‘Beloved’ author Morrison wins Nobel Prize

“I think she’s a wonderful storyteller and a terrific thinker,” said author Jane Smiley, who won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction for “Beloved.” Her first work of fiction “The Bluest Eye,” came out in 1970, followed by “Sula” in 18
FRIDAY
42 school days remaining in fall quarter.
TODAY'S WEATHER: Patchy morning low clouds and fog, otherwise sunny (sound familiar?) NW winds, 10-20 mph
Expected high/low: 76 / 52 Thursday's high/low: 74 / 51

BASEBALL PLAYOFFS — THURS., OCT. 7
NATIONAL LEAGUE
ATLANTA 14
PHILADELPHIA 3
NEXT GAME: PHILADELPHIA at ATLANTA
Saturday — NOON

AMERICAN LEAGUE
NEXT GAME: CHICAGO at TORONTO
Friday — 5:12 p.m.

TODAY
• Last day to request credit/no credit grading
• Applications due for ASI Standing Committees
  info: 756-1291

WEEKEND
• American Association of University Women mini-convention — Saturday / 434-0783

MONDAY
• National "Coming Out" Day
• American Indian Film Festival, "Surviving Columbus," U.U. Bishop's Lounge / 756-5104

UPCOMING
• Rec Sports 5K Fun Run/Walk and Women's Resource Fair — Oct. 14 / 756-1366
• American Red Cross First Aid training for the CPR-certified — Oct. 16 / 754-0696
• Handel Oratorio Choir singers needed for Dec. 11-12 performance; first rehearsal Oct. 17
  info: 543-7239
• Graduate and Professional School Day, all majors welcome — Oct. 22 / 756-6517
• 12th Annual Great Pumpkin Run — Oct. 30
  info: 781-7305

FRAMED ART PRINT & POSTER SALE
MUSEUM QUALITY PROFESSIONALLY MOUNTED
El Corral Bookstore
OCTOBER 4-8 9AM-5PM

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1993
MUSTANG DAILY

AGENDA

FRIDAY
42 school days remaining in fall quarter.
TODAY'S WEATHER: Patchy morning low clouds and fog, otherwise sunny (sound familiar?) NW winds, 10-20 mph
Expected high/low: 76 / 52 Thursday's high/low: 74 / 51

BASEBALL PLAYOFFS — THURS., OCT. 7
NATIONAL LEAGUE
ATLANTA 14
PHILADELPHIA 3
NEXT GAME: PHILADELPHIA at ATLANTA
Saturday — NOON

AMERICAN LEAGUE
NEXT GAME: CHICAGO at TORONTO
Friday — 5:12 p.m.

TODAY
• Last day to request credit/no credit grading
• Applications due for ASI Standing Committees
  info: 756-1291

WEEKEND
• American Association of University Women mini-convention — Saturday / 434-0783

MONDAY
• National "Coming Out" Day
• American Indian Film Festival, "Surviving Columbus," U.U. Bishop's Lounge / 756-5104

UPCOMING
• Rec Sports 5K Fun Run/Walk and Women's Resource Fair — Oct. 14 / 756-1366
• American Red Cross First Aid training for the CPR-certified — Oct. 16 / 754-0696
• Handel Oratorio Choir singers needed for Dec. 11-12 performance; first rehearsal Oct. 17
  info: 543-7239
• Graduate and Professional School Day, all majors welcome — Oct. 22 / 756-6517
• 12th Annual Great Pumpkin Run — Oct. 30
  info: 781-7305

FRAMED ART PRINT & POSTER SALE
MUSEUM QUALITY PROFESSIONALLY MOUNTED
El Corral Bookstore
OCTOBER 4-8 9AM-5PM
Senate delays discussion on evaluations

By Erika Eidilor

A discussion on faculty evaluations was pushed back three weeks at Tuesday's Academic Senate meeting after the meeting was stopped because it surpassed the time available for the room it was held.

The resolution would create a joint committee of students and faculty to address mutual concerns regarding end-of-quarter faculty evaluations.

The program would allow students to evaluate their teachers in subject areas which would become available to other students.

University Relations Chair Kym Seibel said she hopes to "make the proposal a positive thing."

"Basically we wanted to open up the resolution for discussion," she said.

Instead, the Senate spent an hour discussing how Cal Poly's charter process would proceed. Members appeared confused, and said it was unclear when they would again discuss the faculty evaluations.

But Seibel said the issue would be discussed at the next meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 26. She also said postponement would not affect the proposal.

Finance board looks to make adjustments

By Troy Brunt Calvin

Looking to delegate more responsibility to its members, the ASI Finance Committee Monday considered changing some positions on its board.

"Committee structure as it exists now is not conducive to change," said Committee Chairman Shawn Reeves in a Tuesday interview.

The current voting membership includes the Finance Committee Chairman, an ASI presidential representative, and two students from each of the six colleges.

A newly proposed plan would provide only one position for each of the colleges. The seats left open would be filled by specialists in areas such as human resources, risk management, financial investments, and policy issues.

"What's happened in the past is the committee has just been a governing committee," Reeves said.

"The (chairman) was the only one getting experience."

Reeves said he thinks the proposed changes will make the Finance Committee a "working body, not just a governing body."

Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said earlier this week the peace plan would not stop Israeli forces from trying to eliminate violent attacks against soldiers or civilians.

More than 100 Palestinian activists from a range of factions are on Israel's most wanted list. At least six have been shot dead since the agreement was signed Sept. 13, and around 50 arrested.

Arafat's reaction has been to demand publicly that the attacks be stopped, while promising fugitives he will take care of them if they stop using violence.

Even with accord, sporadic violence still plagues Gaza

By Erika Eidilor

GAZA CITY, Occupied Gaza Strip — Palestinian fighter Nael Reifi came out of hiding a few days after Yasser Arafat promised to turn him into a police officer if he would just stop attacking Israelis.

Neither the PLO nor Israel want the problem in implementing the Palestinian autonomy accord.

They are putting Arafat in a corner, making it look as if he is acting in collusion with the Israelis and thus diluting popular support for the peace agreement. He must get the underground under control or possibly end up fighting them.

Neither the PLO nor Israel want the armed men, elevated to hero status for their random attacks on Israeli targets, to continue to have free reign. Once the autonomy plan goes into effect by April, violence will determine whether it succeeds or fails in widening Palestinian control over the occupied lands.

"The Israelis will do anything to eliminate the wanted men before leaving. It is a security issue," said Salah Abdul-Shafi, an economist from a prominent Gaza family.

"And it would embarrass the Palestinian police if (underground members) attack settlers, for example, and then escape into Gaza. Do they arrest them? Hand them over to the Israelis?" he said.

Architectural engineering graduate lain Buchan gives 'Sasha' a drink from his water bottle on Thursday in front of Cal Poly's Rec Center / Daily photo by Scott Robinson
Don't give a raise, get a clue

Re: "President's salary get a break," Mustang Daily 10/5/93

Once again I am absolutely appalled at the audacity of the California State University. In these days of budgetary unrest, how is it possible for $17 million dollars to be allotted for administration salaries? How can layoffs be justified?

I worked for the College of Engineering for four years and as of June 30 my position was eliminated due to the budget (or lack thereof). I'm now working in Extended Education on a month-to-month basis. It is a sink-or-swim situation here on campus, as it is throughout the entire CSU system.

So I ask: Why can't the administration get a clue? There are individuals being victimized by this budget crisis. I guess it is and always will be the "rich get richer and the poor get poorer" syndrome.

CRAIG SLUOL

New parking rules are inconvenient, 'cruel'

Cal Poly's revamped parking system is impractical and irritating. There are many new regulations to inconvenience the students and staff. The most noticeable change is the later hours for which parking permits are required to park on campus (10 p.m.).

This new parking system will force people who normally drive to the library at night to walk. This puts their safety in jeopardy.

Another addition of the plan is the abundance of "long-term" and sponsored guest spaces. This means that for $86 you can drive around the parking lot looking at vacant "sponsored guest" spots.

Why not sell a late-night parking permit for a fraction of the cost of a normal permit for students who only drive to campus at night?

The revised system is an inconvenient and cruel attempt to gather more money from students with a thin pocketbook.

A new policy needs to go into effect — the old one.

DOUGLAS WILFORD

Outraged readers should 'get a life'

In regards to the small brain foolishness "Readers outraged at Daily's blatant racism," in Monday's paper, I have only one thing to say to the authors: Get a real life.

Black, white, red and the like are merely adjectives used to describe the outer deims on great, beautiful, and complicated human beings. I am a frakking honest human, I have yet to meet an individual that matches the colors you choose to paint me with. I hate to say this, but: Sometimes when you are smart, you are actually dumb. Sometimes when you are dumb, you should act smart — smart enough to keep your mouth closed.

Byran "Fiddler" Bennett

bike racks: The two-wheel parking problem

Biking on two-wheels is a daily ritual for me. After a relaxing breakfast, I'm on my bike and heading for campus. I'm outdoors where the sun can reach me, the air can wake my senses and my muscles can move before they become stagnant during a three-hour class.

Go figure: Go to college, turn into a vulture. Heh heh, cool.

Frankly, I enjoy riding my bike to school. With my blue and white helmet perched on my head, my 70s shades on and my green Vans in the toe-clips, I make my way down Santa Rosa. The new white bike lane lines the street. It gives me a sense of security as I ride over the 101, a stretch of road where many a time my heart had stopped beating when trucks came so close to me that I could have tied the driver's shoeaces. "Why, yes! I was hoping to become a pancake today." What a wakeup call!

As I approach school, cruising up the Health Center hill, my mind focuses on the day before me — the lectures, the assignments and my buddees I'll see in the usual spots. School is a happy real place to go, I conclude.

The hanger (a.k.a. the Rec Center) looms up ahead of me. On South Perimeter Road I ask myself: Which way should I turn to find a spot for my bike? I decide to try my luck near the GRC building. Preparing for landing, I begin to slow down.

My eyes scan the steel racks within 50 yards for a spot where my bike can hang out for a few hours. My eyes scan, radar on, trying to hone in on the one little spot waiting for me. Come on, there must be one!

Alas, there is none. But wait — somebody just came out of the building. He's walking this way, keys in hand. Yeah! "Champ" walks up to his bike, unlocks the U and is on his merry way. I snag the spot, lock my bike and turn around to face two people on bikes with jealous and weepy looks on their faces.

Luckily, I was there first. As I walked to class I thought about how there are not enough bike racks on campus and how these two poor saps are going to have to wait for a spot to open.

Later in the day, after being home for a few hours, a friend and I rode to the Rec Center. Destination: swimming pool. I'm excited to feel the cool water after such a blistering hot day. We're just minutes away from the refreshing swim as we turn into the Rec Center runway. You know, that "efficiently used" large blacktop area in front of the entrance. Radar's on, we scan for a spot. Of the 48 slots in the racks there, no empty spot is available.

Nearby, leaning against the cement planter are five bikes with locks on themselves. It doesn't take a brain surgeon to see there is a desperate need for more bike racks by the Rec Center. I believe that whoever planned the number of people using the Rec Center totally underestimated the need for racks. Surely, they didn't believe that only 48 students with bikes would be there. I understand that because of specific building-related reasons that other bike racks cannot be put near the glass of the building, or anywhere else, because of access reasons. The planners should have thought about that before. I guess we're just lucky that we have that nice, open blacktop to look at while we stand there foolishly with our bikes.

I heard an accurate description of what students look like in front of the Rec Center looking for a spot to open. "We're like vultures," someone said. And she's right. There's not a day that goes by that I don't loom overhead, waiting to attack my prey and fight for the spot 'til the death. Go figure! Go to college, turn into a vulture. Heh heh, cool.

Once again, I understand the access argument. Heavy construction equipment now parks where the row of racks used to be next to the Snack Bar. Did anyone consider where the displaced bikes would go? Apparently not too much brain power was used in pondering the question, because there are a lot of us little ants scurrying around on our bikes searching for bike racks.

Need other examples? The racks near the math and English buildings are always full. Even those on Via Carta fill up. By the time I find a spot to park my two-
University women to meet at Poly

By Jay J. Miller
in Poly Daily

University women to meet at Poly

The largest women's organization in the United States promoting education for women and is holding a mini-convention at Cal Poly Saturday.

The American Association of University Women (AAUW), the same association that gave scientist Marie Curie the money to buy her first ounce of uranium, plays a large role in women's education in America and around the world.

From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday in the Science building at the center of campus, the convention will teach present and prospective AAUW members about women's issues, according to the AAUW official Lynn Janeway.

"We're just starting to worry," she said. "We're worried that (one time), it's going to take six months to wrap it up before then.

Talking to Risser and Schroeder after the meeting, Biting said she and the other students were optimistic about improving campus emergency response.

"We're just starting to worry," she said. "We're worried that (one time), it's going to take six months to wrap it up before then."

Secretary of State Warren Christopher outlined a burst of diplomatic activity to refocus the Somalia operation on a political rather than military track. He said the United States was sending messages to 30 countries asking that they keep their troops in Somalia until it is secure.

Christopher made clear that American forces would be pulled out by next March 31 — even if Somalia is still plagued by lawlessness and chaos. He noted Clinton's statement that there is no guaranty that Somalia will rid itself of violence or suffering "but at least we will have given Somalia a reasonable chance."

Both Army and Christopher emphasized military operation should now take second place to a political or diplomatic solution over-seen mostly by African nations.

Copeland’s Sports
962 MONTEREY STREET
SAN LUIS OBISPO

Hours: Mon-Fri 9-5:30
Sat 9-1  Sun 12-4

SOMALIA: Clinton sends more troops to region

From page 1

people. It would be open season on American.

Aspin said he wanted to call diplomatic activity to refocus the Somalia operation on a political rather than military track. He said the United States was sending messages to 30 countries asking that they keep their troops in Somalia until it is secure.

Christopher made clear that American forces would be pulled out by next March 31 — even if Somalia is still plagued by lawlessness and chaos. He noted Clinton's statement that there is no guaranty that Somalia will rid itself of violence or suffering "but at least we will have given Somalia a reasonable chance."

Both Army and Christopher emphasized military operation should now take second place to a political or diplomatic solution over-seen mostly by African nations.

BOOMER'S
SANDWICH FACTORY

MOUNTAIN LUNCH

Boomer's small sub, bag of chips, and 32 oz. Pepsi $5.00

exp 10/31/93

the fabric of AIDS

If you are HIV positive or know someone who is, we want to talk to you for our upcoming series on AIDS.

Please call Mustang Daily at 756-1796 and ask for Krystn Shrieve or Sila Lyons.

You may also call Krystn at 541-8296 or Sila at 541-4936

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1993
The Economics of the Citibank Classic Visa card. How Student Discounts and Price Protection contribute to upward growth. A variety of factors have been suggested as contributing to the economic growth of students, including (1) more lottery winners between the ages of 18 and 22, (2) a 37% increase on earnings from bottle and can returns, (3) more students doubling earnings in the lightning round of game shows, and (4) the Citibank Classic Visa® card. It's this last one, however, that affects most students. The Citibank Classic Visa card offers immediate savings to student cardmembers. You can save up to 26% on long distance calls versus AT&T with the free Citibank Calling Service® from MCI. And you can capitalize on a $20 Airfare Discount for domestic flights. Savings on mail order purchases, sports equipment, magazines and music also abound. Maximize these savings with a low variable interest rate of 15.4% and no annual fee, and you can significantly improve your personal bottom line (especially if one's net income tends to be pretty gross). Put another way, one might even have enough savings to reinvest in a CD or two (the musical kind, of course). On the way to the record store, or any store for that matter, take stock of the 3 services concerned with purchases made on the Citibank Classic card. Citibank Price Protection assures one of the best prices. See the same item advertised in print for less, within 60 days, and Citibank will refund the difference up to $150. To protect these investments, Buyers Security® can cover them against accidental damage, fire or theft (ordinarily causes for Great Depressions) for 90 days from the date of purchase. And Citibank Lifetime Warranty® can extend the expected service life of eligible products up to 12 years. But perhaps the features which offer the best protection are your eyes, your nose, your mouth, etc.—all featured on The Photocard, the credit card with your photo on it. Carrying it can help prevent fraud or any hostile takeover of your card. (Insiders speculate that it makes quite a good student ID, too.) Even if one's card is stolen, or perhaps lost, The Lost Wallet® Service can replace your card usually within 24 hours. So never panic. As we all know, panic, such as in the Great Panics of 1837, 1857, and 1929, can cause a downsizing in a market. But with 24-hour Customer Service, there's no reason for it. A question about your account is only an 800 number away. (Panic of the sort experienced the night before Finals is something else again.) Needless to say, building a credit history with the support of such services can only be a boost. You're investing in futures—that future house, that future car, etc. And knowing the Citibank Classic Visa card is there in your wallet should presently give you a sense of security, rare in today's—how shall we say?—fickle market. To apply, call. Students don't need a job or a cosigner. And call if you'd simply like your photo added to your regular Citibank Classic Visa card. Here's the number: 1-800-CITIBANK, extension 19. The Law of Student Supply and Demand states, "If a credit card satisfies more of a student's unlimited wants and needs, while reducing the Risk Factor in respect to limited and often scarce resources—with the greatest supply of services and savings possible—then students will demand said credit card." So, demand away—call.

No known picture of Washington smiling exists. Economic before Washington was unhappy because he felt he could have received a better deal on our currency. (He used a Citibank Classic Visa card, he would have been accorded of getting the best price and probably would have received a $20 Airfare Discount. (Reconsidering how he would have appeared on the dollar.)
Men's tennis dominates fall tourney

By Brad Hawaiian
Daily News Editor

The men's tennis team fell shy of a national championship in singles competition when Cal Poly's top-seeded Mark Nielsen lost to Ballou's Jon Goldfarb, 6-4, 6-4 in a quarterfinal round.

But last year's returners and Division II West Region Coach of the Year Chris Eppright enjoyed a nice consolation.

Marc Oliwier won the West Region singles tournament, and Cal Poly players filled seven of the eight quarterfinal slots without losing a set. Only Oliwier was eliminated by a player from another college.

JORDAN: Fans say superstar left basketball at the right time in his life

By Todd Chonko

Men's tennis dominates fall tourney

As the title match was nearing the end, the cheers grew louder and louder.

"The crowd was really into it," Oliwier said.

When the match was over, the crowd erupted in a cheer.

"I think it's the best crowd I've ever played in front of," Oliwier said.

In doubles, Oliwier and Josh Johnston teamed up to take the championship.

Oliwier's victory presented the team with the first singles championship in the pre-season tournament.

The win also qualified Oliwier as the West Region representative for a pre-season national tournament.

The men's tennis team dominated the championship.

The full tournament draws some of the strongest teams in the West Region, including UC-Davis, UC-Riverside, CSU-Los Angeles and Cal Poly Pomona.

Eppright said the tournament represented the "next best thing to the NCAA championships.'"

"It was real surprising to dominate like we did," Eppright said.

He said such a strong showing in the tournament will give the team momentum going into their regular season.

He said he lost two of his top three players from last year. Nielson finished his fourth years of eligibility, and Ricardo Reyes decided to redshirt this season for academic reasons.

"It makes me nervous going into the tournament with a lot of new guys," Eppright said. But "the way we dominated gave the younger players confidence."

Men's soccer wins easily at L.A.

By John D. Smith

The Cal Poly men's soccer team traveled to Los Angeles and did something nobody else did all last season.

The Mustangs stepped onto the field and cruised to a 5-0 victory over CSU Los Angeles.

Last year the Golden Eagles went undefeated at home and lost only one game during the regular season. That season, the Mustangs won the California Collegiate Athletic Association title and advanced all the way to the NCAA semi-finals.

"It's a different this year," said the Mustangs' leading scorer for last year.

Men's tennis dominates fall tourney

JORDAN: Fans say superstar left basketball at the right time in his life

"It was a definite change in the game;" Cotright said. He said that Jordan was a great athlete.

"It's certainly going to be a definite change in the game;" Cotright said. He said that Jordan was a great athlete.

"I think that he may return," said Cotright.

But last year's returners and Division II West Region Coach of the Year Chris Eppright enjoyed a nice consolation.

Marc Oliwier won the West Region singles tournament, and Cal Poly players filled seven of the eight quarterfinal slots without losing a set. Only Oliwier was eliminated by a player from another college.

JORDAN: Fans say superstar left basketball at the right time in his life

"It was a definite change in the game;" Cotright said. He said that Jordan was a great athlete.

"I think that he may return," said Cotright.

But last year's returners and Division II West Region Coach of the Year Chris Eppright enjoyed a nice consolation.

Marc Oliwier won the West Region singles tournament, and Cal Poly players filled seven of the eight quarterfinal slots without losing a set. Only Oliwier was eliminated by a player from another college.

JORDAN: Fans say superstar left basketball at the right time in his life

"It was a definite change in the game;" Cotright said. He said that Jordan was a great athlete.

"I think that he may return," said Cotright.

But last year's returners and Division II West Region Coach of the Year Chris Eppright enjoyed a nice consolation.

Marc Oliwier won the West Region singles tournament, and Cal Poly players filled seven of the eight quarterfinal slots without losing a set. Only Oliwier was eliminated by a player from another college.

JORDAN: Fans say superstar left basketball at the right time in his life

"It was a definite change in the game;" Cotright said. He said that Jordan was a great athlete.

"I think that he may return," said Cotright.

But last year's returners and Division II West Region Coach of the Year Chris Eppright enjoyed a nice consolation.

Marc Oliwier won the West Region singles tournament, and Cal Poly players filled seven of the eight quarterfinal slots without losing a set. Only Oliwier was eliminated by a player from another college.

JORDAN: Fans say superstar left basketball at the right time in his life

"It was a definite change in the game;" Cotright said. He said that Jordan was a great athlete.

"I think that he may return," said Cotright.

But last year's returners and Division II West Region Coach of the Year Chris Eppright enjoyed a nice consolation.

Marc Oliwier won the West Region singles tournament, and Cal Poly players filled seven of the eight quarterfinal slots without losing a set. Only Oliwier was eliminated by a player from another college.

JORDAN: Fans say superstar left basketball at the right time in his life

"It was a definite change in the game;" Cotright said. He said that Jordan was a great athlete.

"I think that he may return," said Cotright.

But last year's returners and Division II West Region Coach of the Year Chris Eppright enjoyed a nice consolation.

Marc Oliwier won the West Region singles tournament, and Cal Poly players filled seven of the eight quarterfinal slots without losing a set. Only Oliwier was eliminated by a player from another college.
Students say they'll miss Michael Jordan
By Amy Billing
Daily Staff Writer

Rumors are in the air about why Michael Jordan won't be in the "tur" anymore, but people agree that there's still a future for basketball in America and that it's good he's leaving while he's at the top.

Since his college years, Jordan has won numerous awards, broken several records and won the hearts of millions of fans. He has also made lots of money and been one of the most recognized sports figures in America. Many believe his father's death and a need to spend time with his family contributed to his decision to retire.

Shanta Cottigrit, journalism sophomore and men's basketball team member, said she thinks Jordan is the best basketball player of all time.

"He did everything," Cottigrit said. "There was nothing left for him to prove. I think he needed to get out of the spotlight. He said that a lot of basketball players try to show their fathers how good they can be, and that with Jordan's father's death, that edge had dulled.

In his second season playing for the men's basketball team, human development and psychology senior Kyle Ellis said he respects Jordan. "Maybe (he retired because) nobody's on his level," Ellis said. "He's won three championships and two gold medals. Maybe he wants to spend time with his family. You have things you have to do."

Women's basketball
Head Coach Jill Orrock believes Jordan needs the time to grieve.

"Maybe (he retired because) nobody's on his level," Ellis said. "He's won three championships and two gold medals. Maybe he wants to spend time with his family. You have things you have to do."

Michael Jordan announced his retirement from basketball Wednesday / Photo by Associated Press

SPORTS
MUSTANG DAILY

8 FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1993

Women's soccer pulls off an upset
Fourteenth-ranked Cal Poly hands 10th ranked CSU-Chico 2-1 loss

Tracy Ruehle Calvins
Daily Staff Writer

The women's soccer team scored a crucial upset victory against the 10th-ranked CSU-Chico Wildcats Wednesday night at Mustang Stadium.

The win boosts the 14th-ranked Mustangs' record to 7-4 and keeps their share of first place intact with a 2-0 mark in the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

CSU-Chico scored the game's first goal when senior defenseman Janet Krebs, thinking she heard a whistle, mistakenly picked up the ball just outside the Cal Poly goal box. As a result CSU-Chico's Nicki Benson free-kicked a shot into the goal. It was the first goal allowed at home by Cal Poly this season.

Nine minutes later Krebs scored for her mistake when she drilled a 30-yard free-kick shot into CSU-Chico's net and tied the game at 1-1.

The goal was Krebs' second of the season.

Three minutes later Krebs again had a free-kick at CSU-Chico's goal. But the kick deflected off the cross-bar and bounced to freshman midfielder Nicole Gunion, who kicked the ball past the Wildcat goalkeeper.

In the second half, Cal Poly's defense and freshman goalkeeper Kristina Grusitis stopped short CSU-Chico.

“Our defense was really strong,” head coach Alex Crozier said. "They have some scorers, and we just shut them down tonight."

Although both teams had ample opportunities to score in the second half, the defense held tight for both sides, and the game ended with a 2-1 Cal Poly victory.

“This game was a big boost for us going into Friday's game and for the playoffs,” Crozier said. "Beating a Division II-ranked team will help us as the end of the year.”

On Friday, the Mustangs face sixth-ranked CSU-Dominguez Hills at 7 p.m. in Mustang Stadium.

Poly's football reveals interesting past

By Brad Hamilton
Daily Sports Editor

The first time Cal Poly stepped onto the gridiron against CSU-San Francisco in 1938, Franklin D. Roosevelt was nursing the United States out of the depression and Douglas "Wrong-Way" Corrigan flew from New York to Dublin.

Cal Poly won the game 20-2. The Mustangs hope to thump CSU-San Francisco even harder Saturday in Mustang Stadium.

A trip through a Cal Poly football media program reveals the Gators vs. Mustangs series is the 10th oldest series in Cal Poly football history. The series against UC-Santa Barbara, Loyola Marymount and CSU-Fresno are the oldest.

Cal Poly took the field against these teams for the first time in the 1925 season.

During that season the Mustangs compiled a 1-3 record and were outscored 13-70. Their only points came in the lone 13-7 win over UC-Santa Barbara. The year also pitted Cal Poly against four-year colleges for the first time.

In 1922 Cal Poly found itself hanging helmets with high schools, junior colleges and San Luis Obispo Lagoon. In Cal Poly's inaugural season in 1915 the team tied Santa Barbara High School 6-6, then beat them 17-14 in the second and final game of that year.

Some of the other interesting match-ups in Cal Poly's history include games against El Toro Marines, the 16th infan-

The Mustangs enjoyed initial success against these teams, but time delivered increasingly bad results on the scoreboard. Cal Poly won eight out of the first 11 games against CSU-San Di-

The Mustangs lost all games against these teams, but time delivered increasingly bad results on the scoreboard. Cal Poly won eight out of the first 11 games against CSU-San Diego. But after the 1960 season's 34-6 victory over the Aztecs, Cal Poly dropped the next seven games until the teams quit playing each other in 1967.

Head coach Lyle Setnichch played for CSU-Fresno in the 1960s. He said the aztecs drew large crowds. It also drew big losses for Cal Poly. Fresno only lost to Cal Poly once during the 1960s.

Equipment Manager Dick McMath, a former Cal Poly football player, said the Mustangs were "the hottest team in the NFL at that time.

The loss against Cal Poly convinced Paul "Bear" Bryant to recruit more athletes from the West Coast.

The Mustangs lost all games against these teams, but time delivered increasingly bad results on the scoreboard. Cal Poly won eight out of the first 11 games against CSU-San Diego. But after the 1960 season's 34-6 victory over the Aztecs, Cal Poly dropped the next seven games until the teams quit playing each other in 1967.

Head coach Lyle Setnichch played for CSU-Fresno in the 1960s. He said the aztecs drew large crowds. It also drew big losses for Cal Poly. Fresno only lost to Cal Poly once during the 1960s.

Equipment Manager Dick McMath, a former Cal Poly football player, said the Mustangs were "the hottest team in the NFL at that time.

The loss against Cal Poly convinced Paul "Bear" Bryant to recruit more athletes from the West Coast.