Carjacker remains on the loose

By Katherine Hays
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

Sun Luis Obispo Police Department investigators are still searching for the man they believe to be responsible for the April 16 car-jacking and attempted kidnappings of a local woman.

The police obtained a copy of a surveillance video from the 7-11 convenience store on California Boulevard where the woman's car was found.

The police have been distributing the images statewide but have yet to identify the assailant.

“We’ve been showing the photo around everywhere, but no one has been able to identify him,” said SLOPD Lt. Tony Costa.

Kim Bunfill, a 21-year-old SLO State student, was one of the women attacked that night. She was attacked outside her Sun Luis Obispo home and was kidnapped and taken to a deserted parking lot off Santa Rosa Street. Bunfill found her opportunity to escape when her attacker put the gun on the dashboard to tie up her Diet Pepsi. Bunfill ran down the street to Taco Bell where she was able to contact police.

The suspect then drove Bunfill’s car to SLO, walked around the store for several minutes, and then left, without the car.

According to police, this is where the woman’s car was deserted.

The police obtained a copy of the surveillance video from 7-11 on California Blvd, where the woman's car was found.

The police have been distributing the images statewide but have yet to identify the assailant.

“We’ve been showing the photo around everywhere, but no one has been able to identify him,” said SLOPD Lt. Tony Costa.

Kim Bunfill, a 21-year-old SLO State student, was one of the women attacked that night. She was attacked outside her Sun Luis Obispo home and was kidnapped and taken to a deserted parking lot off Santa Rosa Street. Bunfill found her opportunity to escape when her attacker put the gun on the dashboard to tie up her Diet Pepsi. Bunfill ran down the street to Taco Bell where she was able to contact police.

The suspect then drove Bunfill’s car to SLO, walked around the store for several minutes, and then left, without the car.

According to police, this is where the woman’s car was deserted.

Aborne, Smith envision new ASI

By Kirsten Orsini-Meinhard
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

When an industrial engineering student won the Associated Student Inc. president position over a fraternity member, some students coined a new phrase: “geeks over Greeks.”

Newly elected ASI president Samuel Aborne doesn’t believe this description is valid.

“I don’t necessarily think it’s geeks over Greeks. I think the students have made a statement that they want a different style of leadership on campus, that they want a different emphasis,” Aborne said.

A new style of leadership has arrived.

Together with his vice president, Lewis Smith, Aborne plans to tackle ASI with a renewed student government that focuses on advocacy rather than representation.

“We’re more traditional student leaders — we have new ideas, and we’re not afraid to try them,” Aborne said. “We’re also not afraid of failure.”

As student body leaders, Aborne and Smith share a lot in common, and the similarities begin with their college ideologies. The two share their personal relationship with God and their belief in the plan God has in store for them.

“I don’t necessarily think it’s geeks over Greeks. I think the students have made a statement that they want a different style of leadership on campus, that they want a different emphasis,” Aborne said.

A new style of leadership has arrived.

Together with his vice president, Lewis Smith, Aborne plans to tackle ASI with a renewed student government that focuses on advocacy rather than representation.

“We’re more traditional student leaders — we have new ideas, and we’re not afraid to try them,” Aborne said. “We’re also not afraid of failure.”

As student body leaders, Aborne and Smith share a lot in common, and the similarities begin with their college ideologies. The two share their personal relationship with God and their belief in the plan God has in store for them.

“My attack is not on Jimmy himself. It’s more to show how ridiculous they are in feeling that they need to let everyone know and show off.”

Morgan Sykes-Jaybush architecture sophomore expressed that she is offended by the T-shirts because the message does not reflect what she believes.

“The message contradicts what a lot of other people believe, such as people doing the opposite of what God has planned for us,” Dowell said.

Dowell said that everything we do is in God’s plan, and that we are not capable of doing otherwise.

Some students are not as opposed to the message as much as the physiology that it represents.

Carjacker remains on the loose

By Katherine Hays
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

Sun Luis Obispo Police Department investigators are still searching for the man they believe to be responsible for the April 16 car-jacking and attempted kidnappings of a local woman.

The police obtained a copy of a surveillance video from the 7-11 convenience store on California Boulevard where the woman's car was found.

The police have been distributing the images statewide but have yet to identify the assailant.

“We’ve been showing the photo around everywhere, but no one has been able to identify him,” said SLOPD Lt. Tony Costa.

Kim Bunfill, a 21-year-old SLO State student, was one of the women attacked that night. She was attacked outside her Sun Luis Obispo home and was kidnapped and taken to a deserted parking lot off Santa Rosa Street. Bunfill found her opportunity to escape when her attacker put the gun on the dashboard to tie up her Diet Pepsi. Bunfill ran down the street to Taco Bell where she was able to contact police.

The suspect then drove Bunfill’s car to SLO, walked around the store for several minutes, and then left, without the car.

According to police, this is where the woman’s car was deserted.

Aborne, Smith envision new ASI

By Kirsten Orsini-Meinhard
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

When an industrial engineering student won the Associated Student Inc. president position over a fraternity member, some students coined a new phrase: “geeks over Greeks.”

Newly elected ASI president Samuel Aborne doesn’t believe this description is valid.

“I don’t necessarily think it’s geeks over Greeks. I think the students have made a statement that they want a different style of leadership on campus, that they want a different emphasis,” Aborne said.

A new style of leadership has arrived.

Together with his vice president, Lewis Smith, Aborne plans to tackle ASI with a renewed student government that focuses on advocacy rather than representation.

“We’re more traditional student leaders — we have new ideas, and we’re not afraid to try them,” Aborne said. “We’re also not afraid of failure.”

As student body leaders, Aborne and Smith share a lot in common, and the similarities begin with their college ideologies. The two share their personal relationship with God and their belief in the plan God has in store for them.

“My attack is not on Jimmy himself. It’s more to show how ridiculous they are in feeling that they need to let everyone know and show off.”

Morgan Sykes-Jaybush architecture sophomore expressed that she is offended by the T-shirts because the message does not reflect what she believes.

“The message contradicts what a lot of other people believe, such as people doing the opposite of what God has planned for us," Dowell said.

Dowell said that everything we do is in God’s plan, and that we are not capable of doing otherwise.

Some students are not as opposed to the message as much as the physiology that it represents.

Carjacker remains on the loose

By Katherine Hays
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

Sun Luis Obispo Police Department investigators are still searching for the man they believe to be responsible for the April 16 car-jacking and attempted kidnappings of a local woman.

The police obtained a copy of a surveillance video from the 7-11 convenience store on California Boulevard where the woman's car was found.

The police have been distributing the images statewide but have yet to identify the assailant.

“We’ve been showing the photo around everywhere, but no one has been able to identify him,” said SLOPD Lt. Tony Costa.

Kim Bunfill, a 21-year-old SLO State student, was one of the women attacked that night. She was attacked outside her Sun Luis Obispo home and was kidnapped and taken to a deserted parking lot off Santa Rosa Street. Bunfill found her opportunity to escape when her attacker put the gun on the dashboard to tie up her Diet Pepsi. Bunfill ran down the street to Taco Bell where she was able to contact police.

The suspect then drove Bunfill’s car to SLO, walked around the store for several minutes, and then left, without the car.

According to police, this is where the woman’s car was deserted.

Aborne, Smith envision new ASI

By Kirsten Orsini-Meinhard
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

When an industrial engineering student won the Associated Student Inc. president position over a fraternity member, some students coined a new phrase: “geeks over Greeks.”

Newly elected ASI president Samuel Aborne doesn’t believe this description is valid.

“I don’t necessarily think it’s geeks over Greeks. I think the students have made a statement that they want a different style of leadership on campus, that they want a different emphasis,” Aborne said.

A new style of leadership has arrived.

Together with his vice president, Lewis Smith, Aborne plans to tackle ASI with a renewed student government that focuses on advocacy rather than representation.

“We’re more traditional student leaders — we have new ideas, and we’re not afraid to try them,” Aborne said. “We’re also not afraid of failure.”

As student body leaders, Aborne and Smith share a lot in common, and the similarities begin with their college ideologies. The two share their personal relationship with God and their belief in the plan God has in store for them.

“My attack is not on Jimmy himself. It’s more to show how ridiculous they are in feeling that they need to let everyone know and show off.”

Morgan Sykes-Jaybush architecture sophomore expressed that she is offended by the T-shirts because the message does not reflect what she believes.

“The message contradicts what a lot of other people believe, such as people doing the opposite of what God has planned for us," Dowell said.

Dowell said that everything we do is in God’s plan, and that we are not capable of doing otherwise.

Some students are not as opposed to the message as much as the physiology that it represents.
Peer Health coordinator and CDC agree on study

By Robin Nichols
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

A study released April 27 by the Centers for Disease Control revealed a link between beer prices and occurrences of sexually transmitted diseases. One Cal Poly peer health coordinator agrees that alcohol plays a dangerous role in STDs.

The study compared STD statistics and state alcohol policies from 1981 to 1995. The main controversy about these findings is whether alcohol price changes would lead to different behaviors among 15-to 24-year-olds, or if the problem stems from something else. Some federal officials said that alcohol is linked to risky behavior and should be taxed. Others argue that the tax would have no effect on drinkers in society, and education is a better method to stop the spread of STDs.

Peer Health coordinator and kinesiology senior Christy Mountain shares the latter opinion.

"There's an increase in any kind of problem — sex assault and unsafe sex — with alcohol use. But I think this is not another way to blame sexual sex on alcohol. (Alcohol) is something that contributes to unsafe practices — but we need to teach attitude and education."

The findings of the study are also hard to believe for Cork 'n' Bottle general manager Frank Mare.

"I don't think (the tax) would make a difference," Mare said. "It's hard to say. Supermarkets undercut us so much — by two to three dollars. The 20 cents wouldn't make that big of an impact on customers. We're a small business — we can't afford to do it."

Some students consider the 20-cent tax proposed by the CDC study innocuous and are skeptical that it would change anything.

"I think 20 cents is hardly enough to change how much beer students buy," journalism freshman Natasha Toto said. "People are going to get drunk at parties and have sex no matter what."
News

Thursday, May 11, 2000 3

Four years ago, Aborne was expecting a-relaxing college experience until his involvement with Poli Reps showed him the busier side of campus life. "If you told me four years ago that I would be sitting at an interview as ASI student body president, I would have laughed you out of the room," Aborne said.

After working with Aborne as his campaign manager, Smith said the two complement each other very well. "Sam has more incredible ideas than any student leader I know on this campus," Smith said. "I complement him because I can manage. I'm more of the implementer. Sam leads us forward and we take it and run with the ball." According to Aborne, Aborne plans to bring his analytical skills and creative nature to student government. One of his biggest challenges will be trying to convince people that change is good. "It's not change for the sake of change, it's change with a purpose," Aborne said. "That's one of the things that I'm going to be working on personally - trying to help people see that I'm not there to go after the job - this isn't a power trip for me." Some of Aborne's plans include restructuring the executive officer positions, as well as giving more responsibility to students working in the ASI office. Smith's relationship with administration through his position on the Open House committee will be benef-tic to implementing changes. As Aborne's left hand, Smith's role will be to manage students who report to Aborne and delegate ideas, among other things. Smith's excitement over winning the role of vice president has just begun to set in. "It's very weird, too - all of a sudden people congratulate me, and I'm like, 'I haven't done anything yet,'" he said.

The election of Aborne and Smith means representation from areas on campus that were otherwise hidden in the ASI realm, Aborne said. "I think students have been given their ASI back," Aborne said.

SWEATSHOPS continued from page 1

we give them. He also said he had some reservations with joining the WRC. "The WRC only addresses university provides, which is about 1 percent of the clothing industry," Zugz said. "Plus, there are no clothing industry representatives on their board.”

History sophomore Art Perez said the WRC does a better job than the FLA because it doesn't have influence coming from other corporations. "The FLA board has 15 members and about six of them are held by cor-perate representatives," Perez said. The WRC's board is made up of representatives from Human Rights organizations. The WRC is not affected by companies. It's completely independent.” Perez also added that the FLA

CARJACKER continued from page 1

when its dark," she said. "I feel like I'm taking everythin'-"

Kim Buntill
Cuesta College student

CAR JACKER

"I can't sleep. I'm afraid to be at my house when it's dark," she said. "I know I'm failing all my classes right now."

immunefrom coming to other universities than any student leader 1 know on that campus," Smith said.

"That kind of defeats the purpose of surprise checks," Perez said. "The WRC has only been using random spot checks when visiting factories.

Since the attack, Buntill has been spending most of her time in Davis, her hometown. "We did really want me to stay up there (in Davis) until they found me," she said. "but I wanted to be there with my boyfriend and my friends." Buntill said she's been really disappointed with SLOPD's cooperation thus far. "They won't even return my calls," she said. "My parents and I have been calling for the last week, and we haven't heard from them." Buntill was accepted to attend Cal Poly in fall as an ag business major, but she's concerned she won't be able to attend this incident. "I can't sleep. I'm afraid to be at my house when it's dark," she said. "I know I'm failing all my classes right now".

She said the worst part is that she's lost her ability to trust people. "I feel like I can't even be nice to people, that's how this all started," she said. "She's also concerned that her attacker may still be after her. "I feel like he's still going to come after me," she said. "Like any minute I could turn around and he'll be there."

She credits her friends and family for keeping her calm through the last month. "I feel like I'm taking everything out on my boyfriend and my roommates," she said. "I'm going to have to take them to victim counseling with me after this is all over." But exactly when this all will be over is unclear. "We keep hoping someone will be able to identify the photo, that's all we can do," Lt. Costa said.

Once, somebody called German Auto a group of obsessive perfectionists. We took it as a complaint. At German Auto, we take such words as "obsessive," "exacting," "meticulous," and "prompt" to heart. We're trained experts specializing in BMW, Volvo, VW, Audi, Porsche, and Mercedes Benz - our clients expect nothing less. After all, some of them are as German in their love for these automobiles as we are. German Auto: Verlangt das beste.*

German Auto
273 Pacific Street
San Luis Obispo, CA 93401
* Demanding the best. (805) 543-7473

A DIRTY CAR IS A DIRTY SHAME!
FAST EDDIE'S SELF SERVICE
CAR WASH
1. BILL CHANGER
2. SOAP FOAM BRUSH
3. WAX SPRAY
4. WATER DRIP
5. VACUUM
393 MARSH STREET: NEXT TO CERTIFIED AUTO REPAIR
WE RECYCLE OUR WATER

A Big money Hollywood screenwriting:
An intense, instructional, revealing, real-time look at the bare-knuckle business

BIG SCREENWRITING SEMINAR
Saturday, May 13, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. SLO Little Theater, 888 Morro Street. Limited seating. Cost: $145. To pre-register, send check or money order to: H otipood” : “.
Seminars 14431 Ventura Blvd. #231 Sherman Oaks CA 91423. For details call SLO Little Theater; 781-3889

SCREENWRITING SEMINAR

One day, somebody called German Auto a group of obsessive perfectionists. We took it as a complaint. At German Auto, we take such words as "obsessive," "exacting," "meticulous," and "prompt" to heart. We're trained experts specializing in BMW, Volvo, VW, Audi, Porsche, and Mercedes Benz - our clients expect nothing less. After all, some of them are as German in their love for these automobiles as we are. German Auto: Verlangt das beste.*

Big money Hollywood screenwriting:
An intense, instructional, revealing, real-time look at the bare-knuckle business

BIG SCREENWRITING SEMINAR
Saturday, May 13, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. SLO Little Theater, 888 Morro Street. Limited seating. Cost: $145. To pre-register, send check or money order to: H otipood”. ".
Seminars 14431 Ventura Blvd. #231 Sherman Oaks CA 91423. For details call SLO Little Theater; 781-3889

BREAKING NEWS

The eleventh annual Car Wash for Review at:
Kennedy Library
SLO City/County Library
Facilities Planning, Cal Poly
For Info & Comments: Deby Anderson, Facilities Planning

Cuesta College student

A preliminary draft of Cal Poly's new Master Plan is now available for campus and

The draft plan, designed to balance land uses with enrollment demands for the next 20 years, is the result of two years of deliberation among key campus groups, campus and community task forces, and planning consultants.

Review of the initial document will take place throughout spring quarter, and will be refined and reviewed again next fall and winter. The final Master Plan will be presented to the CSU Board of Trustees for approval in spring 2001, Cal Poly's 100th birthday.

Review Period: May 1, 2000 - June 12, 2000
Web Site: www.campusprojects.calpoly.edu
Copies Available: CDs are free
Print Copies are $25/each
For Review at:
Kennedy Library
SLO City/County Library
Facilities Planning, Cal Poly
For Info & Comments: Deby Anderson, Facilities Planning
Jimmy is more of a show than reaching out

By J. Michael Baehr

It is not uncommon for college students to feel overwhelmed by the stress of school work, extracurricular activities, and personal life responsibilities. It can be challenging to find balance and manage the demands of daily life. In such situations, it is important to reach out for support from friends, family, or professional counselors. However, in some cases, a lack of empathy and understanding from others can lead to feelings of isolation and frustration. It is crucial to prioritize self-care and seek help when needed to maintain a healthy and fulfilling life.

Opinion

Letters to the editor

Yellow shirts help signal who to avoid on campus

Editor,

What's this? Do we ever deceive me? Did one of Cal Poly's own yellow shirts actually write, "Being in college, we should all be mature enough to coexist without something we don't agree with," and in the same letter question why so many are upset that our campus is overrun with fundamental Christians who, on a daily basis, burden themselves with trying to convert the non-Christian? My dear Christian Barry, I understand it angers you that someone knocked over your Jimmy sign. People are responding openly and angrily to the latest campaign that questions the values of others. But look at it from our point of view. Bets advocating Christian literacy Cal Poly year-around. I can hardly walk through the University Union anymore without getting a stomach ache from the epitome of ignorance condensed into a yellow block at an institute of higher learning. I am absolutely flabbergasted that the people who say, "Those of us wearing yellow shirts don't think we are better than anyone else" as you continuously try to convert students. If you actually believe that you are no better than anyone else, why are you trying to change people to be like you? I believe in a higher power and my spirituality is a result of my own personal life experiences. Each time I am approached by a Bible fanatic trying to tell me that my concept of the universe is incorrect, I am insulted, in the same way you are insulted when people knock over your signs. I came to college to open my mind, and if I were to try to push my religi and condemn homosexuals, take cheap shots at evolution and belittle the ideals and beliefs of my peers, I would be doing just the opposite.

Historically, the church has a pretty poor track record. Countless behavior acts have been committed by people who claim they are acting on behalf of the will of God. You're only fooling yourself if you actually believe that the objective of the Jimmy campaign is just to "make people curious about God." I've been subjected to religious harassment long enough at Cal Poly to be well aware that you are not trying to make people curious about God. But to make vulnerable people accept the cookie-cutter beliefs you push on them by telling them that they are hell-bound if they don't change their ways.

Don't pretend to be surprised that you are pigeon-holing a lot of people. You wore the shirts. You put up the signs. You took the first punch. I realize that you honestly believe you are doing good by attempting to "turn lost students into Christian-centered laborers." Well, most of us are not in fact lost. We are adults who can think for ourselves. Expect us to be angry when you try to tell us otherwise.

For those of you who are as upset as myself because you have to put up with religious harassment a public university, there is a good side to Jimmy week. The shirts stick out like yellow traffic warning signs and let us know who to avoid.

Jesse Francis is an industrial engineering junior.

Jimmy gimmick turns off those it seeks to engage

Editor,

Let me start off by saying I don't agree with Jimmy. I don't agree with using cheap gimmicks to propagate religious agendas and let's face it, "Jimmy" is a gimmick. Although it may be as effective as those crazy born-again students who occasionally invade the University Union, the Jimmy campaign succeeds in marginalizing and alienating non-Christians. If I wanted to learn more about the Christian faith, I could easily find those willing to share their views with me. Instead, Campus Crusade believes non-Christians need to be surrounded and emotionally assaulted with biblical propaganda. Why not let people explore their own spirituality without cheapening the experience with tame dogma?

Steve Connell is an industrial technology sophomore.

Letter policy

Columnists and letters reflect the views of their authors and do not necessarily reflect those of Mustang Daily. Mustang Daily reserves the right to edit letters for grammar, punctuation and length. Please limit length to 350 words.

Mustang Daily encourages comments on editorial policy and university affairs. Letters should be typed or written and signed with major and class standing. Preference is given to e-mailed letters. They can be mailed, faxed, delivered or e-mailed to opinion@mustangdaily.calpoly.edu.

Letters to the editor

Building a Relationship with the Local Community

Dear Editor,

I am a student at Cal Poly and I am writing to express my concern regarding the recent events on campus. It seems that there is a growing divide between the campus community and the local community. I believe that it is important to build a strong relationship between the two groups.

In my opinion, there are several ways in which we can work towards this goal. Firstly, it is crucial to listen to the concerns and perspectives of both parties. By engaging in open and respectful dialogue, we can better understand each other's needs and aspirations.

Secondly, we can work towards creating opportunities for collaboration and cooperation. This could be achieved through various initiatives such as joint projects, events, and programs. By working together, we can strengthen our bonds and foster a sense of community.

Lastly, it is important to recognize and appreciate the unique strengths and values of both the campus and the local community. By celebrating these differences, we can create a more inclusive and diverse environment.

In conclusion, building a relationship with the local community is essential for creating a harmonious and thriving environment. Let us work together to ensure a positive future for all.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Editor's note: Letters to the editor should not exceed 350 words and must be signed by the author. Preference is given to e-mailed letters. They can be mailed, faxed, delivered or e-mailed to opinion@mustangdaily.calpoly.edu.
Joe Keller is living the American Dream. He has a loving wife, Kate, and two grown sons, Chris and Larry. Family is what drives Joe — anything can be justified as long as it is for the benefit of his family.

But what defines family? How deep is Joe's allegiance to his family? These and other timeless ethical questions are being answered in Arthur Miller's "All My Sons," the Cal Poly theatre and dance department's final performance of the 1999-2000 season.

Miller, best known for the American classics "Death of a Salesman" and "The Crucible," constructed "All My Sons" around Keller, a Midwestern manufacturer accused of selling defective parts to the Air Force during World War II. The defective parts result in the death of 21 pilots, and the play deals with the ramifications of this truth come forward.

"Arthur Miller has a profound statement to make about how we should behave in our own families and in the larger world," director Pamela Malkin said. "But he doesn't create a speech to do that — he creates interestingly flawed, believable, sometimes funny and sometimes dramatic characters to get that message across."

Graphic communications senior Brett Johnson is Joe Keller, and theatre arts senior Lara Black plays his wife, Kate. Both actors are playing characters in their 50s, a difficult task.

"Kate is really complex ... her emotions are very controlled and subtle," Black said. "So it's difficult to show tons of emotion. The hardest part is trying to be in my 50s."

Eldest son Chris Keller is played by recent business graduate James D'Albora. Theatre arts sophomore Amanda Stiko plays Ann Deever, the daughter of Keller's betrayed colleague.

see SONS, page 8
Jazz Night welcomes drum legend to PAC

MUSTANG DAILY STAFF REPORT

Duke Ellington called him "the world's greatest drummer." Louie Bellson's long list of musical achievements includes performances on more than 200 albums with nearly all of jazz's great musicians. He has earned six Grammy nominations and written more than 100 compositions and a dozen books.

He was named a "Living Legend of Music" when he received the American Jazz Masters Award from the National Endowment for the Arts. Under the direction of Paul Rinzler, Cal Poly's director of jazz studies, the University Jazz Band I will accompany the influential musician.

The program will also include performances by the Cal Poly Jazz Sextet, under the direction of Rinzler, the University Jazz Band II, directed by music professor William Johnson and Cal Poly Vocal Jazz, directed by music professor Thomas Davies. Tickets cost $9 and $11 for students, $14 and $16 for seniors and $20 for adults. They are on sale at the Performing Arts Ticket Office from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Jazz Night is sponsored by Cal Poly's College of Liberal Arts, the Music Department and Instructionally Related Activities Program. For more information, call the music department at 756-2406.

Wildflower rocks the jocks with local entertainment

By Kimberly Tahsuda

Unique sounds of jazz, funk, ska and rock filled the air last weekend at the 18th annual Wildflower Triathlon.

Members of more than 40 Cal Poly clubs and organizations who made up the event's volunteer staff had a chance to get their groove on thanks to arrangements made by the Wildflower committee. Four local bands provided the entertainment.

Business junior Kelly Pedrick attended the event at Lake Nacimiento as a guest.

"The Wildflower committee did a great job in picking the bands that played," Pedrick said. "A variety of music was represented that really got the crowd moving."

Entertainment committee head Chris Klakyo said Jester's Dead, Surefire, Uncle Beens, and Dark were chosen from 14 bands that submitted demo tapes.

"A good variety of music was represented," Klakyo said. "We felt the crowd would enjoy it."

Finishing the punk rock style of Surefire kicked off the festivities. Their upbeat tempo set a party mood for the weekend. Later, the mellow soul/jazz sound of Uncle Beens finished off the evening with mostly instrumental jams.

Volunteers and guests strutted their stuff in swimwear Saturday afternoon at an impromptu bikini contest. Entertainment committee head Chris Giese said the event was spur of the moment and was not arranged by the entertainment committee.

"Two or three guys asked if they could use the stage," Giese said. "They really turned out the party.

Surefire opened up the musical entertainment for Saturday night, followed by the ska sound of Jester's Dead. Jester's Dead is the only band that has previously played at Wildflower.

"The Wildflower band played ska sounds Saturday night at Wildflower."

Fifteen bands put on an all-day show. The Wildflower committee worked with local bands and students to put on a great show.

"The Wildflower committee did a great job in picking the bands that played," Pedrick said. "A variety of music was represented that really got the crowd moving."

Entertainment committee head Chris Klakyo said Jester's Dead, Surefire, Uncle Beens, and Dark were chosen from 14 bands that submitted demo tapes.

"A good variety of music was represented," Klakyo said. "We felt the crowd would enjoy it."

Finishing the punk rock style of Surefire kicked off the festivities. Their upbeat tempo set a party mood for the weekend. Later, the mellow soul/jazz sound of Uncle Beens finished off the evening with mostly instrumental jams.

Volunteers and guests strutted their stuff in swimwear Saturday afternoon at an impromptu bikini contest. Entertainment committee head Chris Giese said the event was spur of the moment and was not arranged by the entertainment committee.

"Two or three guys asked if they could use the stage," Giese said. "They really turned out the party.

Surefire opened up the musical entertainment for Saturday night, followed by the ska sound of Jester's Dead. Jester's Dead is the only band that has previously played at Wildflower.

"The Wildflower band played ska sounds Saturday night at Wildflower."

Fifteen bands put on an all-day show. The Wildflower committee worked with local bands and students to put on a great show.

"The Wildflower band played ska sounds Saturday night at Wildflower."

Fifteen bands put on an all-day show. The Wildflower committee worked with local bands and students to put on a great show.
SLO wind orchestra pays homage to Mom

By Karin Drissen

MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

On Sunday, the newly formed San Luis Obispo Wind Orchestra will perform a concert for those special people in our lives known as Mom.

With music ranging from folk songs to a dramatic piece based on a child abuse experience to American folk songs such as "Old Home Days" by Charles Ives and "Shenandoah" by Frank Ticheli, other pieces are the grandiose and fanfarish "St. Martin Suite" by Jan Van der Roost and Robert Russell Bennett's "Symphonic Songs for Band." Also to be performed is Fisher Tull's "Sketches on a Tudor Pad," a high-level, contemporary work for wind orchestra.

The biggest piece of the day is Mauro Giuliani's "Watchman, Tell Us of the Night," it was written to recognize and honor young people who have survived child abuse. Johnson said music sounds one would hear children making, followed by very emotional music.

It is very grotesque and homely-sounding, then it gets very victorious and emotional," he said.

These people are very sensitive about their music," Anderson said. "And since the group only practices the five weeks before a performance, you really have to practice the music on your own so you can be prepared to play with the rest of the group." Anderson said he joined the group to play more challenging and interesting pieces.

Most of the music performed by the group is specially composed for wind orchestra. In fact, Johnson said, there is a lot of music that is written specifically for such groups.

Sunday's concert includes American folk songs such as "Old Home Days" by Charles Ives and "Shenandoah" by Frank Ticheli. Other pieces are the grandiose and fanfarish "St. Martin Suite" by Jan Van der Roost and Robert Russell Bennett's "Symphonic Songs for Band." Also to be performed is Fisher Tull's "Sketches on a Tudor Pad," a high-level, contemporary work for wind orchestra.

The biggest piece of the day is Mauro Giuliani's "Watchman, Tell Us of the Night," it was written to recognize and honor young people who have survived child abuse. Johnson said music sounds one would hear children making, followed by very emotional music.

It is very grotesque and homely-sounding, then it gets very victorious and emotional," he said.

These people are very sensitive about their music," Anderson said. "And since the group only practices

Local band sets its sights on national fame

It is in my opinion that Bootsie Merengo would be everyone's favorite party band. First of all, they're versatile; when I saw them play a couple weeks ago at the Earth Day festival downtown, they were in the middle of Led Zeppelin's hard-rocking "Stairway to Heaven." Then they changed gears into their own blend of reggae/rock/indie. Second, and more importantly, they're just plain fun.

"We're all about the same age, we all in the same frame of mind, and we all embrace having a good time," said singer Lopaka Jones.

Bootsie Merengo stickers appear frequently in San Luis Obispo around October of 1998. Soon after they released their first full-length, CD, "Baked Fresh Daily." The album originally started out as a two-song demo that the band could keep for themselves and give to their friends, but when the songs were amazing, they decided to make a full-length.

The members of the band come from various musical backgrounds. Jones is a part of a choir when he was younger, and even sang classical music at Carnegie Hall in New York when he was 15 years old. Bassist Dave Albin's roots are totally different—comes from metal. But also added that he and the other band mates played in '80s rock cover bands that sounded like The Clash and everything else in between. Other members include Mark Idenon on guitar, Paul Knepf on keyboards, Gary Boudoin on drums and Justin Perdomo on bass.

"We don't like to limit ourselves in the music we listen to or the music we play," Anderson said. "As long as we have fun playing it, and it's somehow 'danceable,' we'll play it."

Foundation executive director candidate forums

The Consultative Committee for the Foundation Executive Director would like to invite you to meet the candidates. Specialty forums have been scheduled for groups with common interests. If you are unable to attend your affinity group forum, please attend one of the other forums. All forums will be held in the Foundation Administration Building, Room 135 unless noted. May 15th & 11th 10:00 a.m.-11:00 a.m.
SONS

continued from page 5

"(Chris) is kind of an idealist and he wants his family, his friends, everyone to be happy — and he just can't seem to do it," D'Albora said.

"All My Sons" takes place inside a small set, meaning the entire play occurs in one location — the Keller's backyard. This poses an interesting challenge for the actors and actresses, who are forced to drive the play with their energy instead of depending on dramatic scene changes to draw in the audience.

"The audience has to listen and feel what we are talking about," D'Albora said. "It is a big challenge for them because almost every line is important to what goes on in the play."

Although the play takes place in 1947, the message applies to people of all ages, Malkin said.

"The message of the play transcends the 1945's in that it is entirely applicable to anyone, particularly college students who are about to thrust themselves into the larger world," she said.

Malkin, associate theater and dance department head, chose the play due to its lasting words and its message as a "message play" in the sense that it

"Miller was very interested in" in

The play poses ethical questions and lets the audience feel the characters, Malkin said.

"Sometimes in college we forget that we're responsible to someone else and we concentrate on ourselves so much," Black said. "This play is going to broaden a lot of people's horizons."

Call Ms. Sue's open tonight at the Cal Poly Theatre. It will run through Saturday and continue next week, May 18-20 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 for the general public and $7 for students and seniors, and are available at the Performing Arts Center's Ticket Office. Call 756-2757 for more information.

---

WILDFLOWER

continued from page 6

WILDFLOWER. Giese said the band was invited back to play after receiving such a tireat audience response last year.

"The crowd really got into the music during Jester's Dead," business senior Emily Turner said. "I wished he had had a little more time to perform because everyone was having a great time. Ten was too early for the music to end."

Jester's Dead drew the largest crowd of the weekend. Although there was a bit of moshing and rowdiness while the band played, the crowd was contained.

"There was a whole committee dedicated to security during the entertainment," Giese said. "They did a great job; nothing was out of control."

Security committee head Derek Marin said the entertainment committee blocked off the back stage, and a line of volunteers created a barricade between the crowd and the stage.

"The students maintained a cool attitude toward the event," Marin said. "We were there mainly (in case) someone got hurt. Everything went smoothly."

Malkin said the only disruption was a beer can that flew through the air when Jester's Dead played. Overall, both Giese and Klayko were happy with the entertainment.

"I feel the entertainment went over extremely well," Klayko said. "It was the best it has ever been."

---

Off-Campus Living

never looked so good!

Fully furnished suites. Private and shared rooms available. Meal plan options of 7, 14, or unlimited meals per week.

Stenner Glen Student Housing is designed for Cal Poly students. Your friends are all around you, it's close to campus, and you don't have to take time out of your busy schedule to plan and prepare meals. For your added convenience, enjoy all day dining in Stenner Glen's own facility. Call Ms. Sue's open tonight at the Cal Poly Theatre. It will run through Saturday and continue next week, May 18-20 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 for the general public and $7 for students and seniors, and are available at the Performing Arts Center's Ticket Office. Call 756-2757 for more information.

---

Check the Web.

www.mustangdaily.calpoly.edu

---

Master of Occupational Therapy

APPLY NOW FOR FALL CLASSES

Samuel Merritt College is accepting applications for admission to its Master of Occupational Therapy program. Classes start early September. For information, contact Anne Seid, Associate Director of Admission, at 510.866.6140 or aseid@samuelmerritt.edu. You are invited to attend an Open House Sunday, June 4 9 a.m. to noon

Advance reservations required, as space is limited! 800.607.6377

SAMUEL MERRITT COLLEGE

ON THE FRONTLINES OF HEALTH CARE

770 Locust Ave., Oakland, CA 94609 www.samuelmerritt.edu

---

Entertainment

Sex
Music
Vice
Interview
Money & Career

---

The Ultimate Pop Culture Experience

www.synge.com
Letters to the editor

Remember freedom from religion when sharing your beliefs with others.

A perfect example is the letter in Tuesday's Mustang Daily ("Yellow shirts are not a fashion statement"). The writer says he is not recruiting, yet spends half of his letter telling us how he knows God plans for all of us. Who are you, sir, to assume you know anything about me? You assume your own belief system is superior to mine in the very tone of your letter.

Not only does the Constitution guarantee freedom of religion, it guarantees freedom from it! If you all want to run off and have meetings, dress the same, drink Kool-Aid or whatever it is that you do, that is your right, BUT LEAVE ME ALONE!

Even though I have different beliefs than Christianity, I would never assume to try and talk a person out of their beliefs. Do the silent majority at Cal Poly a favor and do the same.

Scott Underwood is an electrical engineering senior.

---

Jimmy week brings many benefits to Poly Editor.

I have been looking forward to Jimmy week for a while, but I had no idea how great it would be! Let me share some of the advantages so far. I got dressed much quicker every morning because I don't waste any time deciding what to wear. I got to pedal doing laundry for a whole week, and it only cost me $5 for the shirt. I got to learn how many Jimmys there are on this campus. I actually got an opinion article published (you're reading it now). And I got to show with people the most important thing in my life and hear from them what they believe. I love when I get to hear about someone and find out what they believe, what they are living for. So many times our conversation never rises above the very tone of your letter.

Not only does the Constitution guarantee freedom of religion, it guarantees freedom from it! If you all want to run off and have meetings, dress the same, drink Kool-Aid or whatever it is that you do, that is your right, BUT LEAVE ME ALONE!

Even though I have different beliefs than Christianity, I would never assume to try and talk a person out of their beliefs. Do the silent majority at Cal Poly a favor and do the same.

Scott Underwood is an electrical engineering senior.

---

Jimmy week brings many benefits to Poly Editor.

I have been looking forward to Jimmy week for a while, but I had no idea how great it would be! Let me share some of the advantages so far. I got dressed much quicker every morning because I don't waste any time deciding what to wear. I got to pedal doing laundry for a whole week, and it only cost me $5 for the shirt. I got to learn how many Jimmys there are on this campus. I actually got an opinion article published (you're reading it now). And I got to show with people the most important thing in my life and hear from them what they believe. I love when I get to hear about someone and find out what they believe, what they are living for. So many times our conversation never rises above the very tone of your letter.

Not only does the Constitution guarantee freedom of religion, it guarantees freedom from it! If you all want to run off and have meetings, dress the same, drink Kool-Aid or whatever it is that you do, that is your right, BUT LEAVE ME ALONE!

Even though I have different beliefs than Christianity, I would never assume to try and talk a person out of their beliefs. Do the silent majority at Cal Poly a favor and do the same.

Scott Underwood is an electrical engineering senior.

---

Why not suspend every club that drinks?

Editor,

Thirty-one clubs suspended for 25 years. After a lengthy meeting, Judicial Affairs and the short-term Vice President of Student Affairs Juan Gonzalez have decided that in light of recent sanctions by Mr. Easter Bunch, every club that attended Wildflower will be disbanded. Apparently, there was alcohol present during the two-day marathon. These "renegade" clubs violated Cal Poly's third-party vendor policy that stipulates alcohol is present at any club function, it must be distributed by a licensed vendor (i.e. bar). Clubs had hired Mother's Tavern, Bull's Tavern and Madison's Bar and Grill to serve all weekend, but those damned college kids drank up all the booze Thursday night.

Gonzalez and Judicial Affairs further found that these "innocent" drank and danced all night when they should have been in the library. This was a clear infringement of proper student behavior and an easy decision for the administration. As an institution of higher learning, we cannot tolerate such deviance to participate in this unbecoming, meiotic debauchery.

Also staggering from Wildflower, 312 Cal Poly students are being charged with providing alcohol to minors. Judicial Affairs will be bringing a group hearing from 3 to 3:04 p.m. to decide how many years these criminals shall be suspended. No attorneys are allowed at the hearing because, "They're smarter than us and might provide some logic to the process."

The district attorney's office dismissed Mr. Bunn's testimony because he is a known liar and was disgraced that the basket weaving club kicked him out. Cal Poly said, "Who cares if he was the process and innocent until proven guilty and all that crap? We've been following that basket weaving club and all their cohorts for years now and we want them gone!"

In all seriousness, I've made light of the current suspension of Sigma Chi because that's just what it is - a joke. The point I was making is that Cal Poly has for the greek system is ridiculous. I've been a part of probably eight to 10 clubs at this school and have consistently witnessed fraternities grant disregard for the university's alcohol policy. I've seen everything from 12 p.m. at either end of a bus to wine tastings at students' houses. The administration has been performingselective enforcement for years, and has effectively reduced the greek population.

The only thing changing Sigma Chi faces is providing alcohol to minors, as all facing charges were freshmen. Some club members are down right horrid. In his overwhelming generosity, Juan Gonzalez lifted the permanent expulsion policy for members of Sigma Chi and imposed a 25 year suspension for something that more clubs and individuals do week in and week out.

Jeremy Knoch is an ag business senior.

Sigma Chi punishment prejudiced, outrageous Editor,

Once again the vice president of Student Affairs hands down an outrageous punishment to a fraternity, for giving alcohol to a minor in college. Mr. Gonzalez has disciplined years of Greek organization here and continues to do so on his watch.

He has pointed out that greek organizations cannot take freshmen as new members, but continues to allow alcohol to greek organizations to recruit freshmen. There seems to be no rhyme or reason to his actions other than discrimination and prejudice. There also seems to be no limit to his power, which is what I personally find very disturbing.

If a prejudiced judge has no limits on the sentences he/she could give, a minority caught joy-walking with wild kids sentenced to 25 years in jail. Is this really how Cal Poly's judicial system should operate?

I'm not defending Sigma Chi or Delta Tau's actions; they both broke the law and deserve to be punished. I am disagreeing with what seems to be a ridiculous punishment.

Student Affairs' job is to make a better campus community, not pick and choose students/organizations to throw out as examples. Working with organizations means taking responsibility for unmediated behavior. The administration has in effect suspended Sigma Chi for giving alcohol to a minor in college. Mr. Gonzalez has discriminated for giving alcohol to a minor in college. Mr. Gonzalez has discriminated against greek organizations since he was elected. Mr. Gonzalez has discriminated against greek organizations since he was elected.

J. T. Gilkeson is a business graduate student.
Knight’s fate to be decided by trustees Sunday

Indiana University trustees will meet again behind closed doors Sunday, apparently to decide whether to expand the investigation of charges against basketball coach Bob Knight.

University president Myles Brand in March appointed two trustees to look into allegations that Knight grabbed former player Neil Reed by the throat, during a 1997 practice. Since then, other incidents have been reported in what one source close to the investigation called “a feeding frenzy.”

“I don’t know that for a fact,” Doninger said. “It was almost like somebody was speculating what happened, rather than know what happened,” he said. “I don’t know who their source was.”

The source took issue with Doninger’s comments. “I think there’s just a lot of misinformation. It’s difficult sorting through everything.”

Indy television station WRTV reported on Tuesday that university chancellor Gene Doninger was told The Associated Press on Wednesday that “serious things” unrelated to Reed have been reported since Reed’s charges were made public in March.

“Whether the trustees discussed that or not, I don’t know. I guess I had thought that as they went through this review there would be some discussion of other things, but I don’t know that for a fact,” Doninger said.

The trustees met in a closed executive session last Thursday during a regularly scheduled board meeting. At that time, there had been no investigation beyond Reed, another source told the AP.

“I can’t confirm or deny the stories were told . . . back room, gossip-type stuff . . . but I can tell you there was a real good, thorough investigation of Neil Reed’s allegations,” said the source, who also spoke on condition of anonymity. “That’s part of the problem here. I think there’s just a lot of misinformation. It’s difficult sorting through everything.”

Indy television station WRTV on Tuesday quoted unidentified sources as saying the trustees heard new accusations against Knight at a closed meeting last week.

One unidentified trustee was quoted by WRTV as saying the charges were “pretty ugly stuff.”

Indiana athletics director Clarence Doninger told The Associated Press on Wednesday that “serious things” unrelated to Reed have been reported since Reed’s charges were made public in March.

“Whether the trustees discussed those or not, I don’t know. I guess I had always thought that as they went through this review there would be some discussion of other things, but I don’t know that for a fact,” Doninger said.

Doninger also said he would not comment on what may or may not have been talked about in executive session. They don’t have to elaborate on what the discussion’s about,” Simpson said. “It could be a personnel issue, it could be a contractual issue, things like that.”

One of the two sources who spoke to the AP on condition of anonymity said he would welcome an expanded investigation of Knight.

“I don’t have any problem with expanding it, as long as we’re looking at something that might reasonably be expected to result in some hard facts,” he said. “There are stories out there; I can tell you there are stories out there.”

Indy television station WRTV said the trustees had heard new accusations against Knight, who was out of town and was “set to investigate the accusation by Reed, who transferred from Indiana in 1997. The two also are investigating claims that Knight once kicked Brand out of a practice and also showed players a piece of solid toilet paper, saying that’s what their practice resembled.”

The WRTV report said Eichhorn and Walda told the board several of the people they interviewed volunteered new information, including accusations unrelated to Reed. Walda did not immediately return a telephone message seeking comment left at his office in Fort Wayne.

Eichhorn, contacted at his office in Gary, said he would not comment until the investigation was completed.

Knight, who was out of town Wednesday, denied the original allegations. Brand has said he was never told to leave practice, and university vice president Christopher Simpson, who has been Brand’s spokesman during the investigation, refused to comment on the WRTV report.

“The investigation is continuing, and we anticipate it being completed well within the parameters of mid-June,” Simpson said of the 90-day deadline originally announced by Brand.

“There was an executive session which was announced publicly during the trustee meetings last week, but I can’t comment on what they may or may not have talked about in executive session. They don’t have to elaborate on what the discussion’s about,” Simpson said. “It could be a personnel issue, it could be a contractual issue, things like that.”

The other source took issue with Doninger’s comments. “I think there’s just a lot of misinformation. It’s difficult sorting through everything.”

Doninger told The Associated Press on Wednesday that “serious things” unrelated to Reed have been reported since Reed’s charges were made public in March.

“Whether the trustees discussed those or not, I don’t know. I guess I had always thought that as they went through this review there would be some discussion of other things, but I don’t know that for a fact,” Doninger said.
BASEBALL
continued from page 12

The Mustangs had other opportunities to score and get back in the game but couldn’t find any timely hitting.

In the fourth inning, Barringer and Kevin Tillman started the inning off with singles, giving the Mustangs runners on first and third with no outs. Peppiiigtole starter Steve Schaweinni retired the next three Mustang batters to get out of the jam. The Mustangs put runners on first and second in the next inning but were again unable to score.

Tillman and Barringer led the Mustangs with two hits each.

The Mustangs travel to New Mexico this weekend for a three-game series with the last-place Aggies (18-31, 3-21). The Mustangs will finish their season with a three-game series at San Luis Obispo Stadium the following weekend.

They will take on UC Santa Barbara, who is currently tied for fourth with the Mustangs.

49ERS
continued from page 12

But the fact is, Walsh said, Young is under contract with the 49ers.

"But we’re going to have to think long and hard about whether he should take the field for the 49ers," he said. "And we’re going to have to hear from Steve about whether he wants to play for the 49ers or if he would like to become a free agent."

San Francisco coach Steve Mariucci said he finds it curious that Denver is the only team identified as being interested in Young.

"If Steve Young were ever available, there probably would be a lot of teams that would have an interest," Mariucci said. "If that’s true, other teams have used romantic and have kept quiet and done things the way it’s supposed to be, the wait-and-see approach."

CASH FOR COMICS & GAMING ITEMS
CASH PAID FOR USED CD’S, TAPES, "STUDENT SPECIALS" SETS START FROM TWIN $99 FULL $139 QUEEN
fundraising event. No sales required.
UP WARRANTYS FIRM TO PLUSH
New Comics Wednesday Mornings!
Clubs-Student Groups
Student organizations earn $1,000-
COMICS 779 Marsh. 544-NEMO
at our home. If interested call
LA or EHS major 4/5th year

LA or EHS major 4-5th year
Need senior project or $$
Landscape design pro. in Paso
at our home. If interested call
297-6669 leave message.
CASH FOR COMICS & GAMING ITEMS
New Comics Wednesdays Mornings!
New Games Weekly CAPT. NEMO
773 Marsh. 544-NEMO
CASH PAID FOR USED CD’S, TAPES.
& L.PS. CHEAP THRILLS &
RECYCLED RECORDS. 563 Higuera
New Releases $4.00 off list.
Open Mon-Sun till 9.
MATTRESS & BED
DISCOUNT CENTER
"STUDENT SPECIALS" SETS START
FROM TWIN $99 FULL $139 QUEEN
$179 KING $229 ALL NEW 10 YR.
& UP WARRANTYS FIRM TO PLUSH.
1302 MADONNA RD 785-0197

LA or EHS major 4-5th year
Need senior project or $$
Landscape design pro. in Paso
at our home. If interested call
297-6669 leave message.
CASH FOR COMICS & GAMING ITEMS
New Comics Wednesdays Mornings!
New Games Weekly CAPT. NEMO
773 Marsh. 544-NEMO
CASH PAID FOR USED CD’S, TAPES.
& L.PS. CHEAP THRILLS &
RECYCLED RECORDS. 563 Higuera
New Releases $4.00 off list.
Open Mon-Sun till 9.
MATTRESS & BED
DISCOUNT CENTER
"STUDENT SPECIALS" SETS START
FROM TWIN $99 FULL $139 QUEEN
$179 KING $229 ALL NEW 10 YR.
& UP WARRANTYS FIRM TO PLUSH.
1302 MADONNA RD 785-0197

We Agree With Jimmy.
Dr. Paul Rainey
Engineering
Dr. Donald Maas
Education
Dr. Mary Pedersen
Food Science & Nutrition
Dr. Rudy Wooten
Food Science & Nutrition
Dr. Bill Kellogg
Agriculture Education and Communication
Dr. David Keil
Biology
Dr. Don White
Industrial Engineering
Dr. Paul Weckler
Bio Resources & Agricultural
Engineering
Dr. Jack Wilson
Mechanical engineering
Dr. Richard Thompson
Natural Resource Management
Dr. Ron Mullisen
Mechanical Engineering
Martin Shibata
Career Services
Dr. Jaymie Noland
Veterinary Science

BASEBALL
continued from page 12

Barringer single to left, it was the Mustangs’ only run of the game.

Mustangs.}

Meanwhile, Pepperell had worked eight of his last 10
innings and three more runs off reliever Nathan Chott and two off Kevin Correia, giving the Waves a 9-1 lead in the sixth inning.

In the first inning, with two outs and a runner on third, the Mustangs led the game at 1-0. Jason

Saves you 30% to 80% Everyday on sports
nutrition, fat loss aids, vitamins, & herbs
WIN $1,000,000.oo
in the "Body
for Life" Challenge. Stop
by SUPPLEMENT
DIRECT today
for a free video,
ent & entry forms.

Free "Body for Life" Video
SUPPLEMENT
DIRECT
71338 Los Osos Valley Rd. with coopera
Whittier supplies first

LA or EHS major 4-5th year
Need senior project or $$
Landscape design pro. in Paso
at our home. If interested call
297-6669 leave message.
CASH FOR COMICS & GAMING ITEMS
New Comics Wednesdays Mornings!
New Games Weekly CAPT. NEMO
773 Marsh. 544-NEMO
CASH PAID FOR USED CD’S, TAPES.
& L.PS. CHEAP THRILLS &
RECYCLED RECORDS. 563 Higuera
New Releases $4.00 off list.
Open Mon-Sun till 9.
MATTRESS & BED
DISCOUNT CENTER
"STUDENT SPECIALS" SETS START
FROM TWIN $99 FULL $139 QUEEN
$179 KING $229 ALL NEW 10 YR.
& UP WARRANTYS FIRM TO PLUSH.
1302 MADONNA RD 785-0197

LA or EHS major 4-5th year
Need senior project or $$
Landscape design pro. in Paso
at our home. If interested call
297-6669 leave message.
CASH FOR COMICS & GAMING ITEMS
New Comics Wednesdays Mornings!
New Games Weekly CAPT. NEMO
773 Marsh. 544-NEMO
CASH PAID FOR USED CD’S, TAPES.
& L.PS. CHEAP THRILLS &
RECYCLED RECORDS. 563 Higuera
New Releases $4.00 off list.
Open Mon-Sun till 9.
MATTRESS & BED
DISCOUNT CENTER
"STUDENT SPECIALS" SETS START
FROM TWIN $99 FULL $139 QUEEN
$179 KING $229 ALL NEW 10 YR.
& UP WARRANTYS FIRM TO PLUSH.
1302 MADONNA RD 785-0197

LA or EHS major 4-5th year
Need senior project or $$
Landscape design pro. in Paso
at our home. If interested call
297-6669 leave message.
CASH FOR COMICS & GAMING ITEMS
New Comics Wednesdays Mornings!
New Games Weekly CAPT. NEMO
773 Marsh. 544-NEMO
CASH PAID FOR USED CD’S, TAPES.
& L.PS. CHEAP THRILLS &
RECYCLED RECORDS. 563 Higuera
New Releases $4.00 off list.
Open Mon-Sun till 9.
MATTRESS & BED
DISCOUNT CENTER
"STUDENT SPECIALS" SETS START
FROM TWIN $99 FULL $139 QUEEN
$179 KING $229 ALL NEW 10 YR.
& UP WARRANTYS FIRM TO PLUSH.
1302 MADONNA RD 785-0197

LA or EHS major 4-5th year
Need senior project or $$
Landscape design pro. in Paso
at our home. If interested call
297-6669 leave message.
Baseball smashed by Pepperdine

The Mustangs were plagued by walks as they had their eight-game winning streak snapped, losing 10-4 to Pepperdine at San Luis Obispo Stadium Tuesday evening. It was the final non-conference game of the year for Cal Poly.

The Mustangs, fresh off a critical three-game sweep of Sacramento State Monday, played like a tired team. The Mustangs hurt themselves with seven walks, three hit batters and a lack of timely hitting that they have displayed so many times this year.

For the Mustangs, who fall to 28-22 overall, the six remaining Big West games are of more importance than this loss since a third-place finish in the Big West should get Cal Poly its first Division I NCAA Regional bid. A win against West Coast Conference champion Pepperdine (14-20) would have given more credibility to the Mustangs' case for an at-large bid. The Mustangs did beat the Waves earlier in the year, 7-4 at Pepperdine.

Mustang starter Josh Morton (0-2), broke a 3-3 tie. Fans who came to new Pacific Bell Park wondering whether Mark McGwire could hit a ball into the San Francisco Bay, now has done it three times.

Bonds' second homer, leading off the eighth against Heathcliff Slocumb (0-2), broke a 3-3 tie. Fans who came to new Pacific Bell Park wondering whether Mark McGwire could hit a ball into the San Francisco Bay, now has done it three times.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Barry Bonds, the only major leaguer to hit a ball into San Francisco Bay, now has done it three times. Bonds' 13th and 14th homers of the season, both solo shots, splashed into McCovey Cove behind right field, and the San Francisco Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 Wednesday.

Bonds' second homer, leading off the eighth against Heathcliff Slocumb (0-2), broke a 3-3 tie. Fans who came to new Pacific Bell Park wondering whether Mark McGwire could hit a ball into the San Francisco Bay, now has done it three times.

Walsh says Broncos tampered with Young

DENVER (AP) — San Francisco 49ers general manager Bill Walsh says his team has been contacted by the NFL about the Denver Broncos' possibly tampering with quarterback Steve Young.

Walsh said the league was "very sensitive to it in this case. The league is watching it closely," the Denver Rocky Mountain News reported Wednesday.

There has been widespread speculation that Denver coach Mike Shanahan would like to acquire Young, a two-time NFL MVP. Young has been considering his future in football after a series of concussions. NFL officials have said their doctors must clear Young before he returns to action.

NFL tampering rules prevent coaches from having any contract with players under contract with other teams. Young, 38, is still under contract to San Francisco.

NFL spokesman Greg Aiello denied the league was watching the Broncos. "There is no Steve Young issue that we are monitoring," Aiello said.

Shanahan and Broncos owner Pat Bowlen haven't said anything publicly about acquiring Young. Shanahan, though, has been widespread.

Quarterback Gus Bertoleti, who left Denver for Denver earlier this year, has said Shanahan "was flat straight out with me" about his interest in signing Young if he was available.

Young played for the Broncos coach when Shanahan was the 49ers offensive coordinator from 1992-1994.

Walsh said he understood why Denver would be interested in Young. "I know Denver is just a player or two away from another Super Bowl," Walsh said. "I understand Mike Shanahan's relationship with Steve Young. He's among the coaches Steve's worked with, and I think I can speak for Steve having great regard for Mike, as I do."