Find a penny, pick it up and give it to Poly's Children's Center

By Colleen M. Goislor

A penny seems to have lost its value in today's economy, but that's not the feeling of the kids at Cal Poly's Children's Center.

Children have a way of pointing out the value in many things adults often take for granted. For adults, spare change is something that just makes noise in their pockets when they walk. For children, it is the beginning of insurmountable wealth.

This is the simplistic approach to a find-raiser that has caused people to start emptying their pockets. It is the First Annual Children's Penny Harvest, taking place throughout the campus Oct. 17-31.

The goal of the harvest is to collect 600,000 pennies, roughly $6,000 in spare change. This would enable the Children's Center to repair or purchase new play equipment such as water tables, tricycles, scooters, floor mats and balance beams.

More than 200 brown paper bags, donated by Vons in Piampo Beach, will be filled with children's artwork and an planter, then have been placed on campus so that faculty, staff and students can conveniently quiet their jingling pockets throughout Poly.

At larger locations such as the Rec Center, the University Union and El Corral Bookstore, five gallon water jugs, donated by Calligan Water in Santa Maria, serve as oversized piggy banks waiting for community deposits. Many sorority and fraternity houses will also have contribution containers.

"We're hoping to create a penny shortage out there," said Fosters, who is the Children's Center interim director.

Find a penny, pick it up and give it to Poly's Children's Center.

October 23-31.

Red Ribbon Week promotes drug-free lives

By Melanie M. Goislor

In a society where alcohol and drugs are sometimes acceptable items to celebrate with, several organizations are celebrating drug prevention efforts in the county.

Red Ribbon Week, designed to build awareness of problems related to the use of tobacco, alcohol and other drugs, will be observed across the United States October 23-31.

In San Luis Obispo, the week will begin on Sunday, Oct. 22 with the Red Ribbon Kickoff Carnival from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Camp San Luis Obispo. Sponsored by the County Board of Supervisors, it marks the 10th Anniversary Red Ribbon Celebration.

Representatives from local county prevention coalitions, such as the North County Youth Task Force, will join Friday Night Live students and members of County Drug and Alcohol Services Management at the celebration to promote awareness.

Wayne Hansen, division manager of prevention and planning for county-wide drug and alcohol services, explained the intent of Red Ribbon Week.

"Red Ribbon Week is a time when we symbolically honor people who have chosen to lead an alcohol, tobacco and drug-free lifestyle," Hansen said.

The carnival is a fun way to get people aware of drug prevention efforts around the community, said County Drug and Alcohol Red Ribbon Coordinator Don Aronson.

"The best way to get the message out," Aronson said.

Festivities at the carnival will include bounce domes for adults and children, a carousel and several game booths.

A fire truck, a Hum-Vee, a Blackhawk helicopter, D.A.R.E. vehicles and a T.S.E. Coast Guard boat will be "hands-on" displays.

Free Polaroid pictures will be taken of children in front of the Blackhawk helicopter.

Actress Desiree Hall from the daytime drama "Days of Our Lives" will appear with her husband Steve Sohmer and twin children in the Blackhawk helicopter during the celebration.

Door prizes will be handed out to children and a Best Red Outfit Contest winner was already one quarter of the way to the five-gallon jug.

"It's not just a one-shot deal," Aronson said. "I want people to leave and talk to others.

Festivities at the carnival will include bounce domes for adults and children, a carousel and several game booths.

A fire truck, a Hum-Vee, a Blackhawk helicopter, D.A.R.E. vehicles and a T.S.E. Coast Guard boat will be "hands-on" displays.

Free Polaroid pictures will be taken of children in front of the Blackhawk helicopter.

Actress Desiree Hall from the daytime drama "Days of Our Lives" will appear with her husband Steve Sohmer and twin children in the Blackhawk helicopter during the celebration.

Door prizes will be handed out to children and a Best Red Outfit Contest will take place throughout the day.

On display at the carnival will be the Red Ribbon Poster Contest winners. Posters had to illustrate this year's Red Ribbon theme: "The Healthy and Drug Free." See POSTER page 5

Ticket price raised for illegal parking in residential areas

By Jan Brooks

Parking illegally in residential areas around campus just got costlier.

Following a request by the Residents for Quality Neighborhoods (RQN), The San Luis Obispo City Council voted unanimously Tuesday to increase the residential parking violation from $10 to $20, matching the fine given for parking infractions on the Cal Poly campus.

"It's cheaper to get a ticket in the city than at Cal Poly," said Mike McCuskey, public works director.

The increase is primarily aimed at Tassajara Street and the greater Alta Vista area, where illegal parking by residents has been the norm, McCuskey said.

"We want to raise the awareness so that people will understand what a nuisance illegally parked cars are for residents in the area," McCuskey said.

The council also voted to change the ordinance from the municipal code to a resolution. This will allow the city to raise the parking fine at any time, McCuskey said. Under the municipal code it would take 45 days for the fine change to become effective.

"We want to get the attention of the public," McCuskey said. "If the problem persists, then an additional increase may be warranted.

Residents for Quality Neighborhoods Vice Mayor Dave Romero questioned the public works department on the ability of the current parking enforcement staff to be able to patrol these areas.

See TICKETS page 3

Snow in SLO?

From Left to Right: Tonia Sharp, Jen Drake, Shay Roberts, Eric Jacobson, Scott Walker, and Chris Jones all came out to see Cruity the Snowman in the University Union Wednesday / Daily photo by Joan Martinez

King and Queen return for Homecoming 1995

By Greg Hummell

Homecoming is going through a period of rebirth.

This year's Homecoming celebration, with the theme "The Best in the West," has brought the king and queen back to Cal Poly.

Homecoming festivities begin today in the University Union Plaza with a kickoff ceremony, and will conclude with the Homecoming football game against Sacramento State at Mustang Stadium Saturday afternoon.

"In the last year, Homecoming has been transformed into a top-wide event for the students of Cal Poly," said Chair of the Homecoming Steering Committee Steve McShane. "Our goal is to involve the community, the alumni and the students in a slough of activities that will bring everyone together for one common goal — Cal Poly pride.

The Homecoming Court was brought back to Cal Poly after being gone for more than 10 years, McShane said. "We felt that we could redefine that title of king and queen. We wanted to evaluate some of Cal Poly's leaders on more than what you traditionally call a popularity contest for being HOMECOMING page 2
The ASI Board of Directors is having a workshop every Monday in U.U. room 220 from 7 to 9 p.m. They will also be holding meetings every Wednesday in U.U. 220 from 7 to 9 p.m. This week’s workshop is being held in Bldg. 15 room 124.

Today

The Women’s Shelter Program will be holding a candlelight march on Oct. 19 in honor of those touched by domestic violence. Those wishing to participate should assemble on the courthouse steps at 6 p.m.

Culture talk will be having a discussion about “Hispanics and AIDS” on Oct. 19 in U.U. 220 at 1 p.m.

The Minority Access to Health Careers and Health Professions Committee is having a seminar called “Introduction to the Health Professions Committee” in building 52, room E28, on Oct. 19 at 11 a.m.

Upcoming

Anyone with a 35 mm camera who likes to take pictures can participate in the Santa Maria Camera Club’s scavenger hunt on Oct. 21. Participants will be given film and a packet listing 10 categories to be photographed. For more information, contact Doug and Ginger Reeves at 934-9709.

---

From page 1

From page 1

queen includes Patterson, San Luis Obispo Police Chief Jim Gardner, Director of Orientation Andrene Kawii-Lenting and Cal Poly alumnus Dennis Caglioire.

On Friday, the Laugh Olympics will take place on Dutcher lawn at 1 p.m. with more than 27 teams competing. Also on Friday, Students in the residence halls are very enthused this year — getting their floats in and getting new student involvement as possible to make it the best Homecoming ever."

Mariana Noviello

Publicity chair for Homecoming Committee

There will be a Homecoming rally at the Rec Center courtyard at 7:30 p.m. with another appearance of the Homecoming Court, more Laugh Olympics events, and a cheer and Cal Poly band performance.

Following the rally, there will be a live concert at 9 p.m. inside the Rec Center with two bands, The Obivision and Perfect Sunday. Admission is $4.

The parade and Homecoming game will highlight Saturday’s festivities. At 10 a.m. the parade will begin downtown, with 52 student clubs participating as well as the court, and the grand marshal of the parade, Cal Poly alumnus and astronaut Robert Gibson.

The football game begins at 2 p.m. and at halftime the king and queen will crown new students. New students have been very receptive to Homecoming, and their level of excitement is more than in past years, said Marisa Noviello, publicity chair for the Homecoming Committee.

"A lot of people come here, especially as freshmen, who had their high school homecoming and the big deal was who was going to be king and queen,” she said.

Students in the residence halls say “are very enthused this year — getting their floats in and getting new student involvement as possible to make it the best Homecoming ever.”

---

Homecoming Court 1995

Queen candidates

- Emily Brent, architectural engineering major; nominated by Kappa Alpha Theta
- Keri Evtiviz, English major; nominated by Alpha Omicron Pi and Sigma Phi Epsilon
- Dawn Mazzaletti, animal science major; nominated by Running Thunder Nite club
- Tara McQuerry, political science major; nominated by Alpha Chi Omega
- Michelle Skinner, animal science major; nominated by ASI Executive Staff

King candidates

- Deane Bandersch, dairy science major; nominated by Alpha Gamma Rho
- Scott Buswell, computer science major; nominated by Pi Kappa Alpha

The Obvious and Perfect Sunday.

Career Day

Saturday, October 21, 1995 from 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Come hear the following representatives from various areas within the industry:

---

Agenda Items: c/o Natasha Coffins, Graphic Arts 226, Cal Poly 93407 — Phone: 756-1796 Fax: 756-6784

---

TODAY’S WEATHER: Coastal morning clouds, clear afternoons.

TOMORROW’S WEATHER: Variable wind, partly cloudy.

Today’s high/low: 70°/46° Tomorrow’s high/low: 70°/46°

---

Homecoming Court 1995

Queen candidates

- Emily Brent, architectural engineering major; nominated by Kappa Alpha Theta
- Keri Evtiviz, English major; nominated by Alpha Omicron Pi and Sigma Phi Epsilon
- Dawn Mazzaletti, animal science major; nominated by Running Thunder Nite club
- Tara McQuerry, political science major; nominated by Alpha Chi Omega
- Michelle Skinner, animal science major; nominated by ASI Executive Staff

King candidates

- Deane Bandersch, dairy science major; nominated by Alpha Gamma Rho
- Scott Buswell, computer science major; nominated by Pi Kappa Alpha

The Obvious and Perfect Sunday.

Career Day

Saturday, October 21, 1995 from 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Come hear the following representatives from various areas within the industry:

---

Agenda Items: c/o Natasha Coffins, Graphic Arts 226, Cal Poly 93407 — Phone: 756-1796 Fax: 756-6784

---

TODAY’S WEATHER: Coastal morning clouds, clear afternoons.

TOMORROW’S WEATHER: Variable wind, partly cloudy.

Today’s high/low: 70°/46° Tomorrow’s high/low: 70°/46°

---

Homecoming Court 1995

Queen candidates

- Emily Brent, architectural engineering major; nominated by Kappa Alpha Theta
- Keri Evtiviz, English major; nominated by Alpha Omicron Pi and Sigma Phi Epsilon
- Dawn Mazzaletti, animal science major; nominated by Running Thunder Nite club
- Tara McQuerry, political science major; nominated by Alpha Chi Omega
- Michelle Skinner, animal science major; nominated by ASI Executive Staff

King candidates

- Deane Bandersch, dairy science major; nominated by Alpha Gamma Rho
- Scott Buswell, computer science major; nominated by Pi Kappa Alpha

The Obvious and Perfect Sunday.

Career Day

Saturday, October 21, 1995 from 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Come hear the following representatives from various areas within the industry:
Gingrich questions debt extension

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Newt Gingrich backed away Wednesday from an offer to temporarily extend the government's borrowing authority, saying Clinton administration warnings of a crisis by Halloween could not be trusted.

In the latest exchange in a war of nerves, the Georgia Republican said Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin's projections that the federal debt limit would be reached Oct. 31 could be "a Halloween trick to try to scare people." Before agreeing to raise the debt ceiling for even a short time, Republicans would insist that Rubin provide details on the government's borrowing needs, Gingrich said. White House spokesman Mike McCurry, expressing administration chagrin, said the standoff over federal borrowing "is now apparently going to be a crisis because Congress won't even extend the debt ceiling."

Both sides know that neither would benefit if a failure by President Clinton and Congress to break the impasse leads to an unprecedented default. The likely results would include higher interest rates, tumult in the financial markets and possibly a greater interest in a third-party presidential candidate.

Nonetheless, Republicans plan to tie the debt-limit increase to their seven-year package for balancing the budget and cutting spending and taxes. It is a strategy lawmakers have long used to force presidents to handle issues they would rather avoid.

The administration, on the other hand, wants to see the debt limit extension separated from the budget issue, which would make it easier for Clinton to veto the GOP package. White House officials say that ideally, they would like to see the debt limit extended until after the 1996 elections, or at least until this Christmas, when the year's budget work may be completed.

Gingrich and Rubin spoke by telephone Wednesday and agreed

Republicans plan to tie the debt-limit increase to their seven-year package for balancing the budget.

By Alan Frumin
Associated Press

The council will give a six-month trial period to evaluate if the fine is adequate and may adjust the fine at that time.

From page 1

"Five dollars per student, per quarter, comes directly to the Children's Center (out of their fees), but we are always looking for ways to augment the budget and keep fees low," Iversen said.

Without fund-raising events, the burden of costs falls back upon the parents' shoulders, showing up in higher day-care fees. Currently, parents pay between $17 and $26 a day for each child in day care. Without some type of supplement, these prices could rise, said Iversen.

Parents are helping to keep costs down where they can, Allen said. Some of the older equipment has already been repaired two to three times by parent volunteers, but some things need to be replaced, she said.

To request a donation container for your office, contact the Children's Center at 756-1267.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1995

From page 1

"The high hills are hard on electric vehicles," Romero said. "We may need more people and more service." Raising the fines is a tradeoff...

You should have seen what we didn't print

SPORTS

THE BETTER SKI SALE

10 to 40% OFF the entire SKI & SNOWBOARD departments
Up to 60% OFF last years models*

*Some items may be curtailed due to manufacturer's selling policies

Watch for details in October 25th Mustang Daily

Days Thursday, October 26th for 4 BIG DAYS
Thursday through Sunday, October 26-29
8 AM - 8 PM. Thursday, oct 26
10 AM - 6 PM. Friday & Saturday, Oct 27 & 28
11 AM - 4 PM, Sunday, Oct 29

San Luis Obispo
607 Marsh St.
543-1676
Free Parking
Corner of Marsh & Broad

Academy Water Colors & Grumbacher
Artist Pens

GRUMBACHER
PRODUCE DEMO

Academy Water Colors & Grumbacher Artist Pens

$2 OFF
REG. PRICE

THURSDAY
OCT. 19
11AM-2PM

Grumbacher Factory Rep Demonstration
As a senior at Cal Poly, I've read many articles and letters to the editor in the Mustang Daily over the years and have wanted to write reactions on what I've read, but for one reason or another, I never did. This, however, is my last quarter of Poly and the story that I have long wished to share pertains to a very current, yet very old, racism in police departments. A few current events have sparked a dialogue that has opened some America's eyes to the reality that police departments can have racist cops — a reality that many Americans have known for their whole lives.

After reading "Are police fair?" on Oct. 17, I knew I had to speak out about one incident that happened right here in San Luis Obispo. The story is much like Professor Elias Lopez's in that it involved "j-walking," a crime that is often used by police officers to harass whoever they choose. Those of you from the Bay Area might remember the incident that happened at my high school (San Leandro High) in Oct. of 1990. The incident sparked a riot in front of the police department that involved 300 students and dozens of officers and turned into a national event. At the time, I didn't understand the anger that our black students were feeling.

Perhaps the saddest part of Mr. Sanford's letter was in his last paragraph where he remarked that there are few homosexuals who commit suicide when they realize they are heterosexual. Again Mr. Sanford betrays a woeful ignorance. The reason why heterosexual people do not commit suicide when they realize they are heterosexual is precisely because there is no social stigma in being heterosexual. But a person who realizes that he or she is homosexual must contend with the probable loss of family, friends and job. For some this is too much to bear. As long as our society insists on stigmatizing people who are different, we will continue to see higher suicide rates in these groups. Gay Pride events and increased efforts at education about the history of oppression helps to reduce these suicide rates.

I feel some connection with Mr. Sanford because I remember harboring similar prejudices against gays and lesbians when I was in college in the 1950s. When I was in high school I had never heard a guest speaker (or any other type of student) to study about oppression, to understand the source of racial and sexual prejudice and, especially, to associate with many gay and lesbian people in my work. I realized there was no more reason to harbor prejudice against gays than there is to harbor prejudice against people who have brown eyes. I wish the same experience for Mr. Sanford. Prejudice is a terrible disease that can only cripple him and cause considerable harm to others.

Laurence Hoolgate
Professor of philosophy
Editor

I am half-amused by the "Health and Fitness" circus on display on Dexter Lawn. In what the world could the inflatable two-story tall Lipton cans, Jeeps and ballowns, the noisy, polluting generators and the Vivarin drug pushers possibly do to promote health and fitness. This represents a "healthy" alternative to drug and alcohol abuse. Who do they think they're fooling? I'll be happy to once again enjoy the silent Dexter Lawn.

Stephan Leimroth
Soil science senior

Are police fair? Are you kidding?
by George Bernard Zuber

As a senior at Cal Poly, I've read many articles and letters to the editor in the Mustang Daily over the years and have wanted to write reactions on what I've read, but for one reason or another, I never did. This, however, is my last quarter of Poly and the story that I have long wished to share pertains to a very current, yet very old, racism in police departments. A few current events have sparked a dialogue that has opened some America's eyes to the reality that police departments can have racist cops — a reality that many Americans have known for their whole lives.

After reading "Are police fair?" on Oct. 17, I knew I had to speak out about one incident that happened right here in San Luis Obispo. The story is much like Professor Elias Lopez's in that it involved "j-walking," a crime that is often used by police officers to harass whoever they choose. Those of you from the Bay Area might remember the incident that happened at my high school (San Leandro High) in Oct. of 1990. The incident sparked a riot in front of the police department that involved 300 students and dozens of officers and turned into a national event. At the time, I didn't understand the anger that our black students were feeling, much like other white Americans — and I'm not sure we ever can completely understand, but it is definitely in everyone's interest to try. So, as I read this story, try to imagine yourself in the same situation, albeit a difficult task.

It happened last year on a weekend night at the intersection of Higuera and Broad. My roommate, who happened to be a tall, black gay, was walking with two white girl friends of his from one bar to another (I think you're starting to get the picture). I must say that we found it amusing that they weren't drinking, not that that should make any difference anyway. I must stop here and elaborate on this, because I'm not using any unfair advantage. If you frequented bars you might recall the type of parties that would be advertised, not use display on Dexter Lawn. What in the world could the inflatable two-story tall Lipton cans, Jeeps and ballowns, the noisy, polluting generators and the Vivarin drug pushers possibly do to promote health and fitness. This represents a "healthy" alternative to drug and alcohol abuse. Who do they think they're fooling? I'll be happy to once again enjoy the silent Dexter Lawn.

Stephan Leimroth
Soil science senior

Are police fair? Are you kidding?
by George Bernard Zuber

As a senior at Cal Poly, I've read many articles and letters to the editor in the Mustang Daily over the years and have wanted to write reactions on what I've read, but for one reason or another, I never did. This, however, is my last quarter of Poly and the story that I have long wished to share pertains to a very current, yet very old, racism in police departments. A few current events have sparked a dialogue that has opened some America's eyes to the reality that police departments can have racist cops — a reality that many Americans have known for their whole lives.

After reading "Are police fair?" on Oct. 17, I knew I had to speak out about one incident that happened right here in San Luis Obispo. The story is much like Professor Elias Lopez's in that it involved "j-walking," a crime that is often used by police officers to harass whoever they choose. Those of you from the Bay Area might remember the incident that happened at my high school (San Leandro High) in Oct. of 1990. The incident sparked a riot in front of the police department that involved 300 students and dozens of officers and turned into a national event. At the time, I didn't understand the anger that our black students were feeling, much like other white Americans — and I'm not sure we ever can completely understand, but it is definitely in everyone's interest to try. So, as I read this story, try to imagine yourself in the same situation, albeit a difficult task.

It happened last year on a weekend night at the intersection of Higuera and Broad. My roommate, who happened to be a tall, black gay, was walking with two white girl friends of his from one bar to another (I think you're starting to get the picture). I must say that we found it amusing that they weren't drinking, not that that should make any difference anyway. I must stop here and elaborate on this, because I'm not using any unfair advantage. If you frequented bars you might recall the type of parties that would be advertised, not use
Upon his entrance, the captivation and wonder is all-encompassing. No one can tear their gaze away from the snake-like coils of black braided hair that whip wildly around Fernando Ramirez's handsome face. The audience awes, entranced and breathless as he seductively teases them with the microphone. The band's screams and excitement are unleashed as the singer launches into a primitive, pulsating frenzy of movement that can only be equaled by the thrash, rock music of Maria Fatal.

This wild and fast-paced Latino band has been rocking their way up and down California for four years as a part of a new rock music genre sung entirely in Spanish.

"Maria Fatal has played everywhere from garages to the Taper Forum with Latino bands from all over California," Ramirez said.

The band formed after Ramirez and his brothers Ernesto and Gabriel immigrated from Mexico to escape worsening economic conditions. The brothers then joined up with Cesar Hernandez, Jesse Rodriguez and Ricardo Lucio.

Now the six member band needed a name. Maria was chosen because it "pertains to our culture," Fernando Ramirez said. "Fatal describes the conditions of culture and life in Mexico."
Steve McShane, chair and cofounder of the Running Thunder Rally Club said he is satisfied with the new band. "Running Thunder is coordinating use of the stadium band so they can achieve maximum exposure to a school that missed the music that once echoed in the hallways," he said. "The new band is focused on its goal of 80 members by fall 1996 and Running Thunder will help them achieve this goal."

The quality of the band's music and level of enthusiasm is a winning combination that will survive into the 1996 football season, McShane said.

Drum major and biochemistry senior Mike Flippin remembers when he was the assistant drum major of Cal Poly's previous marching band. "(You) glad to see (the new band) coming along with lots of new freshman... it's happening much faster than I expected."

Flippin agrees with McShane about an increase in spirit on campus.

"There seems to be more interest in the university as a whole with more people interested in athletics," Flippin said. "More people are showing spirit."

As pride in school increases, students toward the stadium band being there for athletic events.

"The new director is very upbeat and excited — he adds a lot of enthusiasm," Flippin said.

On a Friday night, if one wonders which movie to see, this one can definitely be crossed off the list. Take the money you would have spent. On a Friday night, if one wonders which movie to see, this one can definitely be crossed off the list.

The new director, direction restarts stadium band

By Donna Holmes

If you start a band, the players will come. And even though their spirited contribution to Cal Poly may last only through fall quarter, they will be heard.

When retired Air Force Maj. David Rackley was asked to rejuvenate and direct the disbanded stadium band, he accepted the challenge knowing that funding lasts just one quarter and that the music department is doing a good job bringing it up to its original form.

As the lights began to dim in the crowded Mission theater, a silence grew over the crowd. There was no intelligence given. There was no intelligence. There was nothing they definitely were not expecting, or possibly, they left because of the lack of plot, there was a very large lack of wardrobe. Kidman wears clothes with outrageous colors and patterns while supposedly working as a professional broadcaster.

Approximately half way through the movie three separate couples got up and walked out. They were probably sick of watching the characters suddenly passion over and deliver a monologue to the audience.

Or possibly, they left because of the high school students' terminology. The words were not usually used, so they were repulsive and offensive.

But these fleeing couples more than likely escaped simply because they were expecting something they definitely were not given. There was no intelligence and thought put into it. This movie's intelligence would have equaled that of "Howard the Duck."

While leaving the theater, a male viewer said it was the biggest waste of money he had ever spent.

One can definitely be crossed off the list. This movie's intelligence would have equaled that of "Howard the Duck."
New Christian radio station sends rock music messages

By Cordelia Rockley
Daily News Writer

It's rock and roll, it's intense and it's gospel.

The Central Coast's newest sound to hit the airwaves is contemporary Christian music. K-LIFE 89.3 FM went on the air Sept. 26, offering 24-hour radio programming of the latest contemporary Christian music with artists like Amy Grant, Michael W. Smith, Petra and Steven Curtis Chapman. Already popular with the 16 to 35-year-old age group, K-LIFE's musical programming is interspersed with educational and public interest features, according to General Manager Jon Fugler.

Listener response "has been great," he said. "We've had 200 plus requests for our newsletter and we get reports from people who keep their radio on all day, including students at the Cal Poly dorms."

Fugler said he tries to package radio programs in such a way that people will listen. "People are on the go today; they have time for about five minutes or less of teaching programs," he said.

His goal through K-LIFE's programming is "to lead people into a more intimate relationship with Jesus Christ," he said.

So far, listeners love K-LIFE, Fugler said. The kind of music, its success and message seem to match the life-style K-LIFE's audience is living.

"Secular music listeners are also crossing over," he said. "People who are scanning the dial hear it and can't believe it's Christian music because many people think that all Christian music is the kind they hear in church."

The station's 4,400-watt transmitter site on Cuesta Peak allows programming to originate from the San Luis Obispo studios on 500 Higuera St. yet reach areas north of Paso Robles and south of Santa Maria.

Plans for the station were formulated eight years ago. Its birth, Fugler said, is "nothing short of a miracle."

First, a volunteer board of directors had to be formed, followed by the search for an available radio frequency. After initially applying for 89.3 FM, there was a two-year gridlock because another organization had applied, Fugler said. A construction permit was finally awarded to Logos Broadcasting Corp. in 1994.

"It didn't come easy, but God wanted it that way. I'm sure, so we would always remember this station belongs to Him," Fugler said.

The station's president and founder, Dan Lemborg, said he chose the San Luis Obispo location because when he moved to the Central Coast nine years ago, there were no other Christian radio stations. K-LIFE 89.3 is affiliated with The Word in Music Satellite Network in Colorado Springs, from where most of its music programming is received, plus another organization that supplied the first fund, Fugler said.

Fugler said the station's first year is guaranteed 90 percent of its financial support from listeners. Fugler said, adding that he hopes to secure grants and donations from area businesses, churches and other groups to offset K-LIFE's operating budget.

K-LIFE's musical programming is mixed with family and Christian teaching programs, inspirational messages from Christian leaders such as James Dobson, Chuck Swindoll and John MacArthur. For events and concerts hot off the line, 541-4343, also lets listeners know what's going on in the contemporary Christian music world.

Thursday, October 19, 1995 63
CROSSING: The band captured Mexico's culture in their rock music

From page 8!

But the culture still lives in the band's music. The Ramirez brothers met with their love of music while performing "cumbias" for Mexican weddings.

Although they didn't enjoy Mexico's conservative Polka, Rancheras or Norteña styles, they adapted these roots into the hardcore rock, ska and thrash music that is now their trademark.

The band captures that sound with Spanish instruments and traditional lyrics, which occasionally stray from rock to soulful ballads laced with delicate guitar solos.

Both ballads and rock are combined in an 11-song album released on Oct. 12. But the album's intentions go beyond gaining popularity.

"Our songs address Affirmative Action and describe the realities of life and the hardships of crossing the border," Ramirez said.

For Maria Fatal, the hardships don't stop on this side of the border. With Latino rock, a new genre to the United States, acceptance and success is crucial. But for these rising stars, it's also just one more barrier to cross.

potential audience.

According to Pedro Arroyo, a DJ at Cal Poly's RCPR-FM, "there are no radio stations that devote entirely to Latino rock. Most just have allotted time each week."

Arroyo, host of a Latino rock program called Aztecam Babylons and Blues, broadcasts Mondays from 11 p.m.-1 a.m., says that Cal Poly students have more access to Latino rock than audiences in major cities with heavy concentrations of Spanish-speaking listeners.

These bands with the new Spanish sound have been dubbed Rock En Espanol, according to Elena Rodrigo, the executive director of Aztlan Records, Maria Fatal's label.

"The Latino music movement is not new, it has been done for 30 years in Mexico, Spain and Argentina," Rodrigo said.

"The music's arrival in the U.S. however, is recent, and fans who had only fleeting contact with big Spanish bands abroad now have their favorite bands, like Maria Fatal, closer to home."

The label hopes to continue this trend by signing four more bands in the next year.

"Spin magazine included Latino rock as part of a special report on rock of the future," Rodrigo said. She added that fans must agree, because the attention at concerts for bands like Maria Fatal has gone from 300 to 5,000.

But Latino fans aren't the only target audience.

"Most Anglos react positively to our music although they usually want it sung in English," Ramirez said.

He added that the language barrier makes breaking into the music scene difficult for Latino bands.

To influence the music scene, Maria Fatal plans to tour the Latino hot spots, perhaps produce an album in English and eventually return to Mexico, this time to play their music.

"Bands aren't accepted in Mexico unless they are famous in America," Ramirez said. For Maria Fatal and other emerging Latino bands, acceptance and success is crucial.

But for these rising stars, it's also just one more barrier to cross.
Clinton asked to justify sending troops to Bosnia

By John Diamond

WASHINGTON — Confronted with the possibility of sending troops to Bosnia to enforce a fragile peace, President Clinton’s top defense and foreign policy officials argued Thursday that the proposed troop deployment is essential to prevent the 31-year-old war from spreading.

"My criteria in trying to decide on things like this is whether or not I could go to a family of someone, a young person who’s come home in a body bag, and explain to that family how this young American has done a great thing for his country," said Rep. Joel H. Hefley, R-Colo.

Help yourself by helping others...
consider a degree in physical therapy

I have to tell you at this point I couldn’t do that very well.

DEALERSHIP

Amtrak California

and from School
its advantages.

When it’s time for a weekend trip home or a break from school, take Amtrak California!

The trains of California, and connecting shuttle buses, can take you just about anywhere in the state, without the hassle of driving. There’s no easier or more economical way to get there and back.

Aboard the train you can sit back and relax, catch up on homework, have a snack, or just listen to some good music. The trains are comfortable, and have plenty of room to haul your stuff.

Check out the super low roundtrip fares from San Luis Obispo aboard either Amtrak California’s daily San Diegans or San Joaquins. And with Amtrak’s new Student Advantage card, it’s more affordable than ever! Annual enrollment in Student Advantage is only $20 and you’ll receive a 15% discount on our already low fares everytime you ride Amtrak.

So, next time take the train for the ultimate trip home, or for a major break from school.

Rally and Concert

Friday, Oct. 20...

7:30 pm Rally begins outside Rec Center
• Spirit Related Events
• Announcement of Homecoming Court

9:00 pm Concert begins inside Rec Center
Local Alternative Bands: PERFECT SUNDAY and LEAD BAND, THE OBVIOUS

$4 Admission at the door
Cospoponored by ASI Program Board

SPECIAL THANKS TO:

ASI • Alumni • Pi Kappa Alpha
Athletics • Program Board • Concerts • Foundation
THE 1865 RESTAURANT IS NOW SERVING
SUNDAY CHAMPAGNE BRUNCH
FEATURING ALL YOU CAN EAT

Omelette Bar
Vaflle Bar
Seafood Bar
Country Style Buffet
Rib
Resist Beef
Ranch Turkey
Baked Ham
Homemade Desserts

Every Sunday
Starting at 9:30 A.M.

The Best in SLO

WIND RIVER SYSTEMS
1010 Atlantic Ave, Alameda, CA 94501, Attn: Human Resources
Sports

MUSTANG DAILY
was a promotion to get fans out
Throwing from both sides contend for the Western Title. By but how about Greg Harris of the Hurt in 'Frisco ride to Lucky's? That really up Chris Mullin and gave him a king of ambidexterity. With a with the hitters — legally he fired by the team. Now Young is his backup? Some guy named recently entered at the 1995 Hall
* FINANCIAL MGMT ASSOCIATION *
I've heard of switch-hitters,
The 49ers are really hitting
Thur Oct 19th 11am Bldg 03-Rm 114
Learn about America's Job Bank!
wed 10/25 7pm 1965 Hope St
mon 10/23 6pm
We're on the move- are you?
Tool's in Building 20,
Informational Workshop
A O N L I L S I S *
A.U.E.H.S. GAME MEETIN G'
They just hired him on their team. After giving pitcher Steve Howe an his ninth 'second chance' after being tossed out for drugs.
George has signed the coke twins, recently Dwight Gooden and earlier his buddy Darryl Strawberry. Good thinking
Steinbrenner, maybe you should
"It's an opportunity to show
people I still have the talent to play and should have been playing more every last year in Portland," Kersey said. "A lot of people have written me off, but I'm hungry and ready to play.
Kersey averaged 8.1 points
last season in 63 games. He and
Clyde Drexler are the only two players to have totaled more than 10,000 points and 5,000
rebounds for Portland.
Selected by Toronto in the
June expansion draft, Kersey was released Oct. 4 because of a muscle pull.
He made two of three field
goals against the St. Louis Rams
in the team's 49ers (4-2)
play on Sunday.

If C & PANHELLENC presents the first annual

All-Greek Homecoming TAILGATE
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21ST 12PM - 2 PM
Free admission must wear letters to attend
At the AGR house

Sports

NATIONAL: Tough times in San Francisco

From page 8
contend for the Western Title. By the way, one of which you picked up Chris Mullin and gave him a to Lucky's? That really

Hunting in Trisco

The 49ers are really hitting from both sides.
For once, we'll get a match we can watch for free on cable with the twin talks on FOX. Then, for all of you with cash, Pay-per-view is offering. Ronnie Bolyfield vs. Rod
Dawle Bowe on, for about $40. But, how about getting a big night for a sport that is really

WARRIORS add age to roster; sign J. Kersey

OAKLAND, Calif. — Jerome
Kersey, who has spent all 11 of his NBA seasons with Portland, signed a one-year contract Wednesday with the Golden State
Warriors.

The 6-foot-7 forward is to be in uniform Sunday when the Warriors are home against New Jersey.

Kersey, 33, started on the Trail Blazer teams that made it to the NBA Finals in 1988 and 1992. At Golden State, he will be reunited with his coach from those days, Rick Adelman.

The Oregonian newspaper in Portland said Kersey was signing with Golden State for the NBA minimum of $225,000.

Kersey said he had offers to sign for more money in Euro, but saw advantages to playing with Golden State.

"It's an opportunity to show
people I still have the talent to play and should have been playing
more every last year in Portland," Kersey said. "A lot of people have written me off, but I'm hungry and ready to play.
Kersey averaged 8.1 points
last season in 63 games. He and
Clyde Drexler are the only two players to have totaled more than 10,000 points and 5,000
rebounds for Portland.
Selected by Toronto in the
June expansion draft, Kersey was released Oct. 4 because of a muscle pull.
He made two of three field
goals against the St. Louis Rams
in the team's 49ers (4-2)
play on Sunday.

The 49ers had worked out kickers Rauer Bunek and Jeff Wilkins on Tuesday but then put in the waiver claim when Zendejas became available.
Zendejas, 36, in his 11th year in the league, starting with Houston in 1985. He went to the Rams in 1991 and went 17-17 in field goals that season, which stretched to the league record for single season consistency.

Last year, Zendejas made 18 of 23 field goals for the Rams but was let go after the team drafted
Steve McLaughlin.

49ers sign new kicker
SPORTS

By Anthony Pedrotti

NATIONAL SCENE

Who's No. 17

With four weeks to go, the battle for the college football championship is looking interesting. There are five undefeated teams with a legitimate shot at the No. 1 ranking — Florida State, Nebraska, Florida, Ohio State and USC — and the list will drop following the Florida versus Florida State matchup. Although the Fiesta Bowl promises to have No. 1 versus No. 2 on New Year's Day, at least one other team is likely to go undefeated, and then what? In any case, you're likely to see Florida State versus Nebraska in the Fiesta Bowl, and USC versus Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, all undefeated teams...

The playoff coverage

There have been massive complaints this year about The Baseball Network's blown television coverage of the playoffs. The network covered the regional games at the same time every night, leaving TV viewers with one game to watch and sporadic highlights of the other games. ESPN even aired at 5 p.m. instead of in the early afternoons. I remember the good old days when I had a cool teacher in high school. He would show games during the fifth period. No more. I can't really complain, though. If this were more TV coverage, I'd probably grow roots on the couch...

Adios King Dome

It was big-time for the Seattle Mariners when they took the divisional series from the Yankees 6-5 in 11 innings. But fireworks inside the Kingdome? No wonder the damn roof is caving in. But in light of their success this year, Seattle Governor Mike Lowry signed a $325 million plan to build a new ballpark for the team. Maybe they'll get smart and toss out the idea of a dome and astroturf...

No problems in the NBA

Someone should really applaud the NBA for the way they handled the fistic of the sport this past year. Unlike baseball and hockey, basketball avoided a strike, settled with a salary cap and left both teams with a winner. Unfor-

Warrors ready to go

Well, the Golden State Warriors left San Luis Obispo and Matty Gym on Oct. 10 with their final warmup before they headed into the preseason. The team looked like it might not be as bad this year, especially with a league-wide salary cap in place. The Warriors cannot play any exhibition games in the Bay Area this year. With a lineup of B.J. Armstrong, Latrell Sprewell, Chris Mullin, Tim Hardaway and No. 1 draft pick Joe Smith, they could even...

See NATIONAL page 7

SCORES

VOLLEYBALL

Cal Poly........................................... 0
Oral Roberts...................................... 3

SCHEDULE

TODAY'S GAMES

• Women's soccer vs. Sacramento State @ Sac State 3 p.m.

TOMORROW'S GAMES

• Volleyball vs. San Jose State @ San Jose State 7:30 p.m.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Battle of the best: Indians and Braves in World Series

Atlanta (AP)—After all those worries about wild cards, expanded playoffs and trying to bring Cleveland its first championship since 1948, the Indians, who led the majors with the most impressive pitching performance in AL history, are trying to bring Cleveland its first championship since 1948. The Braves, featuring the strongest staff the majors has seen in years, are on a mission, too, to finally win it all this year.

The Indians had the majors' top two first-round draft picks in 1995. Brett Tomko, the Indians' No. 1 pick, sent Cal Poly's volleyball team chasing spikes all over the court / Daily photo by Dawn Kalmar

Cal Poly dismantled in three

The Cid Poly volleyball team faced some impressive play from Oral Roberts on Tuesday evening in Matt Gym.

The Mustangs fell in three straight games against a team they annyoed with sporadic points, but could not dent.

"Numbers wise we hold them down from what they've used to," said Head Coach Craig Cummings. Oral Roberts had several players capable of coming good numbers, Cummings said, and the Mustangs had to be selective in who they tried to shut down.

"Number 8 (freshman outside-hitter Zvjezdana Sirola) was one of those kids you could contain but not stop," Cummings said.

The Golden Eagles started fast against the Mustangs in Game 1 and had a 0-10 lead before Cal Poly could get on the board. Freshman middle blocker Trisha Jenssen and sophomore outside hitter Amy Aberle led the way as Oral Roberts adjusted to the Mustangs tried to narrow the lead. Cal Poly managed to score seven points against a team that displayed excellent blocking and attack before falling 7-15.

Jenssen lead the Mustangs in kills with 11, and Aberle followed with five.

The Mustangs started better in Game 2, and pulled a 7-3 lead before Oral Roberts adjusted to the Cal Poly attack.

By Mike Taylor

The Cal Poly volleyball team faced some impressive play from Oral Roberts on Tuesday evening in Matt Gym.

The Mustangs fell in three straight games against a team they annoyed with sporadic points, but could not dent.

"Numbers wise we hold them down from what they've used to," said Head Coach Craig Cummings. Oral Roberts had several players capable of coming good numbers, Cummings said, and the Mustangs had to be selective in who they tried to shut down.

"Number 8 (freshman outside-hitter Zvjezdana Sirola) was one of those kids you could contain but not stop," Cummings said.

The Golden Eagles started fast against the Mustangs in Game 1 and had a 0-10 lead before Cal Poly could get on the board. Freshman middle blocker Trisha Jenssen and sophomore outside hitter Amy Aberle led the way as Oral Roberts adjusted to the

They took it up another notch when they needed it," Cummings said. "We battled pretty well, but when you make a mistake against them, you're going to pay."

Oral Roberts took the game 11-15, but the Mustangs made it tough, playing out long volleys and getting side-outs. Once Cal Poly got the serve, the Mustangs took it right back and collected a much past Thursday nights game against the Indians, who led the majors in the regular season, holding the almost-Super Bowl championship is looking interesting.

The Indians, who led the majors with the most impressive pitching performance in AL history, are trying to bring Cleveland its first championship since 1948. The Braves, featuring the strongest staff the majors has seen in years, are on a mission, too, to finally win it all this year.

The Indians had the majors' top two first-round draft picks in 1995. Brett Tomko, the Indians' No. 1 pick, sent Cal Poly's volleyball team chasing spikes all over the court / Daily photo by Dawn Kalmar

Cal Poly dismantled in three

The Cid Poly volleyball team faced some impressive play from Oral Roberts on Tuesday evening in Matt Gym.

The Mustangs fell in three straight games against a team they annoyed with sporadic points, but could not dent.

"Numbers wise we hold them down from what they've used to," said Head Coach Craig Cummings. Oral Roberts had several players capable of coming good numbers, Cummings said, and the Mustangs had to be selective in who they tried to shut down.

"Number 8 (freshman outside-hitter Zvjezdana Sirola) was one of those kids you could contain but not stop," Cummings said.

The Golden Eagles started fast against the Mustangs in Game 1 and had a 0-10 lead before Cal Poly could get on the board. Freshman middle blocker Trisha Jenssen and sophomore outside hitter Amy Aberle led the way as Oral Roberts adjusted to the Mustangs tried to narrow the lead. Cal Poly managed to score seven points against a team that displayed excellent blocking and attack before falling 7-15.

Jenssen lead the Mustangs in kills with 11, and Aberle followed with five.

The Mustangs started better in Game 2, and pulled a 7-3 lead before Oral Roberts adjusted to the Cal Poly attack.

By Mike Taylor

The Cal Poly volleyball team faced some impressive play from Oral Roberts on Tuesday evening in Matt Gym.

The Mustangs fell in three straight games against a team they annoyed with sporadic points, but could not dent.

"Numbers wise we hold them down from what they've used to," said Head Coach Craig Cummings. Oral Roberts had several players capable of coming good numbers, Cummings said, and the Mustangs had to be selective in who they tried to shut down.

"Number 8 (freshman outside-hitter Zvjezdana Sirola) was one of those kids you could contain but not stop," Cummings said.

The Golden Eagles started fast against the Mustangs in Game 1 and had a 0-10 lead before Cal Poly could get on the board. Freshman middle blocker Trisha Jenssen and sophomore outside hitter Amy Aberle led the way as Oral Roberts adjusted to the Mustangs tried to narrow the lead. Cal Poly managed to score seven points against a team that displayed excellent blocking and attack before falling 7-15.

Jenssen lead the Mustangs in kills with 11, and Aberle followed with five.

The Mustangs started better in Game 2, and pulled a 7-3 lead before Oral Roberts adjusted to the Cal Poly attack.

They took it up another notch when they needed it," Cummings said. "We battled pretty well, but when you make a mistake against them, you're going to pay."

Oral Roberts took the game 11-15, but the Mustangs made it tough, playing out long volleys and getting side-outs. Once Cal Poly got the serve, the Mustangs took it right back and collected a

They took it up another notch when they needed it," Cummings said. "We battled pretty well, but when you make a mistake against them, you're going to pay."

Oral Roberts took the game 11-15, but the Mustangs made it tough, playing out long volleys and getting side-outs. Once Cal Poly got the serve, the Mustangs took it right back and collected a

They took it up another notch when they needed it," Cummings said. "We battled pretty well, but when you make a mistake against them, you're going to pay."

Oral Roberts took the game 11-15, but the Mustangs made it tough, playing out long volleys and getting side-outs. Once Cal Poly got the serve, the Mustangs took it right back and collected a