Pure Polypalooza

Concert draws crowd of nearly 1,000 despite rainy weather

By Erika Edler
Daily Staff Writer

Despite Saturday's rain and wind, coordinators of Polypalooza 2 reported a healthy turnout of concert-goers. Members of Sigma Nu fraternity, as well as volunteers from the AIDS Support Network (ASN) said they were pleased with the event which featured six local bands. The concert was coordinated to raise money for San Luis Obispo's ASN.

"This event was scheduled to go off and the weather kinda put a damper on things, but there's still a lot of people showing up," said Sigma Nu President Darrin Lee during the concert.

According to Lee, the fraternity started planning the event in November, when the group contacted the ASN to possibly work together for Polypalooza 2. ASN Executive Director Susan Hughes said the agency was excited to learn they had been chosen by the fraternity.

"It's very important that we continue to make the student body... of Cal Poly continually aware that AIDS exists," she said. "It's great because it mixes a fun environment with a hard topic."

Fanny Wrappers, a local lingerie store, donated 200 condoms, which were given to concert-goers at the entrance. Students attending summer quarter classes may not have the option of eating at BackStage Pizza during the sandwich plant.

According to Associate Campus Dining Director Alan Cushman, BackStage Pizza and the Sandwich Plant will likely be closed during summer quarter. A final decision will be made later this quarter, he said.

Low student enrollment and a low number of conferences held last summer resulted in heavy losses for Campus Dining, which had budgeted to lose $454,000 but instead lost $513,000 — $59,000 more than expected, Cushman said.

In fact, according to Michael Voth, Assistant Director of Operations for Campus Dining, at the end of last August Campus Dining was half a million dollars "in the red." He declined additional comment.

Students attending summer quarter classes may not have the option of eating at BackStage Pizza or the Sandwich Plant.

According to Associate Campus Dining Director Alan Cushman, BackStage Pizza and the Sandwich Plant will likely be closed during summer quarter. A final decision will be made later this quarter, he said.

Low student enrollment and a low number of conferences held last summer resulted in heavy losses for Campus Dining, which had budgeted to lose $454,000 but instead lost $513,000 — $59,000 more than expected, Cushman said.

In fact, according to Michael Voth, Assistant Director of Operations for Campus Dining, at the end of last August Campus Dining was half a million dollars "in the red." He declined additional comment.

At last Thursday's Findings and Operations Committee meeting, Voth formally announced the possible closure to committee members.

Closing BackStage Pizza would effect the ASI budget, according to ASI Vice President for Operations Steven Steinhauser and ASI President Erica Brown.

Foundation rents the space in the University Union from ASI. If Backstage is closed this summer, the University Union would lose an estimated $3,500 in rent, Cushman said.

"By closing it down, they're decreasing our income and we have a plan to review the ASI budget," Steinhauser said.

In a telephone interview with Baker on April 24, he said a 10 percent increase may be forthcoming, which would be added to Gov. Pete Wilson's proposed 10 percent increase.

The increases would enable Cal Poly to maintain the high standards and high funding required for a polytechnic university during a period of increased enrollment, Howard-Greene said.

In the April 18 edition of Outlook, an occasional publication of the Cal Poly administration, Baker set the wheels in motion for the development of the comprehensive plan in an article that he authored.

Baker wrote that the plan would "place Cal Poly in the forefront of public higher education in California."

Civil Rights Week to educate, inspire Poly

Civil Rights Awareness Week kicks off today at Cal Poly, with hopes of providing a variety of speakers and forums to address current civil rights issues.

According to event organizers, topics relating to women's rights, affirmative action and the criminal justice system will be addressed today through Thursday.

The fifth annual Civil Rights Awareness Week — "Civil Rights and the Economy: A Hope for the Future" — is sponsored and organized by the Civil Rights Awareness Committee. The committee is comprised of students who work year-round to put on the event, according to Stan Rosenfield, the committee's co-adviser. Anna McDonald, Cal Poly's director of affirmative action, is the club's other adviser.

"We want to make people aware of different civil rights," Rosenfield said. According to Rosenfield, presentations will include discussions led by Cal Poly economist professor Dan Villegas and Stanford University professor Martin Carnoy, the author of "Faded Dreams — The Politics and Economics of Race in America."

McDonald said she recommends attending Carnoy's presentation.

"He gives an objective view of the myths surrounding economic equality in the U.S. and the reasons why it does not exist in his book," McDonald said.

The presentations will be restricted to issues concerning the United States alone. Cal Poly Foreign Languages and Literature Professor Oda Clause will give a general presentation for Amnesty International and the women's rights campaign, which might include videos of women who

In a telephone interview with Baker on April 24, he said a 10 percent increase may be forthcoming, which would be added to Gov. Pete Wilson's proposed 10 percent increase.

The increases would enable Cal Poly to maintain the high standards and high funding required for a polytechnic university during a period of increased enrollment, Howard-Greene said.

In the April 18 edition of Outlook, an occasional publication of the Cal Poly administration, Baker set the wheels in motion for the development of the comprehensive plan in an article that he authored.

Baker wrote that the plan would "place Cal Poly in the forefront of public higher education in California."

Civil Rights Week to educate, inspire Poly

Civil Rights Awareness Week kicks off today at Cal Poly, with hopes of providing a variety of speakers and forums to address current civil rights issues.

According to event organizers, topics relating to women's rights, affirmative action and the criminal justice system will be addressed today through Thursday.

The fifth annual Civil Rights Awareness Week — "Civil Rights and the Economy: A Hope for the Future" — is sponsored and organized by the Civil Rights Awareness Committee. The committee is comprised of students who work year-round to put on the event, according to Stan Rosenfield, the committee's co-adviser. Anna McDonald, Cal Poly's director of affirmative action, is the club's other adviser.

"We want to make people aware of different civil rights," Rosenfield said. According to Rosenfield, presentations will include discussions led by Cal Poly economist professor Dan Villegas and Stanford University professor Martin Carnoy, the author of "Faded Dreams — The Politics and Economics of Race in America."

McDonald said she recommends attending Carnoy's presentation.

"He gives an objective view of the myths surrounding economic equality in the U.S. and the reasons why it does not exist in his book," McDonald said.

The presentations will be restricted to issues concerning the United States alone. Cal Poly Foreign Languages and Literature Professor Oda Clause will give a general presentation for Amnesty International and the women's rights campaign, which might include videos of women who
City parking garages will have extended hours
San Luis Obispo will be extending the hours of operations for its parking garages on Friday and Saturday evenings. The parking garage will be staffed and fees charged beyond the current hours of operation from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays are free.

For more information, call the City of San Luis Obispo's Parking Office at 781-7230.

ASI rejects plan to review accountability

By Karin L. Spitzer
July Staff Writer

Despite an opportunity to study communication and accountability within ASI, the board of directors rejected a bill that would do just that.

During last Wednesday's ASI meeting, several board members expressed a need for improved communication within ASI. Others said the bill — authored by the Internal Review Committee — is faulty and would be outside the board's scope of responsibility. "This is bad legislation," said Director of Programs and Facilities John Stipiicovich. "This is micromanagement."

But in the face of recent problems within ASI, such as the transfer of payroll and human resources duties to the Cal Poly Foundation, many board members see a need to investigate ASI communication techniques. "I'm just calling for a committee to do some research ... on accountability," said College of Agriculture representative Steve MeShane, who rewrote the bill.

"Ibm Norwood of the San Luis Obispo People's Kitchen will also be speaking about the rights of the homeless. ... that we recognize that everyone has civil rights," Norwood said. "We have built our existence on the slave labor of the down and out."

Civil Rights Awareness Week begins tonight at 7 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium, with a speech from a representative from the Blue Diamond Walnut Foundation. Richardson's presentation is sponsored by the ASI Speaker's Bureau.

Strikers, a group of workers that have been on strike for labor disputes since September, have been protesting ASI's treatment of them. But according to Sheila Baker, a volunteer for Civil Rights Awareness Week, one of the highlight events is Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium. Richardson was the co-producer for "Malcolm X" and "Eyes on the Prize." Richardson's presentation is sponsored by the ASI Speaker's Bureau.
Clinton announces cutoff of U.S. trade and investment with Iran

By Ron Farrow
Associated Press

NEW YORK — President Clinton said Sunday he will end U.S. trade and investment with Iran, denouncing Tehran as "an insidious paramilitary to terrorism" and urging Russia to scuttle an Iranian nuclear deal.

"I am convinced that instituting a trade embargo with Iran is the most effective way our nation can help curb Iran's drive to acquire devastating weapons and support terrorist activities," Clinton said in a speech prepared for delivery Sunday night.

The action, which White House officials concede could cost hundreds of thousands of American jobs and cause a slight short-term increase in fuel prices, deprives U.S. companies and their subsidiaries of the lucrative Iranian oil market. It also will eliminate U.S. exports, which totaled $256 million in 1994.

Clinton's plan was outlined in a speech prepared for the World Jewish Congress, an audience sensitive to Middle East terrorism. "To do nothing more as Iran continues its pursuit of nuclear weapons would be disastrous," Clinton said. "And to stand pat in the face of overwhelming evidence of Tehran's support for terrorists would threaten to darken the dawn of peace between Israel and her neighbors."

He also singled out Iraq and Libya as nations that "thunder for nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction.

FEES: Cal Poly has five options for funding, but administrators say an increase in student fees is likely developing strategies for increased growth and improved quality, productivity and accountability."

From page 1

According to the article, preliminary discussions were held with California State University Chancellor Barry Munitz and his Cabinet in March, and the "responses from the Chancellor and some members of the Board of Trustees have been very positive." Baker has already set up a "steering committee" that contains three Cal Poly vice presidents — Bob Koob of Academic Affairs, Patrick Lebas of Administration and Finance and Juan Gonzalez of Student Affairs, as well as three officials appointed by the chancellor.

The actual amount of the increase is not known at this time, Howard-Greene said. But if the state fails to provide the funding needed, Baker said, "the state will have to be made up in other ways, Howard-Greene said.

Regarding a plan for this campus," he said. "We will offer venues for wide-ranging discussions among all constituents.

"I am convinced that instituting a trade embargo with Iran is the most effective way our nation can help curb Iran's drive to acquire devastating weapons and support terrorist activities," Clinton said in a speech prepared for delivery Sunday night.

The action, which White House officials concede could cost hundreds of thousands of American jobs and cause a slight short-term increase in fuel prices, deprives U.S. companies and their subsidiaries of the lucrative Iranian oil market. It also will eliminate U.S. exports, which totaled $256 million in 1994.

Clinton's plan was outlined in a speech prepared for the World Jewish Congress, an audience sensitive to Middle East terrorism. "To do nothing more as Iran continues its pursuit of nuclear weapons would be disastrous," Clinton said. "And to stand pat in the face of overwhelming evidence of Tehran's support for terrorists would threaten to darken the dawn of peace between Israel and her neighbors."

He also singled out Iraq and Libya as nations that "thunder for nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction.

FEES: Cal Poly has five options for funding, but administrators say an increase in student fees is likely
Save sex for marriage

Most experts, when made to examine the facts about sexually-transmitted diseases, will state categorically that abstinence is not only safer than sex with a partner that has only methodically checked one’s safety from STDs, unwanted pregnancies, emotional trauma and other problems associated with the misuse of sex.

The truth is that abstinence is the safest way for people to conduct themselves sexually in a world where it is difficult to count the number of STDs that exist. And, as with any type of health issue, we should be telling us and pushing for. Is there evidence that is not interpreted different ways. With the problem with us, I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

The problem with sexually-transmitted diseases is not that we don't have enough condoms. The problem that is that we have a death grip on a dangerous and selfish philosophy. If people abstain from sexual relations, then sexually-transmitted diseases would no longer threaten humans. Of course, if people abstain from sex completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

The Other Side

Christopher Reneau

It is that our desire for an orgasm has surpassed all standards of common sense and morality. The U.S. is number-one in teen pregnancy, divorce and violent crime. If humans act on what they believe, then what do Americans believe? Where is it getting them?

The sexual habits of the nation are becoming increasingly more expensive in both dollars and lives. In our attempt to control our emotions, we have lost the ability to conduct a safe sex life. As we examine the progress of this device, however, we find the problem is not going away, but is instead worsening.

Contrary to popular belief, humans can control their sexual urges. A little self-control is exactly what is needed to contain our emotional outbursts. But the fact that STDs persist is because we still have a death grip on a dangerous and selfish philosophy.

I have recently found myself reflecting on the changes, both good and bad, that have taken place on our campus and in our world in the past few years.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

Listening to African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I hear statements from African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

Letters

Jeep/Eagle promotion didn’t make sense

I am happy to say, however, that the destiny of human beings is not solely the construction and use of a piece of rubber. Sex is only a small part of life compared to everything we have to be concerned about. If you focus your mind on the Truth, and the Truth says save sex for marriage.

Christopher Reneau is a mechanical engineering freshman. His column appears every other Monday.

Can’t we all just get along?

By Shawn Dunnig

Now maybe I’m way off here, but it is my belief we are all human beings — one race. Who gives a shit what color skin you have. You are my friend and I am yours. If your ethnic makeup includes you within a certain culture, then I respect your beliefs of that culture and the lifestyle by which self-control is practiced.

Many people come from many cultures. If we want to get along, however, we must have some sort of common understanding among our race, the human race.

I believe understanding is in each and every one of us. Some people just deny it because they are brainwashed not to accept people of different color. The understanding is that we all think in this together. I think deep down in each person, the whole is something that says, “We all live on the same planet; let’s strive to understand each other’s thoughts.”

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

Listening to African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

Listening to African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

Listening to African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

Listening to African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

Listening to African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?

Listening to African-Americans about how it is to walk into a room and have everyone staring at you. Granted, there are lots of people that don’t know what to do. Therefore, It’s harder for me to feel there is a problem.

I dream for the day that none of the latter people exist; however, I believe the day comes for each and every one of us when we realize we are who we are, we are proud of who we are, and we believe in what we believe regardless of others’ thoughts.

I certainly don’t have all the answers or insight. And what I just said could probably be interpreted different ways. The point with me, however, is I have never seen a couple that is completely, the human race would cease to exist. Certainly, abstinence from sex altogether is not the answer. So what is?
From page 1:

"It would decrease the lease payments."

Because of the equipment in BackStage, the space cannot be rented out for other purposes, Brown said.

"If it was a place that could be moved around, we could rent it to somebody else and make some money," she said.

Director of Programs and Facilities John Stipicevich said the money loss affects spending for next year.

"That's $3,000 we won't be able to spend on something else next year," he said.

ASI is in the process of reviewing its contract with Foundation regarding BackStage Pizza, according to Steinhauser.

"Right now we're looking at legal council to tell us if this is a breach of contract or not," Steinhauser said.

According to Brown, it seems that the contract indicates that a mutual agreement needs to be reached between ASI and Foundation.

"The Foundation is making a business decision to avoid the red ink, to keep from losing money," Steinhauser said. "On a personal level, I'm not that happy about it."

Although Brown is concerned about the loss of revenue, she emphasized that the problem is Foundation hasn't been taking students' opinions into consideration in recent decisions and changes made.

"It's affecting the services we like," she said. "Not only is it not serving students needs, but it's also messing up our budget."

Findings and Operations committee member and industrial engineering senior Ms Malek-Madani was disappointed with the announcement.

"The money is not the issue," she said. "It's that people want to eat pizza.

Brown said the Foundation has been losing money with The Avenue since it opened last fall.

"They say they do things for the students, but they never ask them what they want," she said. "If they asked us in the first place, they'd be doing better in terms of revenue and in terms of customer service."

Cushman students would probably not be surveyed about the possible closure of BackStage and Sandwich Plant.

According to Cushman, closing BackStage Pizza and the Sandwich Plant seems like the best option for Campus Dining.

"This would satisfy the greatest customer demand," he said. "For us to have multiple operations open is very expensive."

According to Cushman, keeping The Avenue open would give students a place to eat on campus the most variety of food.

"You have to maintain quality service," he said. "You can't have all things at once. You need to have a balance."

According to Cushman, the pizza has brought in $180,000 in new revenue to the campus in addition to the food services.

"Many people eat there all the time, and we are not losing money," he said.

BackStage is currently making more money than The Avenue, but Cushman anticipates that during the summer, The Avenue will make more money.

Students reactions to the possible closure of BackStage Pizza have varied.

"It might be wise maybe because there's not enough students in the summer," said crop science senior Dave Podestà. "I personally eat there a lot during the school year."

The 64-member Los Angeles crew — made up of firefighters, doctors, structural engineers, and canine handlers and their dogs — arrived at March Air Force Base Saturday. They had been searching the remnants of the Murrah Federal Building since the day after the April 19 blast.

Although no final decision has been made, Cushman said it is likely BackStage will close this summer.

"We think the Foundation is very serious about closing Back-Stage," Stipicevich said. "As the director of Programs and Facilities, I feel it's a shame that we're closing a food service in our building."

Student Council Is Proud

To Announce the Recipients of the 1994 - 1995

Teacher of the year

Dr. Richard Shaffer
Social Science

Student of the year

Kimberly McLennan
English

Club of the year

Lambda Pi Eta
Speech Communication Club

The College of Liberal Arts

WANTED!

KCPR news director

KCPR is currently accepting applications for the '95 - '96 News Director position.

Applicants should have taken Journ 333 and 351. Applicants should submit a one page essay detailing past activities activities which will likely enhance their effectiveness as news director and goals for the future of both 91 News and KCPR. Applications are due in the News Director Chad Johnson's box in KCPR's news room by 5 p.m. Monday, May 8th.

LA rescue team returns from Oklahoma

LOS ANGELES — As a weary Los Angeles County search and rescue team returned after more than a week of sifting through rubble in Oklahoma City, an Orange County crew headed to the bombing site to continue the grim task.

"It's one of the main places to eat on campus," she said. "I don't think it would be a good thing.

Besides affecting students eating on campus, closing Back-Stage Pizza and the Sandwich Plant would affect student employees as well.

"We don't see them every day, but we see them often," said English senior Dale Cushman. "Many students eat there once a day."

Cushman said employees were forewarned of the possibility of closing certain facilities.

"We're trying to maintain quality service," he said. "You can't have all things at once. You need to have a balance."

"We're trying to maintain quality service," he said. "You can't have all things at once. You need to have a balance."

"We thought it would make a little more than it has, but we are not losing money," he said.

"'The money is not the issue," he said. "It's that people want to eat pizza."

"We expect to see mostly victims instead of survivors," said fire Capt. Bob Patterson, team leader. "But we're going with a positive outlook and we will do the best we can."

Two other California teams, from Sacramento and Menlo Park, have also sent teams to Oklahoma.

Members of the Los Angeles County crew were welcomed home by more than 100 relatives, friends and co-workers at the Fire Department's Pacoima facility.

Hey Cal Poly, Stay Cool!

May 1 - 4

Book Sale
9am-3pm
in front of the bookstore

SAVE 50% - 75%
Hundres of Books Marked Down
Old Editions - Publishers Overstock - Slightly Worn
All new titles! All new titles!

SLO Self Storage
154 Suburban Rd.
San Luis Obispo
546-9788

WANTED!

KCPR news director
Greenpeace occupies North Sea oil platform

LO^DON — Greenpeace activists occupied an old North Sea oil platform Sunday to stop it from being junked at sea.

Four climbers used ropes and winches to scale the Brent Spar, 118 miles northeast of the Shetland Islands. It is the first of the 400 North Sea oil platforms that are to be dumped at sea, with the government's permission.

Police and Shell U.K. Exploration and Production, which owns the platform, were monitoring the situation. No one has been arrested.

Greenpeace, which wants the platform dismantled and removed, said the climbers have supplies for what is expected to be a long occupation on the platform, 90 feet above the sea. The Greenpeace ship Moby Dick was standing by.

Greenpeace said the Brent Spar contains over 100 tons of toxic sludge, including oil, arsenic, cadmium, PCBs and lead, plus more than 30 tons of radioactive waste left over from oil drilling and storage operations.

Shell defended its plans, saying in a statement that permission to dump the rig was granted "after a full evaluation of the technical, environmental, safety and cost factors." It made no mention of toxic materials.

From page 1 away free condoms as well as other information about AIDS. People were lined up around the concert area. This year a lot of people wanted to help out," Lee said. "We had to pick and choose who we wanted to do it.

Sarhangi said that amount is more than last year, when Polypalooza raised funds for the San Luis Obispo Parks and Recreation Department.

Sigma Nu also received $1,000 in donations from the community to put on the event. After paying the bands, stage set-up fees, and donating the rest to ASN, the fraternity broke even.

Band members said they were happy about the event.

"It's mostly for the benefits (that we're playing)," he said. "It's cool because people come out and see us, and it's for a really good cause."
BASEBALL: Mustangs record first shutout

From page 8

distance allowing three runs on seven hits but failed again to get his first save of the season.

The game marked the final home game for Hornets. Besides Croxall, Townes, Mueller, Feruzetto, senior pitcher Danny Miller, R.J. Simone and Shannon Stephens all made their final appearance at San Luis Obispo Stadium.

Thus in the 8-1 game, Sacramento State scored three runs in the top of the third inning and held on for a 4-3 win in front of 235 people.

Cal Poly took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning as sophomore designated hitter Jon Macaluso and Mueller had RBI singles in a four-hit inning off Hornets' starter Mike Eby However, Eby settled down, and shutout the Mustangs for six straight innings before giving up a run in the eighth inning.

Sacramento State's three-run third inning, which made it 4-2, was also the offense the Hornets would need. Cal Poly starter Simone gave up four hits in the inning as the Hornets strung together three consecutive hits.

Simone (2-7) battled throughout the game as he scattered eight hits over 6 1/3 innings and struck out 10, but it wasn't enough to avoid losing his team's seventh straight game of the season.

Friday's game, a 2-1 victory for the Mustangs, was the Stephenson's show. The senior, who was playing in his last home game, allowed one run on five hits and struck out six. "Three of those strikeouts came against Hornets' first baseman Dan Ely, who struck out in all three of his at bats against Stephens. "Mueller knocked in both runs for the Mustangs with a two-out double to center field in the first inning as he and Team had a .373 batting average — pounded out three hits — two singles and a double."

Rivera (5-5) didn't allow a hit after the third inning and retired 12 straight batters at one point in the game to record his team's fifth win of the season.

Rivera settled down after the first inning as he held Cal Poly scoreless the rest of the way. But the two Cal Poly runs were enough to give Rivera (5-5) his fifth loss of the season as the Hornets' offense could not get anything going against the Mustangs' pitching.

Stephenson improved his career strikeout total to 198, as he looks to become the sixth pitcher in Mustangs' history to record 200 strikeouts.

Stephens (5-0) battled throughout the game as he scattered eight hits over 6 1/3 innings and struck out 10, but it wasn't enough to avoid losing his team's seventh straight game of the season.

Not counting Sunday night's game at Seattle, there were 64 runs in the first five games of the week. Teams sold 1,875,694 tickets, an average of 28,501.

Last April, teams sold 2,920,963 tickets for 317 games, an average of 29,307. The season average was 31,162.

"I don't think we'll be able to tell if June or July what the strike did to us as far as attention," said Philadelphia Phils owner Bill Giles, whose team averaged 37,300 for its first two home games. I think you're going to see some of the clubs like Kansas City and Pittsburgh in particular — who got rid of a bunch of players — hurt in attendance."

Pittsburgh averaged 20,944 for two home games and Kansas City averaged 22,151 for four games. The Royals' figures didn't mean a lot to promote, it's much too early to make any judgment," acting commissioner Bud Selig said Sunday. "When there's warmer weather and races heat up, attendance will improve.

"I knew it was going to be bad, but I didn't know it was going to be this bad," Blue Jays president Paul Beeston said. "We knew there was going to be a lot of worry. But it won't come easily, it won't come quickly and it won't come unless we address it properly with the fans."

"I'd like to see us get one of those facilities completed within 19 months," he said. "By the turn of the century, we would have all the facilities in place and functional."
MUSTANG DAILY

SPORTS

Mustangs' pitching makes a recovery

Cal Poly holds Sac. St. to just four runs in its final home series, gets first shutout this year

By Scott Robinson

After a rough month for its pitching staff, Cal Poly got back on track with two good pitching performances as it took two of three games against Sacramento State in its final home series of the season.

After splitting the first two games, Cal Poly (17-26, 10-12 Big West) got back on track with two good pitching performances as it took two of three games against Sacramento State in its final home series of the season.

The Mustangs went on to win the last two games, 6-2 and 7-0, after splitting the first two, 3-2 and 4-0.

Athletics department looks to build new facilities in its next move in Division I

By Garrett M. Mtttler

As the academic year draws to a close, so too does Cal Poly's first year as a Division I athletic program.

Now is the time to start evaluating the successes and shortcomings of the athletic department and its individual programs.

One of the items high on the list of needed improvements is the existing football, basketball, baseball and softball facilities.

According to Assistant Athletic Director Chuck Sleeper, upgraded playing field facilities are an essential part of Cal Poly's transition to Division I.

"Our plans to upgrade our facilities was a key part of the reason we were admitted to Division I," he said. "Without these capital improvements, we would have been less attractive to the selection committee." The students have already been asked to put up some major dollars for athletics and they've done that," he said. "We want to be able to turn around and give them a Division I program to be proud of.""We're looking at a football/soccer stadium with an initial capacity from 12,000 to 15,000. A significant improvement over what we have now." Chuck Sleeper Assistant athletic director

BASEBALL

Cal Poly held Sacramento State to just three hits and struck out eight in its first complete game of the season.

The Mustangs took a 3-0 win over the Hornets in the first game of the doubleheader on Friday, then split the second game, 2-1 and 1-0, on Saturday.

New York vs. Cleveland

Game 1: 3/10, CLE. 79

Game 2: CLE. 90, NY 84

Series tied at 1-1 Next game: New York at Cleveland, Monday, 5 p.m. (TNT)

Orlando vs. Boston

Game 1: ORL. 124, BOS. 77

Game 2: BOS. 99, ORL. 92

Series tied at 1-1 Next game: Orlando at Boston, Wednesday, 4 p.m. (TNT)

Indiana vs. Atlanta

Game 1: IND. 90, ATL. 82

Game 2: IND. 105, ATL. 97

Indiana leads series 2-0 Next game: Indiana at Atlanta, Tuesday, 4 p.m. (TBS)

UAB vs. Houston

Game 1: UAB. 102, HOUST. 100

Game 2: HOUS. 140, UAB 126

Series tied at 1-1 Next game: UAB at Houston, Tuesday, 5:30 p.m. (TNT)

Seattle vs. La Laker

Game 1: SEA. 96, LA. 71

NBA ROUNDUP

Nomo to debut against Giants

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Japanese pitching star Hideo Nomo will make his major league debut Tuesday for the Los Angeles Dodgers when he faces the San Francisco Giants.

Nomo will make his major league debut Tuesday for the Los Angeles Dodgers when he faces the San Francisco Giants.

The Dodgers added Nomo to their roster Sunday. The 26-year-old right-hander signed a minor league contract in February.

Nomo pitched the last five seasons for the Kintetsu Buffaloes in Japan's Pacific League and had a 78-46 record with a 3.15 ERA and 1,204 strikeouts in 1,051 1-3 innings with the Buffaloes.

On the women's side, Mustangs' doubles team of Michelle Berkowitz and Christine Hsu lost in the semifinals against Regina Cushi and Sue Hsu from Cal State Bakersfield, 6-3, 6-0.

Inland Empire

By Gorrett M. Mtttler

"Our plans to upgrade our facilities was a key part of the reason we were admitted to Division I," he said. "Without these capital improvements, we would have been less attractive to the selection committee."