Police investigating rash of car-stereo burglaries at Poly

By Amy Conley
Daily Staff Writer

Imagine walking out to your car after a hard day, only to have your stomach turn upside down as you notice your side window is broken and your stereo is missing.

According to Cal Poly Public Safety, car stereo thefts on campus seem to be the trend this year.

Public Safety, the San Luis Obispo Sheriff's and the San Luis Obispo Police are currently investigating a string of recent burglaries.

"They're doing is shopping, they'll walk by and pick out the type of stereo they want," Kennedy said.

Where motorists park is also a consideration, Kennedy said. The R-1 parking lot behind the red brick dorms is frequently targeted.

Kennedy goes on to say broken into since January.

"If you park in a lot area that's near your residence it could discourage some people, and they would go on to another car," Nunez said.

Parked near the railroad tracks or in a deserted area, like the back of apartment complexes, parking lots, could be what some thieves look for, Nunez added.

Other ways to stop thieves are even more obvious. "People are leaving their cars unlocked all the time," Nunez said, with plentiful parking available, and even with three Jettas parked right in front.

There are no solid leads in these cases, police said.

"Don't have any suspects even though they have a number of these bandits," Nunez said. "Their method of removal is very professional. These guys are evidently wearing gloves and are familiar with the cars they're breaking into.

"What they're doing is shopping, they'll walk by and pick out the type of stereo they want and the type of car they know how to get into."

There are ways to deter these thieves, however. "The biggest problem with students is that they're too trusting," Nunez said. "They leave everything out in plain view."

"There are ways to deter these thieves, however. "The biggest problem with students is that they're too trusting," Nunez said. "They leave everything out in plain view."

"They have a particular method and particular targets," he said. "Their method of removal is very professional. These guys are evidently wearing gloves and are familiar with the cars they're breaking into.

"What they're doing is shopping, they'll walk by and pick out the type of stereo they want and the type of car they know how to get into."

There are ways to deter these thieves, however. "The biggest problem with students is that they're too trusting," Nunez said. "They leave everything out in plain view."

"There are ways to deter these thieves, however. "The biggest problem with students is that they're too trusting," Nunez said. "They leave everything out in plain view."

"They have a particular method and particular targets," he said. "Their method of removal is very professional. These guys are evidently wearing gloves and are familiar with the cars they're breaking into.

"What they're doing is shopping, they'll walk by and pick out the type of stereo they want and the type of car they know how to get into."

There are ways to deter these thieves, however. "The biggest problem with students is that they're too trusting," Nunez said. "They leave everything out in plain view."

"They have a particular method and particular targets," he said. "Their method of removal is very professional. These guys are evidently wearing gloves and are familiar with the cars they're breaking into.

"What they're doing is shopping, they'll walk by and pick out the type of stereo they want and the type of car they know how to get into."

There are ways to deter these thieves, however. "The biggest problem with students is that they're too trusting," Nunez said. "They leave everything out in plain view."

"They have a particular method and particular targets," he said. "Their method of removal is very professional. These guys are evidently wearing gloves and are familiar with the cars they're breaking into.
The Italian Renaissance re-created

By Shep Collenberry

The Italian Renaissance was re-created Monday evening at the Sandwich Plant in celebration of Liberal Arts Week at Cal Poly.

Barbara Hallman, a retired Cal Poly history professor, lectured on the philosophy and art of the Renaissance in Italy for a group of students and faculty.

Edith Hernandez, chair of the Liberal Arts Student Council, introduced Hallman to the audience.

"This week is to show the beauty of the college," Hernandez said. "And what better way to kick it off than with Dr. Hallman?"

Hallman then took center stage and began to discuss one of her passions, the Italian Renaissance.

Many scholars believe the Renaissance began in Italy because of its geographical location, but Hallman believes there is another reason.

"A better explanation is the very diversity of the peninsula (of Italy)," Hallman said.

This diversity was what spawned the creativity and excitement of the Renaissance.

Looking at the slides of various Renaissance works that Hallman displayed, you could see the creativity and excitement.

Hallman spoke about the architecture in Italy, pointing out that the Renaissance architect tried to replicate ancient Roman domes by studying ruins.

As Hallman spoke about the Renaissance, her love of the subject showed through her smile and exaggerated hand gestures.

"The monks couldn’t take it anymore, so they had Bernini cover it up with gold gilding and put a sandal on it so it would match," Hallman said.

"The ‘Naked Christ,’" by Michelangelo, was commissioned for an Italian church.

Correction:

In an April 5 article, Mustang Daily regrettedly misreported the confusion regarding deadlines printed for ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Thus, candidates were informed that there was no time printed on the ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Therefore, there was no confusion. There was no confusion. There was no confusion.

Upcoming

A Minority Mirror Typing Drive is taking place April 16-17 at the University Union from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call Nick Tran at 781-9645.

The Physics Colloquium is having a discussion titled "The Mechanism of Force Generation in Muscle Contraction" April 18 at 11:10 a.m. in building 52, room E-45.

"We will be on campus soon to interview prospective staff. For more information, contact Fred Besancon at fbesanc@tnta.de.

"A Liberal Arts booth will be displayed at the U.U. hour and downtown at Farmer’s Market."

"And don’t forget to drop by the Cal Poly Theatre Lawn to welcome new students on Friday."

Accused smuggler identified as driver in crash

"A better explanation is the very diversity of the peninsula (of Italy)," Hallman said.

This diversity was what spawned the creativity and excitement of the Renaissance.

Looking at the slides of various Renaissance works that Hallman displayed, you could see the creativity and excitement.

Hallman spoke about the architecture in Italy, pointing out that the Renaissance architect tried to replicate ancient Roman domes by studying ruins.

As Hallman spoke about the Renaissance, her love of the subject showed through her smile and exaggerated hand gestures.

"The monks couldn’t take it anymore, so they had Bernini cover it up with gold gilding and put a sandal on it so it would match," Hallman said.

"The ‘Naked Christ,’" by Michelangelo, was commissioned for an Italian church.

Correction:

In an April 5 article, Mustang Daily regrettedly misreported the confusion regarding deadlines printed for ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Thus, candidates were informed that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Therefore, there was no confusion. There was no confusion. There was no confusion.

Upcoming

A Minority Mirror Typing Drive is taking place April 16-17 at the University Union from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call Nick Tran at 781-9645.

The Physics Colloquium is having a discussion titled "The Mechanism of Force Generation in Muscle Contraction" April 18 at 11:10 a.m. in building 52, room E-45.

"We will be on campus soon to interview prospective staff. For more information, contact Fred Besancon at fbesanc@tnta.de.

"A Liberal Arts booth will be displayed at the U.U. hour and downtown at Farmer’s Market."

"And don’t forget to drop by the Cal Poly Theatre Lawn to welcome new students on Friday."

Accused smuggler identified as driver in crash

"A better explanation is the very diversity of the peninsula (of Italy)," Hallman said.

This diversity was what spawned the creativity and excitement of the Renaissance.

Looking at the slides of various Renaissance works that Hallman displayed, you could see the creativity and excitement.

Hallman spoke about the architecture in Italy, pointing out that the Renaissance architect tried to replicate ancient Roman domes by studying ruins.

As Hallman spoke about the Renaissance, her love of the subject showed through her smile and exaggerated hand gestures.

"The monks couldn’t take it anymore, so they had Bernini cover it up with gold gilding and put a sandal on it so it would match," Hallman said.

"The ‘Naked Christ,’" by Michelangelo, was commissioned for an Italian church.

Correction:

In an April 5 article, Mustang Daily regrettedly misreported the confusion regarding deadlines printed for ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Thus, candidates were informed that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Therefore, there was no confusion. There was no confusion. There was no confusion.

Upcoming

A Minority Mirror Typing Drive is taking place April 16-17 at the University Union from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call Nick Tran at 781-9645.

The Physics Colloquium is having a discussion titled "The Mechanism of Force Generation in Muscle Contraction" April 18 at 11:10 a.m. in building 52, room E-45.

"We will be on campus soon to interview prospective staff. For more information, contact Fred Besancon at fbesanc@tnta.de.

"A Liberal Arts booth will be displayed at the U.U. hour and downtown at Farmer’s Market."

"And don’t forget to drop by the Cal Poly Theatre Lawn to welcome new students on Friday."

Accused smuggler identified as driver in crash

"A better explanation is the very diversity of the peninsula (of Italy)," Hallman said.

This diversity was what spawned the creativity and excitement of the Renaissance.

Looking at the slides of various Renaissance works that Hallman displayed, you could see the creativity and excitement.

Hallman spoke about the architecture in Italy, pointing out that the Renaissance architect tried to replicate ancient Roman domes by studying ruins.

As Hallman spoke about the Renaissance, her love of the subject showed through her smile and exaggerated hand gestures.

"The monks couldn’t take it anymore, so they had Bernini cover it up with gold gilding and put a sandal on it so it would match," Hallman said.

"The ‘Naked Christ,’" by Michelangelo, was commissioned for an Italian church.

Correction:

In an April 5 article, Mustang Daily regrettedly misreported the confusion regarding deadlines printed for ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Thus, candidates were informed that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Therefore, there was no confusion. There was no confusion. There was no confusion.

Upcoming

A Minority Mirror Typing Drive is taking place April 16-17 at the University Union from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call Nick Tran at 781-9645.

The Physics Colloquium is having a discussion titled "The Mechanism of Force Generation in Muscle Contraction" April 18 at 11:10 a.m. in building 52, room E-45.

"We will be on campus soon to interview prospective staff. For more information, contact Fred Besancon at fbesanc@tnta.de.

"A Liberal Arts booth will be displayed at the U.U. hour and downtown at Farmer’s Market."

"And don’t forget to drop by the Cal Poly Theatre Lawn to welcome new students on Friday."

Accused smuggler identified as driver in crash

"A better explanation is the very diversity of the peninsula (of Italy)," Hallman said.

This diversity was what spawned the creativity and excitement of the Renaissance.

Looking at the slides of various Renaissance works that Hallman displayed, you could see the creativity and excitement.

Hallman spoke about the architecture in Italy, pointing out that the Renaissance architect tried to replicate ancient Roman domes by studying ruins.

As Hallman spoke about the Renaissance, her love of the subject showed through her smile and exaggerated hand gestures.

"The monks couldn’t take it anymore, so they had Bernini cover it up with gold gilding and put a sandal on it so it would match," Hallman said.

"The ‘Naked Christ,’" by Michelangelo, was commissioned for an Italian church.

Correction:

In an April 5 article, Mustang Daily regrettedly misreported the confusion regarding deadlines printed for ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Thus, candidates were informed that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Therefore, there was no confusion. There was no confusion. There was no confusion.

Upcoming

A Minority Mirror Typing Drive is taking place April 16-17 at the University Union from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call Nick Tran at 781-9645.

The Physics Colloquium is having a discussion titled "The Mechanism of Force Generation in Muscle Contraction" April 18 at 11:10 a.m. in building 52, room E-45.

"We will be on campus soon to interview prospective staff. For more information, contact Fred Besancon at fbesanc@tnta.de.

"A Liberal Arts booth will be displayed at the U.U. hour and downtown at Farmer’s Market."

"And don’t forget to drop by the Cal Poly Theatre Lawn to welcome new students on Friday."

Accused smuggler identified as driver in crash

"A better explanation is the very diversity of the peninsula (of Italy)," Hallman said.

This diversity was what spawned the creativity and excitement of the Renaissance.

Looking at the slides of various Renaissance works that Hallman displayed, you could see the creativity and excitement.

Hallman spoke about the architecture in Italy, pointing out that the Renaissance architect tried to replicate ancient Roman domes by studying ruins.

As Hallman spoke about the Renaissance, her love of the subject showed through her smile and exaggerated hand gestures.

"The monks couldn’t take it anymore, so they had Bernini cover it up with gold gilding and put a sandal on it so it would match," Hallman said.

"The ‘Naked Christ,’" by Michelangelo, was commissioned for an Italian church.

Correction:

In an April 5 article, Mustang Daily regrettedly misreported the confusion regarding deadlines printed for ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Thus, candidates were informed that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. It should have read, according to candidates, that there was no time printed on some of the ASI candidate applications. Therefore, there was no confusion. There was no confusion. There was no confusion.
State may decide whether to try Unabomber cases of years past

By Carolyn Skomeck

WASHINGTON — The five-year federal limit on prosecuting most crimes other than capital offenses means state officials may ultimately control whether a Unabomber suspect faces federal trial in attacks that occurred years ago.

Blum, a member of Hillel (a Jewish group on campus) said one reason he coordinated the evening was to honor his grandmother's past means many things to Blum.

"If it weren't for my Grandma surviving, I would not be here today," he said.

"Stay alive my darlings, all six of you," Mrs. Blakely said.

Six candles were lighted in the end of the service in remembrance of all who perished because of the Nazis.

Blum said that Pastor Martin Niemoller, a Nazi victim, captured how he feels about the Holocaust in this poem:

They first came for the Communists and I didn't speak up— because I wasn't a Communist.

Then they came for the Catholics and I didn't speak up— because I was a Protestant.

Then they came for the Jews and I didn't speak up— because I wasn't a Jew.

Then they came for the Trade Unionists and I didn't speak up— because I wasn't a Trade Unionist.

Then they came for the Catholics and I didn't speak up— because I was a Protestant.

Then they came for me— and by that time no one was left to speak up.

To allow for federal prosecution in attacks that happened more than five years before indictment would require the involvement of a conspiracy or of racketeering or criminal organizations, not the act of a lone assailant, attorneys said.

The Unabomber, if convicted of either of two later killings, could face the death penalty because that punishment was restored to federal law in August 1994.

Brady, the Unabomber's attorney, said he has not been able to win a plea bargain because the death penalty could be imposed.

Specific enough charges might have stopped the federal statute of limitations from running in those attacks, said Dennis, who is also a former U.S. attorney in Philadelphia and is now with the law firm of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius.

"It's going to have to go in front of a judge, but at least with a charge there and some specificity, you may have more of a fighting chance," he said.

Prosecutors in other older cases could be helped by quirks in state laws.

In at least two states where attacks occurred, Illinois and Michigan, the statute of limitations doesn't start running unless the suspect is living publicly in that state. Illinois' normal limit for non-capital offenses is three years while Michigan's is 10.

"If a person lived in Illinois for only one year, then moved out of state for 20 years and then came back, they would still have two years left on the statute of limitations on an attempted murder charge," said Dan Curry, a former federal prosecutor in Chicago.

In older cases in Utah, federal prosecutors may have avoided the statute of limitations problem by having filed a sealed indictment years in connection with two Unabomber attacks there, in 1981 and 1987, naming the assailant only as "John Doe."

Specific enough charges might have avoided the federal statute of limitation from running in those attacks, said Dennis, who is also a former U.S. attorney in Michigan that hurt two.
A challenge to D.P.

Editor,

I had to laugh when I read your gibber response to Walter Ortiz. You don’t really believe your readers are so gullible to think you have not been involved in attacks on logic, but choose to hold back for fear of wasting ink and paper, do you? We’ve all played poker and recognize a bluff. Put your cards on the table, D.P. Let’s see that incredible hand.

Christopher Absher
Credential prep gravel

Save Sam and Chuck

Editor,

In a great country such as the United States of America, it’s a shame to know that a handful of people could conceivably decide the fate of the North County Wildlife, Rehabilitation and Education Center and, ultimately, the fate of Sam and Chuck, the two Bengal tigers who live there. We don’t understand why this group of people have filed a lawsuit to have this vital veterinary facility shut down. Don’t they care that shutting this facility down could mean the deaths of Sam and Chuck? We’ve all played poker and recognize a bluff. Put your cards on the table, D.P. Let’s see that incredible hand.

Justine Frederiksen,
Melissa M.
Dawn Pulskirby,
Karen Spacder,
John Nicholas,
Nausha Martinez,
Juan Martinez,
Dawn Kalmar,
Maureen McDowell,
Shoshana Yoder,
Monique LeFors,
Nichole Montgomery,
Randi Levine,
Tony Bartolotto,
Ryan Azus,
Tony Bartolotto,
Credit Manager: Susan O’Shea

Editorial Production: Anne Krueger,
Shelly Schweigerdt, Steven Stecher

Photographers:

Complementary

This is to Mr. Espinosa and everyone out there who feels outraged by the country’s reaction to and attempt at subduing the illegals who crossed the border last week. WAH WAH WAH! I’m going to answer his charges as they appear in order in his commentary. And interspersed throughout this will be the thoughts that people lose that so offended him.

Those officers were trying to detain those individuals who chose to evade rather than cooperate with law enforcement. The audio tape clearly recorded the commands made by the cops to get down. They said this repeatedly throughout the altercation. But they were ignored. Now I’m not a cop, nor a cop groupie, but I’m certain that after verbal commands have been issued and ignored, training dictates the next step to be physical force. And I heard some stupid ACLU lawyer down in LA land say that if a command is not understood, meaning the language barrier, it is not a command. Sorry, poor defense. If you have people with guns, clubs, uniforms and badges chasing you and yelling at you, you stop and assume the prone position, period.

This lies at the heart of one of the most contentious aspects of Americas’ dismay over the immigration issue. This is to Mr. Espinosa and everyone out there who feels outraged by the country’s reaction to and attempt at subduing the illegals who crossed the border last week. WAH WAH WAH! I’m going to answer his charges as they appear in order in his commentary. And interspersed throughout this will be the thoughts that people lose that so offended him.

Those officers were trying to detain those individuals who chose to evade rather than cooperate with law enforcement. The audio tape clearly recorded the commands made by the cops to get down. They said this repeatedly throughout the altercation. But they were ignored. Now I’m not a cop, nor a cop groupie, but I’m certain that after verbal commands have been issued and ignored, training dictates the next step to be physical force. And I heard some stupid ACLU lawyer down in LA land say that if a command is not understood, meaning the language barrier, it is not a command. Sorry, poor defense. If you have people with guns, clubs, uniforms and badges chasing you and yelling at you, you stop and assume the prone position, period.

Riverside beatings: the other side

by Stephen Sanford

If you have people with guns, clubs, uniforms and badges chasing you and yelling at you, you stop and assume the prone position, period. The state alone spends millions of dollars annually printing everything from political literature, unemployment claims and food stamp applications to directions on how to cook a damned can of peas in Spanish. All because some in the Spanish community won’t assimilate and learn English. They wish to retain the heritage of the country they so desperately wanted to flee. Meanwhile, illiteracy is rampant in the United States. You want us to understand what they’re running from, but we’re the ones running to. If you don’t draw the attention of the police because all they speak is English. Can you imagine?

“Cease then to fashion state-made sin
Nor give your children cause to doubt
That virtue springs from iron within
Not lead without.”

-Rudyard Kipling

Editor, two weeks ago, my commentary was printed regarding dreamcatchers. The cartoon above the article was, however, not reflective of the letter, and seemed distasteful. The cartoonist proved that there are still rude, ignorant, ethnocentric people existing in society. This is admittedly nothing new. Thank you very much, Mr. Cartoonist. You illustrated my point perfectly, not with your cynical draw-
Hezbollah guerrillas refuse to cease firing on northern Israel

By Tarek Al-Issowi

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Israeli helicopter gunships targeted Lebanon's largest Palestinian refugee camp Tuesday, widening their 6-day-old daylight against Iranian-backed guerrillas. Israeli aircraft also bombarded Beirut, killing a 2-year-old girl, after a rocket attack on northern Israel.

Despite a flurry of diplomatic activity involving the United States, France and other countries, there was no sign of a letup in Israel's offensive aimed at stopping the rocket attacks by Hezbollah guerrillas.

From hideouts in the valleys of south Lebanon, the guerrillas fired more volleys of Katyusha rockets into northern Israel, drawing more Israeli airstrikes.

Fire civilians were killed and 20 wounded on Tuesday. All told, 46 people have been killed and 166 wounded on both sides since the hostilities began Thursday.

Hours later, three Israeli helicopter gunships swept through a curtain of anti-aircraft fire to hit Hezbollah targets in the densely populated Shiite quarter of Hay Sullom near Beirut International Airport.

They fired four rockets, damaging several buildings. Hezbollah guerrillas sealed off the area, roughed up journalists and tried to confiscate cameras and film.

A 2-year-old girl died from severe head wounds and two other civilians were wounded in that raid, police reported.

As Israeli military communique said the air raid, Israel's sixth on Beirut since Thursday, targeted a Hezbollah "regional headquarters" and pilots reportedly "good hits."

Long lines formed in front of Beirut bakeries and gas stations in a sign of the increasing panic among the city's 1.2 million people.

The United States was trying to broker a truce based on a 1993 arrangement under which Israel disarm Hezbollah.

Mon Frère!

The US' Ibn's of Ihppinfis

One of the first 10 people who presents this ad at the CBS Information Center at 1:00 pm.

Bring this ad to get a free CBS College Tour T-shirt!
Causes of Gulf War Syndrome may be found

By Lauren Marguerid

WASHINGTON — Doses of three chemicals used to protect Gulf War soldiers from nerve gas and insects are harmless alone but mixed together can cause neurological problems in animals, Duke University researchers reported Tuesday.

The nerve-gas pill reduces the body’s normal ability to cleanse itself of the two insecticides so they have time to infiltrate the brain, said Dr. Mohamed Abou-Denia, who presented his findings to veterans and defense officials Tuesday.

The Pentagon says it has no evidence of a new mystery disease causing the headaches, fatigue, memory loss and other symptoms reported by tens of thousands of Gulf War veterans. It attributes most symptoms to known illnesses.

“We haven’t ruled in or ruled out the possibility that combinations of chemicals could indeed explain some of the illnesses of Persian Gulf veterans, said Veterans Affairs spokesman Terry Jemison. He declined to comment on Abou-Denia’s findings, saying Veterans officials wanted to thoroughly review his research when it is published in next month’s Journal of Toxicology and Environmental Health.

From page 3

A standardized schedule that will avoid conflicts between lecture and lab classes will be implemented, Baker said.

The plan includes class offerings to students during the summer in order to move toward a model of year-round schooling, Baker said.

The Academic Senate also passed a resolution last week that promises to make faster graduation easier.

The plan increases class offerings to students during the summer in order to move toward a model of year-round schooling, Baker said.

The plan increases class offerings to students during the summer in order to move toward a model of year-round schooling, Baker said.

The government should immediately investigate Abou-Denia’s findings, said veterans’ spokesman Phil Budahn of the American Legion.

“We are going to use that event to substantially increase our private support,” Baker said.

If the plan is successful, students will graduate in less time, and therefore spend less money on tuition despite the increased fees, according to Baker.

Student fees alone won’t finance the Plan, Baker said. Reallocation of current funds and encouragement of more private support will also support the Plan.

As Cal Poly approaches its 100th Birthday in 2001, a centennial celebration campaign will be enacted to encourage private support, Baker said.

“We’re going to use that event to substantially increase our private support,” Baker said.
NFL: Will the Jets sign Johnson for next season?

From page 8

If the Jets, who did have Phil­lips in for a love-fest last week, do sign Johnson, then Jackson­ville becomes the target for the teams that want Phillips.

If the Jaguars are REALLY down on Hardy, and their draft's best linebacker, they would probably trade down because they're stocked at running back. They could get two good players at six and 13 — perhaps Rice (if the Giants get Hardy or Ogden)

...they're stocked at running back. They could get two good players at six and 13 — perhaps Rice (if they get Hardy or Ogden). If the Jets, who did have Phillips in for a love-fest last week, do sign Johnson, then Jackson­ville becomes the target for the teams that want Phillips. If the Jaguars are REALLY down on Hardy, and their draft's best linebacker, they would probably trade down because they're stocked at running back. They could get two good players at six and 13 — perhaps Rice (if the Giants get Hardy or Ogden). If the Jets, who did have Phillips in for a love-fest last week, do sign Johnson, then Jacksonville becomes the target for the teams that want Phillips. If the Jaguars are REALLY down on Hardy, and their draft's best linebacker, they would probably trade down because they're stocked at running back. They could get two good players at six and 13 — perhaps Rice (if the Giants get Hardy or Ogden)
Cycling

Scores

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Score</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cal Poly</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.C. San Diego</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.C. Los Angeles</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.C. Santa Barbara</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.C. San Diego State</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cal Poly Pomona</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.C. Irvine</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pepperdine</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Claremont</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cal Tech</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Schedule

Today's Games

- There are no games scheduled today.

Tomorrow's Games

- Women's Tennis: American West
  - Claremont ..............................................16
  - U.C. San Diego ...................................212

POLY BRIEFS

Rain washes away softball and baseball games

The rain kept the softball team at home. The first game against UC Davis was called off.

The softball double-header at University of California Santa Barbara and the baseball night game against UCSB had to be cancelled. None of the games will be rescheduled.

Basketball player suspended

Dr. Morey Sanders, a freshman on the basketball team, was suspended for breaking team policy before the weekend.

Baseball

The men's baseball team was suspended for breaking team policy according to a press release Tuesday.

The team lost three games against UC Santa Barbara and one against UC Davis.

National Breeches

U.S. Olympic soccer team looks for identity in 1996

W A S H I N G T O N (A P) — The U.S. Olympic soccer team arrived at RFK Stadium Tuesday, trying to shed an identity crisis.

The team, which is not the national team, the one that reached the second round of the 1994 World Cup, has never been, according to those who vote twice, best for fans.

"We're going to try to do something that's better than breaking the record," said Dr. Morey Sanders. "Anytime we go somewhere, it means we're out there.

And no, no, we're not.

"Olympic soccer is for players under 23, except for three wild cards. The governing body of European soccer won't allow its team to use the wild cards, leaving Brazil and Argentina as the heavy favorites.

"You still think of the World Cup as the ultimate goal," Peay said. "I think, in general, the Olympics is the ultimate goal for many. But as a soccer player, the World Cup is the best.

The American team will play its first-round games in Washington and Birmingham, Ala.

"We have many soccer players in this country, and we believe they're good," Sanders said.

"At least the players are as qualified as those who've been called up into the U.S. D.C. United in Major League Soccer.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"We believe in our client. We are not going to engage in any type of activity that has no other purpose than to bring harm or embarrassment to someone," said Bruce Arena, coach of the U.S. national team.

-- Charles Graddick

Attorney for LaDonna August who is filing suit against Mike Tyson

NFL draft rumors flying

By Dave Goldberg

NEW YORK — Fact or fiction?

The New York Jets REALLY want Kevin Johnson, but if they can't sign him before Saturday's draft, they'll trade the first pick to Baltimore or San Francisco. It's a second pick because he can't rush the passer, but made a name for himself in the Oklahoma backfield.

The Jacksonville Jaguars have decided NOT to take Kevin. Their problem is that they have a second pick because he can't rush the passer, either.

The San Francisco 49ers are in the same boat.

According to those who manipulate the draft best (like Jimmy Johnson, now in Miami), the only way to get a good deal for the No. 1 pick is to pretend you like the guy the other teams want. The Jets had Phillips in last week and said nice things about him, but...

Almost everyone in the league knows they'll take Johnson if they can sign him before the draft.

It's not the easiest trade to make if you don't know what you're doing," says a team official who's had experience dealing with No. 1 overall picks. "To get a package of players, you really have to convince people you'll take him.

By Nancy Amour

GARY, Ind. — The woman ac­cusing boxer Mike Tyson of sexually assaulting her at a Chicago nightclub is not out for publicity, one of her lawyers said Tuesday.

LaDonna August asked her head bowed as she entered Gary's Genesis Convention Cen­ter, flanked by Cal Poly's closest op­ponent was the University of California Santa Barbara, Diego State and University of California Irvine.

In Sunday's individual time trial race, the field raced off 11 of 17 medals, including four gold.

The ITT is a race where in­dividuals race alone and are timed for a certain distance. The course for Cal Poly and other competitors was a 10-mile course with rolling hills.

Time trials are dependent on individual performances, with emphasis on side-by-side action like road races.

Smith fell one second short of being the first to finish with a time of 22:36 and averaged over 26 mph for the 10-mile course.

Schneider and Dan Wait swept all three medals in the Women's B and Men's C com­petition respectively.

The Wheelmen have four races remaining in its season, two in Berkeley this weekend.