Brazil leads council candidates in contributions

By Sharon Honey
Westside Wire

City Council candidate and Cal Poly student Marc Brazil has raised more money for his campaign than any of the other council or mayoral candidates. The 34-year-old political science sophomore has collected $17,315 since January 1, according to state campaign disclosure statements reporting through Sept. 30.

Of the other city council candidates, Dodie Williams collected $16,506, with Bill Roalman and Penny Rappa collecting $8,056 and $6,010, respectively. Contributions numbers include a small number of nonmonetary donations as well as gifts of cash.

Of the mayoral candidates, neither Lark Jursek nor Jim Scaife reported collecting or spending anything on their campaigns. Penny Rappa has

Hormone fights wasting related to AIDS virus

By Patrick O'Brien
Special to the Daily

Toad the Wet Sprocket played the Rec Center's inaugural concert Saturday night to a rowdy, sold-out crowd.

Santa Barbara's up-and-comers showed the Rec Center's inaugural concert Saturday night to a rowdy, sold-out crowd.

The fans, mostly teenagers, were so enthusiastic that their energy level often surpassed that of the music. Fifteen minutes before Wasted Tape took the stage an AIDS researcher at St. Luke's Roosevelt Hospital Center in Manhattan. The to strike patients, or examples, muscle strength is the difference between someone getting therapy and going home or being housed in a nursing home for the rest of their life, he added.

During the two-year trial on 178 AIDS patients, those who received the injections gained an average of 3.6 pounds. Half the patients injected themselves daily with the hormone while the others injected a placebo. Neither patients nor

Cal Poly's Rec Center 'hops' and rocks to Toad the Wet Sprocket, Wasted Tape

By Patrick O'Brien
Special to the Daily

Toad's lead singer, Glen Phillips, even through slow songs, until the fans didn't settle down, even through slow songs, until Toad's lead singer, Glen Phillips, chanted them.

First Phillips tried, "Sorry, but Rollins was last week," referring to the raucous music of Henry Rollins.

After playing a couple of more songs behind the silhouettes of crowd-surfers, Phillips quieted the rowdies for good with, "I don't want to sound like mom... but... knock it off."

The crowd cheered and its behavior fell more into line with the spirit of the music. Animal science sophomore Eric Kane and his brother Jason

Riding tall

Jaime Haskins of West Hills College (below) hangs onto his mount during saddle bronc competition Saturday at the Cal Poly Rodeo. Cal Poly recreation administration junior Kris Shipman (right) competes in break-away calf roping. The Cal Poly men's team took first place overall in the rodeo, which was held Saturday and Sunday. Agribusiness junior Jade Brightman brought back a second place in barrel racing for the women. Daily photos by L. Scott Robinson

INSIDE TODAY'S MUSTANG DAILY

OPINION
4 Arc antis invading your privacy? Dawn Pillibury laments a recent infestation

SPORTS
8 Women's soccer stifles San Bernardino with aggressive strategy and execution

Thrilling come-from-behind football win spoils UC-Davis visit
TODAY'S WEATHER:
Today's high/low: log

tomorrow's weather:
Mostly clear, with early morning clouds and fog.
Today's high/low: 74/45
Tomorrow's high/low: 74/NA

AIDS Awareness Week
Cal Poly will have lectures and information Oct. 14 through Oct. 17 as part of AIDS Awareness Week. October is AIDS Awareness Month nationwide.

There will be an information table in the U.U. from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Thursday. Members of the Peer Health Educators Sexuality Team will be on hand to answer questions about AIDS. Check the Agenda section for the daily events that are part of AIDS Awareness Week.

MONDAY
AIDS Awareness Speech • Lords, Estrada, an activist and educator living with AIDS, speaks on "Women and HIV: A New Perspective." U.U.-220, 12-1 p.m.
College of Science and Math • COSAM's Club Meeting, U.U.-219, 6 p.m. - 7:45 p.m.

TUESDAY
AIDS Awareness Speech • AIDS 101: The Basics," U.U.-220, 11 a.m. to 12
Employee Assistance Luncheon • "Stress: More or Less?" Faculty/Staff Dining Room B, 12-1 p.m. - 7:56:027 eXtreme Workshop • Class specializing in business and Dow Jones Indexes. Kennedy Library Room 202, 9:10-10:30 a.m.

UPCOMING

AIDS Awareness Speech • "Latinos and HIV: Culture is the Center," U.U.-220, 12-1 p.m.
AIDS Awareness Speech • African Americans and HIV: The Wisdom of African American Proverbs." Bishop's Library, 12-1 p.m.

Agenda items: L. C. Cindy Webb, Graphic Arts; Cal Poly 93407 - Fax: 726-6784

Military lets pro-gay ruling stand

By Jeff Wilson
Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — The Defense Department has let stand an earlier federal appeals court ruling that "coming out" by homosexuals in the military wasn't enough reason to discharge them, an attorney said Sunday.

The Defense Department and Department of Justice allowed Friday's deadline for further review to expire without any action, said attorney John McGuire, who represents Navy seaman Kenneth Meinhold.

"For two and one-half years, the Pentagon has fought tooth and nail to kick me out of the Navy because I'm gay. By this decision, they finally have admitted that I can say I am gay and proudly serve my country in the military," Meinhold said. He now stationed at Naval Air Station Whidbey Island in Washington. The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco ruled 3-0 in April 3-0 to uphold the reinstatement of seaman operator Meinhold, who revealed his homosexuality on national television. Only a statement that shows a "concrete, fixed or expressed desire to engage in homosexual acts despite their being prohibited" justifies an involuntary discharge, the court said.

A 14-day period is allowed after a ruling to seek a review, but a 15-day extension was granted. "I got a call Friday afternoon and was told there was a recommendation to not seek further review," said McGuire, Department of Justice attorney.

AIDS Awareness Speech

By Sharon Meaney
Shea Staff Writer

Republican State Senate candidate Steve MacElvaine says he has built his platform on hard work and grass-roots individualism.

The Cal Poly graduate operates a cattle ranch with his family near Morro Bay, built and operates a mobile home community also near Morro Bay and is a licensed contractor, pilot and wastewater treatment plant operator. He said he wants to see government operations in the hands of the citizens instead of "career politicians."

"I think we need to get citizen government back into action," MacElvaine said.

MacElvaine, 50, graduated from Cal Poly in 1969 with a degree in farm management. MacElvaine's daughter, LeeAnn, also attends Cal Poly and is an agribusiness senior. MacElvaine stopped by campus Friday as part of his campaigning.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reducing fees for higher education.

If elected, MacElvaine said lowering fees for higher education will be important.

"I don't like the continual increase in fees," MacElvaine said. "There's got to be a priority in higher education. My goal is to stabilize fees or reduce them."

MacElvaine said the way he wants to accomplish this and other goals is through balancing California's budget and reduce...
AIDS: Reversing muscle loss limits psychological trauma of disease during the first three months of the trial, Schambelan said. After three months, all particip­pants were allowed to use the hormone and those who previously used the placebo began to put on weight accordingly, according to the study, released Friday at the Third International Symposium on Nutrition and HIV/AIDS in Philadelphia.

From page 1

All 50 participants in the init­ial phase in the San Francisco area have continued to take the hormone and some have gained as much as 30 pounds. The therapy holds great promise because it aims to im­prove a patient's metabolism by stimulating the body's cell-creat­ing processes, Koller said.

"You deal with disease either by trying to cure it or trying to make people feel better," he said. "AIDS-associated wasting affects how a person feels and per­forms independently of immune function."

The added protein-rich muscle mass might also help patients survive flare-ups of AIDS-related infections that might otherwise prove fatal, Schambelan said.

Schambelan's methods ap­peared to be more beneficial than other weight-gain treatments, Koller said. In fighting AIDS, the body steals protein from muscles to combat serious infections.

"If you were to just put extra food into the body, very often what you add you will also add more fat," he said. "In the study that Dr. Schambelan did, the body burned more fat." MACEIVANE: Candidate seeks to stabilize fees, supports three strikes bill encouraging business to stay in California.

From page 2

"Money is leaving the state with businesses," he said. "If stu­dents graduate and then don't find jobs, education doesn't do any good." MacElvaine also supports the three-strikes bill. The bill is up for a vote in the November bal­lot. It would require that defen­dants who have two prior convictions for violent or serious crimes — such as rape, robbery or mur­der — would be sent to prison for life. It would require that defen­dants who have two prior convictions for violent or serious crimes — such as rape, robbery or mur­der — would be sent to prison for life.

MacElvaine noted that the three strikes initiative has been criticized for its potential to take away money from schools for pris­ons. However, he said in the long run, the bill will end up saving money by significantly reducing the processing expenses of repeat offenders.

MacElvaine said he is also a strong advocate of term limits, and if elected, he plans to serve his term and then move on to something else. State senators have a term limit of eight years, while representatives in the as­sembly are limited to 2 years.

He praised his family for the support they have given to his campaigns.

"My campaign has had a good economic effect on my family," he said.

He said his family — which includes two sons, Brian and Steve Jr., and one other daughter, Diana and his wife Susan — has taken over manag­ing the ranch while he cam­paigns seven days a week. The kids took on more responsibility," he said.

LeeAnn said she thought her father's campaign was "exciting." She is handling the accounting and business aspects of the ranch during the campaign.

MacElvaine is a politician who characterizes himself as being different from other "career"-type politicians. He said he sees many problems with the economy of California and is run­ning for state senate to try to fix some of those problems.

"There's really a great chance to change California," he said.

CONTRIBUTIONS: Brazil credits premature start collected $8,404 for her campaign and Allen Settle reported receiv­ing $6,213.

From page 1

Brazil, who also works as a purchasing manager at the Madonna Inn, credited an early start for his success in gathering funds.

"I think the principal reason I was able to raise that much money is because I started my campaign early," Brazil said.

He said he has been out talk­ing to people at Farmers' Market since June in an effort to get name-recognition, something he said he thinks isn't as big of a problem for some of the other candidates.

He also said friends have helped him with his fund-raising.

"I have a circle of friends that I asked to help me raise money," Brazil said.

Getting an early start was in­deed helpful to Brazil. Of his total, $1,000 was collected before July 1. Only one other candidate reported collecting anything before that date. Pat Vessart has raised $1,923 at that point. All other candidates have raised their funds since July.

In addition to having collected the most money, Brazil has also spent the most on his campaign. Brazil has spent $9,094, which is almost three times what Williams has collected total. He said the money was spent on stationery, envelopes, mailings, signs, and advertising.

Brazil said having a winning a successful campaign would re­quire a "certain amount" of money, and that was the reason for his starting early in the fund-raising effort.

Of the other candidates, Wil­liams was next in spending with $7,621. Vessart has spent $4,804. Rappa, $4,659; Roalman, $2,367; Settle, $1,596. This means that Brazil has the most money on hand — $7,248 — with Roalman and Set­tle close behind with $5,669 and $4,567 respectively.

All other candidates have less than $3,500 left to spend on their campaigns in the remaining days of the elections.

Pro-democracy Haitians sing 'Hallelujah' in praise of Aristide's return from exile

By Anita Snow

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Strains of Handel's "Messiah" flooded a pro-democracy church in central Haiti on Sunday to give thanks for President Jean-Bertrand Aristide's triumphant return from exile.

"They are starting to sing 'Hallelujah' for the first time," Rev. Gerard Jean-Juste, a longtime Aristide confidant, said as the choir broke into the "Hallelujah Choral.

Aristide had been invited to Mass at the packed St. Gerard's Roman Catholic Church, where the crowd of Joyce parishioners spilled out onto the steps. But he was already busy at work on his return home. His staff.

He met Sunday morning with aides inside the sprawling, white hacienda where he spent the night after praying peace and reconciliation to the Haitian people.

The government already was moving to identify human rights violations in Haiti's early years so they could disarm and fire them, sources close to the government said Sunday.

"That first process ... is sup­posed to be happening now," Mike Levy, an American aid to the Aristide government, told The Associated Press on Sunday.

Vesuvat had raised $1,923 at that point. All other candidates have raised their funds since July.

In addition to having collected the most money, Brazil has also spent the most on his campaign. Brazil has spent $9,094, which is almost three times what Williams has collected total. He said the money was spent on stationery, envelopes, mailings, signs, and advertising.

Brazil said having a winning a successful campaign would re­quire a "certain amount" of money, and that was the reason for his starting early in the fund-raising effort.

Of the other candidates, Wil­liams was next in spending with $7,621. Vessart has spent $4,804. Rappa, $4,659; Roalman, $2,367; Settle, $1,596. This means that Brazil has the most money on hand — $7,248 — with Roalman and Set­tle close behind with $5,669 and $4,567 respectively.

All other candidates have less than $3,500 left to spend on their campaigns in the remaining days of the elections.
Life in Amerikkka
Hurst. CA.

'Take what’s yours'

"If the students want to run the college — if the administration won’t get out — then you control it with who you are all. And the only thing that is free is kill all alieneners."

Ken Watts, an English instructor at San Francisco State College during the tumultuous year of 1968 in Amerikkka, spoke these very words to an audience of Fresno State College students. He went into detail as an "alienener" as members of boards of education. Watts was on a three-day tour of the Student House, the Pentagram, the Supreme Court and the Black Student Union.

I encountered Mr. Watts’ statement while reading a new edition of "American to the Verist". Reading of Watts’ words, and the response of the Black Student Union, stirred my soul. Watts’ words; "There is no substitute called by the Black Student Union. It protected the removal and to democracy."

But Watts’ words ensured that his Black Student Union’s entreprenuership with students and students not all Black could be closed. He was called a "libertarian" and "separatist" for his dynamic Ethin cultural studies curriculum including courses in African American, Native American, Chicano and Asian Studies.

My question is directed to the examples of student revolution from Watts’ book:

• May 1968 Eastern University. Students, included some Black students, "entered" two buildings with their " Hundred hour attack on 26 hours and white police."

• May 1968 Northwestern University. Black students seized the Business building and remained in control for a long time.

• May 1968 San Francisco State. After classes began, Acting President S.I. Hasakawa pulled the P.A. in a student rally. The 63-year- semester, Watts’ words, were delivered by the Business office that students and students not all Black could be closed. He was called a "libertarian" and "separatist" for his dynamic Ethin cultural studies curriculum including courses in African American, Native American, Chicano and Asian Studies.

It appears students demand are taken lightly, if at all. "The alieneners" force at picture perfect.

Metteo Tep Cal Poly San Luis Obispo

The Great Formican Uprising of ’94
By Dawn Pillsbury

Poly athlete should be more sensitive
By "Stepping into a foreign court": St. J.

"You guys have a college football outside hitter Natalie Stillman made comments in her sports profile about her Christian missionary beliefs."

The Mustang Daily staff should be more selective in running offensive articles which insult other cultures.

The intent of this letter comes from my worry that missionaries are usually convinced that their beliefs rule supreme and forever. But to be a missionary means that an individual is engaging a different culture, or religion, or value system, even if in the attempt to 'save' it. Missionaries, above all, should know this and be respectful of cultural differences. Isn’t missionary work all about the opportunity to learn about another’s beliefs and points of view?

The intent of this letter comes from my worry that Americans society holds a false sense of ethnocentric superiority toward world cultures. Admittedly, Cambodia is not a beautiful and human country in its own right — and severely criticize the people’s way of living.

Cambodia is a country with many marvelous aspects, too many to mention here; marvels such as Angkor Watt, however, when I sped off to Bull’s Tavern. I was leaning to the bar, ordering my first round of beers, when I overheard a Cal Poly alumnu (I think) say rather loudly to two others, as if he were making a toast, "Does Cal Poly football suck, or what?"

I walked over, laughing, and asked them what they were talking about, and they said tonight’s game. I then said, "Let me guess — you left after the first half." Yep.

After telling them how badly they blew it for leaving early, I went into a 30-minute rendition of the last 1:59 of the game. I then danced a jigg around the bar and went on my way.

Cal Poly’s football team has so much talent. They’ve twice as much talent as they are ever given credit for. I believe them. Mustangs — nice job!

Russ DeLugan Agribusiness senior

CORRECTION
An article in the Oct. 13 edition of Mustang Daily misstated the hours and the cost of service at the House of Iital Restaurant. The actual hours are Monday and Tuesday from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The cost is $6.25. The Daily regrets the error.
Smoke detectors need checkups, experts say

Associated Press

checkups, experts say smoke detectors need nearly half by providing an early risk of dying in a home fire by third do not work because of warning and critical extra machines.

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.

MILITARY:

From page 2

machine.
FOOTBALL: Mustangs score touchdown with 12 seconds left and score two-point conversion to beat rival Davis

from page 8:

bom to junior wide receiver Hitoshi Ono.

"On the first drive we didn't score," Tiffany said. "But we knew we could move the ball!"

Davis took over on its own one-yard line but any movement was quelled by the Mustang defense.

"It would have been selfish for me to go for the tie and a better record than to risk the win. There's no way I would cheat those kids, they fought too hard to come back and win it. There's no way I would just go for the tie."

Andere Patterson
(6 Poly Football Head Coach)

The Aggies were forced to try out of their own end zone and handed Cal Poly two points when Davis punter Steve Russell accidentally stepped on the back line of the end zone.

After the safety, Davis kicked off from their 20-yard line and Cal Poly returned it to the Davis 48-yard line.

The Mustangs would cover those 48 yards in seven plays, culminating in a one-yard touchdown run by freshman running back Dan Nguyen.

Fisher then completed a pass to Thomas to pick up the two-point conversion and Davis' lead was 3-2 at 04:10.

Cal Poly got the ball back in unproductive Davis possession and started out towards the end zone from their own 20.

This time the Mustangs would cover 80 yards in nine plays as Nguyen scored another touchdown on a one-yard run.

With freshman kicker James Tuthill's extra point, the score became 24-17 and stayed such into the fourth quarter.

Davis would score next after moving 69 yards in six plays when quarterback Chris Chambers completed a 15-yard pass to tight end Aaron Bennetts.

In the next series Fisher would throw an interception, which Davis failed to capitalize on when kicker Mike Ellis' 38-yard field goal attempt flew wide to the left.

Cal Poly would score again on its next possession after taking 12 plays to cover 78 yards. Thomas scored a touchdown off a 15-yard pass from Fisher.

Tuthill came through with the extra point to bring the Mustangs within seven of Davis, 31-24.

"I told the defense that if we could stop them one more time, we will win," he said.

Davis would again have to punt the ball back to Cal Poly and the stage was set for a Mustang victory with 1.57 left in the game.

Cal Poly started the series on its own 12-yard line and Fisher picked up four yards on a scramble.

Fisher would then complete five passes in his quest to throwing into the ground to stop the clock with 33 seconds left.

The Mustangs were on the Davis 8-yard line and after two incomplete passes, Fisher's throw found freshman running back Antonio Warren, who ran into the left corner of the end zone.

The drive covered 86 yards in ten plays and left the score 31-30 with 12 seconds remaining.

Patterson elected to go for the two-point conversion.

"It would have been selfish for me to go for the tie and a better record than to risk the win," said Patterson. "There's no way I would cheat those kids, they fought too hard to come back and win it. There's no way I would just go for the tie."

"I was thinking I would just throw the ball," Fisher said. "But the receivers were covered and I had a line into the corner of the end zone."

Fisher would then complete two passes to set up another touchdown for Thomas, who scored a touchdown off a one-yard run.

The Mustangs would cover those 48 yards in seven plays, culminating in a one-yard touchdown run by freshman running back Dan Nguyen.

Fisher then completed a pass to Thomas to pick up the two-point conversion and Davis' lead was 3-2 at 04:10.

Cal Poly got the ball back in unproductive Davis possession and started out towards the end zone from their own 20.

This time the Mustangs would cover 80 yards in nine plays as Nguyen scored another touchdown on a one-yard run.

With freshman kicker James Tuthill's extra point, the score became 24-17 and stayed such into the fourth quarter.

Davis would score next after moving 69 yards in six plays when quarterback Chris Chambers completed a 15-yard pass to tight end Aaron Bennetts.

In the next series Fisher would throw an interception, which Davis failed to capitalize on when kicker Mike Ellis' 38-yard field goal attempt flew wide to the left.

Cal Poly would score again on its next possession after taking 12 plays to cover 78 yards. Thomas scored a touchdown off a 15-yard pass from Fisher.

Tuthill came through with the extra point to bring the Mustangs within seven of Davis, 31-24.

"I told the defense that if we could stop them one more time, we will win," he said.

Davis would again have to punt the ball back to Cal Poly and the stage was set for a Mustang victory with 1.57 left in the game.

Cal Poly started the series on its own 12-yard line and Fisher picked up four yards on a scramble.

Fisher would then complete five passes in his quest to throwing into the ground to stop the clock with 33 seconds left.

The Mustangs were on the Davis 8-yard line and after two incomplete passes, Fisher's throw found freshman running back Antonio Warren, who ran into the left corner of the end zone.

The drive covered 86 yards in ten plays and left the score 31-30 with 12 seconds remaining.

Patterson elected to go for the two-point conversion.

"It would have been selfish for me to go for the tie and a better record than to risk the win," said Patterson. "There's no way I would cheat those kids, they fought too hard to come back and win it. There's no way I would just go for the tie."

"I was thinking I would just throw the ball," Fisher said. "But the receivers were covered and I had a line into the corner of the end zone."

"I saw I was running out of space so I just dove — like playng Yoga — just push that 'A' button for dive and you score."

Davis Head Coach Bob Biggs said the credit for the win belonged to the Mustangs.

"You have to give credit where credit is due," Biggs said. "The second half was a combination of us not putting things together and then putting together a passing game."

"Fisher did a good job of getting the ball on the money."

Bennetts thought the big lead going into the half might have contributed to Davis' downfall.

"We tried to keep everybody's head in the game," he said. "But you do something like that and you can't put things together."
WOMEN: Cal Poly ranks sixth in West Region in quest for playoff berth

From page 8

MEN: Poly capitalized on Master's mistakes

From page 8

BRIEFS: Cal Poly women's team finished fifth

In the women's competition, senior Kelly Flaherty (17:47) finished fourth as the top Cal Poly runner.

Fresno State won the women's competition while Stanford, UC Santa Barbara and Cal finished second, third and fourth respectively.

The teams will travel to Fresno next weekend for the California-Nevada Championships. The Mustangs will return home from the American West Meet Conference Oct. 29.
Poly downs Davis in Mustang miracle

By Mike Shlipr
10/19/94

Cal Poly's football team redefined the term 'bookending' Saturday when they rallied from a 24-point deficit, and beat rival UC-Davis 32-31 in the waning seconds.

The evening started rather suspiciously for Davis — after all they were ahead 24-0 at the half and host Cal Poly had just been mowed down by three men riding atop a train boxcar.

The night would turn into a Cal Poly record-breaker, through, before the final whistle.

"This was the biggest game of my coaching career," said Cal Poly Head Coach Andre Patterson. He noted that Saturday's victory rivaled beating Washington in a snow storm, that led Washington State to the Copper Bowl.

The first half belonged to Davis. The Mustangs missed a field goal, had an interception, fumbled a snap and botched a punt.

"We had guys open in the first half," said junior quarterback Mike Fisher. "We just weren't hitting them."

Patterson agreed with Fisher. "We didn't score in the first half because of our own mistakes," he said.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

Women's soccer team stays in playoff hunt with pair of weekend victories

By Gally Faling
10/17/94

In a game that women's soccer Head Coach Alex Creaser said the team needed to win, to make the playoffs, the Mustangs defeated University of San Diego 2-1 Sunday afternoon.

The team swept a pair of home games this weekend to improve its record to 10-3-1.

Sophomore defender Lori Wagner scored to tie the game at 1-1 midway through the first half.

With about 15 minutes left in the contest, freshman Florida Portida scored on a crossing pass from junior midfielder Stacy Davis to give the team the winning goal.

Friday night, Cal Poly spoiled past Division II Cal State San Bernardino 3-0 at Mustang Stadium.

"We played well," said Mustang Head Coach Alex Creaser. "We passed well and held control of the ball.

"We are starting to click a bit more. We're finding our players and making things happen." The Mustangs (9-3-1) dominated the first half with their aggressive defense and well-executed offense, but had difficulty scoring.

With 20 minutes left in the first half, junior midfielder Rebekah Kanno scored her team-high third goal of the season, on a pass from freshman forward Michelle Numao. Kansas, at the top of the goal box, kicked the ball past an area juggling Coyote goalkeeper Addie Jacobs, giving the Mustangs a 2-0 lead.

Junior midfielder Wendy Jones kicks the ball, as San Bernardino's defense tries to block the ball in Friday's game / Daily photo by L. Scott Robinson.

Men's soccer triumphs over Master's, 3-1

By France Candadale
10/19/94

The Cal Poly men's soccer team triumphed over Master's College 3-1 Friday night at Mustang Stadium, snapping its five-game winless streak.

The hero of the game was freshman forward Martin Haynes, who stretched out to beat a goal at the 11 minute mark from a pass by sophomore midfielder Brian Willey. The goal gave Cal Poly a 2-1 lead.

"The goal I scored was very important," he said. "It put us out of our disappointing losing streak. My dad kept on telling me to dive for those shots going across the goal. I finally listened to him."

Shortly thereafter, Haynes passed to senior midfielder Darrell Le who scored the third goal for the Mustangs, clinching the victory.

"The last 15 minutes was a sign of how well Cal Poly can play soccer," said Cal Poly Head Coach Wolfgang Gartner. "We attacked more and really took it to them."

Master's College scored first when Bryan Lee knocked one in at 25:43 in the first half. Lee, who anticipated a bad pass by the Cal Poly defense, broke away for a left-footed goal.

However, less than a minute later Mustang senior forward Darrin Henderson scored the second goal. Utilizing his athletic ability, Henderson jumped above the hands of Master's 6-foot-5. See MEN, page 7.

POLY BRIEFS

Cross country men win meet

Cal Poly's men's cross country team claimed the title and the women's squad finished fifth as they hosted the Hind-Cal Poly Invitational Saturday at Escuela Park.

Cal Poly senior Coley Candadale (25:08) was the winner in the men's field while senior Dan Felt (25:26) claimed second in a field of 84 runners.

Mustang senior Ryan Wren (25:41) finished fourth as Cal Poly claimed three of the top four spots. Fresno State's Israel Pee (25:52) finished third.

UC-Santa Barbara finished second in the men's team competition while rival Fresno State placed third.

Junior Will Bower, who finished 20th in the meet and fifth in the team said the team's strategy of getting good positioning in the middle worked.

See BRIEFS, page 11.

SCHEDULE

VOLLEYBALL

Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at UOP

MEN's SOCCER

Tonight, 7 p.m. at Santa Clara