Double run-off in ASI election

By Ryan Becker
Daily Staff Writer

Students will have to vote once more to decide who will lead ASI next year.

In final election results released Thursday night none of the candidates for president or chair of the board managed to get more than 50 percent of the votes. A runoff between the top two vote-getters for each office will be held next Wednesday.

For president the candidates will be Neel "Bubbo" Murarka and Dan Geis. For chair the candidates will be Amy Luker and Travis Hagen. About 17 percent of the student body cast ballots in the presidential race, and about 18 percent voted in the race for chair of the board. Murarka received 1,304 votes; 47.9 percent of the 2,719 ballots cast in the presidential race. Murarka, a computer science sophomore, enthusiastically shook hands with his competitors and supporters after the results were announced.

"All the candidates had hopes to win," Murarka said.

It's not over yet...

Official results of this week's ASI election.

President

- Neel "Bubbo" Murarka
  1,304 votes—47.9%
- Dan Geis
  1,190 votes—43.8%
- Nathan Martin
  225 votes—8.3%

Chair of the Board

- Amy Luker
  1,336 votes—46.1%
- Travis Hagen
  1,172 votes—40.4%
- Matthew Lardy
  393 votes—13.5%

It's not over yet...

Official results of this week's ASI election.

President

- Neel "Bubbo" Murarka
  1,304 votes—47.9%
- Dan Geis
  1,190 votes—43.8%
- Nathan Martin
  225 votes—8.3%

Chair of the Board

- Amy Luker
  1,336 votes—46.1%
- Travis Hagen
  1,172 votes—40.4%
- Matthew Lardy
  393 votes—13.5%

ASI Board defends Harrigan against attacks from Chair candidate Lardy

By Calvin Lin
Daily Staff Writer

Members of the ASI Board of Directors responded at Wednesday's meeting to allegations that a former ASI executive director was involved in embezzling funds.

At a Greek-sponsored candidate forum on Monday, chair of the board candidate Matt Lardy accused Polly Harrigan, former executive director and now vice president of student affairs, of being involved in the ASI embezzlement scandal of 1996. Harrigan did not have a part in the scandal.

Many board members jumped to Harrigan's defense, saying that Lardy had his facts wrong. Lardy, a board member from the College of Science and Math, was unavailable for comment. He did, however, admit he had made a mistake at an ASI-sponsored forum on Tuesday.

According to a July 1996 Mustang Daily report, Harrigan actually exposed the embezzler, Susan K. Pierce, a 25-year-old ASI employee, who stole approximately $99,700 from ASI over a two-year period. Pierce returned the money in April 1996 when she brought in a check for $89,531.

Pierce, no longer employed by ASI, was sentenced by a San Luis Obispo County judge to pay a fine of $1,000, serve 90 days in jail and perform 1,000 hours of community service as an ASI Executive Vice President.

Matt Ceppi defended Harrigan at the meeting.

Artist offers new cultural perspective

By Jesse Garie
Daily Staff Writer

Guillermo Gomez-Peña's ever-changing performance might differ over time, but his artistic goal remains constant: To raise questions that will initiate a dialogue among races.

The nationally acclaimed artist's chameleon-like forms of expression have created hybrid characters through different styles to get his multicultural messages across.

One of the students in attendance, Steve Duarte, challenged Peña toward the end of his lecture to answer a question. He asked Peña what he was doing personally to remedy cultural dilemmas of the U.S. through his entertainment performances.

"I didn't come here to entertain, I came here to think out loud with you," answered Peña. "I am not here to start a march. This is a dialogue in the spirit of generosity. We are trying to figure out something and that's it."

He asked Duarte to please rephrase his question. He did, and this time the answer led to Peña's decision to define his work.

"My contribution is creating images by raising tough questions through my poetry and through my performance art. This is a time for interdisciplinary dialogue," he said.

Culture critic, artist and "border citizen," Peña's performance was dominated by discussions of cultural and political relations.

Putting the pieces of SLO's Chinese past together

John Parker sorts through local archeological findings in a Col Poly lab.

"What the Chinese did for California's economy, and specifically here in San Luis Obispo, is an untold chapter in its historical aspect. The group, part of the Archeological Research Center on campus, has been sorting through about 10 percent of the population."

Volunteer Janet Wallace, who has been helping for about two months, said the project really interested her because of its historical aspect.

"That's why this project is interesting to me," Wallace said. "Because it's actually going to allow us to write a part of.
Conference gives Body, Heart and Soul to women's health

By Leslie Stevens
Daily Stormer

Paint your way to glory

Muralists wanted! I Madonnari meet« Diego Rivera meets you! A Muralisti« wanted! I Madonnari meet« Diego Rivera meets you! A

There will be something for women of all ages this Saturday at the "Healthy Women—Body, Heart and Soul" conference to be held at Cal Poly's University Union.

The all-day conference will feature speaker Kate Hartley, Emery-award winning artist, who will speak on Monet's paintings. Hartley published an autobiography, "Breaking the Silence," which deals with mental illness, and she is the national spokesperson for the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention.

Hartley's talk begins at 3 p.m. In addition to Hartley's presentation, the conference consists of more than 30 workshops. The workshops will be offered over the course of five one-hour sessions held throughout the day. Women can select which workshop they wish to attend from among the five or six topics offered at each session.

The topics will cover a broad spectrum of women's physical and mental health issues, from cancer to osteoporosis, and breast cancer to alternative medicine.

According to event organizer Marcia Jaffe, some programs will have been especially popular with college-age women at previous conferences. She said these include sessions on "Women Body You Live In. 'Women's Betrayal in the Media" and "Finding Pleasure, Seeking Joy." There is also a special program being offered just for young women ages 13 to 18, with topics geared to their interests.

Workshops will include authors, physicians, psychologists, health-care advocates and wellness experts.

According to Jaffe, Hartley is the only paid speaker at the conference. "All the other speakers are coming because they really want to be a part of this. I am very delighted about them coming," she said.

The conference is co-sponsored by Cal Poly Women's Programs and Services and several corporate sponsors including Aetna, Transamerica, the Central California Women's Health Network, the Tenet Health System and Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Registration and continental breakfast begin at 8 a.m., and the program runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Cost, including lunch and snacks is: $35 for individuals; $30 for seniors 65 and over; $20 for students; and $5 for ages 13 to 18. Childcare is available for $10 per day.

For further information, contact Women's Programs and Services in the University Union, or call 1-888-WOMEN-05.

"I was really moved by the passion that he showed for the different things he talked about," said career services employee Stacey Williams. "The power of art and you can too.

CHINESE from page 1

California history.

And Parker added that this is a part of history that had been left out because of discrimination.

In 1987, before the Palm Street parking structure could be built, a group of archaeologists were sent to excavate the area. But before any of the artifacts could be catalogued, the funding from the city ran out. That's where Parker and his team came in.

The group undertook a major archaeological task, which after the excavation ended. They have already spent more than 3,500 man hours. "Parks is very nervous about the artifacts dug up from the area that now houses the parking structure."

"There are about five tons of broken up bars on a block that is roughly 1/4 mile away from the trash pit," Parker said. "And inside of each bar, there are just a few of the artifacts that have been found in and around the trash pit area."

"The coins are very useful because the artifacts themselves are the tools that tell us exactly what time period we are dealing with," Parker said.

"They are the coins that have been found in the trash pit," Parker said. "And they are the coins that tell us exactly what time period we are dealing with."

"I have a specialist who does nothing but bone analysis," he continued. "She can take all this bone, sort it by species, pull out all the cut bone and she'll recreate the cut of meat that this bone came from. They then use the 1880s butchers' prices and reconstruct the price of this particular meat. By comparing all the different cuts of meat in this trash pit, we'll know the economic status of the family whose trash pit we are studying."
Cal Poly student to peddle across U.S., serve communities

Lana Sullivan uses her bike to earn bucks for charities nationwide

By Christine Lawlor Daily Staff Writer

Giggles and a whole lot of energy will motivate a 24-year-old Cal Poly student to bike across America this summer. She is riding with BIKE-AID, an annual program sponsored by a nonprofit organization called the Overseas Development Network (ODN).

ODN has worked to support international grassroots developments since 1986, and has raised more than $14 million through the BIKE-AID challenge. The money is distributed to different charities nationwide.

“This is the one time I decided I really wanted to make a difference,” Sullivan said. “I want to help people to enjoy what I enjoy. There is so much to riding a bike, so much to see and every hill is a challenge to conquer.*

Sullivan said she hopes to inspire others to make this trip and perhaps start a Cal Poly legacy. She said she had always wanted to do community service projects but never found the time.

“My biggest fear is how I’m going to raise enough money,” Sullivan said. “I’m not the best Girl Scout cookie salesman either.”

Sullivan said she must raise $3,600, which is equivalent to $1 for every mile she rides. Sullivan said she sent out 150 mailers asking friends, family and local businesses to donate one cent for every mile, $36.

“Most (people) have sent more than $36,” Sullivan said. “It is great to hear back from people you have not heard from in a while. Sometimes you hear back from people you never expected would mail you back.”

Sullivan also plans to have a garage sale on May 15. She said she hopes to get donations from friends and family to sell.

“I know a lot of people at school, in my major and clubs, so I should get a lot of support,” Sullivan said. “Most have been very supportive so far, so I’m sure it will carry through.”

Sullivan will travel cross-country with 25 other cyclists from all over the world. The cyclists will cover 60 to 80 miles a day, six days a week. On the seventh day, the team will take a break from riding and dedicate a day to community service projects.

Sullivan said the group she will be traveling with is called COW, Community on Wheels. The group will have a few facilitators who will help the group work as a team. Together they will plan the daily routes, meals and rest spots.

“I have always taken the leadership role throughout my life,” Sullivan said. “This time I will view myself as a leader by being a follower. I want to blend with the group and not be the one every one turns to, for once.”

Sullivan said the group will stay in national parks, Indian reservations, shelters and a few private homes of past BIKE-AID riders. The cyclists go at their own pace and are encouraged to ride with at least one other rider. A van will carry all of the cyclists’ equipment and will meet them at their daily destinations.

Sullivan said she has not trained extensively for this trip.

“When they talked about their trips I was so interested, but it seemed a little overwhelming at the time,” Sullivan said. “But I started to get more competitive in my junior college and did Wildflower. The next thing I knew I joined the Wheelmen club and now I’m headed across America.”

Sullivan said her inspiration to make the journey came from two former members of the Wheelmen club, Stacey Gregory and Mike Sallaberry, who made the trip in previous years. Sullivan came to Cal Poly three years ago from California State University, Fullerton and joined the Wheelmen club right away.

Six years and three bikes later, Sullivan is on her way across the U.S.

“I started off biking recreationally,” Sullivan said. “Then I started to get more competitive in my junior college and did Wildflower. The next thing I knew I joined the Wheelmen club and now I’m headed across America.”

Sullivan said her inspiration to make the journey came from two former members of the Wheelmen club, Stacey Gregory and Mike Sallaberry, who made the trip in previous years. Sullivan came to Cal Poly three years ago from California State University, Fullerton and joined the Wheelmen club right away.

“This is the one time I decided I really wanted to make a difference,” Sullivan said. “I want to help people to enjoy what I enjoy. There is so much to riding a bike, so much to see and every hill is a challenge to conquer.*

Sullivan said she hopes to be able to dedicate a day to community service projects.

Sullivan said she wants to keep biking

“I hope to work for Backroads, an outdoor adventure-type camp for adults,” she said. “I want to help people to enjoy what I enjoy. There is so much to riding a bike, so much to see and every hill is a challenge to conquer.”

Sullivan said she hopes to be able to always have biking in her life. Anyone interested in the program can learn more by visiting Sullivan’s website, http://www.calpoly.edu/~sulliva.
The good ol' boys

By Gregg Wilson

This is to address to the Confederate flag waving Georgians at this school and in this state. Last time I checked, California was a free state at the time of the Civil War. It did not try to secede from the nation. My point is that there is no relation to the Massion Dixie Line. Therefore, it makes absolutely no sense to me why hicks from Northern California (when I say hick, I mean the select group of people from Nor Cal who are overly red-neck) brandish the Confederate Battle flag (actually one of several variations of the flag) and show off this heritage which they do not possess. I am from Georgia, and my roots are in Georgia. It is my heritage, I display it with pride with the flag. I feel that I have a, for a lack of a better term, duty to fly it. It does not mean I'm a prejudiced, or that I am a member of the KKK. It means I have pride in my roots and what my ancestors fought for. It ticks me off when I see a drunken shirtdigger, wearing a wife-beater and flaunting the flag. That's the stereotype; someone who waves the Flag by itself to an inbred, drunk, country music listening, prejudiced, trailer park inhabiting, squirrel eating, piece of setting trash. That's not the case. I do not care what you have heard or what Jane Fonda has told you.

Ever heard of Atlanta, Georgia? A huge amount of technology, corporate contributions and economic stability comes from this great city, and it's in the heart of the South. Where I'm from, everyone doesn't have freezer bags in their grocery company. In case they have to eat a deer: we don't erase with our mother-in-laws over the last weekend of Copenhagen. This is a civilized state. The people from the south (Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, and the rest) are not a bunch of yokels from little poor backwater town. I have seen plenty of people from

Now and Greeks work together

Editor,

As the president and vice president of the Cal Poly Now chapter, we would hope that students, faculty and administra- tors, who are not part of Greek system (or NOW), would take some time to develop an understanding of Greek life (or Feminism) in general and resist forwarding "stereotypes," as stated by Aron DeFarrari in his column April 28. Now has worked with the Greek system a number of times over the years, and is currently working with both IFC and Panhellenic (not Pan-Hellenic an

Fresno and Bakersfield portray the white trash hanky image while waving the stars and bars and represent my heritage. It's the Dukes of Hazard syndrome; they think the show is cool and that they need love; two steps further. I have nothing against the Dukes of Hazard. I think it's a great show. Hell, I've got a Confederate license plate on my Chevy, a flag sticker on the spare tire, and I do so all over.

Greg Wilson is an animal sci- ence sophomore who is damn proud to be a cracker.

DeFarrari spelled it) to coordinate 'Bake Sale' mission than sitting around demising policies you claim are repetitive freedom are more pertinent to our cool and that they need take the idea two steps further. I have no prejudice. I've never met a cute girl (or nor DeFarrari, to devise ways to combat stereotypes and policies you claim are unprogressive, well-to-do-

You know who you are. Don't degrade the image of something which you have no relation to. It gives the other true Southerners on this campus and myself a bad rap. For the record, "cracker" is only a white boy from Georgia, who can be One theory blames El Niño, another significant other offers you love and pollen in the air. This time of year, it is not unusual to have been avoided allergy—but I wouldn't say there is a direct relationship. This brings me to my question as to why no one brings up the difference is between love and pollen in the air. I've never met a cute girl (or as good as a box of choco-

Nate Pontious

COLUMN

Do not step on and smell the roses. Run away! Avoid them at all costs! If your significant other offers you flowers, it's a trick! Break up with them immediately! After all, spring has sprung, and for most people the last time we were in the air we cannot afford to take any chances, for allergies are all about us.

This year of use, it is not unusual to hear wild stories of someone strolling two, three, or ten in a row, or to witness your neighbor vigorously rubbing his wrist into his eye (note: avoid shaking hands.), or to even join the legions of allergi who wander around like zombies allergic who blame the amount of dust in the air. Blame the amount of dust in the air. They blame it on the weather, or the people next door, or to even join the legions of... the rest) are not a bunch of yokels from Georgia, with no implied prejudice. I hate country music, I'm not inbred. I hate county music. I'm not prejudiced, or that I am a member of the KKK. It means I have pride in my roots and what my ancestors fought for. It ticks me off when I see a drunken shirtdigger, wearing a wife-beater and flaunting the flag. That's the stereotype; someone who waves the Flag by itself to an inbred, drunk, country music listening, prejudiced, trailer park inhabiting, squirrel eating, piece of setting trash. That's not the case. I do not care what you have heard or what Jane Fonda has told you.

Ever heard of Atlanta, Georgia? A huge amount of technology, corporate contributions and economic stability comes from this great city, and it's in the heart of the South. Where I'm from, everyone doesn't have freezer bags in their grocery company. In case they have to eat a deer: we don't erase with our mother-in-laws over the last weekend of Copenhagen. This is a civilized state. The people from the south (Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, and the rest) are not a bunch of yokels from little poor backwater town. I have seen plenty of people from

Now and Greeks work together

Editor,

As the president and vice president of the Cal Poly Now chapter, we would hope that students, faculty and administra- tors, who are not part of Greek system (or NOW), would take some time to develop an understanding of Greek life (or Feminism) in general and resist forwarding "stereotypes," as stated by Aron DeFarrari in his column April 28. Now has worked with the Greek system a number of times over the years, and is currently working with both IFC and Panhellenic (not Pan-Hellenic an

Fresno and Bakersfield portray the white trash hanky image while waving the stars and bars and represent my heritage. It's the Dukes of Hazard syndrome; they think the show is cool and that they need love; two steps further. I have nothing against the Dukes of Hazard. I think it's a great show.

Greg Wilson is an animal sci- ence sophomore who is damn proud to be a cracker.

DeFarrari spelled it) to coordinate 'Bake Sale' mission than sitting around demising policies you claim are repetitive freedom are more pertinent to our cool and that they need take the idea two steps further. I have no prejudice. I've never met a cute girl (or as good as a box of choco-

Nate Pontious

COLUMN

Do not step on and smell the roses. Run away! Avoid them at all costs! If your significant other offers you flowers, it's a trick! Break up with them immediately! After all, spring has sprung, and for most people the last time we were in the air we cannot afford to take any chances, for allergies are all about us.

This year of use, it is not unusual to hear wild stories of someone strolling two, three, or ten in a row, or to witness your neighbor vigorously rubbing his wrist into his eye (note: avoid shaking hands.), or to even join the legions of allergi who wander around like zombies allergic who blame the amount of dust in the air. Blame the amount of dust in the air. They blame it on the weather, or the people next door, or to even join the legions of...
SPIEGLER continued. "I would urge ASI members to take a stand for the truth. It is not enough to represent the facts, but to challenge the future of ASI wrongfully and ignorantly accusing our past director," Ceppi continued. "I would urge (the board) to ask for some kind of apology. I would come short of saying resignation."

Vice President of Operations Greg King also expressed disgust at the accusation.

"I'm just concerned that an individual would use tactics like this to possibly further himself," King said. "I don't care if you're running for the Board, for the President of the United States, or for God. Be careful what you say because you're not being fair to that individual."

Chair of the Board Tom Spengler reminded the board members and candidates to speak carefully.

"As board members, you all have a responsibility to ASI not only to represent the facts, but to look after the corporation," Geis said.

Got a hot tip?
Call Mustang Daily.
756-1796

---

Marijuana

"I know the people that voted for me really believed in me," Martin said. "I plan on being involved in ASI next year and hope the winner of the runoff looks to me for help with whatever needs to be done."

The results in the race for chair of the board were similar to the results of the ballots cast in the race for chair of the board of directors.

Amy Luker, industrial engineering senior, led the pack with 1,336 votes, 46.1 percent of the ballots.

"I know with three candidates the chances of a runoff were good," Luker said. "I know I have my work cut out for me in the next few days."

Luker said her main objective before the runoff is to convince students to go to the polls.

"Getting voters back is going to be really difficult," she said. "But I'm glad we have more time to do some things differently in the campaign."

Luker expected the voter turnout to be much higher.

"I really thought we'd have 25 percent of the students, but we always wish there was, and I'm very pleased with where we are," Luker said. "I just find it so amazing that 1,300 people took time out of their day to vote for me."

Luker will face a runoff against Travis Hunter, agricultural science junior. Hagen garnered 1,172 votes, 40.4 percent.

"Things look pretty good," Hagen said. "I'm loving the campaign. One can only hope that you're competitive, so it's nice to be in this position."

---

Categories 1998-99 Schedule

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Categories</th>
<th>1998-99 Schedule</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pick one</td>
<td>Circle Run Dates</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summer Quarter</td>
<td>January</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Campus Clubs</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Announcements</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>Personals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Greek News</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Events</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Run-Off from page 1

Tonight," he said. "But I'm not disappointed with where I am right now. Now I've got to figure out my strategy for the runoff."

Dan Geis, an agriscience senior, trailed Muraskas closely. Geis had 11,190 votes, or 43.8 percent of the ballots.

"I'm very happy to be where I am," Geis said. "I think I was the underdog at first, and it's been an amazing race."

Geis said he's up to the challenge of another week of campaigning, even though the election was nerve-racking at times.

"It's time to put the tie back on," he told his supporters after the results were announced.

"Right now I'm going to eat and relax for a few minutes, and then it's time to get back to work," he said. "I'm just going to keep doing what I've been doing."

Martin continued. "I would urge ASI members to take a stand for the truth. It is not enough to represent the facts, but to challenge the future of ASI wrongfully and ignorantly accusing our past director," Ceppi continued. "I would urge (the board) to ask for some kind of apology. I would come short of saying resignation."

Vice President of Operations Greg King also expressed disgust at the accusation.

"I'm just concerned that an individual would use tactics like this to possibly further himself," King said. "I don't care if you're running for the Board, for the President of the United States, or for God. Be careful what you say because you're not being fair to that individual."

Chair of the Board Tom Spengler reminded the board members and candidates to speak carefully.

"As board members, you all have a responsibility to ASI not only to represent the facts, but to look after the corporation," Geis said.

Got a hot tip?
Call Mustang Daily. 756-1796
Wildflower blossoms this weekend at Lake San Antonio

FESTIVAL SCHEDULE

FRIDAY
- 2 p.m. Nike Running Clinic
- 3 p.m. Swim Clinic
- 4 p.m. Polar Fitness Club
- 7 p.m. Hotwheel: Band and Groove Syndicate

SATURDAY
- 8 a.m. Long course triathlon race start
- 9:30 a.m. Mountain bike triathlon race start

SUNDAY
- 9 a.m. Planters Olympic Distance Triathlon Race Start
- 9:30 a.m. Mountain bike triathlon race start
Baseball takes on Cal State Fullerton

The Cal Poly baseball team will travel to Fullerton this weekend to take on No. 10 Cal State Fullerton in a three-game series. On Tuesday, the Mustangs took on the No. 1 team in the nation and they almost won. The Mustangs fell to Stanford, 8-7, on Tuesday at the Sunken Diamond. The Mustangs trailed 8-6 after eight innings, but rallied for two more in the top of the ninth. Sophomore Steve Wood hit a two-run shot well beyond the left field wall, his second home run of the game and a 13th of the season, to put the deficit to 7-6.

With the potential winning run at the plate and tying run at first, Stanford got the final out to save the game. The Cardinal is now 37-8-1 on the season. The Mustangs fall to 15-36.

Softball finishes season with two road games

Five seniors said goodbye to the home crowd, but they might be back for one last hurrah. A doubleheader vs. New Mexico State University would be re-scheduled for May 8. But first, the seniors will travel south this weekend to possibly end the season on the road.

The Cal Poly softball team will take on Long Beach State and Cal State Fullerton in four Big West matches.

The Mustangs are coming off a sweep of UC Santa Barbara on the road.

Classified Advertising

Graphic Arts Building, Room 226 Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407 (805) 756-1143

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CASH FOR COMICS & GAMING ITEMS
New Comics Wednesday Morning! New Games Weekly. CAPT. NEMO COMICS. 779 Marsh. 544-NEMO

CASH PAID FOR USED CD'S, TAPES.
& LP'S. CHEAP THRILLS & RECYCLED RECORDS. 563 Higuera. New Release CD's Only $12.98! Open Mon.-Sat. 11-9pm

NEW FURNITURE!
In the University Union. Vote for your choice April 27-May 1 in PM U.U. ASI Facilities & Operations

_SCORE MORE!!_
GMAT 72 PTS GRE 214 PTS LSAT 7.5 PTS
Princeton Review (805) 995-0176

OPPORTUNITIES

Wake Up!
Summer is here. We have 12 sales positions to fill. Average profit $6700. Are you average? Call 667-6841.

SCHOLARSHIPS

ALPHA, Inc 541-2273
Free Pregnancy Tests, Support.

WORK

PHOTOSHOP TUTOR NEEDED (Mac)
Call 543-3961

ARCH. GRADS.
Terrific opportunities in Danville (E of S.F.) arch. firm. Creative design. Some AUTOCAD Prefer. Positive environ. 510 820-5858

FUN SUMMER JOBS
Gain valuable experience working with children outdoors. We are looking for caring Summer Day Camp staff whose summer home is in the San Fernando or Conejo Valley or neighboring areas. 818-865-5263 or CampJobs@ast.com

CAMP COUNSELORS AND INSTRUCTORS: Summer Day Camp in Contra Costa County area is looking for energetic, responsible individuals to work from June 15-August 28. Counselors, lifeguards, swim instructor, archery instructor, horseback riding instructor & wranglers, please apply. Phone 510-937-6506 Fax 510-837-8544 www.askcamp.com

MATTRESS & BED DISCOUNT CENTER

STUDENT DISCOUNT SET PRICES TWIN $99 QUEEN $149 KING $169 785-0197

MUSTANG DAILY, BABY!

TRAVEL & STATE

Buying a house or condo? For a free list of all the best priced houses & condos in SLO. Call Nelson Real Estate 546-1990

CLOSE TO HOME

JOHN WEPHERSON

OVERBOARD

by Chip Dunham

WILL YOU MARRY ME?

ALL RIGHT CHARLIE MAYBE THAT SENT ONES WERE THE PERFECT EYES OF THE BALLGAME BUT WOULD YOU PLEASE SET OUR HERE AND STOP YELLING THEIR MOMENT WITH YOUR STUBBORNNESS?

CITIZEN DOG

BY MARK O'HARE

"OK, now here's your horoscope! Romance and adventure are yours for the taking! Today's the day to tackle that big project you've been dying to get at."
SPORTS

SPORTS TRIVIA

Wednesday’s Answer: Kristin Folkl, an All-Pac-10 selection who led Stanford in scoring (18.9) and rebounding (9.2), also signed contracts Tuesday, signing a three-year contract with the WNBA. Congrats Kristen!

Today’s Question: Name the city where the Major League Soccer All Star game will be held this year.

Submit your answer to kkaney@polymail.calpoly.edu

SCORES

SOFTBALL

U.C. Santa Barbara 6
Cal Poly 1

U.C. Santa Barbara 6
Cal Poly 3

BASEBALL

Cal Poly 7
Stanford 8

SCHEDULE

FRIDAY
• Central Coast Roadrunners vs. Silicon Valley Ambassadors at Football College at 8 p.m.
• Baseball vs. Cal State Fullerton at Fullerton at 7 p.m.

SATURDAY
• Central Coast Roadrunners vs. Chico Rocks in Mustang Stadium at 7:30 p.m.
• Baseball vs. Cal State Fullerton at Fullerton at 1 p.m.
• Softball vs. Long Beach State at Long Beach at 1 p.m.

SUNDAY
• Baseball vs. Cal State Fullerton at Fullerton at 1 p.m.
• Softball vs. Cal State Fullerton at Fullerton at 1 p.m.

DAILY POLL

Who do you think is Cal Poly’s all-time greatest athlete?

Cast your vote on the web: www.mustangdaily.calpoly.edu

Lance Roberts
Full-time Professional

Derek Smith
former major league champ
and holder of “This Week in Baseball”

Buddy Roosevelt
General Manager San Diego Chargers

Toni Kajii
former All American

Kathy Steward
led all-OEUC in No. 1 rank in nation

SPORTS TRIBUNE

Junior runningback Craig Young and the rest of the Mustangs will show their talent at the Green and Gold Game Saturday.

Hall of Fame honors airplane crash victims

Inscribed by their Rememberance, Dr. James Buhagen, senior vice-president of Wichita State University approached the College Football Hall of Fame. Today the Hall of Fame will unveil and dedicate new bronze plaques honoring the men and women of three tragic college football team airplane crashes. Wichita's plane crash took the life of 31 passengers including 14 football players. In 1970, a plane carrying 37 Marshall University football players crashed into a hill. The College Football Hall of Fame, located in South Bend, Ohio, has enshrined over 750 former college players.

Mustangs hit field

Just five months after it ended, it is already back.

The Cal Poly football team will kick off its season with the annual Cal Poly Spring Football Green and Gold game. The game will kick-off at 11 a.m. in Mustang Stadium on Saturday.

The game will feature a scrimmage between the Cal Poly offensive and defensive teams.

The dynamic runningback duo of Antonio Warren and Craig Young will be back in action. Mustang fans can get a sneak peak at Cal Poly's new quarterback and wide receivers.

The football team got a late start on practice this year because of rains. The Mustangs have three more spring practices.

SCHERENDY

The game will be held this year.

SPORTS TRIBUNE

Today the Hall of Fame will unveil and dedicate new bronze plaques honoring the men and women of three tragic college football team airplane crashes. Wichita's plane crash took the life of 31 passengers including 14 football players. In 1970, a plane carrying 37 Marshall University football players crashed into a hill.

A former Wichita State University football player felt that his former team members should have a fitting tribute after their fatal plane crash in 1970.

SCHERENDY

The game will be held this year.

SPORTS TRIBUNE

Inscribed by their Rememberance, Dr. James Buhagen, senior vice-president of Wichita State University approached the College Football Hall of Fame. Today the Hall of Fame will unveil and dedicate new bronze plaques honoring the men and women of three tragic college football team airplane crashes. Wichita's plane crash took the life of 31 passengers including 14 football players.

In 1970, a plane carrying 37 Marshall University football players crashed into a hill.

The College Football Hall of Fame, located in South Bend, Ohio, has enshrined over 750 former college players.

SCHERENDY

The game will be held this year.

SPORTS TRIBUNE

Today the Hall of Fame will unveil and dedicate new bronze plaques honoring the men and women of three tragic college football team airplane crashes. Wichita's plane crash took the life of 31 passengers including 14 football players.

In 1970, a plane carrying 37 Marshall University football players crashed into a hill.

The College Football Hall of Fame, located in South Bend, Ohio, has enshrined over 750 former college players.

SCHERENDY

The game will be held this year.