was infected. I caught pennant fever.

The main reason I have so intensely craved the crack of the bat in the past few days relates to the reason why sometimes love finds their abductors. (I learned from Geraldo that a woman held captive for seven years actually grew affectionate toward the man who kidnapped her.)

Baseball keeps fans captive for 5 1/2 months during the season so people will long for it when October steps up to the plate. Further investigation discloses baseball games are set up in the same manner. Rather than play the game in seven innings, baseball administrators task on two extra innings to agree to that "love your captor" emotion. By the time the ninth inning rolls around, the most casual of observers is so into the game they stand on top of their seats and B.A. Joe Canso.

Three hours for a single game, which equals to almost 560 hours in the entire season, far exceeds what is necessary for enjoyment. It took Israel less time to thump Egypt, Syria and Jordan in the 1967 Six-Day War is necessary for enjoyment. It took Israel less time to thump Egypt, Syria and Jordan in the 1967 Six-Day War than it took to figure out who was the best team of the year.

The New York Mets, the worst team in baseball, finished 40 games behind the Philadelphia Phillies. It didn't take most of us too long to figure out they suck. Some might say the length of the baseball season is proper because it took this long to figure out who was better: the Braves or Giants. In June the Giants were better, but in October the Braves were dubbed premiere. Better, but in October the Braves were dubbed premiere. In June the Giants were better, but in October the Braves were dubbed premier.

A shorter season, 20 weeks or less, would allow fans to enjoy six innings and then turn their attention to one stopper, Rod Beck.

Who's to say whether another three games would not proper because it took this long to figure out who was better, but in October the Braves were dubbed premiere.
